Calculation of Years of Service of Part-Time County Employee: The Board of County Commissioners may calculate the years of service of a part-time county employee based on the number of hours worked rather than the number of calendar years in part-time service. 43 A.G. Op. 77 (1990), overruled in 48 A.G. Op. 19 (2000), in which, pursuant to Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326 (1986), the term "year of service" was construed to mean a calendar year.

Computation of Salaries, Longevity Payments, and Overtime for Sheriffs, Undersheriffs, and Deputy Sheriffs: Chapter 603, L. 1981, amended 7-4-2505 and 39-3-406 and enacted 7-4-2507 through 7-4-2510. Under Ch. 603, the following holdings were made:

(1) an individual Undersheriff or Deputy Sheriff is entitled to an initial longevity payment on his first employment anniversary occurring after October 1, 1981;

(2) years of service prior to October 1, 1981, must be considered in determining the amount of longevity payments to Deputy Sheriffs and Undersheriffs;

(3) the "minimum base annual salary" for calculating longevity payments is the statutory minimum level for the county involved, as specified in 7-4-2508;

(4) the "salary" of a Sheriff, for purposes of calculating the annual compensation of Deputy Sheriffs and Undersheriffs, includes the additional $2,000 received by the Sheriff pursuant to 7-4-2503; and

(5) the payment of overtime compensation to Undersheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs is within the discretion of the individual Boards of County Commissioners. 39 A.G. Op. 21 (1981).

1981 Amendments: Chapter 518 and Ch. 575 deleted subsection (3) which provided: "The coroner is entitled to receive a salary established prior to July 1 of each year by the board of county commissioners. The salary must be in effect upon the first day of each ensuing fiscal year."

Composite Section: This section was amended by Ch. 371 and Ch. 443, L. 1979, and a composite section was prepared by the Code Commissioner, 1979. Chapter 443 was a Code Commissioner bill and was not intended to make substantive changes. Consequently a conflict of language in subsection (1) between Ch. 371 and Ch. 443 has been resolved in favor of the language used in Ch. 371.

Compensation Plan: Chapter 545, L. 1979, established a County Compensation Board to consider the salaries of elected county officials and present to the Legislature an ongoing salary plan.

Case Notes

"Fees" Defined: In this section the term "fees" means a mode of compensation different from salary. St. v. Story, 53 M 573, 165 P 748 (1917).

Officers Receive Salaries: Subsection (2) is unnecessary, unless its purpose is to advise the people that salaried officers are not to have "fees and emoluments" other than salaries from the state or county. Scharrenbroich v. Lewis & Clark County, 33 M 250, 83 P 482 (1905).

7-4-2502. Payment of salaries of county officials and assistants — state share for county attorney — statutory appropriation.

Compiler's Comments

2007 Amendment: Chapter 230 in (2) at beginning after "The" substituted "funding for the salary and health insurance benefits for" for "salary of" and after "attorney is" substituted "a shared responsibility of the state and the county. The state's share is payable as provided in subsection (3)" for "payable one-half from the general fund of the county and, if the county has supplied the information to the department of justice for inclusion in its budget, the other one-half from the state treasury upon the warrant of the state treasurer. If the county has not supplied information concerning any scheduled or proposed increase in salary for the county attorney to the department of justice for inclusion in material submitted to the budget director under Title 17, chapter 7, part 1, the county is responsible for any increased salary. The state's share of the county attorney's salary is payable every 2 weeks.

(b) The county commissioners of each county shall, within 30 days after the election or appointment to fill a vacancy for any cause in the office of county attorney, certify the election or appointment to the department of justice. The department shall notify the state treasurer of the salary of the county attorney. The state treasurer shall draw warrants for the county attorney salaries in the same manner as for state officers. In case of a vacancy, the county commissioners shall immediately notify the department of justice, and the department shall compute the salary due on the basis of the notification"; inserted (3) establishing the state's share of county attorney funding and defining terms; inserted (4) providing that the amount to be paid to each county is statutorily appropriated; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2007.

(1) a significant portion of the work done by county attorneys is for the prosecution of criminal cases under state law and for the enforcement of state civil law concerning child abuse and neglect pursuant to Title 41, chapter 3;

(2) the county attorney workloads vary greatly from county to county;

(3) it is in the state's best interest to promote consistent statewide prosecution services and to support the office of county attorney as a career position that will attract experienced and well-qualified attorneys, especially considering the enactment of a statewide public defender system in 2005;

(4) because a county attorney is an elected county official and has a vital role in providing civil legal services to the county and because each county has unique needs to consider, the county attorney's salary should be set by the county;

(5) because county attorneys provide both state and county services, the responsibility for funding county attorney salaries should be a responsibility shared by the state and the counties; and

(6) the state's funding responsibility should be met through a predictable and ongoing appropriation, thus through a statutory appropriation."

2003 Amendment: Chapter 114 in (3) near end deleted reference to subsection (1) of 7-4-2504. Amendment effective October 1, 2003.

1999 Amendment: Chapter 75 at beginning of (1) deleted exception clause; at beginning of (2)(a) deleted "salaries of the county attorney and deputy county attorneys authorized by 7-4-2703 are payable monthly, with" and inserted last sentence concerning payment of state's share every 2 weeks; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 16, 1999.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 325 in (2)(a), at end of first sentence, and (2)(b), in second and third sentences, substituted "state treasurer" for "auditor"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1995.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 332 in (2)(a), in first sentence after "county and", inserted "if the county has supplied the information to the department of justice for inclusion in its budget" and inserted last sentence providing that if the county has not provided a proposed County Attorney salary increase to the Department for inclusion in the budget, the county must pay the increase; and made minor changes in style.

1991 Amendment: In (2)(b), at end of first sentence after "appointment to the", substituted "department of justice" for "state auditor, who shall thereafter draw warrants for such salary in the same manner as for state officers", inserted second and third sentences concerning Department notifying State Auditor of salary of County Attorney and Auditor drawing warrants for County Attorney salary, and in fourth sentence, near middle after "notify the", substituted "department of justice" for "state auditor" and before "shall compute" substituted "department" for "auditor". Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

1986 Amendments: Chapter 12 in (3) following "payment of the same" inserted remainder of subsection allowing a uniform freeze in compensation.

Chapter 17 in (2)(a) substituted "salary of the county attorney" for "salaries of the county attorney and no more than two deputies"; at end of (2)(a) deleted "Such salaries for the deputy county attorneys include the longevity increases provided by 7-4-2503(3)(d)"; and in first sentence of (2)(b) after "county attorney" deleted "or within 30 days after the appointment of a deputy county attorney authorized by 7-4-2703".

1985 Amendment: In (2)(a) substituted "The salaries of the county attorney and deputy county attorneys authorized by 7-4-2703 are payable monthly, with the salaries of the county attorney and no more than two deputies payable one-half from the general fund of the county and the other one-half from the state treasury upon the warrant of the state auditor. Such salaries for the deputy county attorneys include the longevity increases provided by 7-4-2503(3)(d)" for "The salary of the county attorney is payable monthly, with one-half from the general fund of the county and the other one-half from the state treasury upon the warrant of the state auditor"; and in (2)(b) near middle of first sentence, after "office of county attorney", inserted "or within 30 days after the appointment of a deputy county attorney authorized by 7-4-2703".

Composite Section: This section was amended by Ch. 109 and Ch. 443, L. 1979, and a composite section was prepared by the Code Commissioner, 1979. Ch. 109 provided for twice monthly and biweekly paychecks in subsection (1)(a) and in former subsection (1)(b). Ch. 443, a Code Commissioner bill, deleted subsection (1)(b) referring to payment from the contingency fund as inconsistent with subsection (1)(a) referring to payment from the general fund. The composite deleted subsection (1)(b) to avoid the inconsistency. The intent of Ch. 109 is preserved in subsection (1).

Case Notes

County Properly Ordered to Pay County Attorney's Salary Increase: Although the Board of County Commissioners had been notified that the state would be unable to pay an increased contribution to the County Attorney's salary, the Board awarded the County Attorney a salary in excess of twice the amount appropriated by the state. When the state's one-half share of the salary failed to cover the salary increase, the County Attorney sued the county for the shortfall. The District Court ordered the county to pay the salary increase, and the county appealed, but the Supreme Court affirmed, holding that counties are responsible for any increases in County Attorneys' salaries that are not taken into account and included in the state appropriation for paying County Attorneys' salaries (decision issued before the 2007 amendment to this section). Oster v. Valley County, 2006 MT 180, 333 M 76, 140 P3d 1079 (2006).

Deputy Sheriffs — Number and Compensation: The Board of County Commissioners has the power to determine, within the maximum limits prescribed by law, the number and compensation of deputies allowed by the Sheriff. (Decided prior to the enactment of 7-4-2507 through 7-4-2510, and see 1999 amendment.) Jobb v. Meagher County, 20 M 424, 51 P 1034 (1898), explained in Penwell v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 23 M 351, 59 P 167 (1899), and Hogan v. Cascade County, 36 M 183, 92 P 529 (1907).

Attorney General's Opinions

Justice of the Peace — Reduction From Full-Time Status: Absent a voluntary waiver by the incumbent, the proper time at which to reduce a full-time Justice of the Peace position to a part-time position is before the next election. 38 A.G. Op. 90 (1980).

Justice of the Peace — When Pay Raise May Be Diminished: Any pay raises given a Justice of the Peace must stand for the remainder of the term, and only at the beginning of the next term may such raises be diminished. 38 A.G. Op. 90 (1980).

Salary Diminution Prohibited for Justices of the Peace: The reduction of a full-time Justice of the Peace to a part-time Justice of the Peace with a salary commensurate to the workload and office hours constitutes a prohibited salary diminution within the language of Art. VII, sec. 7, Mont. Const. 38 A.G. Op. 90 (1980).

Increase in County Attorney's Salary: A county having self-government powers may grant an increase in salary to its County Attorney in excess of the amount provided in 7-4-2503, but the increase must be borne by the general fund of the county. 37 A.G. Op. 70 (1977).

Joint Employment: A County Attorney, for purposes of administration, is jointly employed by both the county and the state. 36 A.G. Op. 32 (1975).

Method of Setting Salary of County Attorney: The County Commissioners must set the salary of the County Attorney by resolution and must forward a copy of the resolution to the State Auditor (see 1995, 1999, and 2007 amendments) for proper payment of the County Attorney. 35 A.G. Op. 24 (1973).

Method of Paying County Attorneys' Salaries: Upon implementation of the 1972 Constitution of Montana, on July 1, 1973, the salaries of County Attorneys shall be payable monthly, one-half from the general fund of the county and the other half from the state treasury, upon the warrant of the State Auditor (function now transferred to State Treasurer — see 1995, 1999, and 2007 amendments). 35 A.G. Op. 15 (1973).

Case Notes

Deputy Salary as Percentage of Sheriff's Salary, Including Supplement: Section 7-4-2510 requires that longevity should be 1% of a deputy's minimum base annual salary. A deputy's salary is based on the salary of the sheriff, which must include the $2,000 statutory supplement provided for a sheriff's salary in 7-4-2503. Clouse v. Lewis & Clark County, 2008 MT 271, 345 M 208, 190 P3d 1052 (2008).

Attorney General's Opinions

Part-Time Deputy County Attorney Entitled to Longevity Pay — Year of Service Composed of Calendar Year: The Legislature did not distinguish full-time Deputy County Attorneys from part-time Deputy County Attorneys for purposes of eligibility pay. Therefore, a part-time Deputy County Attorney is entitled to longevity pay under this section after completing the required years of service. As used in this section, the term "year of service" means a calendar year rather than 2,080 hours of employment. 48 A.G. Op. 19 (2000), following Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326 (1986), and overruling 39 A.G. Op. 78 (1982), 40 A.G. Op. 61 (1984), and 43 A.G. 77 (1990), to the extent that a different definition of year of service was applied.

County Attorney Longevity Increase for Time as Deputy County Attorney — 1999 Statutory Amendment: The 1999 amendment to subsection (3)(d)(ii) of this section authorizes a Board of County Commissioners to grant a longevity increase to a full-time County Attorney for years served as a Deputy County Attorney, in addition to years served as a County Attorney. (See 2007 amendment.) 48 A.G. Op. 8 (1999).

Provision of Office Space and Equipment by County for Part-Time County Attorney: A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide office space for a part-time County Attorney by providing space in a county building or, if no suitable space is available, by renting office space. Use of the space for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the space for private business purposes. Alternatively, the governing body may allow a claim by the County Attorney for the rental of office space needed to conduct the county's business if suitable office space is not available in county buildings. A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide necessary equipment for a part-time County Attorney by providing the use of the equipment owned by the county or, if no suitable equipment is available, by renting equipment. Use of the equipment for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the equipment for private business purposes. 46 A.G. Op. 10 (1995), followed in 46 A.G. Op. 20 (1996).

Office Manager / Secretary Defined as Assistant — Determination of Salary: An office manager/secretary hired as a county employee to assist a County Attorney is considered an assistant whose compensation may be set by the Board of County Commissioners under 7-4-2505. However, the statute is limited to persons who serve as county employees and does not apply to independent contractors or consultants. Assistants must be paid a salary to be determined by the Commissioners at no more than 90% of the principal officer's salary, unless a specific provision allows greater compensation. 46 A.G. Op. 6 (1995).

Calculation of Base Salary of Sheriff — Longevity to Include Total Years of Service: The base salary of a Sheriff under this section is based on the class of the county and the county population. For purposes of calculating a Sheriff's longevity payments, total years of service with the Sheriff's Department are included. 43 A.G. Op. 44 (1989).

Change in County Classification — Adjustment of Salaries of County Officials: When the classification of a county under 7-1-2111 (now repealed) changes, salaries of County Commissioners, the County Attorney, and county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1) must be adjusted as of July 1 of the following year (see 1995 amendment). Adjustments are computed as follows: (1) for County Commissioners, according to 7-4-2107; (2) for a part-time County Attorney, according to 7-4-2503(3); and (3) for county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1), according to 7-4-2503. (See 2001 amendment.) 42 A.G. Op. 85 (1988).

Change in County Classification — Time for Setting County Officials' Salaries: When a county's classification changes pursuant to 7-1-2111 (now repealed), the salaries of the county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1) must also change. The salaries must change as of July 1 of the following year (see 1995 and 2001 amendments), with the onset of a new fiscal year for the county. 40 A.G. Op. 81 (1984), followed in 41 A.G. Op. 6 (1985).

Computation of Cost-of-Living Increases: The cost-of-living authorized for county officials by 7-4-2504 applies only to the annual base salary plus population increment established by subsection (1) of this section and not to the additional sums included in the salaries of the Superintendent of Schools, Sheriff, and Commissioners under subsection (2) of this section and 7-4-2107. (See 2001 amendment.) 39 A.G. Op. 65 (1982).

Compensation of County Clerk and Recorder for Work as Election Administrator: A County Clerk and Recorder (see 2005 amendment) is not entitled to compensation for services as an election administrator. Without a specific grant of authority to allow additional compensation beyond that for the duties as a County Clerk and Recorder, no additional compensation is allowed. An election administrator who is not also the County Clerk and Recorder may be compensated for his election duties. 39 A.G. Op. 7 (1981).

Full-Time County Attorney — County Population Requirements: A county with a population of less than 30,000 may establish a full-time County Attorney position. The position need not be filled on July 1 but may be filled at some specified reasonable time after July 1 (see 1995 amendment). The salary for such a full-time County Attorney is the same as a full-time County Attorney in a county having more than 30,000 population. (See 1999, 2001, and 2007 amendments.) 38 A.G. Op. 22 (1979).

Full-Time County Attorney — Residency Requirements: A practicing attorney who has declared his intention to make a county his permanent home, is actively seeking a permanent residence in that county, and is in the process of terminating his personal business affairs at his former residence has become a resident of the county and is eligible for appointment as a full-time County Attorney once he has resided in the county for 30 days if he becomes a qualified registered elector and meets other qualifications for the office. 38 A.G. Op. 22 (1979).

Self-Government Powers: This section does not apply to self-government units since it may be superseded by ordinance or resolution of the Commission and is not prohibited by 7-1-114(g). 37 A.G. Op. 68 (1977).

7-4-2504. Salaries to be fixed by resolution — cost-of-living increments.

Compiler's Comments

2013 Amendment: Chapter 62 substituted "annually adopt a resolution by the date established in 7-6-4036 to" for "by resolution on or before August 1 of each year". Amendment effective July 1, 2013.

2009 Amendment: Chapter 291 near middle after "justice of the peace" inserted "county coroner"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2009.

2001 Amendment: Chapter 507 near middle inserted reference to justice of the peace and at end substituted "by adding to the annual salary provided for in 7-4-2503(1) a cost-of-living increment based upon the schedule developed and approved by the county compensation board provided for in 7-4-2503(4)" for "The salaries fixed may be no less than 80% of the annual base salary provided for in 7-4-2503(1) plus a cost-of-living increment based on a percentage of up to 100% of the previous calendar year's consumer price index for all urban consumers, U.S. department of labor, bureau of labor statistics, or other index that the bureau of business and economic research of the university of Montana-Missoula may in the future recognize as the successor to that index" and deleted former third, fourth, and fifth sentences that read: "The county governing body may, however, for all or the remainder of each fiscal year, in conjunction with setting salaries for the same action on the salaries of justices of the peace (if applicable), the county governing body, the county attorney, and the coroner, set the salary at the prior fiscal year level if that level is lower than the level required by this subsection. The cost-of-living increment for each fiscal year must be added to all cost-of-living increments granted for previous years unless salaries were set for the fiscal year at the level of salaries received in the prior fiscal year. In such a case, the cost-of-living increment that would have been received for the fiscal year, computed on the prior fiscal year, may not be added to previous increments"; deleted former (2) and (3) that read: "(2) The county governing body may, in any subsequent fiscal year, restore for 1 or more years the annual cost-of-living increments withheld pursuant to subsection (1). If cost-of-living increments are restored, the longevity increases provided for sheriffs in 7-4-2503, for deputy county attorneys in 7-4-2503(3)(d)(i), and for undersheriffs and deputy sheriffs in 7-4-2510 must also be restored for the years for which the cost-of-living increment was restored.

(3) The county governing body shall by resolution, prior to August 1 of each year, establish the salary of the coroner and may, for all or the remainder of each fiscal year, in conjunction with setting salaries for other officers as provided in subsection (1), set the salary at the prior fiscal year level. The salary must be in effect on the first day of each ensuing fiscal year"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 1, 2001.

1995 Amendments: Chapter 230 in (1), in first sentence after "before", substituted "August 1 of each year" for "July 1, 1992, and on or before July 1 of each year thereafter" and in fourth sentence, after "increment for", deleted "the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1992"; deleted former (3) that read: "(3) If the application of 7-4-2503 does not qualify a county official for a salary increase, the salary base for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1991, must be the fiscal year 1990-91 salary plus 100% of the last previous calendar year's consumer price index for all urban consumers, as set forth in subsection (1)"; near beginning of (3) substituted "August" for "July"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 24, 1995.

Chapter 233 in two places in (1) deleted references to July 1, 1992, and subsequent years and at beginning of second sentence deleted "Except as provided in subsection (3)" and near middle inserted "a percentage of up to 100%"; deleted former (3) establishing a salary base for fiscal 1991 and subsequent years; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1995.

Name Change — Directions to Code Commissioner: Pursuant to sec. 36, Ch. 308, L. 1995, in this section the Code Commissioner changed "university of Montana" to "university of Montana-Missoula".

1993 Amendment: Chapter 10 in (1), near middle of second sentence, deleted "last" before "previous calendar year's"; and made minor changes in style.

1991 Amendment: Near beginning of (1) substituted "1992" for "1982", at end of first sentence, after "salary)", deleted "for cost-of-living increase by adding to the annual salary computed under 7-4-2503 an increment calculated by applying to the annual salary established by 7-4-2503(1) plus previous cost-of-living increments, 70% of", at beginning of second sentence inserted exception clause and language fixing salaries at no less than 80% of annual base salary plus a cost-of-living increment, and near beginning of fourth sentence substituted "1992" for "1983"; and in (3), after "increase", substituted language concerning salary for fiscal year beginning July 1, 1991, being the 1990-91 salary plus 100% of previous calendar year's consumer price index for "of at least 7% on July 1, 1981, his salary on that date shall be increased by an amount sufficient to provide him total salary equal to 7% more than during the previous year". Amendment effective April 22, 1991.

1989 Amendments: Chapter 257 inserted (2) authorizing restoration of cost-of-living increments and longevity increases for Deputy County Attorneys, undersheriffs, and Deputy Sheriffs. Amendment effective June 30, 1989.

Chapter 505 inserted (2) authorizing restoration of cost-of-living increments and longevity increases for County Sheriffs. Amendment effective July 1, 1989.

1989 Composite: The language of the amendments made by Ch. 257 and Ch. 505 was identical except for the officials dealt with. The Code Commissioner has combined the amendments in order to keep internal references correct.

1986 Amendment: In (1) inserted second sentence allowing a uniform compensation freeze and following "previous years" inserted remainder of subsection relating to cost-of-living increments after a compensation freeze; and in (3) following "coroner" inserted remainder of first sentence relating to a compensation freeze.

1981 Amendments: Chapter 518 rewrote entire section (see sec. 3, Ch. 518, L. 1981, for text) to provide for cost-of-living increments. For former text see sec. 10, Ch. 443, L. 1979, and sec. 2, Ch. 459, L. 1979. For language of composite section, see 7-4-2504, MCA 1979.

Chapter 575 deleted "(if he receives a salary)" after "county coroner" in two places. Chapter 518 also deleted this language.

Attorney General's Opinions

Seven Percent Increase as Cost of Living Increment — Addition to 1982 Base Salary: The 7% increase in subsection (3) (prior to the 1991 amendment; see also 1995 amendment) of this section must be considered a cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) used to determine salaries for elected county officials in fiscal year 1982 and must be added to the base salary on July 1, 1982, before computing the COLA for fiscal year 1982-83. 43 A.G. Op. 58 (1990).

County Reclassification — Section Application Limited to Initial Salary Computation: The language of this section confines its application to the initial computation of salaries in accordance with the 1981 amendments; therefore, subsection (2) of this section is not applicable to salary adjustments due to reclassification of counties. A county official's base salary established under this section on July 1, 1981, lasts only until county reclassification necessitates a salary adjustment in accordance with 7-4-2503. 42 A.G. Op. 85 (1988).

Change in County Classification — Time for Setting County Officials' Salaries: When a county's classification changes pursuant to 7-1-2111 (now repealed), the salaries of the county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1) must also change. The salaries must change as of July 1 of the following year (see 1995 amendment), with the onset of a new fiscal year for the county. (See 2001 amendment.) 40 A.G. Op. 81 (1984).

Computation of Cost-of-Living Increase: The cost-of-living increase authorized for county officials by this section applies only to the annual base salary plus population increment established by 7-4-2503(1) and not to the additional sums included in the salaries of the Superintendent of Schools, Sheriff, and Commissioners under 7-4-2503(2) and 7-4-2107. (See 2001 amendment.) 39 A.G. Op. 65 (1982).

Full-Time County Attorney — County Population Requirements: A county with a population of less than 30,000 may establish a full-time County Attorney position. The position need not be filled on July 1 but may be filled at some specified reasonable time after July 1 (see 1995 amendment). The salary for such a full-time County Attorney is the same as a full-time County Attorney in a county having more than 30,000 population. 38 A.G. Op. 22 (1979).

Full-Time County Attorney — Residency Requirements: A practicing attorney who has declared his intention to make a county his permanent home, is actively seeking a permanent residence in that county, and is in the process of terminating his personal business affairs at his former residence has become a resident of the county and is eligible for appointment as a full-time County Attorney once he has resided in the county for 30 days if he becomes a qualified registered elector and meets other qualifications for the office. 38 A.G. Op. 22 (1979).

7-4-2505. Amount of compensation for deputies and assistants.

Compiler's Comments

2009 Amendment: Chapter 2 in (2)(a) in second sentence after "provided in" substituted "7-4-2503(3)(c)" for "7-4-2503(3)(d)"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2009.

1993 Special Session Amendment: Chapter 27 deleted former (1)(d) that listed the assessor; deleted (2)(c) that provided for deputy assessors' salaries; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective January 1, 1994.

Applicability: Section 171(2), Ch. 27, Sp. L. November 1993, provided that the amendments to this section apply to tax years after December 31, 1993.

1985 Amendment: In (2)(a), in first sentence near middle, after "subsection (1)", inserted "other than a deputy county attorney", and inserted second sentence limiting total salary of a Deputy County Attorney.

1981 Amendment: In (1), substituted "Subject to" for "Except as provided in", and deleted "sheriff" from the list of officers; in (2)(a), substituted "The salary of a deputy or an assistant listed in subsection (1) may not be" for "Except as provided in subsection (2)(b), the salary of no deputy or assistant shall be"; and deleted former subsection (2)(b), which read:

"In fixing the compensation allowed the undersheriff, the board must fix the same at 95% of the salary of the officers under whom such undersheriff is serving. In fixing the compensation allowed the deputy sheriffs, the board must fix the same at 90% of the salary of the officer under whom such deputy sheriff is serving, except in counties of the first, second, or third class, in which the board must fix the same at not less than 75% or more than 90% of the salary of the officer under whom such deputy sheriff is serving."

Case Notes

County Properly Ordered to Pay County Attorney's Salary Increase: Although the Board of County Commissioners had been notified that the state would be unable to pay an increased contribution to the County Attorney's salary, the Board awarded the County Attorney a salary in excess of twice the amount appropriated by the state. When the state's one-half share of the salary failed to cover the salary increase, the County Attorney sued the county for the shortfall. The District Court ordered the county to pay the salary increase, and the county appealed, but the Supreme Court affirmed, holding that counties are responsible for any increases in County Attorneys' salaries that are not taken into account and included in the state appropriation for paying County Attorneys' salaries. Oster v. Valley County, 2006 MT 180, 333 M 76, 140 P3d 1079 (2006).

Equitable Estoppel Inapplicable When County Knew That Insufficient Money Would Be Available to Pay County Attorney's Salary: County Attorney Oster brought an action against Valley County for underpayment of salary. The county contended that Oster should be equitably estopped from bringing suit because Oster actively knew and concealed the fact that the state would be contributing a lesser amount toward Oster's salary and because Oster misled County Commissioners into believing that the state would pay half of Oster's salary increase. The Supreme Court held that equitable estoppel did not apply because the county knew the truth of the facts that Oster allegedly misrepresented at the time that the County Commissioners approved Oster's pay raise. Oster v. Valley County, 2006 MT 180, 333 M 76, 140 P3d 1079 (2006).

Salary of Deputy Sheriff: Plaintiff was not entitled to the salary of a Deputy Sheriff when she did not perform duties required of a Deputy Sheriff. Bynum v. Howard, 34 St. Rep. 1285 (D.C. Mont. 1977) (apparently not reported in Federal Supplement).

Salary for Time Not Served — Illness: Where Deputy Sheriff did not serve for 3 months because of illness, the County Commissioners could not be forced to pay him his salary for those 3 months. State ex rel. Rusch v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 121 M 162, 191 P2d 670 (1948).

Fixing Compensation:

Board of County Commissioners may exercise its statutory power to fix the compensation of deputies and assistants in the county offices by providing for such compensation in the annual budget. State ex rel. Thompson v. Gallatin County, 120 M 263, 184 P2d 998 (1947).

Designation of compensation in the budget is not the only way in which the Board of County Commissioners can exercise its power to fix salaries, but the Board can fix such salaries by minute entry, motion, or in any of the ways employed before passage of the Budget Act (Ch. 148, L. 1929, codified in Title 7, ch. 6, part 23, now repealed). State ex rel. Thompson v. Gallatin County, 120 M 263, 184 P2d 998 (1947).

Where Board of County Commissioners appropriated funds for office at rate of $170 a month but in their journal stated that the salary for the office was fixed by the Board at $150 a month, the salary for the office was $150 a month. State ex rel. Thompson v. Gallatin County, 120 M 263, 184 P2d 998 (1947).

Extra Deputies — Temporary Service: While the Board of County Commissioners had no power to decrease the compensation of regular deputies of county officers fixed by section 25-603, R.C.M. 1947 (since repealed), it has discretion, under this section, to fix the compensation of extra deputies appointed for temporary service at any rate it may deem expedient, provided it does not exceed the rate paid the regular deputies. Modesitt v. Flathead County, 57 M 216, 187 P 911 (1920). See also Farrell v. Yellowstone County, 68 M 313, 218 P 559 (1923).

Attorney General's Opinions

Office Manager / Secretary Defined as Assistant — Determination of Salary: An office manager/secretary hired as a county employee to assist a County Attorney is considered an assistant whose compensation may be set by the Board of County Commissioners under this section. However, the statute is limited to persons who serve as county employees and does not apply to independent contractors or consultants. Assistants must be paid a salary to be determined by the Commissioners at no more than 90% of the principal officer's salary, unless a specific provision allows greater compensation. 46 A.G. Op. 6 (1995).

Authorization by County Commission of Increase in Salary of County Officer: Even if the county budget allows for an increase in the salary of a county officer, only the Board of County Commissioners may authorize an increase through the budgetary process. Therefore, a Clerk of Court is not authorized to promote a deputy clerk to a chief deputy position at a higher pay scale without authorization in the county budget and approval of the Board. 43 A.G. Op. 77 (1990).

No Salary Limitation as to Assistants to County Commissioners: The salaries of administrative assistants employed by a Board of County Commissioners are not limited by 7-4-2505, since County Commissioners are not included in the definitive list of county officers to which that section applies. Salaries of the administrative assistants may be set pursuant to 7-5-2107, which contains no limitation as to amount. 38 A.G. Op. 43 (1979).

Deputies as Ambulance Drivers — Stipends: Deputy Sheriffs receiving maximum statutory salary may receive a stipend for operating the county ambulance in addition to their regular salary. 37 A.G. Op. 13 (1977).

7-4-2507. Deputy sheriff and undersheriff provisions — construction.

Case Notes

Deputy Sheriffs' Overtime and On-Call Time Before and After "Garcia Decision": Section 39-3-405 relates to overtime compensation generally, while 7-4-2507 through 7-4-2509 specifically address the salary and overtime compensation of Deputy Sheriffs. Therefore, under the rule that the specific statute governs over the general, 39-3-405 does not apply to Deputy Sheriffs. Furthermore, 7-4-2507 provides that 7-4-2508 through 7-4-2510 govern if they conflict with any other law. Under 7-4-2509, payment of overtime for time worked beyond the regularly scheduled work period is not mandatory and lies in the discretion of the Board of County Commissioners. Since 39-3-405 does not apply to the deputies, the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) and Garcia v. San Antonio Metropolitan Transit Authority, 469 US 528, 83 L Ed 2d 1016, 105 S Ct 1005 (1985), set the threshold (171 hours per 28-day work period) above which the deputies must be paid overtime, retroactive to April 15, 1985, the date Garcia was decided; it could not be argued that the FLSA intended that the lower of the FLSA and the 39-3-405 (160 hours) threshold for a 28-day period should be used to determine when overtime begins. The deputies' claim for compensation for on-call time was another claim for overtime, and payment for on-call time prior to Garcia was in the discretion of the County Commissioners. On-call time since Garcia did not constitute work under a United States Supreme Court test that for FLSA purposes work is physical or mental exertion controlled or required by the employer and pursued necessarily and primarily for the benefit of the employer. Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326, 43 St. Rep. 1046 (1986).

Salary for Time Not Served — Illness: Where deputy did not serve 3 months because of illness, he could not, by mandamus, force payment of his salary for those 3 months. State ex rel. Rusch v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 121 M 162, 191 P2d 670 (1948).

2005 Amendment: Chapter 36 in (2)(b) at end substituted "office" for "department". Amendment effective October 1, 2005.

Case Notes

Calculation of Longevity Using Minimum Base Annual Salary Rather Than Statutory Minimum Allowed: County deputies had a collective bargaining agreement that calculated the base salary for longevity using the percentage of salary that each deputy earned as the base salary of their respective rank. Citing 7-4-2510, the county unilaterally changed the minimum base salary to reflect the lowest possible compensation allowed under 7-4-2508, rather than to reflect each deputy's assigned rank within the department's rank structure, and the deputies protested. Following administrative hearings, the District Court used a rank-based minimum salary rather than the department's minimum salary to determine longevity. The county appealed, but the Supreme Court affirmed. Nothing in 7-4-2510 prevented the county from using a rank-based minimum base annual salary, and it was improper for the county to depart from the terms of the collective bargaining agreement to change to the more limited definition of minimum base annual salary. Clouse v. Lewis & Clark County, 2008 MT 271, 345 M 208, 190 P3d 1052 (2008).

Deputy Salary as Percentage of Sheriff's Salary, Including Supplement: Section 7-4-2510 requires that longevity should be 1% of a deputy's minimum base annual salary. A deputy's salary is based on the salary of the sheriff, which must include the $2,000 statutory supplement provided for a sheriff's salary in 7-4-2503. Clouse v. Lewis & Clark County, 2008 MT 271, 345 M 208, 190 P3d 1052 (2008).

Deputy Sheriffs' Overtime and On-Call Time Before and After "Garcia Decision": Section 39-3-405 relates to overtime compensation generally, while 7-4-2507 through 7-4-2509 specifically address the salary and overtime compensation of Deputy Sheriffs. Therefore, under the rule that the specific statute governs over the general, 39-3-405 does not apply to Deputy Sheriffs. Furthermore, 7-4-2507 provides that 7-4-2508 through 7-4-2510 govern if they conflict with any other law. The deputies' claim for compensation for on-call time was another claim for overtime, and payment for on-call time prior to Garcia was in the discretion of the County Commissioners. Attorney General's Opinions

Authority of Public Safety Commission to Set Salary of Deputy Sheriff: In a department of public safety created pursuant to Title 7, ch. 32, part 1, the public safety commission may set the salary of a department (now Sheriff's office) Deputy Sheriff under 7-32-104 at any level at or above the amount that would be paid to the deputy under this section. To the extent that 7-32-104 and this section conflict, the provisions of 7-32-104, which allow the public safety commission to set the salaries of department (now Sheriff's office) employees, are the more specific and therefore are controlling. 48 A.G. Op. 20 (2000).

Calculation of Base Salary of Deputy Sheriff and Undersheriff — Longevity to Include Each Year of Service: The minimum base annual salary of a Deputy Sheriff or undersheriff for purposes of determining longevity payments under 7-4-2510 is based on the Sheriff's base salary as set forth in this section. Each year of service with the Sheriff's Department is included when calculating longevity payments for a Deputy Sheriff or undersheriff. 43 A.G. Op. 44 (1989).

The deputies' claim for compensation for on-call time was another claim for overtime, and payment for on-call time prior to Garcia was in the discretion of the County Commissioners. On-call time since Garcia did not constitute work under a United States Supreme Court test that for FLSA purposes work is physical or mental exertion controlled or required by the employer and pursued necessarily and primarily for the benefit of the employer. Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326, 43 St. Rep. 1046 (1986).

Deputy Sheriffs' Retroactive Overtime — Conflict of Laws: Since deputies' award of retroactive overtime compensation was grounded in federal rather than state law, the state laws relating to penalties, interest, attorney fees, and costs did not apply. Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326, 43 St. Rep. 1046 (1986).

Attorney General's Opinions

Applicability of State Law Other Than Montana Minimum Wage and Maximum Hours Law to Workers Covered by Fair Labor Standards Act: The federal Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 requires provisions of state law other than the Montana minimum wage and maximum hours law (Title 39, ch. 3, part 4), which set shorter workweeks for specified groups of employees, to be given effect. 41 A.G. Op. 58 (1986).

Deputy Sheriffs and Undersheriffs — Compensatory Time: Since no statutory right to compensation for overtime for Deputy Sheriffs and undersheriffs existed prior to enactment of 7-4-2509 in 1981, they are not entitled to a cash payment in lieu of compensatory time off for overtime hours worked before July 1, 1981. The enactment of 7-4-2509 was not expressly retroactive. 40 A.G. Op. 55 (1984).

2005 Amendment: Chapter 36 in first sentence in two places substituted "office" for "department"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2005.

1986 Amendment: Following "service with the department" inserted remainder of first sentence relating to longevity payments and a compensation freeze.

Case Notes

Calculation of Longevity Using Minimum Base Annual Salary Rather Than Statutory Minimum Allowed: County deputies had a collective bargaining agreement that calculated the base salary for longevity using the percentage of salary that each deputy earned as the base salary of their respective rank. Citing 7-4-2510, the county unilaterally changed the minimum base salary to reflect the lowest possible compensation allowed under 7-4-2508, rather than to reflect each deputy's assigned rank within the department's rank structure, and the deputies protested. Following administrative hearings, the District Court used a rank-based minimum salary rather than the department's minimum salary to determine longevity. The county appealed, but the Supreme Court affirmed. Nothing in 7-4-2510 prevented the county from using a rank-based minimum base annual salary, and it was improper for the county to depart from the terms of the collective bargaining agreement to change to the more limited definition of minimum base annual salary. Clouse v. Lewis & Clark County, 2008 MT 271, 345 M 208, 190 P3d 1052 (2008).

Deputy Salary as Percentage of Sheriff's Salary, Including Supplement: Section 7-4-2510 requires that longevity should be 1% of a deputy's minimum base annual salary. A deputy's salary is based on the salary of the sheriff, which must include the $2,000 statutory supplement provided for a sheriff's salary in 7-4-2503. Clouse v. Lewis & Clark County, 2008 MT 271, 345 M 208, 190 P3d 1052 (2008).

"Year of Service" Defined: As used in this section, "year of service" means calendar year, not 2,080 hours of work. Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326, 43 St. Rep. 1046 (1986).

Attorney General's Opinions

Calculation of Base Salary of Deputy Sheriff and Undersheriff — Longevity to Include Each Year of Service: The minimum base annual salary of a Deputy Sheriff or undersheriff for purposes of determining longevity payments under this section is based on the Sheriff's base salary as set forth in 7-4-2508. Each year of service with the Sheriff's Department (now Sheriff's office) is included when calculating longevity payments for a Deputy Sheriff or undersheriff. 43 A.G. Op. 44 (1989).

Mandatory Method of Calculating Longevity — Collective Bargaining Not Applicable: A Board of County Commissioners sought to implement a collective bargaining agreement provision that authorized longevity increases to Deputy Sheriffs, predicated on years of service, including any years during which the Deputy's base salary was set at the same level as the previous year. However, this section constitutes a mandatory condition of employment that a Board of County Commissioners may not deviate from or alter through collective bargaining. Therefore, the collective bargaining agreement provision was held unenforceable to the extent it permitted inclusion of service years for the purpose of calculating longevity pay increases expressly excluded under this section. 43 A.G. Op. 34 (1989). See also 42 A.G. Op. 37 (1987).

Effect of Pay Freeze on Deputy Sheriff's Longevity Pay: If the County Commissioners set the salary of a Deputy Sheriff at the same level as for the previous fiscal year, that year may not be used when calculating longevity pay and the Deputy's longevity pay is, in effect, frozen. If the pay freeze is lifted and the salary increased, the Deputy's longevity pay does not include additional longevity pay for the period when the salary was set at the same level as the prior fiscal year. Pursuant to this section, loss of an increase in longevity pay due to a pay freeze is permanent. 42 A.G. Op. 76 (1988).

Part-Time Deputies — "Year of Service" Defined: Under this section, "year of service" means each 2,080 hours of employment when used to compute longevity payments for deputy sheriffs or undersheriffs who have worked for the department (now Sheriff's office) on a part-time basis. 39 A.G. Op. 78 (1982), overruled in 48 A.G. Op. 19 (2000), in which, pursuant to Phillips v. Lake County, 222 M 42, 721 P2d 326 (1986), the term "year of service" was construed to mean a calendar year.

Case Notes

Passport Execution Not "Official Service": Execution of a passport by a Clerk of District Court is not an "official service" within the meaning of subsection (2) of this section. Platz v. Hamilton, 201 M 184, 653 P2d 144, 39 St. Rep. 2041 (1982).

Retention of Passport Execution Fees by Clerk of District Court: Because the execution of passport applications is not an official duty imposed upon a Clerk of District Court by state statute and since the Legislature has not enacted a specific statute with regard to the disposition of execution fees, the Clerk has no duty to remit the fees to the county general fund. Platz v. Hamilton, 201 M 184, 653 P2d 144, 39 St. Rep. 2041 (1982).

"Fees" Defined: The term "fees", as used in this section, imports specific charges to be collected from private individuals for particular services. St. v. Story, 53 M 573, 165 P 748 (1917).

Clerk of District Court — Probate Fees: The fees of the Clerk in probate proceedings, exacted under section 25-233, R.C.M. 1947 (since repealed), must be paid by him to the County Treasurer, and they become a part of the public money of the county. Hauser v. Miller, 37 M 22, 94 P 197 (1908).

Attorney General's Opinions

County Superintendent Serving as Substitute — No Additional Compensation: A County Superintendent, who is serving as a substitute superintendent is not allowed to charge hourly fees in addition to the regular salary paid by the county in which the County Superintendent is elected since serving as a substitute is part of the statutory job responsibilities. 54 A.G. Op. 1 (2011).

Sheriff Authorized to Accept Compensation From Federal Agency for Performance of Services Outside Official Duties: A Sheriff may receive compensation from a federal agency under the terms of a cooperative law enforcement agreement without violating any Montana statutory or constitutional provision, so long as the services rendered by the Sheriff fall outside the scope of the Sheriff's official duties. 49 A.G. Op. 12 (2001).

Court Reporter Filing Fee — Clerk of District Court to Collect Fee in Appeal From Justice's Court or City Court — Appeal Is "Civil Action" Under Statutes: The Attorney General was asked whether a Clerk of District Court must collect the $20 filing fee, required by 25-1-202 and used to help pay the salary of the court reporter, in appeals filed in District Court from judgments of a Justice's or City Court. The Attorney General concluded that: (1) a private legal action in a Justice's or City Court is a civil action; (2) an appeal from a Justice's or City Court may include appeal of a civil action; (3) an appeal from either of those courts results in most cases in a new trial in District Court and that the need for a court reporter in that instance is obvious; and (4) the payment of the additional $20 filing fee required by 25-1-202 is mandatory. 48 A.G. Op. 1 (1999).

District Court Clerk Not Authorized to Charge Nonparty State Agency for Copies and Certification of Public Records: Access to and fees for copying public court records are not absolute and are controlled by state law. Fees allowed by law are enumerated in 25-1-201, and the collection of those fees is mandatory. Fees for preparing copies and for certification of documents are also specified in that section. Section 25-10-405 clarifies that fees are collectible from state agencies that are a party to an action but has no effect in cases in which the agency is not a litigant. In those cases, the rule in 7-4-2516 applies, exempting agencies of state and county government from paying official fees. Therefore, a Clerk of District Court may not charge a nonparty state agency for copies and certification of public District Court records. 47 A.G. Op. 3 (1997).

County Attorney Serving as City Attorney — Acceptance of Fee From Private Company Prohibited: A full-time County Attorney serving as city attorney pursuant to an interlocal agreement may not personally receive a fee from a private company for work performed on a city-county bond issue. Attorney fees so paid should be remitted to the county general fund. 45 A.G. Op. 14 (1993).

Disposition of Money Received by County Officers for Preparation of Abstracts: Preparation of abstracts by a Clerk of District Court, a County Clerk, or their respective deputies is an official service of the office. Therefore, compensation paid to them by title companies, credit bureaus, banks, realtors, and others for preparation on a regular basis of abstracts of instruments recorded in their respective offices may not be retained for their personal use, but rather must be paid to the county general fund, District Court fund, or state, as provided by law. 43 A.G. Op. 75 (1990).

Passport Fees — Retention by Clerk of Court: County Clerks of Court may personally retain the fees collected for issuance of passports. 34 A.G. Op. 41 (1972).

Motor Vehicle Ownership Transfer — Late Penalty: Penalties assessed for failure to register a motor vehicle pursuant to 61-3-201 must be credited to the county general fund by the County Treasurer. 34 A.G. Op. 38 (1972).

Payment of Fees to County Clerk: Under subsection (2), the County Clerk may but is not required to demand prepayment of filing or other fees. Subsection (1), having to do with the payment of fees in advance, is inapplicable. Minneapolis Steel & Mach. Co. v. Thomas, 54 M 132, 168 P 40 (1917).

Insufficient Demand: A statement of the amount of the fee for filing made upon a request for the fee amount is not a demand for prepayment as contemplated by subsection (2). Minneapolis Steel & Mach. Co. v. Thomas, 54 M 132, 168 P 40 (1917).

Case Notes

Reward Not a Fee: The State sought treble damages from a County Sheriff for receiving prohibited fees. Summary judgment was granted the Sheriff and upheld on appeal. The Supreme Court held the reward money received by the Sheriff from the state prison was not a fee under 7-4-2519. Further, it was noted that 7-32-2301 deals with the entitlement of Sheriffs to rewards. It does not address rewards from the state prison but does indicate rewards are not equivalent to fees. Finally, the plain language indicates rewards are not covered by the prohibitions of 7-4-2519. "Fees" in that section refers to charges authorized by law to be made by the Sheriff for the performance of specific services enumerated in 7-32-2141 and 7-32-2142. It does not refer to or include reward money. Because 7-4-2519 was the only statute the Sheriff was charged with violating, he was entitled to summary judgment as a matter of law. St. v. DeMers, 192 M 367, 628 P2d 676, 38 St. Rep. 877 (1981), distinguishing State ex rel. Holt v. District Court, 103 M 438, 63 P2d 1026 (1936), and State ex rel. Matson v. Right to Question Legality of Claims against County: The duty of the County Clerk to issue warrants for claims passed upon by the Board of County Commissioners is ministerial only, and he is not clothed with supervisory power to either question or determine the legality of the claims, except where they are void upon their face as without the jurisdiction of the Board to pass upon. May Not Question Constitutionality of Statute: A ministerial officer, such as a County Clerk, to whom no injury can result and to whom no violation of duty can be imputed by reason of his compliance with a statute cannot refuse to perform a duty imposed by it on the ground of its unconstitutionality, since such an officer is not liable for his official acts when acting under process, warrants, or other instruments fair upon their face and issued from a superior tribunal or board. Case Notes

Recording Not Condition Precedent to Judgment Becoming a Lien: This section and 70-21-306 define the effect of recording a final judgment as far as imparting constructive notice is concerned, but they are not controlling as to when the judgment becomes a lien. Section 25-9-301 determines when the lien becomes effective—that the lien attaches when the judgment is docketed; recordation of the judgment is not made a condition precedent to its becoming a lien. Gaines v. Van Demark, 106 M 1, 74 P2d 454 (1937).

Option to Purchase Land: Since an option to purchase land is not itself a contract to purchase the land, the book kept for the recording of contracts for the purchase or sale of real property is not the proper book for recordation. The miscellaneous record book for the entry of such other items required or permitted by law to be recorded is the proper book for such contracts. Guerin v. Sunburst Oil & Gas Co., 68 M 365, 218 P 949 (1923).

Attorney General's Opinions

Blanket Document Listing Multiple Reconveyances of Trust Indentures Allowed: Generally, a County Clerk and Recorder must record reconveyances of trust indentures, which operate the same as a release or satisfaction of a mortgage. In order to effectuate release of a mortgage, the mortgagee or its agent must acknowledge and certify that a release has taken place by presenting a certificate to the County Clerk and Recorder. There is no requirement that each certificate be on a separate piece of paper. As long as each reconveyance meets the statutory requirements for release of a mortgage, the County Clerk and Recorder is obligated to accept for filing a multiple page or "blanket" document listing more than one reconveyance on each page. 48 A.G. Op. 23 (2000).

Survey Requirements for Remainder Created When Highway Right-of-Way Obtained by State: A County Clerk and Recorder may not require a survey or plat for the recordation of an instrument transferring title to a remainder that was created when the state obtained property for a highway right-of-way. 44 A.G. Op. 25 (1992).

Recordation of Trust Indenture — Amount and Maturity Date Not Required: A County Clerk and Recorder may not refuse to accept for filing a trust indenture that does not include an amount secured and a maturity date because there are no specific requirements that such matters be set forth in the instrument. 41 A.G. Op. 11 (1985).

No Duty to Accept Invalid Continuation of Financing Statement: The County Clerk and Recorder is not required to accept for filing a continuation statement made under 30-9-403 (now repealed) but filed outside the 6-month period required by that section. 40 A.G. Op. 60 (1984).

Recording Prerequisites: Transfers of land that do not involve "divisions of land" or "subdivisions", as defined by the Montana Subdivision and Platting Act (Title 76, ch. 3), do not require the certificate of survey or a plat before being recorded by the Clerk and Recorder. (See 1993 amendment.) 37 A.G. Op. 88 (1977). See also 44 A.G. Op. 25 (1992).

County Clerk and Recorder — No Refusal to Record a Valid Deed: Since the Clerk and Recorder of a county is not a law enforcement officer and enforcement of a criminal statute is not within his prescribed duties, he may not refuse to record a deed that has not met the prerequisite, set forth in the Montana Subdivision and Platting Act (Title 76, ch. 3), that an approved, certified plat be filed before the land is transferred. 35 A.G. Op. 25 (1973).

Case Notes

No Duty of Clerk and Recorder to Record Invalid Deed — Writ of Mandamus Improper: Under this section, a County Clerk and Recorder is obligated to record only an instrument, paper, or notice that is authorized by law to be recorded. Under 76-3-302, a County Clerk and Recorder has a mandatory duty not to accept and record an otherwise proper deed if it fails to comply with the applicable survey requirements. The District Court did not err in refusing to issue a writ of mandamus requiring recording of deeds when a landowner attempted to divide a large parcel of land into smaller parcels by executing a deed in which the landowner was both grantor and grantee, which is not authorized by law, and when the statutorily required plat was not filed. Rocky Mtn. Timberlands, Inc. v. Lund, 265 M 463, 877 P2d 1018, 51 St. Rep. 653 (1994).

Attorney General's Opinions

No Duty in County Clerk and Recorder to Accept Common-Law Liens for Filing: Although a County Clerk and Recorder has a statutory duty to accept for filing any instrument, paper, or notice authorized by law to be recorded, there is no apparent authority in Montana law for allowing the filing of a common-law lien. It is unclear whether Montana even recognizes common-law liens. Because a common-law lien is not authorized by law to be received, County Clerk and Recorders may refuse to accept for filing written instruments purporting to be liens when the writing does not qualify as a statutory lien or lien created by contract. 38 A.G. Op. 114 (1980).

County Clerk and Recorder — No Refusal to Record a Valid Deed: Since the Clerk and Recorder of a county is not a law enforcement officer and enforcement of a criminal statute is not within his prescribed duties, he may not refuse to record a deed that has not met the prerequisite, set forth in the Montana Subdivision and Platting Act (Title 76, ch. 3), that an approved, certified plat be filed before the land is transferred. 35 A.G. Tract Index — Implied Powers: In view of the provisions of 15-18-202 through 15-18-204 (since repealed), the general powers conferred upon the Board of County Commissioners by law and under the rule that any appropriate means of carrying out a statutory power conferred on a public officer or board without prescribing the mode of its exercise may be adopted, the Commissioners, under their implied powers, may authorize the installation and maintenance of a tract index in the County Clerk's office for information on tax sales and application for tax deed. Ransom v. Pingel, 104 M 119, 65 P2d 616 (1937).

Attorney General's Opinions

Blanket Document Listing Multiple Reconveyances of Trust Indentures Allowed: Generally, a County Clerk and Recorder must record reconveyances of trust indentures, which operate the same as a release or satisfaction of a mortgage. In order to effectuate release of a mortgage, the mortgagee or its agent must acknowledge and certify that a release has taken place by presenting a certificate to the County Clerk and Recorder. There is no requirement that each certificate be on a separate piece of paper. As long as each reconveyance meets the statutory requirements for release of a mortgage, the County Clerk and Recorder is obligated to accept for filing a multiple page or "blanket" document listing more than one reconveyance on each page. 48 A.G. Op. 23 (2000).

County Clerk — Joint Tenancy Terminations: County Clerk and Recorders are not required to issue "transfers of title" to survivors of a joint tenancy interest. Rather, upon filing of the application and certificates (form INH-3), the Clerk should index the transfer in the grantor and grantee index, noting the time and place of filing. 37 A.G. Op. 134 (1978).

Appropriate Fee for Recording Blanket Document Listing Multiple Reconveyances of Trust Indentures: A flat fee of $6 is chargeable by the County Clerk and Recorder for each page of a blanket document listing multiple reconveyances of trust indentures. 48 A.G. Op. 23 (2000).

Disposition of Money Received by County Officers for Preparation of Abstracts: Preparation of abstracts by a Clerk of District Court, a County Clerk, or their respective deputies is an official service of the office. Therefore, compensation paid to them by title companies, credit bureaus, banks, realtors, and others for preparation on a regular basis of abstracts of instruments recorded in their respective offices may not be retained for their personal use, but rather must be paid to the county general fund, District Court fund, or state, as provided by law. 43 A.G. Op. 75 (1990).

Fee for Recording Documents for Mining Claims: Both 7-4-2631 and 7-4-2632 appear to apply to recording mining documents by mechanical means. Section 7-4-2632 was originally enacted as an amendatory addition to the present 7-4-2631. Both were originally parts of section 25-231, R.C.M. 1947, and were separated by the recodification of the R.C.M. into the MCA. The legislative intent indicates that the fee prescribed in 7-4-2632 was originally enacted as an alternative fee rather than an additional fee. When recording documents for mining claims by mechanical means, the Clerk and Recorder is to charge only the fee prescribed by 7-4-2632. 40 A.G. Op. 58 (1984).

Computation of Charges — Entries in Several Indexes: The charge to be computed for multiple entries in several indexes under 7-4-2631(1)(k) is 50 cents an index in excess of the first index contained in the document regardless of the number of entries made in the index. 39 A.G. Op. 64 (1982).

Liability for County Recording and Copying Fees: The Department of Natural Resources and Conservation must pay the fees set forth in 7-4-2631 for recording of water use permits, despite the language in 7-4-2516, but the County Clerk and Recorder may not collect a fee from the Department for the copying of documents on file with the county. 38 A.G. Case Notes

Student Attorney Considered to Be Practicing Law: Following the resignation of the acting County Attorney, Jefferson County Commissioners interviewed applicants and subsequently selected Valerie Wilson to fill the position effective August 18, 1995. To be qualified for the position, state law requires an attorney to be admitted to practice for at least 5 years prior to appointment or election. The District Court concluded that although Wilson had begun practicing law as a student attorney in 1990, she was not admitted to the Montana Bar until October 1991 and thus would not achieve the required 5 years until October 1996. On appeal, the Supreme Court reversed, ruling that state law does not require that one must be admitted to the State Bar in order to be "deemed practicing law" in Montana. Certification of student attorneys by Supreme Court order along with certification by the dean of the law school provide the guidelines for admission of a student attorney to the practice of law. Shapiro v. Jefferson County, 278 M 109, 923 P2d 543, 53 St. Rep. 848 (1996).

Attorney General's Opinions

Full-Time County Attorney — County Population Requirements: A county with a population of less than 30,000 may establish a full-time County Attorney position. The position need not be filled on July 1 but may be filled at some specified reasonable time after July 1. The salary for such a full-time County Attorney is the same as a full-time County Attorney in a county having more than 30,000 population. 38 A.G. Op. 22 (1979), followed in 42 A.G. Op. 125 (1988).

Full-Time County Attorney — Residency Requirements: A practicing attorney who has declared his intention to make a county his permanent home, is actively seeking a permanent residence in that county, and is in the process of terminating his personal business affairs at his former residence has become a resident of the county and is eligible for appointment as a full-time County Attorney once he has resided in the county for 30 days if he becomes a qualified registered elector and meets other qualifications for the office. 38 A.G. Op. 22 (1979), followed in 42 A.G. Op. 125 (1988).

Attorney General's Opinions

Appointment of County Attorney — Procedure — Eligibility: In a county with a population of less than 30,000, if no licensed attorney (see 1997 amendment) in the county wishes to be appointed County Attorney, the Board of County Commissioners should proceed to fill a vacancy under this section as if there were no licensed attorneys in the county. If one or more licensed attorneys are residents of the county and wish to be appointed but the County Commissioners do not want to appoint one of them, the County Commissioners may recruit and appoint an out-of-county attorney only if the attorney will be a county resident and meet other eligibility requirements by the time of appointment. 42 A.G. 30,000", and at end deleted "and except as provided in subsection (4)"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2007.

Style changes were slightly different in the chapters. In each case, the codifier chose appropriate text.

Legislative Findings: Section 1, Ch. 230, L. 2007, provided: "The legislature finds that:

(1) a significant portion of the work done by county attorneys is for the prosecution of criminal cases under state law and for the enforcement of state civil law concerning child abuse and neglect pursuant to Title 41, chapter 3;

(2) the county attorney workloads vary greatly from county to county;

(3) it is in the state's best interest to promote consistent statewide prosecution services and to support the office of county attorney as a career position that will attract experienced and well-qualified attorneys, especially considering the enactment of a statewide public defender system in 2005;

(4) because a county attorney is an elected county official and has a vital role in providing civil legal services to the county and because each county has unique needs to consider, the county attorney's salary should be set by the county;

(5) because county attorneys provide both state and county services, the responsibility for funding county attorney salaries should be a responsibility shared by the state and the counties; and

(6) the state's funding responsibility should be met through a predictable and ongoing appropriation, thus through a statutory appropriation."

1981 Amendment: Inserted "and except as provided in subsection (4)" at the end of (2) and (3); inserted (4) allowing up to 3 months in office to complete pending private matters.

Case Notes

Prosecutorial Discretion — Deputy's Prior Representation: The Lemmons were divorced after 20 years of marriage. Leroy was seeing Donna Myers, and Koralyn was seeing John Sweeting. Myers and Sweeting had just ended a personal and business relationship. Sweeting asked Koralyn to get a briefcase out of Leroy's truck. The briefcase actually belonged to Myers. Leroy and Myers returned to the truck and found the briefcase missing. They concluded Koralyn had taken it since the truck was not broken into. Leroy and Myers went to Koralyn's home. She heard them drive up and put a gun in the waistband of her pants. Leroy and Koralyn fought, and Leroy struck her in the head with the gun. Leroy and Myers put Koralyn on the floor of the truck and went to the Sheriff's department. The Sheriff was not immediately available, so Leroy and Myers left, with Koralyn still on the floor of the truck, to find Sweeting. A high speed chase ensued in which the cars rammed together and gunshots were exchanged. The chase ended when Leroy's transmission caught fire. The charges arising from the pursuit were dropped. Leroy was charged with aggravated assault and kidnapping. He was convicted of assault and unlawful restraint. Leroy contended the County Attorney abused his discretion in not acting on his complaints against Koralyn and for not disqualifying the office since a deputy had represented Koralyn in the divorce. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that the abuse of discretion issue had not been raised at trial and could not be raised on appeal. The court also stated that selectivity in enforcement is not a violation of the U. S. Constitution if the selection is not based on an unjustifiable or arbitrary classification. The court construed DR 5-105(D) to concern conflicts in representation, not prosecution. Also, the court stated that it was not established that the County Attorney would have been disqualified from the prosecution for representing Koralyn, let alone a deputy. St. v. Lemmon, 214 M 121, 692 P2d 455, 41 St. Rep. 2359 (1984). See also Helena Parents Comm'n v. Lewis & Clark County Comm'rs, 277 M 367, 922 P2d 1140, 53 St. Rep. 687 (1996).

Attorney Fees Award — Disposition: Attorney fees awarded on appeal of Fair Labor Standards Act claim must be paid into the Cascade County general fund and not given to the County Attorney as private attorney fees because the population of Cascade County is in excess of 30,000 people, prohibiting profits by the County Attorney from private practice of law. St. v. Holman Aviation Co., 176 M 31, 575 P2d 925 (1978).

County Attorney Serving as City Attorney — Acceptance of Fee From Private Company Prohibited: A full-time County Attorney serving as city attorney pursuant to an interlocal agreement may not personally receive a fee from a private company for work performed on a city-county bond issue. Attorney fees so paid should be remitted to the county general fund. 45 A.G. Op. 14 (1993).

Rural Improvement Districts — Representation by Part-Time County Attorney in Private Practice Permitted: After a rural improvement district has been created pursuant to 7-12-2113, a part-time County Attorney may represent a rural improvement district in his private practice and receive payment for such legal representation. 40 A.G. Op. 27 (1983).

State Conservation Districts — Legal Representation: The Attorney General is responsible for civil legal representation upon request from supervisors of a state conservation district, but private counsel may be employed as Special Assistant Attorneys General. The compensation may be set by the supervisors and becomes a district obligation. County Attorneys' duty to represent districts extends only to giving their opinion in writing to the officers of the district on matters pertaining to their offices. 37 A.G. Op. 76 (1977).

2007 Amendment: Chapter 230 in (1)(a) near end after "full-time" inserted "or part-time" and after "position" deleted "subject to the provisions of 7-4-2701 and 7-4-2704" and deleted former second sentence that read: "The salary for this position is the salary established pursuant to 7-4-2503"; inserted (1)(b) requiring that a copy of a resolution be provided to the department of justice; in (2) substituted "In a county with a population of 30,000 or more, the office of county attorney must be a full-time position" for "In any county in which the office of county attorney has been established as a full-time position under subsection (1), the county commissioners may, by resolution and upon the consent of the county attorney, establish the office as a part-time position on July 1 of any year"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2007.

(1) a significant portion of the work done by county attorneys is for the prosecution of criminal cases under state law and for the enforcement of state civil law concerning child abuse and neglect pursuant to Title 41, chapter 3;

(2) the county attorney workloads vary greatly from county to county;

(3) it is in the state's best interest to promote consistent statewide prosecution services and to support the office of county attorney as a career position that will attract experienced and well-qualified attorneys, especially considering the enactment of a statewide public defender system in 2005;

(4) because a county attorney is an elected county official and has a vital role in providing civil legal services to the county and because each county has unique needs to consider, the county attorney's salary should be set by the county;

(5) because county attorneys provide both state and county services, the responsibility for funding county attorney salaries should be a responsibility shared by the state and the counties; and

(6) the state's funding responsibility should be met through a predictable and ongoing appropriation, thus through a statutory appropriation."

2001 Amendment: Chapter 507 in (1) at end of second sentence substituted "the salary established pursuant to 7-4-2503" for "the salary provided by 7-4-2503 for the office of county attorney in a county with a population in excess of 30,000". Amendment effective May 1, 2001.

1981 Amendment: Inserted (2) relating to reducing the office from full- to part-time.

No Opportunity for Parties to Address Issues — Award of Attorney Fees Premature: An award of attorney fees based on this section is premature unless and until an appropriate record is created and the parties have a full and fair opportunity to address the issues. County Attorney — Conflict of Interests: The County Attorney should advise the school boards they should retain independent counsel to raise the privilege against self-incrimination as a defense to interrogatories propounded by the Human Rights Commission in the investigation of alleged violations of the antidiscrimination law since it is his duty to obtain the evidence and to prosecute if he determines there is a criminal violation. School District v. Human Rights Comm'n, 173 M 113, 566 P2d 799 (1977).

Legal Adviser of Justice of Peace: It is the duty of the County Attorney to advise the Justice of the Peace in preparation of a proper record for appeal to the District Court, and improper submission of such record may not bar defendant's right to appeal. Clark v. District Court, 142 M 56, 381 P2d 472 (1963); Reidelbach v. District Court, 142 M 52, 381 P2d 470 (1963).

County Attorney Not Obligated to Serve Hospital District: A County Attorney has no obligation to act as legal counsel for a hospital district formed under 7-34-2101. 43 A.G. Op. 15 (1989).

Authority of County Commissioners to Employ Private Attorney: A County Attorney may not unreasonably withhold his consent to the employment of another attorney by the Board of County District Boards of Health — Formation and Insurance — County Attorney Not Legal Advisor: A District Board of Health formed pursuant to 50-2-107 stands in place of the County Board of Health in those counties that formed the District Board of Health. Once a county joins a District Board of Health, there is no need for the county to maintain a County Board of Health. The District Board of Health has the responsibility of providing its own legal advisor because there is no specific statutory mandate that the County Attorney act as legal advisor to the District Board of Health. The counties creating a District Board of Health are responsible for providing liability insurance for their District Board of Health. 41 A.G. Op. 22 (1985).

Rural Improvement Districts — County Attorney Not Legal Advisor: Except for legal work required by the Board of County Commissioners in connection with the creation of a rural improvement district, it is not the duty of a County Attorney to represent rural improvement districts formed under Title 7, ch. 12, part 21. 40 A.G. Case Notes

Failure of District Court to Grant Motions to Dismiss as Directed by Attorney General for Government Misconduct — Violation of Separation of Powers: The Attorney General directed the Lincoln County Attorney to file motions to dismiss charges against certain criminal defendants for the reason that outrageous government misconduct had occurred in the course of the prosecution. The Lincoln County Attorney filed the motions, but they were denied by the District Court. In a proceeding for supervisory control, the Supreme Court held that the Attorney General was within his authority to direct the County Attorney to move to dismiss the charges and held that the Attorney General's conclusion that there had been outrageous government misconduct in the cases served as a basis under 46-13-401(1) for the District Court to dismiss the charges. The refusal of the District Court to dismiss the charges was an abuse of discretion and a violation of the doctrine of separation of powers. By refusing to grant the motions to dismiss, the District Court intruded upon the lawful functions of the County Attorney and the Attorney General, who belong to the Executive Branch of government. State ex rel. Fletcher v. District Court, 260 M 410, 859 P2d 992, 50 St. Rep. 992 (1993). See also St. v. Schneiderhan, 261 M 161, 862 P2d 37, 50 St. Rep. 1242 (1993).

Authority of Prosecutor to Charge Under Alternate Statutes: Defendants Richard and David Fertterer were convicted of felony criminal mischief for illegally killing game. They contended on appeal that they should have been charged under the misdemeanor provisions of Title 87 and not under the felony provisions of Title 45. Citing St. v. Brady, 249 M 290, 816 P2d 413 (1991), the Supreme Court held that the state has the authority to charge under any statute if the conduct of the defendants meets the elements of the crime. St. v. Fertterer, 255 M 73, 841 P2d 467, 49 St. Rep. 846 (1992).

County Attorney's Discretion to Bring Action — Prosecutorial Authority Not Exceeded: In a suit against a county for liability of the County Attorney while carrying out county policy, the Supreme Court found no evidence or specific allegation that the County Attorney exceeded his authority or was derelict in his duty under the law. A determination by the County Attorney to bring an action is discretionary and is his duty under the law. Ronek v. Gallatin County, 227 M 514, 740 P2d 1115, 44 St. Rep. 1275 (1987).

Delegation of Powers Restricted: County Attorney cannot delegate to unofficial counsel his right to advise the grand jury, assist them in their investigations, and examine witnesses, and an order of the District Judge appointing such special prosecutor when the County Attorney was present and able to act could not give such authority. State ex rel. Porter v. District Court, 124 M 249, 220 P2d 1035 (1950).

Duty to Prosecute: Except when the County Attorney is himself the accused, the duty devolves upon him to prosecute public offenses. State ex rel. McGrade v. District Court, 52 M 371, 157 P 1157 (1916).

Duty Upon Appeal to Supreme Court — Expenses: After a criminal case has been appealed to the Supreme Court, the duties of the County Attorney therein and his power to contract expenses for the county cease. Independent Publishing Co. v. Lewis & Clark County, 30 M 83, 75 P 860 (1904).

Attorney General's Opinions

County Attorney as Employee for Purposes of Lawsuit Regarding Administrative Actions: A County Attorney is not liable for civil damages for conduct within the scope of his prosecutorial duties; however, that immunity does not extend to the discretionary administrative business of running a County Attorney's office. Thus, a County Attorney is considered a county employee for purposes of the Montana Comprehensive State Insurance Plan and Tort Claims Act whenever the County Attorney is named in a civil lawsuit for actions regarding county administrative business, such as the hiring and firing of staff. 44 A.G. Op. 29 (1992).

County Responsible for Charges Incurred by City Police — Criminal Prosecutions: The county bears the financial responsibility for charges incurred at the request of the County Attorney, after an arrest by city police, for the preservation and preparation of evidence to be used in felony cases. 38 A.G. Op. 94 (1980).

Private Citizen Cannot Prosecute Complaint: Since the term "magistrate" includes Justices of the Peace in this section, the County Attorney is charged with the responsibility of prosecuting complaints in Justices' Courts and a Justice of the Peace cannot allow a private citizen to prosecute a complaint. However, a County Attorney is vested with normal discretion and need not file and prosecute every individual's complaint when there is insufficient evidence to warrant prosecution or when such a prosecution would not be in the interests of justice. 36 A.G. Op. 47 (1975).

Joint Employment: A County Attorney, for purposes of administration, is jointly employed by both the county and the state. 36 A.G. Op. 32 (1975).

Failure to Appeal County Commission Decision — Not a Bar Under Section: Failure of a taxpayer to appeal to the District Court from an order of the Board of County Commissioners allowing a claim against the county under the authority given him by 7-6-2424 does not limit the right of the County Attorney to sue in the name of the county to recover money illegally paid under this section. Carbon County v. Draper, 84 M 413, 276 P 667 (1929).

Failure to Bring Action: Where a County Attorney fails or refuses to bring an action to recover county funds illegally paid out, he may be compelled to act by mandamus or proceedings for his summary removal may be instituted. Gregg v. Bayers, 73 M 165, 235 P 337 (1925).

Taxpayer Not Real Party in Interest: Under this section an action to recover county funds unlawfully paid must be brought by the County Attorney in the name of the county, it being the real party in interest, and cannot therefore be maintained by a taxpayer. Case Notes

Failure of State to Appeal — County Attorney Representation of State Position as Sufficient Opportunity for Hearing: Despite a District Court order in 1993, Sheppard was not admitted to phase II of the sexual offender program at the state prison. In 1995, Sheppard moved the District Court to order his enrollment in the program, serving the motion on the County Attorney who had prosecuted him for the underlying offense, but not on the state attorney for the Department of Corrections. The County Attorney appeared at the hearing on the motion and, pursuant to this section, advanced the state's position that Sheppard was not eligible for the treatment program because he failed to accept responsibility for the crime. The court affirmed its 1993 order and ordered that Sheppard be allowed into the program. The state did not timely appeal the decision and thus was bound by the 1993 order. The representation by the County Attorney of the state's position at the hearing, coupled with the state's opportunity to address the issue at prior hearings, was adequate consideration. St. v. Sheppard, 277 M 76, 919 P2d 1057, 53 St. Rep. 548 (1996).

County Responsibility for Medical Costs of Detained Person Unable to Pay — "Nature of the Crime" Approach: In determining whether a city or a county is responsible for medical costs incurred by a person ultimately charged with a violation of state law but who is unable to pay, the Supreme Court adopted the "nature of the crime" approach. This approach determines financial responsibility not on the basis of which agency first takes a person into custody, but rather on the basis of the crime charged. Because the county is vested with the primary responsibility for enforcing state law and maintaining facilities to accomplish that responsibility, performance of the task necessarily includes assumption of the associated financial burden. Mont. Deaconess Medical Center v. Johnson, 232 M 474, 758 P2d 756, 45 St. Rep. 1207 (1988).

County Attorney's Discretion to Bring Action — Prosecutorial Authority Not Exceeded: In a suit against a county for liability of the County Attorney while carrying out county policy, the Supreme Court found no evidence or specific allegation that the County Attorney exceeded his authority or was derelict in his duty under the law. Power of Attorney General to Institute Actions in District Court:

Although County Attorney may be ordered by Attorney General to initiate a felony prosecution in a District Court, the Attorney General has no power to initiate the action independent of the County Attorney. State ex rel. Woodahl v. District Court, 159 M 112, 495 P2d 182 (1972).

The statutes of this state do not authorize the institution of an action in the District Courts by the Attorney General on behalf of the state, but rather they specifically state that such an action must be brought by the County Attorney of the county; however, under the common-law powers and duties of the Attorney General, he can institute such an action where the public interest is affected and the state is a party in interest. State ex rel. Olsen v. P.S.C., 129 M 106, 283 P2d 594 (1955); State ex rel. Ford v. Young, 54 M 401, 170 P 947 (1918); State ex rel. Nolan v. District Court, 22 M 25, 55 P 916 (1899).

Prosecution in Name of State: Criminal cases arising under the state laws must be prosecuted in the name of the state and by the County Attorney under this section and Art. VIII, sec. 27, 1889 Mont. Const. (No comparable provision in 1972 Mont. Const., however, the provision is codified at 46-11-401). State ex rel. Streit v. Justice Court, 45 M 375, 123 P 405 (1912).

Supervision by Attorney General: The County Attorney, in his every duty, is under the supervisory powers of the Attorney General. There are no official acts to be discharged by him in the performance of which he may not, where public interests require it, be assisted by that official. State ex rel. Nolan v. District Court, 22 M 25, 55 P 916 (1899).

Test of Statute's Constitutionality: The constitutionality of a statute is tested by the constitution in effect when the law was enacted. The recodification of a statute does not act as a reenactment of the law but is merely a ministerial and administrative function. Therefore, appellant could not be denied his right to hold the office of County Surveyor as the statute was unconstitutional at its inception and was not reenacted under the 1972 Constitution. Case Notes

Appointment of Chief of Police and Police Officers: Insofar as the method of appointment of members of the police force, including the Chief of Police, is concerned, this section is repealed by the Metropolitan Police Act (Ch. 136, L. 1907, codified primarily in Title 7, ch. 41). The method of appointment and removal by the later law is wholly inconsistent with the notion that the Mayor and Council are authorized to exercise the power of appointment as provided in the older law. State ex rel. Wynne v. Quinn, 40 M 472, 107 P 506 (1910).

Execution of Power Granted: The grant of power contained in this section, in the matter of prescribing the duties and fixing the compensation of city officers, is subject not only to the express and implied limitations found elsewhere in the title under which the section falls but contains in itself a limitation as to the mode in which the power granted may be executed. McGillic v. Corby, 37 M 249, 95 P 1063 (1908).

Attorney General's Opinions

Administrative Assistant — Mayoral Appointment: Although the City Council's contract and budget approval powers may affect the mayor's practical ability to provide a particular compensation amount to an administrative assistant or establish other employment conditions, they do not obviate his authority to fill that position without Council approval. Under 7-3-212, a mayor may appoint an administrative assistant without the approval of the City Council. 41 A.G. Op. 45 (1986).

Reapportionment — Holdover Aldermen: There is no provision in the Montana Constitution or statutes that authorizes the shortening of an alderman's term of office. The fact that ward boundaries may change as a result of reapportionment and that some voters may be represented for 2 years by an alderman for whom they had no opportunity to vote has not justified a deviation from state law, the shortening of terms, in other jurisdictions. Where state law provides for the length of term of an elected official and for the staggering of terms to insure continuity and stability, those requirements are paramount to the temporary disenfranchisement that necessarily follows a reapportionment. Montana state law regarding 4-year staggered terms for aldermen and the absence of any applicable statute authorizing the removal of incumbents from office after reapportionment determine that an alderman elected to a 4-year term in 1982 need not run for reelection in 1983 as a result of reapportionment and redistricting. 40 A.G. Op. 1 (1983).

1987 Amendment: In (3), at end, inserted "or may designate a justice's court to act as city court as provided in 3-11-205".

Case Notes

Commissioner of Public Works: Commissioner of Public Works, appointed by the Mayor, being a public officer of the city, was under a duty to account for all funds which might come into his hands as such officer, including funds of public housing projects. Roundup v. Liebetrau, 134 M 114, 327 P2d 810 (1958).

Attorney General's Opinions

Appointment of City Judge by Third-Class City: Under this section, the governing body of a third-class city has the authority to determine by ordinance how a City Judge is selected.

However, nothing in statute precludes the city from amending the ordinance in order to provide for the election of the judge. Therefore, when a city of the third class adopts a commission-manager form of government, the city is not bound by 7-3-4462, which requires election of a City Judge, but may continue to appoint its judge under an ordinance passed pursuant to this section. 45 A.G. VII, sec. 9, Mont. Const. 41 A.G. Op. 82 (1986). See 1989 amendment that provides for the appointment of a nonresident Justice of the Peace or City Judge to act as City Judge.

City Judge:

The office of the Police Judge (now City Judge) is the creation of the statute and not of the constitution. State ex rel. Shea v. Cocking, 66 M 169, 213 P 59 (1923).

Blindness does not disqualify one from holding the office of Police Judge (now City Judge). State ex rel. Shea v. Cocking, 66 M 169, 213 P 594 (1923).

Legislature Prescribing No Qualifications: Where the Legislature in creating an elective office prescribes no limitations or qualifications, the right to hold it is an implied attribute of citizenship and is presumed to be coextensive with that of voting at an election held for the purpose of choosing an incumbent for that office, those only who are competent to select the officer being deemed competent to hold it. State ex rel. Shea v. Cocking, 66 M 169, 213 P 594 (1923).

Application of Section: This section is of general application and controls aldermanic candidates who aspire to office at a first election after incorporation, as well as those who seek like honors at subsequent elections. Brown v. Foster, 48 M 114, 135 P 993 (1913).

Alderman: The official oath in writing of an Alderman, when taken and subscribed, is intended to become a record of the city. State ex rel. Wilson v. Willis, 47 M 548, 133 P 962 (1913).

City Purchasing Agent: The City Council may, by a bare majority vote, abolish the office of city purchasing agent at any time and discharge the person appointed to fill it. State ex rel. Klick v. Wittmer, 50 M 22, 144 P 648 (1914).

Application of Section: This section has no application to a fireman, since 7-33-4113 declares that he is not to be deemed a municipal officer. State ex rel. Driffill v. Anaconda, 41 M 577, 111 P 345 (1910).

Offices Subject to Abolishment: The only officers of a city of the first class actually created by the Legislature are the Mayor, two Aldermen from each ward, a Police Judge (now City Judge), and a City Treasurer, none of whom can be in any way affected by any action of the Council, though other offices may be abolished. 1981 Amendment: Substantially rewritten based upon 2-16-501; deleted former subsection (1) relating to qualifying for office; inserted introductory clause regarding when an office becomes vacant; inserted (1) through (4) and (8) through (11); and amended (5) through (7) to conform to inserted material (see 1981 Session Law for text).

Attorney General's Opinions

Vacancy Not Created by Holdover Town Attorney: The general rule of law is that an officer must hold over until a successor is appointed and qualified, unless holding over is prohibited by express statutory language or by clear implication. The policy underlying the common-law rule is the strong public interest in continuing the work of important governmental offices when a qualified officer is holding over pending appointment and approval of a successor. With regard to the office of town attorney, absent statutory prohibition, a vacancy in the office of town attorney is not created when the attorney holds over following expiration of the term of office. Therefore, a qualified town attorney lawfully holding over in the office continues to hold office until a successor is nominated by the mayor and approved by the town council. 47 A.G. Op. 16 (1998).

Loss of Office Caused by Change of Residency — Urban Renewal Agency Commissioner: Under 2-16-501, a member of a board of commissioners of an urban renewal agency loses his seat on the board if he ceases to be a resident of the municipality that created the board. (See 1997 amendment.) 41 A.G. Op. 1 (1985).

7-4-4112. Filling of vacancy.

Compiler's Comments

2007 Amendment: Chapter 61 made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2007.

1987 Amendment: Inserted (2) relating to all council position becoming vacant at one time.

1981 Amendment: In (1) substituted language relating to filling a vacancy of an elective office at the next general municipal election and appointing a successor within 30 days for "the council, by a majority vote of the members, may fill the same for the unexpired term and until the qualification of the successor"; and deleted "but if the council shall fail to fill such vacancy before the time for the next election, the qualified electors of such city or ward may nominate and elect a successor to such office" after "vacancy exists" in (2).

Case Notes

Filling Vacancy — Right to Vote: Having been rightfully chosen by the City Council to fill a vacancy in its own body and after taking and subscribing the constitutional oath, an alderman had the right to have his vote on the question of filling another vacancy, caused by death, recorded, even though a certificate of election had not been issued to him and irrespective of the mayor's refusal to recognize him or of the fact that an action to determine his official status was then pending. State ex rel. Wilson v. Willis, 47 M 548, 133 P 962 (1913).

Majority Vote: The provision of this section, requiring "a majority vote of the members" of the City Council, that is, a majority of those constituting the actual membership of the body at the time, to fill a vacancy in an elective city office, and not 7-5-4121, making "a majority of the whole number of the members elected" requisite for such purpose, is applicable in case a vacancy in its own body caused by resignation or death is to be filled. State ex rel. Wilson v. Willis, 47 M 548, 133 P 962 (1913), distinguished in State ex rel. O'Hern v. Loud, 92 M 307, 14 P2d 432 (1932).

Attorney General's Opinions

Term of Appointment of Vacancy in Office of City Judge — Commission-Manager Form of Government: Under the specific provisions of 7-3-4462, a person who is appointed to fill a vacancy in the office of City Judge under a commission-manager form of city government shall serve the remainder of the existing term. 52 A.G. Op. 2 (2007).

7-4-4113. Removal of appointed officer.

Case Notes

Misconduct — Intent Involved: To justify removal of an officer for misconduct, it is not necessary that the actions made the basis of the charge against him must have been willful; the official doing of an act may constitute misconduct, although there was no corrupt or malicious motive. Bailey v. Examining and Trial Bd., 45 M 197, 122 P 572 (1912); State ex rel. Ryan v. Bd. of Aldermen, 45 M 188, 122 P 569 (1912); State ex rel. Rowe v. District Court, 44 M 318, 119 P 1103 (1911); State ex rel. Wynne v. Examining and Trial Bd., 43 M 389, 117 P 77 (1911); Leggatt v. Prideaux, 16 M 205, 40 P 377 (1895).

Misconduct of Alderman: An alderman was properly found guilty of misconduct in office and removed, on the grounds that in his capacity as an attorney at law he defended one charged with conducting business without paying a license tax and accepted a retainer to prosecute a suit against the town for damages and an injunction in regard to a sewer. (Decided prior to 1974 amendment inserting "nonelected" before "officer"—annotator.) State ex rel. Ryan v. Bd. of Aldermen, 45 M 188, 122 P 569 (1912).

City Judge:

The office of Police Judge (now City Judge) is a creature not of the constitution but of the statute, and the incumbent thereof is not liable to impeachment. He is, however, a city officer and may therefore, in a proper case, be removed by the City Council. State ex rel. Working v. Mayor, 43 M 61, 114 P 777 (1911).

Prohibition does not lie at the suit of a Police Judge (now City Judge) of a city to prohibit the City Council from proceeding to remove him from office, where written charges have not been filed against him as required by this section. State ex rel. Working v. Mayor, 43 M 61, 114 P 777 (1911).

Construction of Section: This section is in consonance with Art. V, sec. 18, 1889 Mont. Const. (similar to Art. V, sec. 13(1), 1972 Mont. Const.), subjecting officers not liable to impeachment to removal in the manner provided by law, and is a proper exercise of the legislative authority therein granted. State ex rel. Working v. Mayor, 43 M 61, 114 P 777 (1911).

Written Charges Required for Removal: Until written charges have been filed with a City Council, in conformity with the provision of this section, no proceeding looking to the removal of a city officer has been instituted. State ex rel. Working v. Mayor, 43 M 61, 114 P 777 (1911).

Part 42
Compensation of Municipal Officers and Employees

7-4-4201. Salary of officers.

Attorney General's Opinions

Increase of Officer's Salary During His Term: This section does not prohibit a City Council from increasing the salary of a municipal officer during the officer's term of office. It is clear from the title and substance of Ch. 221, L. 1979, that the Legislature intended to make a change in this section by deleting the prohibition against increasing or diminishing a municipal officer's salary during his term of office. 38 A.G. Op. 45 (1979).

Prohibition Against Salary Changes Not Revived by Contemporaneous Amendments: The enactment of Ch. 428 and Ch. 443, L. 1979, which amended former subsection (2) of 7-4-4201, did not revive the prohibition against changing the salary of a municipal officer during his term. The Legislature's express deletion of that prohibition in Ch. 221, L. 1979, was in effect a direct repeal of former subsection (2). Neither Ch. 428 nor Ch. 443, L. 1979, expressly or impliedly repeals Ch. 221, L. 1979, and it is not possible for the Legislature to put life into a dead statute by amendment of it. 38 A.G. Op. 45 (1979).

Nomination and Appointment of Nonelective Officers:

The nominee of a Mayor for a city office (City Engineer) who was not confirmed by a majority of the City Council as required by statute and ordinance does not assume the status of an officer. State ex rel. Sandquist v. Rogers, 93 M 355, 18 P2d 617 (1933).

The Town Clerk is an appointive officer, and the Mayor of a city or town has power "to nominate, and, with the consent of the council, to appoint all nonelective officers of the city or town, provided for by the council". The power to nominate to fill a nonelective office also includes like authority when a vacancy arises therein, but in either event the appointment is not effective until concurred in by a majority of the City or Town Council. State ex rel. Peterson v. Peck, 91 M 5, 4 P2d 1086 (1931).

Status of Mayor Generally: While the Mayor of a city is not, strictly speaking, a member of the Council in the sense that an Alderman is, yet he is such to the extent of the powers committed to him under this section and 7-5-4102(2). State ex rel. O'Hern v. Loud, 92 M 307, 14 P2d 432 (1932).

Police Officers — Appointment and Suspension: Insofar as the method of appointment and suspension of members of the police force is concerned, this section is repealed by the Metropolitan Police Law (Ch. 136, L. 1907; codified in Title 7, ch. 32). State ex rel. Wynne v. Quinn, 40 M 472, 107 P 506 (1910).

Attorney General's Opinions

Administrative Assistant — Mayoral Appointment: Although the City Council's contract and budget approval powers may affect the mayor's practical ability to provide a particular compensation amount to an administrative assistant or establish other employment conditions, they do not obviate his authority to fill that position without Council approval. Office of City Council Member

Part Case Notes

Arbitrary Denial of Building Permit by City Council — City, City Council, and Individual Council Members Liable: In an action under 43 U.S.C. 1983, the court of appeals upheld the District Court's holding that the Billings City Council's refusal to issue a building permit after the applicant had satisfied all the requirements for issuing the permit was an arbitrary and capricious action that deprived the applicant of his substantive due process rights. The city, City Council, and individual members of the City Council have no immunity from such action and are all liable for damages. Bateson v. Geisse, 857 F2d 1300 (9th Cir. 1988).

Case Notes

Constitutionality of Freeholder Requirement — Enactment Void: The freeholder requirement of this section (prior to 1979 amendment) was unconstitutional since it bore no relation to a person's qualifications and ability to serve as City Councilman, resulting in an invidious discrimination violative of equal protection. Thus, appellant's false swearing as to freeholder status in his filed declaration of nomination did not constitute a violation of the election laws. Sadler v. Connolly, 175 M 484, 575 P2d 51 (1978), distinguished in Johnson v. Killingsworth, 271 M 1, 894 P2d 272, 52 St. Rep. 274 (1995).

Residence: The provision of this section (prior to 1967 amendment) requiring that any person, to be eligible to the office of Alderman, must have been a resident of the ward where elected "for at least one year preceding the election", meant 1 year next preceding the election. Dowty v. Pittwood, 23 M 113, 57 P 727 (1899).

Attorney General's Opinions

Reapportionment — Holdover Aldermen: There is no provision in the Montana Constitution or statutes that authorizes the shortening of an alderman's term of office. The fact that ward boundaries may change as a result of reapportionment and that some voters may be represented for 2 years by an alderman for whom they had no opportunity to vote has not justified a deviation from state law, the shortening of terms, in other jurisdictions. Where state law provides for the length of term of an elected official and for the staggering of terms to insure continuity and stability, those requirements are paramount to the temporary disenfranchisement that necessarily follows a reapportionment. Montana state law regarding 4-year staggered terms for aldermen and the absence of any applicable statute authorizing the removal of incumbents from office after reapportionment determine that an alderman elected to a 4-year term in 1982 need not run for reelection in 1983 as a result of reapportionment and redistricting. 40 A.G. Op. 1 (1983).

Reception of Reports: Where accountants are employed to audit the books of a city and their contract calls for a report to the city, but before it is made two copies thereof are handed to the Mayor, at his request, one of which he presents to the City Council and the other he receives as his own, the Mayor's duty is fully discharged. After seeing that the copy presented to the Council finds its way into the hands of the City Clerk and is by him filed among the records of his office, the Mayor has a right to retain the other copy among his private papers. Butte v. Nevin, 46 M 380, 128 P 600 (1912).

Compensation of President: The Council may or may not elect a president. When elected, he must be held to know whether provision has been made for his compensation; if none has been made in the mode prescribed by law, then he is entitled to none and has no legal claim against the city therefor. Possession of Books and Records: A Writ of Mandate is proper to compel the Mayor to nominate a person acceptable to the Council as Town Clerk, who then would be entitled to the custody of the books and records of the town, under this section. State ex rel. Peterson v. Peck, 91 M 5, 4 P2d 1086 (1931).

Record of Oath: If a person has been lawfully elected a member of the City Council and has taken the required oath, the intention of the law is that the oath, when taken and subscribed, shall become a record of the city, and it is the Clerk's duty to file and keep it as such. State ex rel. Wilson v. Willis, 47 M 548, 133 P 962 (1913).

Documents Kept by Mayor: If the Mayor chooses to keep a record including copies of documents that must be preserved in the files of the Clerk's office, they are his private property, and title to them does not vest in the city by virtue of the fact that he is acting as its chief executive at the time. Butte v. Nevin, 46 M 380, 128 P 600 (1912).

Protests Against Improvement Districts: The presentation of protests or objections against the creation of special improvement districts is not part of the duties of the City Clerk, and the leaving of such protests at the Clerk's office is of no avail. Hensley v. Butte, 36 M 32, 92 P 34 (1907). (Compare Tiggerman v. Butte, 44 M 138, 119 P 477 (1911).)

City Attorney's Authority to Try City Prosecution of Statutory DUI Violation Upheld: McCarvel was charged in Billings City Court with a violation of the state DUI statute. He was convicted by a jury and appealed to District Court in which, after the District Court refused to dismiss, he pleaded guilty. The Supreme Court held that the city attorney could lawfully prosecute a violation of a state statute in City Court because the City Court had concurrent jurisdiction with the Justice's Court and because it was the city attorney's duty to prosecute on behalf of the city offenses heard in that court. Ordinance Not Invalid for Apparent Failure to Post Required Notice: An ordinance that was submitted in writing, contained one comprehensive subject, was read and passed at two readings, and was signed by the chairperson of the governing body is valid under this section. Because of numerous resolutions, ordinances, notices, and public hearings on this matter, an apparent failure to post notice of first adoption would not warrant a finding that the entire refuse disposal district project be invalidated. Clopton v. Madison County Comm'n, 216 M 335, 701 P2d 347, 42 St. Rep. 851 (1985).

Attorney General's Opinions

State Authority to Regulate Liquor — No Delegation to Municipalities: The authority granted to the state by the 21st amendment to the U.S. Constitution to regulate the sale of liquor has not been delegated to municipalities with general powers. Therefore, a municipality with general powers may not punish a violation of its obscenity ordinance by suspending or revoking the liquor license of the offender. 41 A.G. Op. 75 (1986).

Case Notes

Five Days and $350 Fine for Disturbing the Peace: City's general penalty ordinance under which appellant was sentenced to 5 days in jail and a $350 fine for violating the disturbing the peace ordinance is within the limits of this section. Whitefish v. O'Shaughnessy, 216 M 433, 704 P2d 1021, 42 St. Rep. 928 (1985).

Escalating Fines for Parking Violations — Unconstitutional: An escalating fine schedule for parking violations where the amount to be paid depends on the length in the delay in paying after being cited is in violation of the basic principle of law that punishment must be for the violation and proportional to the gravity of the offense and hence is violative of Art. II, sec. 28, Mont. Const., which provides that laws for punishment of crime must be founded on principles of prevention and reformation. Missoula v. Shea, 202 M 286, 661 P2d 410, 40 St. Rep. 91 (1983).

Attorney General's Opinions

Mandatory Seatbelt Ordinance: Under Montana law and the Montana Constitution, a municipality with self-governing powers may enact a mandatory seatbelt ordinance that provides for a fine or jail sentence for violation of the ordinance as long as the fine or penalty does not exceed $500 and the imprisonment does not exceed 6 months for any one offense, and as long as such an ordinance is not prohibited by the city charter. 41 A.G. 2011 Amendment: Chapter 161 inserted (2)(e) regarding prioritization of enforcement of state law by local government; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2011.

Case Notes

Repeal of City Resolution Via Referendum Invalid: Plaintiffs challenged a referendum approved by voters in the city of Whitefish, which repealed a city resolution that authorized the city to enter into an interlocal agreement with the county concerning planning and zoning authority over a 2-mile area around the city, arguing that the resolution was not subject to the right of voter initiative and referendum. The District Court determined that the resolution was an administrative act by the city and was therefore not subject to repeal by referendum. On appeal, the Supreme Court applied the guidelines adopted in Whitehall v. Preece, 1998 MT 53, 288 Mont. 55, 956 P.2d 743, to determine whether the action by the city was administrative or legislative in nature and affirmed, concluding that the city's action had significant administrative characteristics, which made it not subject to repeal by referendum. Phillips v. Whitefish, 2014 MT 186, 375 Mont. 456, 330 P.3d 442.

Guidelines for Distinguishing Between Legislative and Administrative Acts of Local Government — Initiative and Referendum Power Reserved for Legislative Acts Only: Beginning with Billings v. Nore, 148 M 96, 417 P2d 458 (1966), the Supreme Court recognized a distinction between legislative acts, which are subject to the powers of initiative and referendum, and administrative or quasi-judicial acts, which are not. Because local governments are empowered by Art. XI, sec.

4, Mont. Const., to exercise legislative, administrative, and other powers, the question arose as to whether this section unconstitutionally limits local government referendum power to resolutions and ordinances within the legislative jurisdiction. In order to clarify the distinction between legislative and administrative acts of a local government, the Supreme Court adopted the following guidelines in Wichita v. Kans. Taxpayers Network, 874 P2d 667 (Kans. 1994): (1) An ordinance that makes new law is legislative, while an ordinance that executes an existing law is administrative. Permanency and generality are key features of a legislative ordinance. (2) Acts that declare public purpose and provide ways and means to accomplish that purpose generally may be classified as legislative. Acts that deal with a small segment of an overall policy question generally are administrative. (3) Decisions that require specialized training and experience in municipal government and intimate knowledge of the fiscal and other affairs of a city in order to make a rational choice may properly be characterized as administrative, even though they may also be said to involve the establishment of a policy. (4) No act of a governing body is likely to be solely administrative or legislative, and the operation of the initiative and referendum statute is restricted to measures that are quite clearly and fully legislative and not principally executive or administrative. In the present case, an ordinance that implemented the use of water meters as part of a town's water system improvement plan was an administrative act that was not subject to referendum. The District Court properly declared a referendum challenging the ordinance invalid. The Supreme Court affirmed the constitutionality of this section. Whitehall v. Preece, 1998 MT 53, 288 M 55, 956 P2d 743, 55 St. Rep. 219 (1998), followed in Phillips v. Whitefish, 2014 MT 186, 375 Mont. 456, 330 P.3d 442, and overruling Chouteau County v. Grossman, 172 M 373, 563 P2d 1125 (1977), and Dieruf v. Bozeman, 173 M 447, 568 P2d 127 (1977), to the extent that those decisions stand for the rule that a local government's act is administrative based solely on a statutory grant of authority.

Statute of Limitations Applicable to Suit to Determine Validity of Initiative or Referendum: A suit to determine the validity and constitutionality of a petition for initiative or referendum must be initiated within 14 days of the date on which the petition is approved as to form by the local government attorney, as set out in 7-5-135. Whitehall v. Preece, 1998 MT 53, 288 M 55, 956 P2d 743, 55 St. Rep. 219 (1998).

Rezoning Ordinance Subject to Referendum — No Distinction Between Zoning and Rezoning for Referendum Purposes: A community group filed a petition seeking a referendum to repeal a rezoning ordinance. Plaintiff, the owner of historic land that it wanted to develop, filed a declaratory judgment action against the city, seeking to have the referendum process refused. The community group was allowed to intervene. The motion for summary judgment was denied; the referendum was held; and the voters supported repeal of the ordinance. The Supreme Court held that the District Court correctly interpreted this section to mean that referendum by the people is appropriate for both zoning ordinances and rezoning ordinances. The Supreme Court overruled specific language in prior cases that distinguished between zoning and rezoning ordinances. The Greens at Fort Missoula, LLC v. Missoula, 271 M 398, 897 P2d 1078, 52 St. Rep. 501 (1995).

Resolution Creating Special Improvement District — Not Subject to Referendum: A resolution creating a municipal special improvement district that encompasses less area than the municipal limits is not subject to referendum because the resolution affects only the people within the improvement district rather than the people of the municipality as a whole. The Supreme Court further held that the resolution creating a special improvement district is part of an administrative procedure, not a legislative action subject to referendum. Shelby v. Sandholm, 208 M 77, 676 P2d 178, 41 St. Rep. 186 (1984), distinguished in The Greens at Fort Missoula, LLC v. Missoula, 271 M 398, 897 P2d 1078, 52 St. Rep. 501 (1995).

Attorney General's Opinions

What Electors Considered Qualified Voters for County Zoning Initiatives: A zoning regulation is subject to citizen initiative, and nothing in county zoning law limits qualified electors to only voters living in the area affected by the zoning regulations. Thus, in the case of county zoning regulation initiatives effective in all unincorporated areas of a county, all county residents are considered qualified voters, including those residing within incorporated areas of the county. 52 A.G. Op. 6 (2008).

Merger of Fire Services Between City and County With General Government Powers Not Allowed: A proposed city initiative would have merged a city fire department and a rural county fire district into a new fire protection district with an urban and a rural division. However, both the city and county were local government units with general government powers and had not been consolidated as allowed by law. Under the provisions of the initiative, neither fire department would maintain its own identity; therefore, the proposed merger would abrogate the city fire department as a separate entity and would be an invalid exercise of general government powers. This opinion does not preclude the provision of fire protection services in a cooperative fashion through an interlocal agreement that city voters may, by initiative, require the city governing body to pursue. 43 A.G. Op. 56 (1990).

Case Notes

Equitable Tolling and Estoppel Inapplicable to Stay Statutory Deadlines for Collecting Petition Signatures: The Flathead County Board of County Commissioners adopted a resolution approving a developer's amendment to the county master plan that would allow the building of a regional shopping mall. Plaintiff organization was then formed to put the resolution to a vote of the qualified county electors through the initiative and referendum process, but plaintiff failed to gather enough valid signatures within the statutory deadlines. During the signature-gathering period, the Flathead County Attorney determined that only qualified electors in the area covered by the master plan, rather than all qualified county electors, could sign the petition and vote on any resulting referendum. Plaintiff filed suit, seeking a writ of mandamus requiring the County Commissioners to proceed with the process or an alternative writ seeking relief through a declaratory judgment. The alternative writ was issued and then quashed and dismissed. Plaintiff contended that equitable tolling should have tolled the statute of limitations on gathering signatures because the County Commissioners were urged to file suit to determine which voters were eligible to sign the petition and vote on the resulting referendum. However, the County Commissioners declined to file suit, so the period to collect signatures was not tolled, and plaintiff's equitable tolling argument failed. Plaintiff also argued that the County Commissioners should be equitably estopped from using the statutory deadlines to defeat the qualified electors' exercise of their petition rights. The estoppel argument also failed because plaintiff failed to prove the first element of estoppel—that the County Commissioners misrepresented a material fact. The elements of neither equitable tolling nor estoppel having been proved, the District Court's quashing of plaintiff's writ of mandamus was affirmed. Let the People Vote v. Flathead County Bd. of County Comm'rs, 2005 MT 225, 328 M 361, 120 P3d 385 (2005).

(2) The complaint shall name as defendants not less than 10 or more than 20 of the petitioners. Statutory Deadline for Initiating Lawsuit Not Applicable to Private Citizen: The plain language of this section limits to local government the 14-day deadline for filing a challenge. Plaintiff also argued that the County Commissioners should be equitably estopped from using the statutory deadlines to defeat the qualified electors' exercise of their petition rights. The estoppel argument also failed because plaintiff failed to prove the first element of estoppel—that the County Commissioners misrepresented a material fact. The elements of neither equitable tolling nor estoppel having been proved, the District Court's quashing of plaintiff's writ of mandamus was affirmed. Let the People Vote v. Flathead County Bd. of County Comm'rs, 2005 MT 225, 328 M 361, 120 P3d 385 (2005).

District Court Authority to Determine Constitutionality of Proposed County Ordinance: In 1994, Ravalli County voters passed three ordinances, seeking to control obscenity and the display and distribution of obscene material to minors. The ordinances were subsequently held unconstitutional, but in 2002, defendant again filed two proposed ordinances with the Ravalli

County Clerk and Recorder, seeking to proscribe the same conduct. The county asked the District Court to rule on the constitutionality of the proposed ordinances pursuant to this section, but the court declined on grounds that: (1) the proposed ordinances were legislative rather than administrative and therefore valid under the Montana Constitution; (2) this section did not vest a District Court with jurisdiction to determine the constitutionality of an ordinance prior to adoption; (3) a suit is not a method by which a party may have a District Court prematurely consider the constitutionality of the subject matter of a proposed initiative or referendum prior to placement of the measure on the ballot; (4) ruling on a proposed ordinance would force the court to issue an advisory opinion on constitutionality in the absence of any defined basis for a constitutional attack; and (5) under Hardy v. Progressive Specialty Ins. Co., 2003 MT 85, 315 M 107, 67 P3d 892 (2003), a preliminary ruling would allow the county to avoid the burden of showing the unconstitutionality of a legislative enactment beyond a reasonable doubt. The county appealed, and the Supreme Court reversed. The burden of proof requirement articulated in Hardy applies to constitutional challenges to existing statutes, not to proposed initiatives and referenda. Although the constitutionality of an enacted legislative statute is prima facie presumed, there is no presumption of validity of a proposed statute. Under the plain meaning of this section, a District Court must, after conducting any appropriate briefing and factfinding, determine whether a proposed ordinance would be constitutional and valid if passed. The case was remanded for substantive District Court review of the proposed ordinances. Ravalli County v. Erickson, 2004 MT 35, 320 M 31, 85 P3d 772 (2004).

Guidelines for Distinguishing Between Legislative and Administrative Acts of Local Government — Initiative and Referendum Power Reserved for Legislative Acts Only: Beginning with Billings v. Nore, 148 M 96, 417 P2d 458 (1966), the Supreme Court recognized a distinction between legislative acts, which are subject to the powers of initiative and referendum, and administrative or quasi-judicial acts, which are not. Because local governments are empowered by Art. XI, sec. 4, Mont. Const., to exercise legislative, administrative, and other powers, the question arose as to whether 7-5-131 unconstitutionally limits local government referendum power to resolutions and ordinances within the legislative jurisdiction. In order to clarify the distinction between legislative and administrative acts of a local government, the Supreme Court adopted the following guidelines in Wichita v. Kans. Taxpayers Network, 874 P2d 667 (Kans. 1994): (1) An ordinance that makes new law is legislative, while an ordinance that executes an existing law is administrative. Permanency and generality are key features of a legislative ordinance. (2) Acts that declare public purpose and provide ways and means to accomplish that purpose generally may be classified as legislative. Acts that deal with a small segment of an overall policy question generally are administrative. (3) Decisions that require specialized training and experience in municipal government and intimate knowledge of the fiscal and other affairs of a city in order to make a rational choice may properly be characterized as administrative, even though they may also be said to involve the establishment of a policy. (4) No act of a governing body is likely to be solely administrative or legislative, and the operation of the initiative and referendum statute is restricted to measures that are quite clearly and fully legislative and not principally executive or administrative. In the present case, an ordinance that implemented the use of water meters as part of a town's water system improvement plan was an administrative act that was not subject to referendum. The District Court properly declared a referendum challenging the ordinance invalid. The Supreme Court affirmed the constitutionality of 7-5-131. Whitehall v. Preece, 1998 MT 53, 288 M 55, 956 P2d 743, 55 St. Rep. 219 (1998), followed in Phillips v. Whitefish, 2014 MT 186, 375 Mont. 456, 330 P.3d 442, and overruling Chouteau County v. Grossman, 172 M 373, 563 P2d 1125 (1977), and Dieruf v. Bozeman, 173 M 447, 568 P2d 127 (1977), to the extent that those decisions stand for the rule that a local government's act is administrative based solely on a statutory grant of authority.

Statute of Limitations Applicable to Suit to Determine Validity of Initiative or Referendum: A suit to determine the validity and constitutionality of a petition for initiative or referendum must be initiated within 14 days of the date on which the petition is approved as to form by the local government attorney, as set out in this section. Whitehall v. Preece, 1998 MT 53, 288 M 55, 956 P2d 743, 55 St. Rep. 219 (1998).

Attorney General's Opinions

Self-Government Powers: Under a form of government with local self-government powers, the replacement of former county officers with department supervisors is a legitimate exercise of such local self-government powers. Section 7-4-2503 does not apply to self-government units since it may be superseded by ordinance or resolution of the Commission and is not prohibited by 7-1-114(g). 37 A.G. Op. 68 (1977).

Part 21
Conduct of County Government

7-5-2101. General authority of county commissioners.

Attorney General's Opinions

County May Offer Employee Payments in Lieu of Participation in Group Health Plan: In contrast to state employees, a Board of County Commissioners may, in exercising its general authority to manage county business and set employee compensation, offer payment to a county employee in lieu of the employee's participation in a group health plan. 51 A.G. Op. 11 (2005).

Termination of Payments in Lieu of Participation in Group Health Plan for Nonunion County Employee: The Board of County Commissioners may terminate payments in lieu of participation in a group health plan for a nonunion county employee only if termination is consistent with the county's employment agreement with the employee. 51 A.G. Op. 11 (2005).

When Collective Bargaining Agreement That Includes Payments in Lieu of Group Health Plan Participation May Be Altered: When a collective bargaining agreement includes a provision for payments to county employees in lieu of participation in a group health plan, that provision may not be altered by the Board of County Commissioners without the written agreement of the collective bargaining unit. 51 A.G. Op. 11 (2005). See also 43 A.G. Op. 79 (1990).

No Authority of Board of County Commissioners to Reduce County Auditor Office to Part-Time Position: Montana statutes contemplate a full-time County Auditor with a full-time salary in every county with a population of greater than 15,000. Although County Commissions do have the authority to consolidate certain county offices, including the County Auditor's office, no existing statute contemplates a reduction of the office of County Auditor to a part-time position. Had the Legislature intended to expressly authorize County Commissions to reduce the office, it would have adopted legislation similar to that for County Attorneys and County Superintendents. The authority in 7-6-2412 extends to the imposition of additional County Auditor duties, not to the reduction of hours worked. There is no express or implied authority for counties with general powers to reduce the office of County Auditor to a half-time position. 47 A.G. Op. 18 (1998).

County Commissioner and County Coordinator of Disaster and Emergency Services Incompatible — Positions Not to Be Held Simultaneously: The Board of County Commissioners has the power of supervision, revision, and removal over the position of county coordinator of disaster and emergency services. Therefore, under the common-law doctrine of incompatible public offices, the office of County Commissioner and the position of county coordinator of disaster and emergency services are incompatible and one person may not hold both jobs simultaneously. 46 A.G. Op. 26 (1996).

Provision of Office Space and Equipment by County for Part-Time County Attorney: A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide office space for a part-time County Attorney by providing space in a county building or, if no suitable space is available, by renting office space. Use of the space for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the space for private business purposes. Alternatively, the governing body may allow a claim by the County Attorney for the rental of office space needed to conduct the county's business if suitable office space is not available in county buildings. A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide necessary equipment for a part-time County Attorney by providing the use of the equipment owned by the county or, if no suitable equipment is available, by renting equipment. Use of the equipment for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the equipment for private business purposes. 46 A.G. Op. 10 (1995), followed in 46 A.G. Op. 20 (1996).

Authority of County to Issue General Obligation Bonds for Demolition of Abandoned County Building: Under its general duty to care for and maintain its property, a county, through its Board of County Commissioners, may issue general obligation bonds to fund demolition of a county-owned building that has been abandoned and poses a threat to the public safety and welfare. 44 A.G. Op. 31 (1992).

Lack of County Authority to Implement Employee Safety Incentive Bonus Program: A county with general government powers has no inherent authority within its statutory system to implement an employee incentive award program whereby county employees are paid bonuses for maintaining accident-free periods in their departments. 42 A.G. Op. 111 (1988).

Act Allowing Private Parties to Contract for Jails Not in Conflict With Local Government Regulatory Statutes: The act allowing counties to contract with private parties for the building, maintenance, and operation of jails, enacted as Chapter 447, L. 1985, does not directly conflict with other Montana statutes regulating the indebtedness, contracts, jail facilities, or interlocal agreements of local governments. However, Chapter 447 is subject to the various applicable limitations contained in those statutes. 42 A.G. Op. 81 (1988).

County Buildings — Use of Rent for Costs: If no sale of the building is being attempted, a Board of County Commissioners may use money obtained from tenants of a county building to defray the operational and maintenance costs of the building. 40 A.G. Op. 33 (1984).

County Regulatory Power — District Courts: Montana's District Courts are clothed with inherent and statutory power to do all that is necessary to render their jurisdiction effective, including the power to hire necessary court personnel and control them; but it appears that requiring District Court personnel to also abide by county policies and regulations is not an undue interference with the judicial branch. The scope of the judicial authority in this matter in relation to county authority is not an appropriate matter for an Attorney General opinion and would be more appropriately disposed of by either an understanding between the court and the county or a judgment in a court of proper jurisdiction. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

County Regulatory Power — Personnel Policies: Personnel policies established by a Board of County Commissioners, including a requirement that employees submit timesheets, are within the statutory and implied powers of the Board as necessary for the administration of county business, and one receiving a county paycheck must abide by the personnel policies of the Board. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

Method of Exercising County Powers When None Specified: Where powers are conferred by statute on a Board of County Commissioners but the mode in which the authority is to be exercised is not indicated, the Board, in its discretion, may select any appropriate mode or course of procedure. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

Board of County Commissioners — No Power to Consolidate High School Districts: The sole and mandatory procedure for consolidating two high school districts in a county is in 20-6-315 (now repealed). The Board of County Commissioners has no authority to consolidate districts. 41 A.G. Op. 5 (1985).

7-5-2104. Direction of lawsuits.

Case Notes

When Commissioners May Waive Privilege of Pleading Statute of Limitations: The Commissioners, under this section, may decline to plead the Statute of Limitations in an action on a claim against the county, whenever in their opinion the facts showing that bar of the statute could not be established. Therefore, they may stipulate in an agreed statement that the claim is not barred. The Statute of Limitations grants a personal privilege that may be waived; it must be pleaded to be available as a defense. Weir v. Silver Bow County, 113 M 237, 124 P2d 1003 (1942).

Attorney General's Opinions

Authority of County Commissioners to Employ Private Attorney: A County Attorney may not unreasonably withhold his consent to the employment of another attorney by the Board of County Commissioners to perform legal services in connection with the civil business of the county. The decision of a County Attorney to withhold his consent is subject to the supervisory authority of the Attorney General. 41 A.G. Op. 34 (1985).

7-5-2106. Control of conflict of interest.

Attorney General's Opinions

Definitions — Incorporation: Since the Legislature is presumed not to perform useless acts, the definitions of "be interested in" and "contract" contained in 2-2-201 are incorporated into and are applicable to 7-5-2106 and 7-5-4109, which relate to the same subject matter, conflicts of interest for local government officials. 40 A.G. Op. 28 (1983).

Disclosure — Abstinence From Voting — When Contract Voidable: Where a local government official has a conflict of interest, such as a substantial interest in a business bidding on a local government contract, the official must comply with the disclosure and abstinence from voting provisions of 2-2-125, now repealed and 2-2-131, even though the interest may be permissible under the exceptions contained in 2-2-201. If the interest is not permissible under the exceptions listed in 2-2-201, the contract is voidable and abstinence from voting will not exonerate the official. (See 1995 amendments to 2-2-125, now repealed and 2-2-131.) 40 A.G. Op. 28 (1983).

County Commissioners — Fiduciary Duty: A County Commissioner who is a voting member of the board of an organization that actually receives county contract funds does not have a prohibited conflict of interest under 7-5-2106 unless the Commissioner receives a personal pecuniary or proprietary benefit from the contract. He does, however, breach his fiduciary duty under 2-2-125(2)(b) (now repealed) by acting officially to award county contracts to the organization unless he complies with the voluntary disclosure requirements of 2-2-125(3) (now repealed). (See 1995 amendments to 2-2-125, now repealed and 2-2-131.) 38 A.G. Op. 55 (1979).

County Commissioners — Prohibited Interests: A County Commissioner who is a voting member of a board that channels county contract funds to other organizations but does not itself derive any economic benefit from the contract does not have a prohibited interest in the contract under 7-5-2106 and does not breach his fiduciary duty under 2-2-125(2)(b) (now repealed) by acting officially to allocate funds to that board for subsequent disbursement. (See 1995 amendments to 2-2-125, (now repealed) and 2-2-131.) 38 A.G. Op. 55 (1979).

7-5-2107. Employment of personnel by county commissioners.

Case Notes

Contract Providing Monthly Payments Not Establishment of Employment Relationship: A county contract for provision of certain legal services expressly provided independent contractor status because: (1) the county had no right to control the firm that was awarded the contract; (2) the firm was customarily engaged in independent practice; and (3) the contract was unnecessary for the firm to continue its business. Because an independent contract was indicated by these facts, the veterans' preference did not apply to hiring of the contractor, despite the contention that a contract provision for monthly payments established an employment relationship. Hamner v. Butte-Silver Bow County, 233 M 271, 760 P2d 76, 45 St. Rep. 1481 (1988).

Attorney General's Opinions

County May Offer Employee Payments in Lieu of Participation in Group Health Plan: In contrast to state employees, a Board of County Commissioners may, in exercising its general authority to manage county business and set employee compensation, offer payment to a county employee in lieu of the employee's participation in a group health plan. 51 A.G. Op. 11 (2005).

Termination of Payments in Lieu of Participation in Group Health Plan for Nonunion County Employee: The Board of County Commissioners may terminate payments in lieu of participation in a group health plan for a nonunion county employee only if termination is consistent with the county's employment agreement with the employee. 51 A.G. Op. 11 (2005).

When Collective Bargaining Agreement That Includes Payments in Lieu of Group Health Plan Participation May Be Altered: When a collective bargaining agreement includes a provision for payments to county employees in lieu of participation in a group health plan, that provision may not be altered by the Board of County Commissioners without the written agreement of the collective bargaining unit. 51 A.G. Op. 11 (2005). See also 43 A.G. Op. 79 (1990).

County Commissioner and County Coordinator of Disaster and Emergency Services Incompatible — Positions Not to Be Held Simultaneously: The Board of County Commissioners has the power of supervision, revision, and removal over the position of county coordinator of disaster and emergency services. Therefore, under the common-law doctrine of incompatible public offices, the office of County Commissioner and the position of county coordinator of disaster and emergency services are incompatible and one person may not hold both jobs simultaneously. 46 A.G. Op. 26 (1996).

Record of Board Proceedings: The County Clerk and Recorder is not required to attend the meetings of the Board of County Commissioners and take the original notes of the proceedings, unless the Board so requests. The Clerk and Recorder's responsibilities, as they relate to the proceedings of the Board, are to record the minutes of the proceedings into the minute book and to make the book available for public examination upon request. The Board is responsible for the preparation, content, and publication of the minutes. The Board may employ its own personnel to take the original notes during the meetings pursuant to this section. 41 A.G. Op. 19 (1985).

District Court Employees as County Employees: District Court employees are paid by the county in which the court is located, receive the same county benefits as all other county employees, and are therefore county employees. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

Persons Considered County Employees: An employee who under state statutes receives a county payroll check and county fringe benefits, such as health insurance, unemployment insurance, workers' compensation, and state retirement benefits, is considered a county employee. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

Soil Conservation District Employees as County Employees: Although soil conservation districts are distinct governmental entities covering more than one county and the statutes governing the districts do not expressly designate district personnel as county employees to be included on the county payroll, if a county does include district personnel on its payroll, giving them the same benefits received by other county employees, to that extent district personnel must be considered county employees. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

No Salary Limitation as to Assistants to County Commissioners: The salaries of administrative assistants employed by a Board of County Commissioners are not limited by 7-4-2505, since County Commissioners are not included in the definitive list of county officers to which that section applies. Salaries of the administrative assistants may be set pursuant to 7-5-2107 which contains no limitation as to amount. 38 A.G. Op. 43 (1979).

7-5-2108. County work week.

Case Notes

Full-Time District Court Reporters Subject to Statutory Workweek Requirement — Recordkeeping Required — Designation of Court Reporter's "Workstation": A District Court reporter who is treated as a full-time salaried county employee is subject to the statutory 40-hour workweek requirement in this section, and recordkeeping to document a court reporter's working hours, including overtime, annual leave, and sick leave, must be as determined by the District Court Judge who employs the court reporter. However, any method used to fulfill these requirements must comport with the District Court Judge's authority to control court assistants because allowing a Board of County Commissioners to enforce county personnel policies on court reporters would infringe on that authority. Any mandatory location of work for a court reporter that is set by anyone but the District Court Judge would interfere with the necessary flexibility of the judge. Thus, a court reporter's "workstation" is wherever that reporter is required to be to perform the duties for the judge for whom that court reporter works. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. District Court, 2000 MT 258, 301 M 496, 10 P3d 805, 57 St. Rep. 1061 (2000).

Attorney General's Opinions

Secretarial Services for Private Practice of County Attorney: A secretary employed by the county to assist a County Attorney may work on the County Attorney's private business during time when the secretary's services are not needed on county business. The County Attorney must account for the time that the secretary spends on private business and reimburse the county for any county-compensated time spent on the County Attorney's private business. A claim by a County Attorney for secretarial services reasonably required for the conduct of the County Attorney's official duties is a legitimate claim against the county. The reasonableness of the claim is a question of fact vested in the sound discretion of the county governing body. 46 A.G. Op. 10 (1995). See also 46 A.G. Op. 20 (1996), in which the Attorney General held that a County Attorney may not compel the County Commissioners to authorize the hiring as a county employee of a legal secretary for the County Attorney absent a showing that any other arrangement would prevent the County Attorney from performing the minimum statutory duties.

District Court Employees' Workweek: District Court employees are paid by the county in which the court is situated and are considered county employees; therefore, they are salaried county employees under this section and must work a 40-hour week if required. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

Salary Computation for Portion of Month: The salary of a county employee employed on a 40-hour workweek is determined for a portion of a month by multiplying the monthly salary by 12 and dividing the annual salary thus determined by 52 weeks to determine the weekly rate of pay or by 2,080 hours to determine the hourly rate of pay. 34 A.G. Op. 37 (1972).

Civil, Private, and Attractive Nuisance and Trespass Claims Against Shooting Range — Opportunity to Further Develop Certain Claims Allowed on Remand: After an individual defendant transferred property to defendant ranch company and helped the ranch develop a shooting range on the property, plaintiff neighbors brought multiple claims alleging that operation of the shooting range in close proximity to a subdivision and elementary school constituted a public nuisance, private nuisance, attractive nuisance, trespass, and a violation of various constitutional provisions. The District Court dismissed all claims and plaintiffs appealed. Citing Barnes v. Thompson Falls, 1999 MT 77, 294 Mont. 76, 979 P.2d 1275, the Supreme Court noted that the Legislature explicitly exempted shooting ranges from civil nuisance liability, so plaintiffs' public nuisance claims were properly dismissed. Regarding the private nuisance claims, the District Court should have focused on injury to specific plaintiffs rather than dismissing the claims as related to all plaintiffs. The trespass claims concerned noise from the shooting range invading plaintiffs' property and thus took the form of intangible trespass. The District Court prematurely dismissed the trespass claims by failing to recognize that an intangible invasion supported by actual damages may support a trespass action, and plaintiffs should have been allowed to develop evidence and facts demonstrating actual damages. Plaintiffs should also have been allowed to develop facts of an actual threat of irreparable injury in support of the attractive nuisance claims. Lastly, plaintiffs failed to show how common law or statutory remedies would not adequately address any potential damages or to demonstrate how the constitutional provisions in question directly addressed the conduct of private parties, so the constitutional claims were properly dismissed. The case was remanded to allow plaintiffs the opportunity to develop their trespass and public, private, and attractive nuisance claims. Tally Bissell Neighbors, Inc. v. 7-5-2122. Meetings of board of county commissioners.

Compiler's Comments

2017 Amendment: Chapter 97 substituted current text regarding meetings for former text that read: "(1) The governing body of the county shall establish by resolution a regular meeting date and notify the public of that date.

(2) The governing body of the county, except as may be otherwise required of them, may meet at the county seat of their respective counties at any time for the purpose of attending to county business. Commissioners may, by resolution and prior 2 days' posted public notice, designate another meeting time and place." Amendment effective March 27, 2017.

Case Notes

Notice of Public Meeting Held Insufficient: Where two of three County Commissioners held a telephone meeting to discuss approval of a preliminary subdivision plat and were required to give notice of the meeting, the Board failed to comply in that county newspaper article did not supply sufficient facts concerning the time and place of the meeting to permit further public comment, nor was 2 days' posted public notice ever given. Bd. of Trustees v. County Comm'rs, 186 M 148, 606 P2d 1069, 37 St. Rep. 175 (1980).

Telephone Conversation as Constituting a "Meeting" — Notice Required to Be Given: Where two of three County Commissioners discussed by telephone the approval of a preliminary plat of a subdivision, a "meeting" as defined in 2-3-202 took place, and the Commissioners were subject to the requirement that notice of the meeting be given in accordance with statute. Bd. of Trustees v. County Comm'rs, 186 M 148, 606 P2d 1069, 37 St. Rep. 175 (1980).

Attorney General's Opinions

Applicability of Open Meeting and Public Participation Laws to County Commission Meetings — Notice Required in Matters of Significant Public Interest: The gathering of a quorum of County Commissioners to discuss, either among themselves or with members of the public, issues over which the County Commission has authority is a meeting subject to open meeting laws. Meetings involving the consideration of matters of significant public interest, meaning decisions involving more than a ministerial act requiring no exercise of judgment, are subject to public participation mandates, including notice requirements and the opportunity for public participation in the decisionmaking process. Thus, a County Commission that established the hours of 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, as its regular meeting time for public notice purposes, did not comply with Montana's constitutional and statutory public participation provisions. 47 A.G. Op. 13 (1998). See also 42 A.G. Op. 51 (1988).

County Commission Meeting as "Meeting" Under Open Meetings Law: A regularly scheduled meeting between a Board of County Commissioners and its staff is a "meeting" within the terms of the open meetings law, Title 2, ch. 3, part 2. 41 A.G. Op. 38 (1985).

1985 Amendment: In (1)(a) inserted "in full and complete detail or in summary form or by reference, with the full and complete text made available on request"; and at beginning of (2) inserted "in full, in summary, or by reference".

Attorney General's Opinions

Annual Statement of Financial Condition to Be Published in Full: The Board of County Commissioners is obligated to publish the County Clerk's annual statement of financial condition "annually in a newspaper in full" (see 1995 amendment). The statement may not be published in summary form. 42 A.G. Op. 54 (1988). See 1989 amendment that allows statement to be published in summary form.

Publication Mandatory: This section requires a Board of County Commissioners, at the adjournment of each session of the Board, to publish in a newspaper a complete list of all claims ordered paid (prior to 1985 amendment—Annotator) and a fair summary of its proceedings. (See 1995 amendment.) 39 A.G. Op. 77 (1982).

7-5-2125. Open meetings.

Applicability of Open Meeting and Public Participation Laws to County Commission Meetings — Notice Required in Matters of Significant Public Interest: The gathering of a quorum of County Commissioners to discuss, either among themselves or with members of the public, issues over which the County Commission has authority is a meeting subject to open meeting laws. Meetings involving the consideration of matters of significant public interest, meaning decisions involving more than a ministerial act requiring no exercise of judgment, are subject to public participation mandates, including notice requirements and the opportunity for public participation in the decisionmaking process. Thus, a County Commission that established the hours of 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, as its regular meeting time for public notice purposes, did not comply with Montana's constitutional and statutory public participation provisions. 47 A.G. Op. 13 (1998). See also 42 A.G. Op. 51 (1988).

(4) a "Warrant Book" in which must be entered, in the order of drawing, all warrants drawn on the treasury, with their number and reference to the order on the minute book and with the date, amount, on what account, and name of payee"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2009.

Case Notes

Method of Acceptance of Bid by County Commissioners — Vote Recorded in Minutes Held Sufficient: Where the Commissioners of the defendant county voted to accept the plaintiff's bid for a rock crusher but did not issue a written notice of bid award, as was usually done, informing the successful bidder of the acceptance of his bid, the Supreme Court held that the acceptance motion approved by the Commission and recorded in the Commission minutes constituted an acceptance of the bid and that there was no statutory provision for the procedure argued by the county. Modern Mach. v. Flathead County, 202 M 140, 656 P2d 206, 39 St. Rep. 2383 (1982).

Evidentiary Effect of Minute Book: This section providing that a Board of County Commissioners must cause a minute book to be kept in which must be recorded all its orders, decisions, and proceedings does not make such record the only evidence admissible to prove the action of the Board or prohibit oral testimony as to what was actually done. Proof of action has the same effect as though shown by a minute entry. State ex rel. Rankin v. Madison St. Bank, 77 M 498, 251 P 548 (1926).

Restrictions on Purchasing Contracts: County purchasing contracts were affected by several amendments of existing statutes during the 1981 legislative session. The effect is that after October 1, 1981:

(1) purchases for amounts of $10,000 or less (threshold amount increased by 1991 amendment) may be accomplished without competitive bidding;

(2) purchases for amounts between $10,000 and $25,000 (threshold amount increased by 1991 amendment) may, at the discretion of the county governing body, be accomplished through competitive advertised bidding, competitive nonadvertised bidding, or public auction;

(3) purchases for amounts exceeding $25,000 (threshold amount increased by 1991 amendment) must be accomplished through competitive advertised bidding only. 39 A.G. Op. 27 (1981).

Official Misconduct by Individual Commissioner: An individual Commissioner may be criminally liable for official misconduct for entering into a contract for purchase of equipment in excess of $10,000 [threshold amount was increased by 1981, 1991, and 1997 amendments—annotator] without publishing notice calling for bids. St. v. Cole, 174 M 380, 571 P2d 87, 34 St. Rep. 1169 (1977).

County Commissioners Convicted: There was sufficient substantial evidence to sustain guilty verdicts and judgment against three County Commissioners for official misconduct committed by failing to perform a mandatory duty of advertising a county road contract of over $10,000 [threshold amount was increased by 1981, 1991, and 1997 amendments—annotator] for bid and by knowingly performing the forbidden act of dividing a single road contract into parts to circumvent bidding requirements. Attorney General's Opinions

County Lease or Lease With Purchase Option — Bidding Requirements: A county lease contract with no purchase option is not subject to the bidding requirements of 7-5-2301. A lease contract with a purchase option is subject to such requirements if the total amount of the lease payments, together with the purchase option price, exceeds $10,000 (threshold amount was increased by 1981, 1991, and 1997 amendments, and see 1999 amendment). 38 A.G. Op. 101 (1980).

Waiver of Competitive Bidding Requirements — Emergency Situations: Counties may contract for the repair of bridges and roads damaged by disasters and calamities without competitive bidding under 7-5-2304, provided there is an express determination that the repairs are urgently and immediately needed. 37 A.G. Act Allowing Private Parties to Contract for Jails Not in Conflict With Local Government Regulatory Statutes: The act allowing counties to contract with private parties for the building, maintenance, and operation of jails, enacted as Chapter 447, L. 1985, does not directly conflict with other Montana statutes regulating the indebtedness, contracts, jail facilities, or interlocal agreements of local governments. However, Chapter 447 is subject to the various applicable limitations contained in those statutes. 42 A.G. Op. 81 (1988).

Capacity to Purchase Equipment Without Election: Under the provisions of 7-7-2101(2) prior to amendment by Ch. 134, L. 1981, the Attorney General held that a county may contract for machinery and equipment for a single purpose without a vote of the county residents when the entire expenditure will exceed $40,000, but the remaining indebtedness after applying cash on hand and revenue-sharing funds budgeted for that purpose must not exceed $40,000. An exception is not allowed for installment contracts in which each annual installment is less than $40,000 if the remaining indebtedness exceeds $40,000. 37 A.G. Op. 152 (1978).

Conduct of Municipal Government

7-5-4101. General powers of municipal council.

"GENERAL WELFARE" CLAUSE

Roominghouses — Regulation: The business of conducting a roominghouse, though a legitimate one, is so far concerned with the health, morals, and welfare of the public that it is within the police power of a city to regulate it under the authority conferred by this section, denominated the "general welfare clause". State ex rel. Altop v. Billings, 79 M 25, 255 P 11 (1927).

Delegation of Authority — Scope of Discretion — Licenses: A city ordinance which vests in its officials a discretion to grant or refuse to grant a license to carry on a lawful business, to be valid, need not, where the ordinance relates to the administration of a police regulation necessary to protect the general welfare, morals, and safety of the public, prescribe all the conditions upon which such license shall be granted or refused. The fact that in instances it may be exercised arbitrarily, in the absence of specific directions, is not an argument against its validity, since in such a case the person discriminated against may apply to the courts for relief. State ex rel. Altop v. Billings, 79 M 25, 255 P 11 (1927), distinguished in Bennett v. Stow, 144 M 599, 399 P2d 221 (1965).

GENERAL POWERS

Municipality's Authority to Adopt Ordinance Limiting University Students' Rights to Park on City Streets: A university student association challenged the legality of a city ordinance limiting parking in residential areas near the university to residents of those areas. The Supreme Court held that municipalities have the power to regulate parking and that regulating parking to relieve congestion in certain residential neighborhoods was a reasonable exercise of governmental authority. Assoc. Students v. Missoula, 261 M 231, 862 P2d 380, 50 St. Rep. 1301 (1993).

Parking Ordinance — Vicarious Criminal Responsibility: A city may, in the exercise of its police power, enact a parking ordinance that provides that the registered owner of a motor vehicle is vicariously criminally responsible for illegal parking by another unless it is shown that the vehicle was being used without the owner's consent. Such an ordinance does not violate due process restrictions (overruling a contrary holding in St. v. Jetty, 176 M 519, 579 P2d 1228 (1978)), but the ordinance must conform to the absolute liability requirements of 45-2-104. Missoula v. Shea, 202 M 286, 661 P2d 410, 40 St. Rep. 91 (1983).

Unconstitutional Parking Ordinance — Presumption That Owner Parked Vehicle — Escalating Fines for Parking Violations:

In striking down a parking ordinance, the Supreme Court held that to make the owner of a vehicle prima facie liable upon proof that his vehicle has been parked illegally is equivalent to a presumption that the owner parked the vehicle. The effect of the presumption is to violate constitutional due process requirements by shifting the burden of persuasion to defendant and contradicting the presumption of innocence. Missoula v. Shea, 202 M 286, 661 P2d 410, 40 St. Rep. 91 (1983).

An escalating fine schedule for parking violations where the amount to be paid depends on the length in the delay in paying after being cited is in violation of the basic principle of law that punishment must be for the violation and proportional to the gravity of the offense and hence is violative of Art. II, sec. 28, Mont. Const., which provides that laws for punishment of crime shall be founded on principles of prevention and reformation. Missoula v. Shea, 202 M 286, 661 P2d 410, 40 St. Rep. 91 (1983).

Estoppel to Repudiate Acts of Officers: Although a municipal corporation is not bound by acts or statements of its officers made in excess of their authority, where an innocent party has been induced into a course of action by the conduct of municipal officers and because of such reliance would suffer a substantial loss, the municipality will not be permitted to deny the validity of its officers' actions. State ex rel. Barker v. Stevensville, 164 M 378, 523 P2d 1388 (1974).

Flat Rate Fees — City Employees' Services: Under its power to provide for the general welfare of its inhabitants, a city may provide for a flat rate charge to property owners for services of its employees in tapping into the water main. Leischner v. Knight, 135 M 109, 337 P2d 359 (1959).

Regulation of Alcoholic Beverages: Notwithstanding repeal of the state prohibition laws a city has the power to prohibit, by ordinance, traffic in intoxicating liquors under its general powers granted it by this section and the specific provision of 7-32-4302, under which it may pass ordinances to prevent acts or conduct calculated to disturb the public peace or which are offensive to public morals. State ex rel. Moreland v. Police Court, 87 M 17, 285 P 178 (1930).

Taxation: A city has no inherent power to levy taxes on property within its corporate limits, its power in that respect being limited to that conferred by statute, which must be strictly construed. First Nat'l Bank of Glendive v. Sorenson, 65 M 1, 210 P 900 (1922).

Proprietary Capacity — Municipal Power Plant: When a city is engaged in operating a municipal power plant, under an authority granted by general law, it acts in a proprietary or business capacity and stands upon the same footing as a private individual or business corporation similarly situated. Milligan v. Miles City, 51 M 374, 153 P 276 (1915).

Reduction in Force — Police:

Under its general legislative power the Council of a city or town may provide for the appointment of as many policemen, including a Chief of Police in case of a city and a Marshal in case of a town, as may be necessary to preserve the peace and enforce the ordinances. Grush v. Bishop, 46 M 97, 126 P 619 (1912).

As a City Council has, under this section and 7-6-4302, the sole power to determine the amount that shall be expended in carrying on the city government, it and not the Mayor has the power to reduce the police force for economical reasons or when it becomes unnecessarily large. State ex rel. Rowling v. Butte, 43 M 331, 117 P 604 (1911), distinguished in State ex rel. Gebhardt v. City Council, 102 M 27, 55 P2d 671 (1936).

INTERPRETATION OF POWERS

Arbitrary Denial of Building Permit by City Council — City, City Council, and Individual Council Members Liable: In an action under 43 U.S.C. 1983, the court of appeals upheld the District Court's holding that the Billings City Council's refusal to issue a building permit after the applicant had satisfied all the requirements for issuing the permit was an arbitrary and capricious action that deprived the applicant of his substantive due process rights. The city, City Council, and individual members of the City Council have no immunity from such action and are all liable for damages. Bateson v. Geisse, 857 F2d 1300 (9th Cir. 1988).

Rules of Construction: Within the scope of its powers delegated to it by the Legislature, a City Council has the same right to enact binding ordinances as has the Legislature to enact statutes, and practically the same rules of construction apply when the validity of an ordinance or a statute is under consideration by the courts. Missoula v. Swanberg, 116 M 232, 149 P2d 248 (1944).

Arbitrary Class — Equal Protection: A city ordinance that prohibits the installation of plumbing called "Durham work", made of certain material, in one- or two-story buildings and permits its installation in all others over two stories high is arbitrary and unreasonable class legislation and therefore invalid as in conflict with this section in the absence of evidence showing that the prohibited kind of material is detrimental to the health and safety of the people of the municipality. Missoula v. Swanberg, 116 M 232, 149 P2d 248 (1944).

Subject to State and Federal Constitutions: Laws enacted in the exercise of the police power, whether by municipal corporations acting in pursuance of the laws of the state or by the state itself, must be reasonable and are always subject to the provisions of both the federal and state constitutions and judicial scrutiny. Bettey v. Sidney, 79 M 314, 257 P 1007 (1927).

Reasonableness of Ordinance: The question of the reasonableness of an ordinance is, in the first instance, for the determination of a City or Town Council, and in the absence of a clear showing to the contrary its reasonableness will be presumed. Bettey v. Sidney, 79 M 314, 257 P 1007 (1927).

Authorized Act Resulting in Nuisance — Liability: In grants of authority to municipal corporations, authority to commit a nuisance will not be implied but must be expressed, since in the use of their private property cities are subject to the same rules as private individuals. When the use and enjoyment of a legislative grant does not necessarily and naturally create a nuisance but the nuisance results from the method of the use and enjoyment, the grant constitutes no defense. Lennon v. Butte, 67 M 101, 214 P 1101 (1923).

Express or Implied Authority: The statute creating a municipality or under which its exists is the charter of its powers, and it has only such authority as is conferred expressly and such as is necessarily implied or is indispensable in order properly to accomplish the purpose of its organization. State ex rel. Butte v. Police Court, 65 M 94, 210 P 1059 (1922).

Attorney General's Opinions

Doctrine of Incompatible Positions Precluding Public Works Director From Holding Office on City Council: An individual serving in the dual roles of public works director and City Council member would be in the position as City Council member of controlling actions and decisions of that individual's supervisor, the public works director, which could directly affect that individual's job duties and compensation. Therefore, under the common-law doctrine of incompatible public offices, the office of City Council member and the office or position of public works director are incompatible and one person may not hold both jobs simultaneously. 47 A.G. Op. 19 (1998). See also 41 A.G. Op. 81 (1986), and 46 A.G. Op. 26 (1996).

Firefighters — Receipt of Compensatory Time Off: A firefighter may receive compensatory time off for bonus hours worked in excess of 40 in 1 week, and under 7-5-4101 the governing body of a city has the authority to manage the affairs of the city, including entering into a contract providing compensatory time off for firefighters. 39 A.G. Op. 35 (1981), followed in 45 A.G. Op. 21 (1994).

Local Governments — Borrowing From Financial Institutions Permitted: A county, city, or town with general government or self-government powers can incur indebtedness by borrowing money directly from a financial institution. This authority to borrow does not change the debt limitations on the local government. 38 A.G. Op. 14 (1979).

Police Dispatch Services: A county may contract with a city or town to provide the municipal police department with police dispatch services operated through the County Sheriff's office. 37 A.G. Op. 10 (1977).

Tie Vote — Mayor to Cast Deciding Vote:

In quo warranto proceedings, under this section providing that the Mayor of a city shall be the presiding officer of the Council and decide by his vote all ties, it was held that where the Council was evenly divided on the question of confirmation of the Mayor's appointee to the office of City

Attorney, he had the right to cast the decisive vote. State ex rel. O'Hern v. Loud, 92 M 307, 14 P2d 432 (1932), explained in State ex rel. Easbey v. Highway Patrol Bd., 140 M 383, 372 P2d 930 (1962).

Under the law as it existed in 1895, the Mayor was deemed to be a constituent part of the Council, and where there was a tie vote of the Aldermen on the confirmation of an officer, he had the right to vote for confirmation. State ex rel. Young v. Yates, 19 M 239, 47 P 1004 (1897).

Administrative Assistant — Mayoral Appointment: Although the City Council's contract and budget approval powers may affect the mayor's practical ability to provide a particular compensation amount to an administrative assistant or establish other employment conditions, they do not obviate his authority to fill that position without Council approval. Under 7-3-212, a mayor may appoint an administrative assistant without the approval of the City Council. 41 A.G. Op. 45 (1986).

Case Notes

City Ordinance Not Conclusive Presumption of Necessity — Standard of Proof: A city ordinance adopted pursuant to this section did not establish a conclusive presumption that the taking of private property for a water system was necessary. The controlling statutes are in Title 7, chapter 13, part 44, and absent an agreement to purchase, 7-13-4404 requires that the standard of proof outlined in 70-30-111 be met before private property may be taken for a public use. Since the District Court has the power to determine whether a condemnation is necessary, the votes of the people and the city council cannot be considered as dispositive of the issue of necessity; however, the public interest as expressed in these votes must be considered and weighed with the other factors in determining whether acquisition is necessary. Missoula v. Mtn. Water Co., 228 M 404, 743 P2d 590, 44 St. Rep. 1633 (1987).

Areawide Condemnation: City's only authority to condemn on an "area" basis is 7-15-4259. Passage of city ordinance declaring condemnation for urban renewal of blighted areas did not create conclusive presumption of public use and necessity. Helena v. DeWolf, 162 M 57, 508 P2d 122 (1973).

Control of Floodwaters: Under this section a city may condemn lands for constructing a sewer, waterway, or drain ditch outside the corporate limits of the municipality "or for any other municipal and public use". Thus the city has the power of eminent domain for a project to divert floodwaters into a channel away from the city in order to protect it from overflows. Hansen v. Havre, 112 M 207, 114 P2d 1053 (1941).

Right to Condemn Property:

Authority to condemn property for a public use must be clearly expressed in the law before such right will be allowed. State ex rel. McLeod v. District Court, 67 M 164, 215 P 240 (1923).

In the absence of legislative authority empowering it so to do, a city has no right to condemn land outside of its corporate limits for a public highway leading to a park owned by it. State ex rel. McLeod v. District Court, 67 M 164, 215 P 240 (1923).

Vesting of Fee to Land: Under section 11-606, R.C.M. 1947 (since repealed), the fee to the land covered by a street once established is vested in the public. The form of dedication required of the owner, when the plat of a city or town or an addition thereto is recorded, is equivalent to a deed, but as the respective rights of the abutting owners and of the public are dependent upon the fact of dedication, it is not important to inquire where the fee is vested. Kipp v. Davis-Daly Copper Co., 41 M 509, 110 P 237 (1910).

Water Supply — Prior Attempt at Consent Required: In condemnation proceedings to acquire title to property for a water supply, it is not necessary to allege or prove that the city had endeavored to obtain the consent of the owners of the property to the taking thereof. Helena v. Rogan, 27 M 135, 69 P 709 (1902).

Case Notes

Where Franchised Utility in No Position to Complain: A utility operating under a nonexclusive city franchise sought to enjoin a city from selling bonds for the purpose of securing its own gas distributing system, on ground of unlawful competition. The utility could not question the legality of any other contract entered into by the city in connection with the enterprise and hence was in no position to complain that the city's contract with a contracting firm relating to a supply of natural gas was illegal because a city employee, not served with summons, was interested in the contract contrary to this section. Montana-Dakota Util. Co. v. Havre, 109 M 164, 94 P2d 660 (1939).

Subsequent Interest: This section is not applicable to a Mayor who was not interested in a contract made with the city but who agreed, after the contract was accepted and filed with the proper official, to take stock in a corporation succeeding to the rights of the original contractor. State ex rel. Great Falls Water Works v. Great Falls, 19 M 518, 49 P 15 (1897).

Attorney General's Opinions

City Employee as Councilman — No Conflict of Interest: There is no inherent conflict of interest when a city employee is also an elected city councilman in a council-mayor form of municipal government. The opportunity to commit the breach of a fiduciary duty does not constitute a conflict of interest. 41 A.G. Op. 81 (1986).

Definitions — Incorporation: Since the Legislature is presumed not to perform useless acts, the definitions of "be interested in" and "contract" contained in 2-2-201 are incorporated into and are applicable to 7-5-2106 and 7-5-4109, which relate to the same subject matter, conflicts of interest for local government officials. 40 A.G. Op. 28 (1983).

Disclosure — Abstinence From Voting — When Contract Voidable: Where a local government official has a conflict of interest, such as a substantial interest in a business bidding on a local government contract, the official must comply with the disclosure and abstinence from voting provisions of 2-2-125 (now repealed) and 2-2-131, even though the interest may be permissible under the exceptions contained in 2-2-201. If the interest is not permissible under the exceptions listed in 2-2-201, the contract is voidable and abstinence from voting will not exonerate the official. 40 A.G. Op. 28 (1983).

Control of Conflict of Interest — Elected City Official Prohibited From Selling Supplies to City: A business operated by an elected city official or owned by a corporation in which the official is a major stockholder may not sell supplies to the city. The crucial factor in determining whether a conflict of interest lies and applying conflict of interest statutes is the presence of a pecuniary or proprietary interest. A formal contract is not required to find a conflict of interest. 38 A.G. Op. 79 (1980).

City Authority to Plant Trees: Plaintiff filed suit against the city to prevent the planting of trees in the boulevard area of the sidewalk in front on his property. The District Court dismissed plaintiff's complaint for failure to state a cause of action because the City Council has broad discretion under 7-14-4101 to alter and maintain city streets and avenues, including the planting of trees. A statement by the City Council Public Works Committee that no trees would be planted if plaintiff objected did not create a contract binding on the city. The elements of a contract are missing here, and there was no action by the City Council as required by this section to create a contract. Duncan v. Missoula, 239 M 201, 779 P2d 519, 46 St. Rep. 1619 (1989).

Failure to Record: Town could not deny the validity of a sewage project contract due to an alleged technical defect in failing to record in minutes of Town Council the aye and no vote on the approval of the contract as required by this section where the town in all of its affirmative acts recognized the contract. St. Eng'r. Serv., Inc. v. Kevin, 148 M 312, 420 P2d 433 (1966).

Filling Vacancy: Subsection (2) of this section does not apply to an election by a City Council to fill a vacancy in its own body, caused by resignation or death. The provisions governing such election are found in 7-4-4112. State ex rel. Wilson v. Willis, 47 M 548, 133 P 962 (1913), distinguished in State ex rel. O'Hern v. Loud, 92 M 307, 14 P2d 432 (1932).

Attorney General's Opinions

Number of Town Council Members Necessary to Constitute Quorum When Mayor Resigns: Regarding the question of what constitutes a quorum of municipal council members when the mayor resigns and the mayoral duties are assumed by one of the municipal council members, at common law, the general rule is that the total number of all of the duly elected and qualified members of the municipal council is taken as the basis. Although the mayor or chief executive may be included in the count under some statutes, the mayor is not made a member of the council and is not included in the number on which a quorum is reckoned. However, even though the mayor is not counted in the determination of a quorum, a member of the municipal council who acts as mayor or presiding officer pro tempore in absence of the mayor is counted in determining whether a quorum is present and retains the right to vote as a member of the council. Thus, the president of the council, when serving as acting mayor in the absence of the mayor, may vote on a measure with the other members of the council and then, as acting mayor, cast the deciding vote in case of a tie. 47 A.G. Op. 20 (1998).

Town With Weak-Mayor Government Not Authorized to Adopt Statutory Quorum Provisions: A town with a weak-mayor form of municipal government does not have authority to adopt by ordinance the quorum provisions of 7-3-4221. Those provisions would conflict with this section, which states that a majority of the members of the town council constitute a quorum and does not include the mayor as a member of the town council for the determination. 47 A.G. Op. 20 (1998).

Case Notes

Interpretation of Uniform Building Code Ordinance Matter of Law — Violation May Constitute Negligence Per Se: Chambers was injured after falling into a pit at the Helena garbage transfer station. A Uniform Building Code (UBC) ordinance required guardrails on most landings and ramps, except on the loading side of loading docks. The District Court held that the pit did not fit the loading dock exception and that the city's failure to install guardrails was negligence per se. The city argued that interpretation of the UBC ordinance was a finding of fact that the trial court improperly removed from the province of the jury because the court made credibility determinations and weighed the evidence. Chambers maintained that, like statutes, interpretation of a UBC ordinance is a question of law. The Supreme Court agreed with Chambers. Violation of a UBC ordinance is a matter of law, violation of which may constitute negligence per se, and in this case, it was undisputed that the city was subject to the ordinance and that there were no guardrails installed along the transfer station pit. Chambers was a member of the class of persons that the ordinance was designed to protect and met the elements of negligence per se. Further, pursuant to Montana pattern jury instructions, it is up to the jury to decide whether a statute has been violated. Once the trial court determined that the city was negligent per se, the jury instruction should not have been given because there were no more undisputed issues regarding violation of the statute. The only remaining determination was whether the loading dock exception applied to the pit, and that was a statutory interpretation for the court to decide. The plain language of the UBC ordinance and its exception did not include a pit design such as that used at the transfer station, so the trial court correctly interpreted the ordinance and held the city negligent per se. Chambers v. Helena, 2002 MT 142, 310 M 241, 49 P3d 587 (2002).

One Subject — Wholesale Adoption of State Misdemeanors: A town ordinance that, in effect, adopted all state laws defining misdemeanors and made them town ordinances was invalid as violating the prohibition against passage of an ordinance containing more than one subject. White Sulphur Springs v. Voise, 136 M 1, 334 P2d 855 (1959).

One Subject — Establishing Police Department: An ordinance establishing a police department, repealing a series of ordinances dealing therewith and those relating to the location and conduct of the city jail, held not open to the objection that it was void as in contravention of the provisions of this section. State ex rel. Dwyer v. Mayor, 69 M 232, 221 P 524 (1923).

One Subject — Liberal Construction: The restriction placed by this section upon the City Council in enacting ordinances to the effect that none shall be passed containing more than one subject which shall be clearly expressed in its title, like that imposed upon the Legislature in enacting a statute, must be liberally construed. The ordinance will be sustained unless it appears beyond a reasonable doubt that it does not meet the requirement. State ex rel. Dwyer v. Mayor, 69 M 232, 221 P 524 (1923).

Resolution of Intention — Approval by Mayor: A resolution of intention is not valid unless approved by the Mayor. All proceedings taken under an unapproved resolution of intention are void. Hinzeman v. Deer Lodge, 58 M 369, 193 P 395 (1920).

One Subject — Special Election on Bonds: An ordinance calling for a special election for the authorization or rejection of an increase of the city's indebtedness by the issuance of water and sewer bonds was not obnoxious to the prohibition contained in this section that no ordinance shall be passed containing more than one subject. The general subject of the ordinance was the incurring of the indebtedness, and the different purposes named in it as making the indebtedness necessary were matters of detail for the information of the voters. Carlson v. Helena, 39 M 82, 102 P 39 (1909).

One Subject — General Rule: The observance of the limitation imposed by this section relative to ordinances containing more than one subject, which must be clearly expressed in its title, is mandatory and renders void any ordinance which violates it. But whatever is germane, incidental, or necessary to the main or general subject of an ordinance may be included in it and is not a separate subject. Carlson v. Helena, 39 M 82, 102 P 39 (1909). Resolution Creating Special Improvement District — Not Subject to Referendum:

A resolution creating a municipal special improvement district that encompasses less area than the municipal limits is not subject to referendum because the resolution affects only the people within the improvement district rather than the people of the municipality as a whole. The Supreme Court further held that the resolution creating a special improvement district is part of an administrative procedure, not a legislative action subject to referendum. Shelby v. Sandholm, 208 M 77, 676 P2d 178, 41 St. Rep. 186 (1984), distinguished in The Greens at Fort Missoula, LLC v. Missoula, 271 M 398, 897 P2d 1078, 52 St. Rep. 501 (1995).

Sections 7-5-4203(1) and 7-5-4204 are not applicable to special improvement districts but only to matters of general legislation on which all electors may vote. Schumacher v. Bozeman, 174 M 519, 571 P2d 1135 (1977).

Interpretation of City Ordinance: If the language of an ordinance is plain and unambiguous, it is not subject to interpretation or open to construction but must be accepted and enforced as written. Schanz v. Billings, 182 M 328, 597 P2d 67, 36 St. Rep. 1163 (1979), following Sheridan County Elec. Co-op, Inc., v. Montana-Dakota Util. Co., 128 M 84, 270 P2d 742 (1954), and followed in The Greens at Fort Missoula, LLC v. Missoula, 271 M 398, 897 P2d 1078, 52 St. Rep. 501 (1995).

Emergency Measure Excepted From Referendum: It was contended that to compel a city to pass an ordinance or resolution for the rezoning of the city and vacation of streets by mandamus at the instance of the city housing authority would destroy the exercise of right of referendum by the city inhabitants because the ordinance or resolution would be effective immediately. The Supreme Court held that the housing authorities being an emergency measure, this section as originally enacted specifically provides that an emergency measure is excepted from the provisions of the Referendum Act (Ch. 167, L. 1907). State ex rel. Great Falls Housing Authority v. Great Falls, 110 M 318, 100 P2d 915 (1940).

Bond Issues: This statute, being a general statute, held not controlling where a city seeks to sell bonds for the acquisition of a self-supporting gas distribution system under authority of Ch. 141, L. 1935. Section 15 specifically provides that if any of the provisions of the chapter are inconsistent with any other statute, the provisions of the chapter are controlling. Montana-Dakota Util. Co. v. Havre, 109 M 164, 94 P2d 660 (1939).

Increase in Salary — Date: The provision of section 11-732, R.C.M. 1947 (since completely rewritten), that the salary of a city officer shall not be increased or diminished during his term of office, means the terms the officer is then serving. Where the salary of a Mayor was increased by ordinance near the close of his first term, the increase could not, under this section, become effective until after his second term had commenced. The increase was made during his prior term and not during the term he was then serving. Broadwater v. Kendig, 80 M 515, 261 P 264 (1927).

Bond Ordinance Approved by Voters: This section has no application to an ordinance providing for the issuance of water and sewer bonds after sanction of the taxpayers affected thereby has been obtained. The law has to do with matters of general legislation on which all electors, whether taxpayers or not, may vote, while the question whether bonds shall be issued can be submitted to taxpayers only. Case Notes

Invalid Ordinance: A town ordinance which in effect adopted all state laws defining misdemeanors and made them town ordinances, with penalties limited as provided by this section, was invalid as containing more than one subject in violation of the prohibition set forth in 7-5-4201. White Sulphur Springs v. Voise, 136 M 1, 343 P2d 855 (1959).

Nuisance — Section Not Applicable: Under the rule of statutory construction that a specific provision is paramount to a general one, held, in a prosecution for maintaining a nuisance, that the specific provision of 7-5-4104, empowering a city to impose a fine upon persons maintaining a nuisance, is controlling, as against the power conferred by this section to impose fines and jail penalties for the violation of a city ordinance generally. Bozeman v. Merrell, 81 M 19, 261 P 876 (1927). See also Billings v. Trenka, 155 M 27, 465 P2d 838 (1970).

Commission-Manager Cities: The powers of a city operating under the commission-manager plan granted by 7-3-4313, with respect to punishments of violations of its ordinances, are the same as and no greater than those granted by this section to cities generally. Bozeman v. Merrell, 81 M 19, 261 P 876 (1927).

Attorney General's Opinions

Mandatory Seatbelt Ordinance: Under Montana law and the Montana Constitution, a municipality with self-governing powers may enact a mandatory seatbelt ordinance that provides for a fine or jail sentence for violation of the ordinance as long as the fine or penalty does not exceed $500 and the imprisonment does not exceed 6 months for any one offense, and as long as such an ordinance is not prohibited by the city charter. 41 A.G. Op. 47 (1986).

Validity of Ordinance Allowing Escalating Penalty for Failure to Obtain Business License: A Lewistown city ordinance that allows an escalating monthly penalty for failure to obtain a local business license is valid despite Missoula v. Shea, 202 M 286, 661 P2d 410, 40 St. Rep. 91 (1983). The Shea case determined that escalating penalties for parking violations were criminal penalties and violative of Art. II, sec. 28, Mont. Const. In analyzing the Lewistown ordinance, the Attorney General observed that the crucial issue is whether the penalty imposed is civil or criminal in nature. Applying the five factors outlined in Brown v. Multnomah County District Court, 570 P2d 52 (Ore. 1977), he concluded that the instant ordinance imposed civil penalties and that the ordinance was valid. 40 A.G. Op. 75 (1984).

Motor Vehicle Parking Offenses — Civil Penalty: A city with general government powers may not establish a civil penalty and collection system for motor vehicle parking offenses. 40 A.G. Op. 31 (1984).

1983 Amendment: In (2), inserted last sentence relating to professional, technical, engineering, and legal services.

Case Notes

Green Waste Compost Program Contract Exempt From Bidding Process — Not Reviewable in Absence of Bad Faith, Fraud, or Corruption: Heritage argued that the city of Helena awarded a contract without soliciting bids. The Supreme Court held that the contract was for construction, repair, or maintenance in an amount less than $25,000 and involved technical skills and therefore was exempt from the bidding process. The Supreme Court also stated that in following Baker v. St., 218 M 235, 707 P2d 20 (1985), an agency's decision in awarding a contract is not reviewable in the absence of a showing of bad faith, fraud, or corruption. Heritage Commercial Contractors, Inc. v. Helena, 272 M 90, 899 P2d 1076, 52 St. Rep. 676 (1995).

Professional Services: Senate Bill 288 (Ch. 371, L. 1971), which amended this section, the title of which was "An act amending section 11-1202, R.C.M. 1947, to increase the monetary limitation on purchasers", and eliminated last paragraph of this section excepting from bid requirements contracts for professional, technical, engineering, and legal services, without reference thereto in title of bill, was in violation of Art. V, sec. 23, 1889 Mont. Const. (similar to Art. V, sec. 11(3), 1972 Mont. Const.). Morrison-Maierle, Inc. v. Forsyth, 160 M 69, 500 P2d 395 (1972).

Public Utility Rates: Under 7-13-4101 and this section, a city may contract for rates with a public utility, subject, however, to the paramount authority of the state to exercise its power in the premises whenever it chooses to do so. State ex rel. Billings v. Billings Gas Co., 55 M 102, 173 P 799 (1918), distinguished in Baker v. Mont. Petroleum Co., 99 M 465, 44 P2d 735 (1935).

Award to Lowest Responsible Bidder: The mode of exercising the power granted by this section is subject to the limitation prescribed in that section of the code in reference to the awarding by municipalities of contracts exceeding a certain amount to the lowest responsible bidder. This limitation is, furthermore, exclusive and applies to all municipal bodies. Missoula Street Ry. v. Missoula, 47 M 85, 130 P 771 (1913).

Attorney General's Opinions

Provision of Fire Protection Services Outside City Limits: A city may contract with entities to provide fire protection services outside the city limits. 42 A.G. Op. 80 (1988).

Contract for Employment of Construction Manager: A contract for the employment of a construction manager that calls only for the application of the contractor's technical expertise and experience in a supervisory capacity and does not involve the procurement of supplies or actual construction is exempt from the bidding requirements of 7-5-4302, as a contract for professional and technical services. 37 A.G. Op. 175 (1978).

Purchase by City of Real Property With Existing Buildings: Under applicable Montana statutes, a municipality is not required to submit a proposed purchase of real estate and existing buildings to voters for approval and may purchase them to house its fire department using current appropriations and without incurring indebtedness or issuing bonds to finance such purchase. 37 A.G. Op. 31 (1977).

Police Dispatch Services: A county may contract with a city or town to provide the municipal police department with police dispatch services operated through the County Sheriff's office. 37 A.G. Op. 10 (1977).

1981 Amendment: Extended the coverage of the types of contracts to include repair and maintenance; increased the minimum contract amount requiring bids from $4,000 to $10,000 in (1).

Case Notes

When Claim for Relief Accrues for Failure of Construction Contract to Be Awarded to Lowest Bidder — No Negligence by Engineering Firm in Handling of Bidding Process on Public Works Contract: The city of Glasgow hired an engineering firm to prepare plans, specifications, and bid documents for a municipal sewer improvement project, including review of bid results and bid award recommendations. Debcon, Inc. (Debcon), submitted the lowest bid, but the engineering firm's review showed significant mathematical errors in Debcon's bid and some question as to the ability of Debcon to perform. The engineering firm recommended that the contract be awarded to a different bidder, and Debcon sued both the city and the engineering firm, alleging negligence in the award of the construction contract. The District Court concluded that Debcon lacked standing to assert a duty of care owed to it by the city and that the negligence claim against the engineering firm must also fail as a matter of law because the firm owed no duty of care to Debcon, an essential element for asserting negligence as a claim for relief. Debcon did not appeal the judgment in favor of the city, but did appeal the judgment in favor of the firm. The Supreme Court cited a long line of cases back to 1910 for the proposition that, absent a duty, no breach of duty can be established and no negligence action can be maintained. An unsuccessful bidder has no standing in mandamus or otherwise to control the discretion in the award of a contract to the lowest responsible bidder, which may not be the lowest pecuniary bidder. A claim for relief from the award of a public contract accrues under the following conditions: (1) plaintiff must timely assert its claim as an aggrieved taxpayer; (2) the claim must seek a remedy, such as an injunction, writ of mandamus, or declaratory judgment, that will protect the rights of the aggrieved taxpayer from the potential harm that will occur; and (3) plaintiff must then show that the process by which the public works contract was awarded resulted from an abuse of discretion, i.e., that discretion was tainted by an act of bad faith, fraud, corruption, or arbitrariness. The Supreme Court in this case declined to follow Debcon's contention that a new duty of care should be constructed from whole cloth that would allow Debcon, as the aggrieved low bidder, to recover lost profits or other expectancy damages under a negligence theory. The District Court properly concluded that the engineering firm, serving as project engineer for the city of Glasgow, did not owe Debcon, as a failed bidder, a duty of care in its handling of the public works contract bidding process under a negligence theory. Debcon's claim for relief was a claim for which relief could not be granted as a matter of law. Further, Debcon did not enjoy contractual privity with the engineering firm, so absent a statutory provision that would sustain a bad faith claim, a claim of bad faith did not lie. Summary judgment in favor of the engineering firm was proper. Debcon, Inc. v. Glasgow, 2001 MT 124, 305 M 391, 28 P3d 478 (2001), following O'Brien v. Drinkenberg, 41 M 538, 111 P 137 (1910), and its progeny, Koich v. Cvar, 111 M 463, 110 P2d 964 (1941), and State ex rel. Sletten Constr. Co. v. Great Falls, 163 M 307, 516 P2d 1149 (1973), and followed, with regard to standing to challenge the letting of a contract to provide public school transportation, in Hickey v. Baker School District No. 12, 2002 MT 322, 313 M 162, 60 P3d 966 (2002).

Green Waste Compost Program Contract Exempt From Bidding Process — Not Reviewable in Absence of Bad Faith, Fraud, or Corruption: Heritage argued that the city of Helena awarded a contract without soliciting bids. The Supreme Court held that the contract was for construction, repair, or maintenance in an amount less than $25,000 and involved technical skills and therefore was exempt from the bidding process. The Supreme Court also stated that in following Baker v. St., 218 M 235, 707 P2d 20 (1985), an agency's decision in awarding a contract is not reviewable in the absence of a showing of bad faith, fraud, or corruption. Heritage Commercial Contractors, Inc. v. Helena, 272 M 90, 899 P2d 1076, 52 St. Rep. 676 (1995).

No Recovery Under Void Public Contracts: Contracts not let on competitive bidding when required under this section are not only void but in actions to recover the reasonable value of property where restoration cannot be made excepting at cost exceeding the price (buried water pipe in the instant case), the courts will refuse to enforce the claim, leaving the parties where they placed themselves unlawfully. Quasi or constructive contracts based on unjust enrichment and enforced by action ex contractu rest on equitable principles. This section was enacted for economy and protection of the public. Builders Supply Co. v. Helena, 116 M 368, 154 P2d 270 (1944), reversing the dictum in Missoula Street Ry. v. Missoula, 47 M 85, 130 P 771 (1913).

Letting Contract to Higher Bidder Held Warranted: A City Council received two bids for firefighting equipment, one for $3,155.55 and the other for $3,500, both bidders substantially meeting the specifications stated in the advertisement for bids. After conducting a fair investigation into the relative merits of both and witnessing a demonstration of the equipment offered by the successful bidder, who also offered continuous servicing not offered by the unsuccessful one, there were substantial and plausible reasons justifying the letting of the contract to the higher bidder. Koich v. Cvar, 111 M 463, 110 P2d 964 (1941).

Lowest Responsible Bidder:

The "lowest responsible bidder", within the meaning of this statute, does not mean merely the one whose pecuniary ability to perform the contract is deemed the best; it also means the one who is most likely in regard of skill, ability, and integrity to do faithful and conscientious work and promptly to fulfill the contract according to its letter and spirit. The City Council has a broad discretion in determining what bid answers that requirement, the members thereof not being purely ministerial officers but in that connection exercising quasi-judicial functions. Koich v. Cvar, 111 M 463, 110 P2d 964 (1941).

Under the exclusive rather than directory nature of the limitation upon the power of cities to let contracts prescribed by this section, a contract entered into by a city with a street railway company, according to the terms of which the latter was to be paid the cost of removing and replacing its tracks on certain streets to enable the former to lay sewers, was void, it not having been let to the lowest responsible bidder as required by the statute. Commonwealth Pub. Serv. Co. v. Deer Lodge, 96 M 48, 29 P2d 667 (1934); Missoula Street Ry. v. Missoula, 47 M 85, 130 P 771 (1913), reversed in part in Builders Supply Co. v. Helena, 116 M 368, 154 P2d 270 (1944).

To successfully attack the letting of a contract for a municipal improvement, it must be shown that the contract was not let to the lowest responsible bidder, that there was not any opportunity afforded for competitive bidding, or that there was collusion or bad faith on the part of the Council or such gross mistake as to preclude the exercise of sound judgment. O'Brien v. Drinkenberg, 41 M 538, 111 P 137 (1910).

Waterworks Construction Contract: A contract with a city for the construction of a system of waterworks is governed by the provisions of this section, 7-5-4308, and 7-5-4309 (now repealed). Forsyth v. Crellin, 210 F 835 (9th Cir. 1914).

Specific Processes — Use in Construction: Where a City Council incorporated in a resolution ordering the paving of a street, as well as in the call for bids, the requirement that in the construction of the pavement certain patented processes and compounds should be used, and the company controlling the patent agreed that the cost of such material, which constituted only a part of the gross cost of the improvement, should be the same to all bidders, while in other respects, such as the cost of labor, other materials, etc., the principle of competition was retained, the proceedings were not void as being violative of this section. Ford v. Great Falls, 46 M 292, 127 P 1004 (1912).

Purpose of Section — Public Protection: This section is designed to prevent favoritism and to secure to the public the best possible return for the expenditure of the funds which the property owners are required to furnish through the payment of taxes and assessments. Ford v. Great Falls, 46 M 292, 127 P 1004 (1912).

Construction of Section — Source of Funds: The requirement of this section extends to and includes expenditures made from the general revenues of the municipality, as well as from funds derived from special assessments. Ford v. Great Falls, 46 M 292, 127 P 1004 (1912).

Attorney General's Opinions

Municipality May Choose Competitive Bidding Method for Certain Municipal Government Purchases: When making municipal government purchases, a municipality may use the competitive advertised bidding process set out in this section or the municipality may choose to participate in cooperative purchasing with the Department of Administration without first seeking its own competitive bids, as allowed in Title 18, ch. 4, part 4. 51 A.G. Case Notes

Development and Use Agreement Not Precluding City From Entering Agreement for Construction Project on Public Property — Franchise Agreement Outside Scope of Citizen Group's Agreement With City: A citizen's group entered a franchise agreement with a professional baseball organization to bring a team to Missoula. After two potential sites were rejected, the city of Missoula accepted a gift of property upon which to construct a baseball facility and granted the citizen group the right to finance and construct the stadium on the property and to convey the completed facility to the city. The citizen group moved to enjoin the city from development of the proposed civic baseball stadium because of the city's failure to comply with statutory requirements for planning, funding, and managing the facility. All claims were dismissed on summary judgment, and the citizen group appealed, but the Supreme Court affirmed. The development and use agreements in this case did not preclude the city from executing an agreement with another entity for the construction of a similar facility on public property or from leasing a city-owned facility for baseball games or any other purpose. Any franchise agreement between the baseball organization and the citizen group was outside the scope of the group's agreement with the city, so the voter-approval provisions of this section did not apply. The citizen group's argument that the city was required to comply with urban renewal laws also failed. The decision whether to proceed with development under the urban renewal statutes was up to the city, and the fact that the city designated the capital improvements associated with the stadium construction as an urban renewal project did not require that the citizen group's building project come under the same purview. Rather, under 7-16-4106, the city is permitted to obtain an athletic field and civic stadium through purchase, donation, or condemnation and to regulate its use, but nothing in the statute prohibits the city from designating a stadium project as an urban renewal project or mandates that the project be designated as an urban renewal project. The District Court properly found that the city appropriately exercised its administrative authority in accepting the gift property and then leasing the site to the citizen group for purposes of constructing a stadium using private financial resources. The citizen group failed to raise a genuine issue of material fact that would preclude summary judgment. Fair Play Missoula, Inc. v. Missoula, 2002 MT 179, 311 M 22, 52 P3d 926 (2002).

Construction of Section: The word "franchise" in this section is used in the same sense as it is in Art. XII, sec. 16 and 17, 1889 Mont. Const. [no comparable provision in 1972 Mont. Const.], where it is classed as property and subject to taxation as such. Glodt v. Missoula, 121 M 178, 190 P2d 545 (1948).

Parking Meters — Conditional Sale Paid With Percentage of Revenue: The purchase of parking meters under a conditional sales contract whereby the city determines the location, controls the use and operation, and collects the revenues, the vendor to be paid from a percentage of the revenues, and after the total price is paid the meters to become the property of the city, did not constitute the granting of a franchise. Glodt v. Missoula, 121 M 178, 190 P2d 545 (1948).

Approval by Qualified Electors: A city is prohibited from granting a franchise to a gas company to lay its mains in city streets until the application for it has first been submitted to and approved by the qualified electors. State ex rel. Billings v. Billings Gas Co., 55 M 102, 173 P 799 (1918).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Permissible Alternatives for Deposit — County General Fund: The permissible alternatives for deposit or investment of county general fund money are governed by 7-6-202 through 7-6-213. 42 A.G. Op. 25 (1987).

Use by County Treasurer of Investment or Brokerage Firms — Limitations: There is no express or implied limitation on a County Treasurer's ability to use the services of an investment or brokerage firm to purchase approved securities; however, an investment company may not be used in making demand or time deposits because that form of transaction is restricted to banks, savings and loan associations, and credit unions. 42 A.G. Op. 25 (1987).

7-6-201. Deposit of public funds in financial institutions.

Compiler's Comments

2009 Amendment: Chapter 291 in (1) near middle after "control" inserted "only" and after "credit unions" deleted "located in the county, city, or town of which such treasurer is an officer"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2009.

1989 Amendment: At beginning of (1) deleted reference to subsection (3) of 7-6-206.

1985 Amendment: Throughout section inserted "or credit union(s)" in list of financial institutions; near beginning of (1) after "7-6-206(3)", inserted "or"; and made minor changes in phraseology.

1981 Amendment: Added "or in a repurchase agreement as authorized in 7-6-213" at the end of (2).

Deposit of "Public Funds" — Other Entities:

A county is liable to an irrigation district for the loss of funds deposited by the latter with the Treasurer of the former as required by this section and redeposited by the Treasurer in county depositories which failed. State ex rel. Cartersville Irrigation District v. McGraw, 74 M 164, 240 P 817 (1925).

Under Ch. 137, L. 1925, amendatory of this section, title to money deposited by a school district with the County Treasurer passes to the county. The money becomes county funds. The county becomes the debtor of the school district, and upon redeposit thereof in county depositories, the county is liable to the district for their loss occasioned by such depositories becoming insolvent, such loss being the loss of county and not school district funds. State ex rel. School District v. McGraw, 74 M 152, 240 P 812 (1925).

Attorney General's Opinions

Distribution of Interest on Protested Tax Payments: Interest accrued on amounts held in a protest fund established under 15-1-402 is not "public money" under 7-6-201 through 7-6-206 and therefore must be distributed to the affected taxing units in the same proportion as the tax amounts in the fund are paid to those units. 41 A.G. Op. 60 (1986).

7-6-202. Investment of public money in direct obligations of United States.

Compiler's Comments

2011 Amendment: Chapter 306 in (4) inserted reference to (6); inserted (6) relating to an extended maturity date for U.S. zero-coupon bonds; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 29, 2011.

1997 Amendment: Chapter 131 at beginning of (4) inserted exception clause; inserted (5) limiting maturity dates to 10 years, with an average of 6 years; and made minor changes in style.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 406 substituted current text concerning eligible federal investments for former text that read: "(1) A local governing body may invest public money not necessary for immediate use by the county, city, or town in:

(a) direct obligations of the United States government;

(b) securities issued by agencies of the United States;

(c) securities guaranteed by the United States or by an agency of the United States but not issued by agencies of the United States; or

(d) mutual funds that invest only in:

(i) government obligations;

(ii) securities issued by agencies of the United States; or

(iii) securities guaranteed by the United States or by an agency of the United States but not issued by agencies of the United States.

(2) The local governing body may invest in these obligations either directly or in the form of securities of or other interests in an open-end or closed-end management type investment company or investment trust registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. 80a-1 through 80a-64), as amended, if:

(a) the portfolio of the investment company or investment trust is limited to United States government obligations and repurchase agreements fully collateralized by United States government obligations; and

(b) the investment company or investment trust takes delivery of the collateral for any repurchase agreement, either directly or through an authorized custodian." Amendment effective April 13, 1995.

Saving Clause: Section 4, Ch. 406, L. 1995, was a saving clause.

Applicability: Section 5, Ch. 406, L. 1995, provided: "This act does not apply to and does not require the sale of securities that were legal investments before [the effective date of this act] [effective April 13, 1995]. Upon the liquidation of an investment authorized prior to [the effective date of this act] [effective April 13, 1995], the proceeds must be invested pursuant to [this act]."

1993 Amendment: Chapter 271 inserted (1)(c) relating to securities guaranteed but not issued by the United States; and inserted (1)(d) relating to mutual funds that invest only in government obligations and in securities issued or guaranteed by the United States.

1989 Amendment: Inserted (2) relating to investments in a qualifying investment company or investment trust; and made minor changes in phraseology and style.

1985 Amendment: At end deleted "payable within not to exceed 180 days from the time of such investment" and inserted "and securities issued by agencies of the United States".

Attorney General's Opinions

Local Government Investment in Securities Not Issued by Agencies of the United States Prohibited: Consistent with the prior holding in 42 A.G. Op. 25 (1987) and with subsequent amendment to this section, a local government may invest public money in a mutual fund that invests, or obtains through repurchase agreements fully collateralized by the United States government, direct obligations of the United States and securities issued by agencies of the United States. However, a local government may not invest public money in a mutual fund that invests in government obligations or securities that are guaranteed but not issued by agencies of the United States. (See 1993 and 1995 amendments.) 44 A.G. Op. 22 (1991).

Allowable Securities Investments: The following are considered "agencies of the United States" and are permissible entities for securities investments under this section: (1) Government National Mortgage Association; (2) Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation; (3) Federal Home Loan Bank Board; (4) Federal National Mortgage Association; and (5) Farm Credit System banks. Also, treasury investment growth receipts represent investments in direct obligations of the U.S. government permissible under this section. However, mortgage-backed certificates issued by a private entity but guaranteed by the Government National Mortgage Association are not permissible investments. 42 A.G. Op. 25 (1987). See 1989 amendment that allows the local government body to invest in certain investment companies.

Limitation of Investment in Mutual Funds: A County Treasurer may not invest in private mutual funds even though the funds may be limited to investments in which the Treasurer could directly invest under this section because the actual security being purchased is an interest in an investment company. 42 A.G. Op. 25 (1987). See 1989 amendment that allows the local government body to invest in certain investment companies.

Attorney General's Opinions

Levy for Juvenile Detention Facility Not Subject to Voter Approval Unless Increase Sought in Previous Levy: House Bill No. 74, passed by the 1991 Legislature and approved as Ch. 745, L. 1991, does not require that a levy for juvenile detention facilities be approved by the voters subsequent to initial voter approval unless there is a proposal to increase the amount of the previously approved levy. If a governing body decides at any time that an increase in mills is necessary, it must follow the procedures outlined in 7-6-2531 (now repealed). 44 A.G. Op. 14 (1991).

Part 15
Resort Tax

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Organization of Municipality Within Resort Area Allowed — Expenditure of Resort Tax Revenue: A municipality may be organized within the boundaries of a resort area or resort area district. The incorporation of a municipality within the boundaries of a resort area does not alter the boundaries of the area, exclude property that is within the municipality from the resort tax, or preclude expenditure of the area resort tax revenue for expenses or projects within the municipality. 53 A.G. Op. 1 (2009).

Municipal Tiered Resort Tax Allowed: Resort tax statutes neither prohibit nor explicitly permit a differential tax schedule. However, a differential tax structure is not inconsistent with concerns revealed in the legislative history and may arguably further the express statutory purposes by taxing at a higher rate those businesses drawing more of their customers from tourists than those businesses serving a greater proportion of local residents. Therefore, a municipality with self-governing powers may establish a tiered resort tax schedule providing different tax rates for similar goods or services according to the character of the business in which the goods or services are offered, as long as none of the tax rates exceed 3%. 48 A.G. Op. 25 (2000).

Preamble: The preamble to Ch. 729, L. 1985, which enacted 7-6-4461 through 7-6-4467 (renumbered 7-6-1501 through 7-6-1507), provided: "WHEREAS, many municipalities in the State of Montana rely upon tourism for the bulk of their livelihood; and

WHEREAS, the tourist industry tends to be seasonally cyclical; and

WHEREAS, such cycles are reflected in demands for services and capital expenditures that do not occur for a community with a steady economy; and

WHEREAS, tourist income, tending to be spent for services and consumables originating in communities other than the resort community, is not translated into taxable real property; and

WHEREAS, the resort community must provide services not only for tourists but for its own residents, and those services are not commensurate with the taxable value of the resort community as compared with steady income municipalities of similar populations.

THEREFORE, it is the intent of this act to rectify this inequity by providing for a resort tax that may be locally enacted which would tax tourists to reimburse the resort community for the services provided to tourists."

Attorney General's Opinions

Organization of Municipality Within Resort Area Allowed — Expenditure of Resort Tax Revenue: A municipality may be organized within the boundaries of a resort area or resort area district. The incorporation of a municipality within the boundaries of a resort area does not alter the boundaries of the area, exclude property that is within the municipality from the resort tax, or preclude expenditure of the area resort tax revenue for expenses or projects within the municipality. 53 A.G. Op. 1 (2009).

Attorney General's Opinions

Municipal Tiered Resort Tax Allowed: Resort tax statutes neither prohibit nor explicitly permit a differential tax schedule. However, a differential tax structure is not inconsistent with concerns revealed in the legislative history and may arguably further the express statutory purposes by taxing at a higher rate those businesses drawing more of their customers from tourists than those businesses serving a greater proportion of local residents. Therefore, a municipality with self-governing powers may establish a tiered resort tax schedule providing different tax rates for similar goods or services according to the character of the business in which the goods or services are offered, as long as none of the tax rates exceed 3%. 48 A.G. Op. 25 (2000).

Part 21
Office of County Treasurer

Part Case Notes

Property Tax Refund — County Treasurer Not Agent of Department of Revenue: The District Court properly refused a taxpayer's motion to compel a County Treasurer to sign and comply with the terms of a settlement agreement between the Department of Revenue and the taxpayer in a suit over property taxes. A tax refund was at stake, but the taxpayer had failed to comply with the provisions of 15-1-401 (now repealed). The Supreme Court held that rather than being a mere agent of the Department of Revenue, the Treasurer represents a significant part of the tax refund process and cannot be compelled to sign an agreement entitling a taxpayer to a refund without his compliance with 15-1-401 (now repealed). Eagle Communications, Inc. v. County Treasurer, 211 M 195, 685 P2d 912, 41 St. Rep. 1303 (1984).

Case Notes

Bond Payment by Warrant: It was contended that holders of county bonds cannot be required to accept county warrants in payment of principal and interest due on the bonds. The Supreme Court held that such is the manner in which under this section counties discharge their obligations. If there are no funds to pay the warrants but no showing that the bondholders cannot cash them without a discount, it cannot be said that the obligation of the county to such holders is in any manner impaired. Great N. Ry. v. Phillips County, 112 M 542, 118 P2d 754 (1941).

Ministerial Officer: The County Treasurer is a ministerial officer, without authority other than that conferred on him by statute, and he is not required to perform any duties not imposed on him by law. Rosebud County v. Smith, 92 M 75, 9 P2d 1071 (1932).

Warrants:

Where the petition for Writ of Mandate to compel a County Treasurer to register warrants shows on its face that the warrants were not properly made out, signed, or executed, it does not state facts sufficient to justify the granting of the Writ, since such a warrant is no warrant at all, and upon its presentation the officer may entirely disregard it. State ex rel. Lockwood v. Tyler, 64 M 124, 208 P 1081 (1922).

The owner of a warrant which the Treasurer refuses to pay cannot obtain a money judgment against the county in an action on the warrant. Greeley v. Cascade County, 22 M 580, 57 P 274 (1899).

Accounting for Funds: The duty of a County Treasurer to account for and pay over the money paid directly to him by members of the public, as revenue due the county, or directed by a court or by statute to be deposited with him for safekeeping, is clearly statutory, and his liability for dereliction in this respect is a liability created by statute. Gallatin County v. USF&G Co., 50 M 55, 144 P 1085 (1914), distinguished in School District v. Pondera County, 89 M 342, 297 P 498 (1931).

Payment of Juror's Certificates: The phrase, "or as otherwise provided by law", in subsection (5) includes juror's certificates, and the restrictions as to the power of payment by the Treasurer applies as well to them as to other claims against the county. Silver Bow County v. Davies, 40 M 418, 107 P 81 (1910); In re Farrell, 36 M 254, 92 P 785 (1907).

Disbursement of County Funds: The provisions of this section are mandatory. The use of the word "only" in subsection (5) limits the power of the Treasurer to pay out the money of the county, both as to the amount and the precedent conditions of payment. Silver Bow County v. Davies, 40 M 418, 107 P 81 (1910); In re Farrell, 36 M 254, 92 P 785 (1907).

Duty of County Treasurer to Break Out Amount Received as Payment for City Special Improvement District Assessments: A County Treasurer, when remitting taxes to a city, must break out the amount received from taxpayers as payment for the city's special improvement district assessments. 43 A.G. Op. 48 (1989).

Timeliness of Mailed Property Tax Payments — Postmark: Property tax payments deposited in the United States mail on or before payment deadlines enumerated in 15-16-102, as shown by the postmark on the envelope received by the Treasurer's office, are considered timely paid irrespective of the date upon which such payment is actually received by the County Treasurer. 40 A.G. Manner in Which Duties Performed — No Control by Commissioners: The County Commissioners, in the exercise of their statutory supervisory control over county officers, may assure that the officers fulfill their statutory duties but may not assume control over the manner in which those duties are performed. 38 A.G. WHEREAS, counties receive limited and conflicting instructions from the various departments of state government concerning the collection of revenue by the state; and

WHEREAS, a recent audit identified many of these problems and recommended that a single state agency be designated to coordinate the collection of state revenue by the counties."

Part 22
General Provisions Related to Counties

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Authority of Local Government to Levy Additional Mills to Make Up Difference Between Light Vehicle Tax Reimbursement and Amount Assessed for Fiscal Year 2001: In enacting 15-1-121, the Legislature provided for a reimbursement of an average of 88% of the amount lost by counties in light vehicle fee collections compared to the amount that the counties actually received in combined fees and property taxes in fiscal year 2001. The legislative intent was to simplify the collection and disbursement of county revenue while maintaining rough revenue neutrality for the counties. Under 15-10-420, the Legislature also provided an inflation adjustment to the mill levy cap and allowed for an increase in mill levy capacity for a decrease in reimbursements, in effect enabling local governments to maintain for fiscal year 2002 the amount of revenue collected in fiscal year 2001. Thus, a local government was authorized to levy additional mills sufficient to make up the difference between the amount reimbursed by the state for light vehicle fees and taxes under 15-1-121 and the amount of fees and taxes assessed by the local government for fiscal year 2001. 49 A.G. Op. 4 (2001).

Mill Levy Increase — Proration to Parts of Fiscal Year to Accommodate October Effective Date: Section 7-14-2501 was amended in 1981 to authorize the Board of County Commissioners to levy 15 mills rather than 12 mills for the county road fund. The increase, under the 1981 amendments to 1-2-201, becomes effective October 1, 1981. However the county budget year begins July 1, 1981. The reasonable way to give effect to both amendments is to construe them to allow the Board to apply a rate of 12 mills for the 3 months of the current county fiscal year which fall before October 1, 1981, and a rate of 15 mills for the 9 months of the current county fiscal year which fall after October 1, 1981. Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

Code Commissioner Instruction: Pursuant to sec. 221(1), Ch. 483, L. 2001, in (3) the code commissioner changed "department of commerce" to "department of administration".

Applicability: Section 64, Ch. 278, L. 2001, provided: "[This act] applies to special purpose districts beginning July 1, 2002."

1995 Amendment: Chapter 430 inserted (4) providing exception for county that has adopted alternative accounting method provided in Title 7, chapter 6, part 6; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 13, 1995.

Expenditure of Hard-Rock Mining Reserve Trust Account Funds: When funds are expended from the hard-rock mining reserve trust account due to closure of a hard-rock mine or a layoff of more than 50% of a hard-rock mine's average workforce under 7-6-2225, the county governing body must allocate at least one-third of the funds to elementary and high school districts in the county that it determines have been affected by the mine closure or reduction in force, in the proportion that it determines in its discretion to be proper in response to the impacts of the closure or reduction in force. The county governing body then has the discretion to either give the affected districts additional money or to disburse the remaining funds not allocated to the school districts for the purposes provided in 7-6-2225(3). 53 A.G. Part 24
County Auditor and Claims Against County

Part Case Notes

Failure of Commissioners to Provide Suitable Office Room: The acts of the County Commissioners in furnishing the Auditor, as an office, an 8- x 22-foot partitioned space, with no windows, insufficient ventilation, and artificial lighting, was an abuse of discretion and an arbitrary act. State ex rel. Taylor v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 128 M 102, 270 P2d 994 (1954).

Woman May Be Auditor: Since the adoption of the suffrage amendment to the 1889 Montana Constitution, a woman, otherwise qualified, is entitled to hold the office of County Auditor. Rose v. Sullivan, 56 M 480, 185 P 562 (1919).

Amendment effective October 1, 2003.

Part of Section Not Codified: A "grandfather clause" at the end of section 16-3201, R.C.M. 1947, relating to the continued holding of office of current officeholders in fifth-class counties was not codified because it was temporary. That clause was not repealed and is valid law. It may be referred to as sec. 1, Ch. 52, L. 1961.

Case Notes

County of Sixth Class — Accountant Hired to Audit Books — Void: Under this section a county of the sixth class is not entitled to an auditor, and when such county entered into a contract with a public accountant for an audit of its books at a monthly compensation of $150 for a period of several years, the contract was void for the reason that it nullified this section. Judith Basin County ex rel. Vralsted v. Livingston, 89 M 438, 298 P 356 (1931).

Attorney General's Opinions

No Authority of Board of County Commissioners to Reduce County Auditor Office to Part-Time Position: Montana statutes contemplate a full-time County Auditor with a full-time salary in every county with a population of greater than 15,000. Although County Commissions do have the authority to consolidate certain county offices, including the County Auditor's office, no existing statute contemplates a reduction of the office of County Auditor to a part-time position. Had the Legislature intended to expressly authorize County Commissions to reduce the office, it would have adopted legislation similar to that for County Attorneys and County Superintendents. The authority in 7-6-2412 extends to the imposition of additional County Auditor duties, not to the reduction of hours worked. There is no express or implied authority for counties with general powers to reduce the office of County Auditor to a half-time position. 47 A.G. Op. 18 (1998).

2003 Amendment: Chapter 371 at end of (1) substituted "who shall investigate and examine all claims presented" for "whose duty it shall be to audit the same. The county auditor shall also investigate and examine all claims presented to him and report the same with his finding to the board of county commissioners at their regular session after such investigation shall have been completed, with his approval or disapproval endorsed thereon, and he shall keep a complete record of all such claims and of his investigations and examinations of the same in a book kept for that purpose"; inserted (2) and (3) regarding duties of county auditor after receipt of claim; in (4)(b) at end of first sentence deleted "provided, however, that the judge of the district court of the county where any claim has been disapproved by the county auditor may order the payment of the same"; inserted (4)(b)(i) through (4)(b)(iii) outlining requirements for county auditor upon disapproval of claim payment; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 16, 2003.

Case Notes

Disallowance of Claims: The Board may exercise its judgment in ordering paid those claims which have the approval of the Auditor, but the only power which the Board has in reference to claims disapproved by him is to disallow them. State ex rel. Dolin v. Major, 58 M 140, 192 P 618 (1920).

District Court Approval of Disallowed Claims: It would seem that the proviso empowering District Judges to order the payment of claims against the county after the approval by the Auditor is repugnant to Art. IV, sec. 1, 1889 Mont. Const. (similar to Art. III, sec. 1, 1972 Mont. Const.), for the reason that it undertakes to cast upon District Judges a power which pertains exclusively to the executive branch of the government. State ex rel. Dolin v. Major, 58 M 140, 192 P 618 (1920).

Scope of "Audit": The word "audit" is not used in its narrow and restricted sense and does not limit the Auditor to merely ascertaining whether the claims are in proper form and mathematically correct. State ex rel. Dolin v. Major, 58 M 140, 192 P 618 (1920).

7-6-2408. Auditor's powers related to investigations.

Case Notes

Scope of County Auditor's Duties — Adequate Budget: A County Auditor brought an action seeking a Writ of Mandamus to compel the respondent Board of County Commissioners to include sufficient funds in the Auditor's budget to allow the Auditor to conduct audits to determine county compliance with applicable statutes. The Supreme Court overruled the issuance of the Writ by stating that while the Board has a legally enforceable duty to fund the Auditor's office at a level that allows her to perform her duties at the minimum level imposed by law, the language of the applicable statute and a comparison of the Auditor's duty under 7-6-2409 with the duties of the Legislative Auditor and the duties of the Department of Community Affairs (now Department of Administration) indicates that the County Auditor's functions under 7-6-2409 are limited to bookkeeping and account balancing. This conclusion is also indicated by the fact that the Legislature has required no professional qualifications of the County Auditors but has established minimum levels of education and experience for the Legislative Auditor. Reep v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 191 M 162, 622 P2d 685, 38 St. Rep. 108 (1981).

7-6-2413. Limitation on number of deputy county auditors.

Compiler's Comments

2011 Amendment: Chapter 128 substituted language on number of deputies a county auditor may have for: "The whole number of deputies allowed to county auditors must not exceed one in counties of the first, second, and third classes". Amendment effective July 1, 2011.

Case Notes

No Legal Duty to Fund Deputy Position: The Lewis and Clark County Auditor petitioned for a Writ of Mandamus to compel the Board of County Commissioners to fund a Deputy Auditor position eliminated by the Commissioners because of budget cuts. The District Court dismissed the petition on the ground that there was no legal duty of the Commissioners to fund the position. On appeal, the Supreme Court had to reconcile three statutes: 7-4-2401(1), under which county officers may appoint as many deputies or assistants as necessary to discharge the duties of the office; 7-4-2402, which provides the County Commissioners with authority to fix and determine the number of county deputy officers; and 7-6-2413, which provides that the number of Deputy Auditors in first-, second-, and third-class counties must not exceed one. The court held that the specific statute, 7-6-2413, must control over the general statute, 7-4-2401(1). The specific statute does not mandate a Deputy Auditor but merely permits one deputy. Based on 7-4-2402, the court held that the authority to determine whether to appoint a deputy resides with the Commissioners and not the Auditor. Based on this statutory scheme, the court held that the Commissioners had no clear legal duty to fund the position of Deputy Auditor. Spotorno v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 212 M 253, 687 P2d 720, 41 St. Rep. 1722 (1984).

The county treasurer may deduct the fees and expenses of the coroner and the county prior to transferring the money"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

Applicability: Section 49, Ch. 257, L. 2001, provided: "[This act] applies to remittances of state money made to the department of revenue for fiscal years beginning after June 30, 2001."

Reference to R.C.M. Section: Section 16-2616, R.C.M. 1947, was repealed by Ch. 443, L. 1979. That section provided for the deposit of money found on a dead body.

GENERAL

Mandamus Proceeding Authorized: This section was not violated by Justice of the Peace seeking Writ of Mandamus to compel County Commissioners to pay for clerical services of a secretary because he was considered to be litigating his own right to incur actual and necessary expenses in the performance of his official duties. State ex rel. Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184, 32 St. Rep. 1136 (1975).

Limitation — No Bar: Where, without first ascertaining the legal ownership thereof, a county appropriated a landowner's gravel, the landowner's action was not barred by the limitation of this section. Neil v. Lewis & Clark County, 133 M 323, 323 P2d 270 (1958).

Limitation — Not Applicable to Amended Claim: Where a Sheriff's claims during two terms in office had been approved by the Commissioners for mileage at the rate of 7 cents and 8½ cents per mile, and after retiring from office he presented additional claims for the difference between those rates and 10 cents per mile under 7-32-2144, he was not required to present the latter claims within 1 year after the last claim accrued, under this section, they having amounted to amendments of the original claims, the merits of which had been passed upon by the Board before approval. Weir v. Silver Bow County, 113 M 237, 124 P2d 1003 (1942), distinguished in Neil v. Lewis & Clark County, 133 M 323, 323 P2d 270 (1958).

Claim by Officer — Use of Own Equipment:

Mere benefits received will not ordinarily create an implied promise to pay, but if a county (or other municipal corporation) is required by law to furnish one of its officers with the necessary equipment for the performance of his duties, and it does not do so but knowingly permits him to use his own equipment, receiving benefits therefrom, it is liable for the reasonable value of its use as upon an implied contract. Hicks v. Stillwater County, 84 M 38, 274 P 296 (1929).

This section, providing that a county officer must not present any claim against the county, except for his own services, or aid another in procuring allowance of a demand against the county, does not bar an officer from presenting a valid claim against the county for use of his own equipment, the provision being merely intended to bar the officer from championing the claims of third persons. Hicks v. Stillwater County, 84 M 38, 274 P 296 (1929).

Pleading — Presentation of Claim — Condition Precedent: The presentation of a claim to the Board of County Commissioners is a condition precedent to the commencement of an action against the county for its recovery. Powder River Cattle Co. v. Comm'rs of Custer County, 9 M 145, 22 P 383 (1889); Greeley v. Cascade County, 22 M 580, 57 P 274 (1899). See also First Nat'l Bank of Billings v. Custer County, 7 M 464, 17 P 551 (1888).

Pleading — Allegations Required: A complaint in an action against a county to recover witness fees, which failed to allege that the claim had been presented under oath (deleted, Ch. 225, L. 1979) to the county, in separate items, with the nature of each item stated, was defective. First Nat'l Bank of Billings v. Custer County, 7 M 464, 17 P 551 (1888), distinguished in Neil v. Lewis & Clark County, 133 M 323, 323 P2d 270 (1958).

CLAIMS

School Money — Question of Law — No Discretion: A claim against the county within the meaning of this section, the presentation of which to the Board of County Commissioners is a condition precedent of an action for its recovery, does not comprehend a claim by a school district for its proportion of interest and penalties retained by the county on redemption of property from tax sale. This presents a question of the law dependent upon the meaning of statutes, thus leaving no room for the exercise of discretion lodged in the Board in passing upon the average claim presented for allowance. School District v. Pondera County, 89 M 342, 297 P 498 (1931).

Failed Consideration — Road Purchase: The subject matter of an action against a county by which it was sought to obtain compensation for land taken for road purposes under an agreement, the consideration for which failed, is not a "claim" against the county, within the meaning of this section, an action on which is barred if not brought within 1 year after its accrual. Flynn v. Beaverhead County, 54 M 309, 170 P 13 (1917), explained in Neil v. Lewis & Clark County, 133 M 323, 323 P2d 270 (1958).

Member of Sheriff's Posse: A person who serves as a member of a Sheriff's posse in obedience to a law requiring him to do so cannot recover from the county for expenses or services rendered, in the absence of an express or implied provision of law authorizing payment therefor. Sears v. Gallatin County, 20 M 462, 52 P 204 (1898). See State ex rel. McGrade v. District Court, 52 M 371, 157 P 1157 (1916).

7-6-2423. Procedure for claims by county commissioners.

Case Notes

Does Not Authorize Claims: This section does not create any authority to compensate Commissioners. They may charge for services otherwise legal. This section is designed in connection with 7-6-2421 to enable the Board of County Commissioners to determine in the first instance whether it will even consider a claim. St. v. Story, 53 M 573, 165 P 748 (1917).

7-6-2424. Appeal of decision concerning claim.

2007 Amendment: Chapter 61 made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2007.

Section Plain, Speedy, and Adequate Relief — Mandate as Remedy:

Where Justice of Peace incurred unbudgeted expenses and County Commissioners refused to pay, Writ of Mandate under 27-26-102, rather than appeal under this section or declaratory judgment, was proper remedy. State ex rel. Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184 (1975).

District Court properly quashed Writ of Mandate to compel County Commissioners to allow claim of hospital for medical care of a floating sheepherder since there existed a plain, speedy, and adequate remedy at law by an appeal to the District Court from disallowance of claim by County Commissioners. State ex rel. Mont. Hosp. Ass'n, Inc. v. Pitch, 140 M 349, 372 P2d 90 (1962).

Appeals — How Tried:

Appeals from orders of the Board of County Commissioners disallowing claims against a county must, under this section, be tried and determined as appeals from Justices' Courts; i.e., they must be tried de novo (25-33-301 and 25-33-302). Yancey v. Park County, 111 M 73, 106 P2d 349 (1940).

The language of subsection (3) can mean no more than that the court may try de novo the question whether the action of the Board in its allowance or disallowance was correct. The Board is not a court, and its action is not tantamount to a judgment. Its refusal to allow a claim is not conclusive, even though the claimant does not appeal. Albers v. Barnett, 53 M 71, 161 P 521 (1916); Greeley v. Cascade County, 22 M 580, 57 P 274 (1899).

Appeals from actions of Boards of County Commissioners are prosecuted and tried like appeals from a Justice of the Peace. State ex rel. Seres v. District Court, 19 M 501, 48 P 1104 (1897).

Effect of Failure to Appeal Allowance of Claim — Suit by County Attorney: Failure of a taxpayer to appeal to the District Court from an order of the Board of County Commissioners allowing a claim against the county under the authority given him by this section does not limit the right of the County Attorney to sue in the name of the county to recover money illegally paid under 7-4-2714. Carbon County v. Draper, 84 M 413, 276 P 667 (1929).

Record on Appeal: An appeal from an order of the Board of County Commissioners disallowing a claim against the county was submitted to the District Court without a hearing, resulting in a reversal of the order. The County Attorney made an appeal from the court's order declining to set aside its decision on the ground of inadvertence and mistake based on the assertion that the Clerk of the Board had failed to lodge with the court a copy of the Board's record in the case. The Supreme Court held that it was apparent that to arrive at its decision the court must have impliedly found that the proper record was before it. Huntington v. Yellowstone County, 80 M 20, 257 P 1041 (1927).

Board to Allow or Disallow Claims Against County: When the Auditor has disapproved a claim, the Board of County Commissioners must disallow it so that the claimant may proceed to enforce it against the county by appeal to the District Court. State ex rel. Dolin v. Major, 58 M 140, 192 P 618 (1920).

Jurisdiction on Appeal: The jurisdiction of the District Court on appeal from an order made by County Commissioners allowing or disallowing a claim against the county is limited to the determination of the question whether the action of the Board of County Commissioners was correct and to a declaration affirming or reversing it, with a judgment for costs. Albers v. Barnett, 53 M 71, 161 P 521 (1916).

Parties:

On appeal from an order of the Board of County Commissioners allowing or disallowing a claim under this section, the parties are the county and the claimant, or in a taxpayer's suit, the county and the objecting taxpayer. Albers v. Barnett, 53 M 71, 161 P 521 (1916).

In the case of claims against counties, the claimant, or the objecting taxpayer, and the county are the real parties in interest, and therefore adversary parties. State ex rel. Hackshaw v. District Court, 48 M 477, 138 P 1100 (1913).

Independent Action on Claim: A claimant against the county has the right to maintain an independent action on a claim rejected by the Board of Commissioners in view of 27-2-209. Greeley v. Cascade County, 22 M 580, 57 P 274 (1899).

Appeal of Portion of Allowance: An appeal may be taken by a taxpayer from one or more items of a claim against the county allowed by the Commissioners, without appealing from the whole of the allowance. Twohy v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 17 M 461, 43 P 494 (1896).

Sufficiency of Notice — Waiver by Clerk: An appeal was taken by a taxpayer from the allowance by the Commissioners of a bill against the county. A notice of appeal was served upon the County Clerk, and the Clerk thereupon complied with applicable law on appeal. The Clerk thereby waived any irregularity or insufficiency of the service of the notice. Twohy v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 17 M 461, 43 P 494 (1896).

Appeal Allowance of Claims — Default Against County: A taxpayer took an appeal to the District Court from an allowance by a Board of County Commissioners of a claim against a county under sections 764 and 765, 5th Div. Comp. Stat. 1887. A judgment by default was rendered by the court upon the failure of the Board to appear, adjudging the claim illegal and setting aside the allowance of the same without a trial or inquiry of any character respecting its merits. The judgment was unauthorized and constituted no defense to an application for a Writ of Mandamus to compel the payment by the County Treasurer of a warrant issued in payment of such claim. State ex rel. Cope v. Minar, 13 M 1, 31 P 723 (1892), explained in Albers v. Barnett, 53 M 71, 161 P 521 (1916).

Case Notes

County Properly Ordered to Pay County Attorney's Salary Increase: Although the Board of County Commissioners had been notified that the state would be unable to pay an increased contribution to the County Attorney's salary, the Board awarded the County Attorney a salary in excess of twice the amount appropriated by the state. When the state's one-half share of the salary failed to cover the salary increase, the County Attorney sued the county for the shortfall. The District Court ordered the county to pay the salary increase, and the county appealed, but the Supreme Court affirmed, holding that counties are responsible for any increases in County Attorneys' salaries that are not taken into account and included in the state appropriation for paying County Attorneys' salaries. Oster v. Valley County, 2006 MT 180, 333 M 76, 140 P3d 1079 (2006).

Criminal Case — Sheriff's Out-of-State Expenses Denied: A Sheriff predicated his demand for reimbursement for expenses incurred by him for services performed beyond the state line upon his legal rights incident to his position as Sheriff and not upon a contract of employment by the County Attorney, at who's direction he acted, nor did he show that he first obtained the consent of the Board of County Commissioners to absent himself from the state under 7-4-2208; thus he was not entitled to recover on the theory that the claim was allowable under authority of subsection (2), making the county chargeable with expenses necessarily incurred by the County Attorney in criminal cases arising within the county. Brannin v. Sweet Grass County, 88 M 412, 293 P 970 (1930).

Contingent Expenses: A County Attorney of a county of the third class had power to bind the county for services of a stenographer employed by the day if such services were necessary to the proper discharge of the duties of his office. In the absence of a showing that they were unnecessary, the District Court properly directed the Board of County Commissioners to pay the claim, under this section, providing that contingent expenses necessarily incurred for the use and benefit of the county are county charges. In re Claims of Hyde, 73 M 363, 236 P 248 (1925).

Expenses Not Imposed by Law:

That which the law does not impose as an expense upon a county is not properly chargeable to it. In re Claims of Hyde, 73 M 363, 236 P 248 (1925).

Expenses not imposed by law are not a charge against a county. Wade v. Lewis & Clark County, 24 M 335, 61 P 879 (1900).

Criminal Case — County Attorney: Under subsection (2), all expenses necessarily incurred by a County Attorney in prosecutions for public offenses arising in the county are a county charge. Independent Publishing Co. v. Lewis & Clark County, 30 M 83, 75 P 860 (1904).

Restriction of Liability: This section restricts the liability of the county to such expenses as may be incurred under statutory authority directly conferred or necessarily implied from the powers granted to the county. Sears v. Gallatin County, 20 M 462, 52 P 204 (1898).

County Responsible for Charges Incurred by City Police — Criminal Prosecutions: The county bears the financial responsibility for charges incurred at the request of the County Attorney, after an arrest by city police, for the preservation and preparation of evidence to be used in felony cases. 38 A.G. Op. 94 (1980).

Cost of Defending Official Misconduct: A county is not obligated to pay the costs of defending a nonindigent county officer charged with official misconduct. 37 A.G. Op. 57 (1977).

Financial Obligation for Psychiatric Evaluation in Criminal Trials: The county is financially responsible for psychiatric evaluations conducted to determine whether a criminal defendant is mentally fit to proceed at trial. 37 A.G. Op. 37 (1977).

Costs of Prosecuting Offenses: The Department of Institutions (now Department of Corrections) is liable for the portion of a Deputy County Attorney's salary spent on prosecuting offenses committed at the state prison. 36 A.G. Op. 108 (1976).

Board for County Prisoners: The Sheriff has no clear legal duty to provide Board of County Commissioners with detailed itemized account of county funds received for furnishing board to prisoners of county jail. State ex rel. Lucier v. Murphy, 156 M 186, 478 P2d 273 (1970).

7-6-2430. Accounts to be examined, settled, and allowed.

Case Notes

Failure to Examine — Waiver of Right to Complain: Since under this section, the Board of County Commissioners is authorized to examine, settle, and allow all claims against the county, its failure to ascertain whether charges made under a county printing contract were in accordance therewith deprives the county of the right to charge that claims filed for work done under the contract were fraudulent. Carbon County v. Draper, 84 M 413, 276 P 667 (1929).

"Accounts": The word "accounts" used in this section must be understood in a broad, generic sense, and as including any right to or claim for money which is due and payable from the county treasury. State ex rel. Dolin v. Major, 58 M 140, 192 P 618 (1920).

Part 25
County Taxation

Part Case Notes

Increased Valuations: State Board of Equalization (now State Tax Appeal Board) issued a directive to Board of County Commissioners and County Assessor in November 1963, requiring use of certain valuations on grade of farmland for 1964 and years thereafter, that the officials of the county refused to do. The State Board was entitled to mandamus to compel the county officials to comply with the directive. Alleged impossibility of compliance on July 22, 1964, was no defense. The officials had from November until the second Monday in August to accomplish the task but chose to do nothing except contest the matter. State ex rel. Bd. of Equalization v. Koch, 145 M 474, 401 P2d 765 (1965).

Time of Attachment of Lien: Even though 15-16-403 provides that the tax lien attaches at date certain, the lien cannot become choate for the purpose of determining its priority as against federal tax liens until the amount is determined pursuant to 7-6-2502 (now repealed). Streeter Bros. v. Overfelt, 202 F. Supp. 143 (D.C. Mont. 1961).

Time for Fixing Rate: Board of County Commissioners, at the conclusion of its sitting, must fix the rate of taxation for the year. State ex rel. Fadness v. Eie, 53 M 138, 162 P 164 (1916).

Levy for Juvenile Detention Facility Not Subject to Voter Approval Unless Increase Sought in Previous Levy: House Bill No. 74, passed by the 1991 Legislature and approved as Ch. 745, L. 1991, does not require that a levy for juvenile detention facilities be approved by the voters subsequent to initial voter approval unless there is a proposal to increase the amount of the previously approved levy. If a governing body decides at any time that an increase in mills is necessary, it must follow the procedures outlined in 7-6-2531 (now repealed). 44 A.G. Op. 14 (1991).

Election for Mill Levy When Statutory Limits Exceeded: The election requirement of 7-6-2531 (now repealed) applies to general and special mill levies only when the levies exceed applicable statutory limits. 39 A.G. Op. 34 (1981).

Attorney General's Opinions

Library Board Alone Has Authority to Spend Its Reserve Funds — Library's Proposed Budget Subject to Approval by Local Governing Body — Local Governing Body Has Sole Discretion to Levy Mills in Support of Library: Prior to 2001, a library board had complete control over its budget. While a library board still has the sole discretion to determine how to use the library's unspent funds under 22-1-309, its budget must be approved by the local governing body. Moreover, the local governing body, not the library board, determines the number of mills to levy in support of the library. Finally, the local governing body has no obligation to continue to levy any certain number of mills for the library in perpetuity. 54 A.G. Op. 7 (2012).

Power of County Commissioners to Regulate Library Funded by County General Fund — Limitations as if Funded by Five-Mill Levy: The fact that Big Horn County funds its library through the county general fund does not allow the County Commissioners to usurp the library trustees' statutory authority for setting the library's budget and compensation for the library staff. If the County Commissioners fund the library's budget through the county general fund, the power to decide the library staff compensation still rests with the library trustees. The Commissioners may limit the overall funding of the library budget to 5 mills, as if the library were being funded pursuant to the 5-mill tax levy authorized by 22-1-304. (See 2001 amendment to 22-1-304.) To hold otherwise would allow the library trustees to adopt a budget that could assume the entire county general fund levy. 48 A.G. Op. 3 (1999). See also 54 A.G. Op. 7 (2012).

Mill Levy Limitations Not Impliedly Repealed by Property Tax Freeze: Initiative No. 105 and Senate Bill No. 71 (Ch. 654, L. 1987) do not amend or repeal by implication statutes limiting the total amount of mill levies. 42 A.G. Op. 21 (1987).

Special Tax Protest Refund Levy Not Subject to Voter Approval — Sale of Bonds Subject to Approval: A special tax protest refund levy authorized by 15-1-402 is not subject to the limitation on property taxes established in this section; therefore, the voter approval requirements of 7-6-2531 (now repealed) do not apply to such levy. However, voter approval is required before bonds may be issued and sold for the purpose of making tax protest refunds. (See 1999 amendment.) 42 A.G. Op. 18 (1987).

Separate Tax Levy for Air Pollution Program Not Permitted: The County Commissioners may not impose a separate tax levy to fund local air pollution programs. 41 A.G. Op. 28 (1985).

Park Board Partly Funded by County General Fund: The funding for the county park board's obligations is derived from the county general fund as well as from other specific sources as enumerated by 7-16-2324, 7-16-2328, and 76-3-606 (now repealed). Since a specific separate tax levy is not authorized for the park fund, additional money must be appropriated from the county general fund authorized by 7-6-2501 if the revenue from sources other than taxation is insufficient to meet the necessary expenditures. 40 A.G. Op. 49 (1984).

Levy of Property Taxes for Special Purposes: The mill levy limitation provided in 7-6-2501 does not apply to special levies authorized for particular purposes. Therefore, the mill levy authorized by 2-9-316, which is a special levy, is not subject to the limit provided in 7-6-2501. 39 A.G. Op. 34 (1981).

Expenses of Valid Interlocal Agreement Includable in Annual Mill Levy: A county may include the expenses of participation in a valid interlocal agreement in its annual county mill levy. 38 A.G. Op. 51 (1979).

Not Exclusive Vehicle for Funding District Court Operations: Section 7-6-2511 is not the exclusive vehicle for funding District Court operations. District Court funding may be supplemented by other revenue sources, such as the all-purpose levy provided by 7-6-2501. 38 A.G. Op. 31 (1979).

2001 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 574 in temporary version in first sentence and in version effective July 1, 2002, in (1) before "district court costs" inserted "county" and deleted former second sentence that read: "The tax may not exceed 6 mills in the first- and second-class counties, 5 mills in third- and fourth-class counties, and 4 mills in fifth-, sixth-, and seventh-class counties." Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

(Version effective July 1, 2002) Chapter 585 in (1) at end of first sentence substituted "certain district court costs, as provided in subsection (2)" for "all district court costs, except those listed in 3-5-211, 3-5-213, and 3-5-215"; inserted (2) delineating district court costs for which a tax may be levied; in (3) substituted "Costs of the office of the clerk of district court include but are not limited to salary and benefits for clerks of district court, deputy clerks of district court, and other employees of the office of the clerk of district court and expenses of the office" for "District court costs include but are not limited to salary and benefits for court clerks, court reporters, youth probation officers, and other employees of the district court"; inserted (4) allowing use of excess funds to pay expenses of office of county attorney; inserted (5) referring to ability of county and district court to apply for, receive, and administer state, federal, and private grants; and made minor changes in style.

County Employment of Independent Contractor to Provide Legal Services: There is no express prohibition under Montana law precluding or preventing a county from entering into an independent contractor relationship for the provision of legal services. Hamner v. Butte-Silver Bow County, 233 M 271, 760 P2d 76, 45 St. Rep. 1481 (1988).

Attorney General's Opinions

No Statutory Authority to Levy Taxes in Order to Fund Judicial Budget or Budget Deficit: Section 2-9-316 does not grant counties the authority to levy taxes in response to a District Court order that a judicial budget or budget deficit be funded. 43 A.G. Op. 37 (1989).

State Grants to District Courts — Maximum Mill Levy Not Required: Because of the requirements for establishing county mill levies under Title 7, ch. 6, part 23, and because of the unforeseeable nature of District Court expenses, the Department of Administration may not require a county to impose a maximum mill levy for District Court expenses in order to be considered eligible for a state grant to District Courts under 7-6-2352 (now repealed). 39 A.G. Op. 71 (1982).

District Court Employees as County Employees: District Court employees are paid by the county in which the court is located, receive the same county benefits as all other county employees, and are therefore county employees. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

Disposition of District Court Fees: Fees collected by Clerks of the District Courts do not accrue as a revenue item to the District Court fund in those counties adopting a 6-mill District Court levy (see 2001 amendment). The Board of County Commissioners, however, may supplement the 6-mill levy with general fund revenues in financing the District Court fund. 38 A.G. Op. 52 (1979). (See 38 A.G. Op. 31.)

Costs Resulting From Existence of the District Court as District Court Cost: Costs and charges assessed against a county by virtue of the existence of the District Court and the conduct of District Court proceedings fall within the term "district court cost". These can include family court services, public defender programs, personal staff and support personnel for district judges, and jury and witness fees. 38 A.G. Op. 31 (1979).

Not Exclusive Vehicle for Funding District Court Operations: Section 7-6-2511 is not the exclusive vehicle for funding District Court operations. District Court funding may be supplemented by other revenue sources, such as the all-purpose levy provided by 7-6-2501. 38 A.G. Op. 31 (1979).

Registration of Unpaid Hospital District Warrants as County Warrants and Subsequent Purchase by County Not Allowable: County Commissioners concerned with financing the indebtedness of a local hospital district sought to register the district's unpaid warrants in accordance with 7-6-2603 and this section and then invest surplus county funds in the unpaid warrants pursuant to 7-6-2701. However, the Legislature has authorized counties to invest only in county, municipal, or school district registered warrants, not hospital district warrants. Therefore, unpaid warrants of a hospital district may not be registered as county warrants and purchased by the county in which the district is located. 43 A.G. Op. 71 (1990).

Case Notes

Failure to Present for Payment Within Limit:

Failure to present a warrant for payment after it had been called is a complete defense to mandamus action to compel payment, but holder of the warrant need not anticipate and negative such defense. State ex rel. Blenkner v. Stillwater County, 104 M 387, 66 P2d 788 (1937).

The only penalty a holder of a registered warrant incurs, under this section, for failure to re-present it for payment within 60 days after issuance of the call is loss of interest thereon. State ex rel. Case v. Bolles, 74 M 54, 238 P 586 (1925).

Mandamus to Compel Payment of Warrant: Relator held a registered warrant and the fund out of which it was payable had sufficient money to cover the face value of all registered warrants but insufficient to pay them with accrued interest. It did not appear whether the Treasurer had called the warrants for payment or whether the 60 days specified in this section had elapsed. Writ of Mandate ordering the Treasurer to pay relator's warrant with interest was improper in the absence of a showing that there were sufficient funds to pay prior warrants and interest thereon entitled to payment and to pay relator's also. State ex rel. DeKalb v. Ferrell, 105 M 218, 70 P2d 290 (1937).

Mandatory Repayment — Payment Limit: The word "may" appearing in subsection (4)(b) that provides that the Board of County Commissioners may, on application of the holder of a warrant who failed to re-present a warrant within 60 days after issuance of the call for its payment, order the County Treasurer to pay it, means "must" or "shall". 1985 Amendment: In (1) near middle before "warrants" inserted "municipal, or school district registered", near end substituted "purchase such warrants of entities located in the same county" for "purchase county warrants of the same county", and at end deleted "thereafter issued against funds in which there is not sufficient money to pay such county warrants at the time of issuance"; inserted (2)(c) relating to the rate of interest; in (2)(d) before "warrants" deleted "county warrant or"; in (3) at beginning substituted "The officer drawing a warrant to be purchased for investment by a county shall cause" for "The county clerk and recorder shall thereupon cause" and after "printed upon" substituted "the warrant" for "the warrants so ordered to be purchased"; inserted (4) relating to presentation to County or Municipal Clerk or Treasurer and requirement that warrant be registered; in (5), near beginning after "warrant", inserted "designated for purchase under the provisions of subsection (2)", deleted former second sentence that read: "The warrant so purchased shall be registered as other county warrants and bear interest as provided by law", and at end inserted "or the applicable officer authorized to draw such warrants"; and made numerous minor changes in style and phraseology.

Money From Sale of School Building — Resulting Trust: Complaint for Writ of Mandate by a county high school against the County Treasurer to compel payment of money realized from the sale of a building purchased with high school funds and sold by County Commissioners as trustee when no longer needed for school purposes stated a cause of action on the theory of a resulting trust. Although the pleading did not ask that a trust be declared, it was sufficient to authorize issuance of the Writ directing defendant to deposit the sale price to the credit of plaintiff. State ex rel. DECISIONS UNDER CURRENT LAW

County Financial Mismanagement — Insufficient Taxpayer Standing: The plaintiff taxpayers argued that the failure of the defendant, Glacier County, to cure its alleged financial mismanagement would foreseeably result in property tax increases, but Glacier County had adequate financial resources to meet its liabilities and it had planned corrective actions in response to audit deficiencies. Even if Glacier County had inadequately budgeted for certain funds, the plaintiffs' alleged foreseeable economic injury was insufficient to establish the constitutional "case-or controversy" requirement for standing to sue the county. Mitchell v. Glacier County, 2017 MT 258, 389 Mont. 122, 406 P.3d 427.

Declaratory Judgments — Private Attorney General Doctrine — Justiciable Controversy Required: The private attorney general doctrine is not a cause of action requirement, and the requirement of a justiciable controversy applies to declaratory judgment actions. Without a concrete, threatened injury, the taxpayer plaintiffs were unable to establish standing to sue the county or the state for mismanagement of county finances under the Single Audit Act or the Local Government Budget Accounting Act. Mitchell v. Glacier County, 2017 MT 258, 389 Mont. 122, 406 P.3d 427, following Marbut v. Secretary of St., 231 Mont. 131, 752 P.2d 148 (1988).

DECISIONS UNDER FORMER LAW

Agreement by County Commission to Pay Justice Court Expenses — Failure to Object — Appeal Precluded: A Justice of the Peace requested approval of funds from the County Commission for employment of a temporary clerical assistant. The County Commission initially refused to approve the funds. The claim was then submitted for certification pursuant to Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184 (1975), and was subsequently certified as an actual and necessary expense incurred in the performance of actual duties of the Justice Court. When the bill was still not paid, the Justice of the Peace filed a petition for a contempt order against the County Commissioners for failure to pay the certified claim. The order was amended to include attorney fees. The County Commission then agreed to pay the claim and did not oppose the motion to amend, nor did it file a responsive brief. However, it later alleged error. The Supreme Court held that the County Commission waived the right to appeal by agreeing to pay the claim and then failing to object to the District Court order to pay the claim and taking no further action to challenge the claim. In re Certain Justice Court Expenses, 264 M 510, 872 P2d 795, 51 St. Rep. 372 (1994).

County Employment of Independent Contractor to Provide Legal Services: There is no express prohibition under Montana law precluding or preventing a county from entering into an independent contractor relationship for the provision of legal services. Hamner v. Butte-Silver Bow County, 233 M 271, 760 P2d 76, 45 St. Rep. 1481 (1988).

Commissioners Not Personally Liable for Transfer of Funds: Big Horn County sued County Commissioners and County Clerk and Recorder personally to recover alleged excess funds transferred to pay the salary for a Justice of the Peace. In upholding the District Court's grant of summary judgment for the Commissioners, the Supreme Court held that the Commissioners and Clerk and Recorder acted within their statutory duty and were not personally liable where the transfer of funds was made to cover a deficit when judicial costs exceeded the estimated budget. The hourly cost in the budget was not increased. Big Horn County v. Gregory, 225 M 162, 730 P2d 1181, 44 St. Rep. 120 (1987).

Local Government Revision of Salary Schedules: A local government with self-government powers may revise a salary schedule that has been set forth in the final budget if such revision is done in accordance with the applicable law. Butte-Silver Bow, as a local government with self-government powers, adopted lawful procedures for such revision, but the facts of this case are such that the attempted revision was not in accord with the law. The court found that the salary revision was more than merely a revision of the salary schedule contained in the final budget. When Butte-Silver Bow adopted the proposed salary increase by motion, set the specific amount, and set specific effective dates, and then included the increase in the final budget, such salary became fixed for that period and could not subsequently be revised. Bukvich v. Butte-Silver Bow, 215 M 202, 696 P2d 444, 42 St. Rep. 293 (1985).

District Court's Power to Order Payment of Expenditures Beyond Budget: District Court's fiscal year budget was overrun, and this stopped or threatened to stop the efficient and orderly administration of justice and court business, creating an emergency. As a court of competent jurisdiction, the District Court may issue orders for the payment of out-of-budget expenditures that are reasonable and necessary. Compliance with the orders by the members of the Board of County Commissioners or by any other officer in the exercise of his official duties is within the exception to personal liability of the officers provided in 7-6-2323 (now repealed). The officers may pass on the propriety of the claims but may not deny them on the basis that they are outside the budget if the court has duly ordered them paid. State ex rel. District Court v. Whitaker, 210 M 363, 681 P2d 1097, 41 St. Rep. 1104 (1984).

Justices' Courts: Section 3-10-103, a specific statute mandating Commissioners to pay actual and necessary expenses of Justices' Courts, controlled where Justice of Peace incurred unforeseen workload and hired part-time, temporary clerk; thus County Commissioners had duty to pay this expense, even though it was not budgeted. State ex rel. Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184 (1975).

Limitation on Expenditures — Exception: When the financial needs of Justices of the Peace were provided for by statute, those provisions prevailed over the provisions of 7-6-2324 (now repealed) as to limitations on expenditures. State ex rel. Browman v. Wood, 168 M 341, 543 P2d 184, 32 St. Rep. 1136 (1975).

Debt Limit: Board of County Commissioners which overtaxed taxpayers in 1 year in order to provide a fund out of which expenses for capital improvements and remodeling of airport that exceeded $21,000 clearly violated Art. XIII, sec. 5, 1889 Mont. Const. (replaced by Art. VIII, sec. 10, 1972 Mont. Const.), by incurring a liability for over $10,000 without the approval of a majority of the electors of the county. The county was not able to argue that "no indebtedness or liability" had been created because the money was already on hand. Extraordinarily high levy created a "reserve fund" to be used for capital improvements, which is not allowable due to restriction in 67-10-402 of reserve funds to improvement of surfaces of runways or ramps. Burlington N., Inc. v. Flathead County, 162 M 371, 512 P2d 710 (1973).

"Cash Balance": "Cash balance", referred to in 7-6-2319 (now repealed), and "all surplus moneys", referred to in section 16-2048, R.C.M. 1947 (since repealed), relate to the same subject and have the same object, which is the disposition of unexpended funds on hand in the counties at the end of each fiscal year. Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pac. R.R. v. Bennett, 145 M 191, 399 P2d 986 (1965).

Transfer of Cash Balance — Determination of Tax Rate: Increased tax on railroads for use of county road fund was held to be invalid, where Board of County Commissioners had transferred money from the road fund into the general fund before determining tax rate for road fund in that fiscal year. (See 1999 amendment.) Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pac. R.R. v. Bennett, 145 M 191, 399 P2d 986 (1965).

Lease-Purchase Payments: Under resolution providing that city would convey title to properties to party who would cause to be built on one property a city-approved building which the city would rent for an annual rental for a period of 3 years with option in the city to purchase property together with the building thereon, lease payments were forms of indebtedness within Art. XIII, sec. 6, 1889 Mont. Const. (replaced by Art. VIII, sec. 10, 1972 Mont. Const.), limiting indebtedness that may be incurred by city. State ex rel. Simmons v. Missoula, 144 M 210, 395 P2d 249 (1964).

"Mandatory Expenditures Required by Law": The general words "mandatory expenditures required by law", as used in 7-6-2341 (now repealed), are not limited by the doctrine of ejusdem generis to the specific types of calamities enumerated earlier in the subsection since the general words are not associated in any way with the specific words, but rather they embrace an entirely different subject matter from those characterized by the specific words. Burke v. Sullivan, 127 M 374, 265 P2d 203 (1954).

Excess Funds — Reversion to General Fund: Where County Commissioners fix salary of officer at less than that provided in budget, it is not necessary that there be a resolution for a transfer of a part of the funds, since excess funds will revert to the general fund at the end of the fiscal year. State ex rel. Thompson v. Gallatin County, 120 M 263, 184 P2d 998 (1947).

Salary Schedule — Effect: When a salary schedule is adopted in the county budget, the Board of County Commissioners is not bound to pay each county employee the salary so fixed without diminution. State ex rel. Thompson v. Gallatin County, 120 M 263, 184 P2d 998 (1947).

Constitutionality: Section 7-6-2318 (now repealed), prohibiting consideration of anticipated loss of revenue for nonpayment of taxes, does not offend against Art. III, sec. 11, 1889 Mont. Const. (Art. II, sec. 31, 1972 Mont. Const.), as impairing obligations of contracts, since Title 7, ch. 6, part 23 (now repealed), contemplates issuances of interest-bearing registered warrants up to budget appropriation, if there is no money in a particular fund that must be taken into consideration in fixing the budget for the succeeding year. Great N. Ry. v. Phillips County, 112 M 542, 118 P2d 754 (1941).

Emergency Budget for General Relief — Not Liability for "Single Purpose": County Commissioners establishing an emergency budget under 7-6-2342 (now repealed) for general relief purposes in the amount of $15,000, without the approval of the electors, did not create an indebtedness or liability for a "single purpose" in excess of $10,000 without such approval within the inhibition of Art. XIII, sec. 5, 1889 Mont. Const. (replaced by Art. VIII, sec. 10, 1972 Mont. Const.). The entire debt for all relief purposes cannot be regarded a single purpose because the emergency arose by virtue of many separate and distinct purposes founded on a duty expressly imposed in the normal functioning of a county. State ex rel. Nelson v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 111 M 395, 109 P2d 1106 (1941).

Where Later Statute Controlling: It is not necessary that the City Council should pass upon a resolution authorizing expenditures to meet an emergency by unanimous vote as provided by 7-6-4252 (now repealed) in the matter of authorizing the creation of a city housing authority under Title 7, ch. 15, part 44, but 7-15-4417, a part of the housing authorities law, later in point of time and not requiring a unanimous vote, is controlling. State ex rel. Helena Housing Authority v. City Council, 108 M 347, 90 P2d 514 (1939).

Remedies for Illegal Levy — Estoppel: Payment of a tax deemed illegal, under protest, and then bringing an action to recover it back is not the exclusive remedy of the taxpayer where the levy is illegal. In the instant case, where there was no need to tax to raise funds for bond and sinking fund, plaintiff taxpayer was not estopped from maintaining action to enjoin collection by his failure to appear before the board at the time the preliminary budget (now proposed budget) was noticed for hearing under 7-6-2316 (now repealed). Rogge v. Petroleum County, 107 M 36, 80 P2d 380 (1938).

Taxing in Excess of Need — Illegal: It is against the policy of the law to raise taxes faster than the money is likely to be needed. In the absence of statutory authority a tax cannot be levied for the sole purpose of accumulating funds in the public treasury, such as for remote or future contingencies which may never arise, nor can it be levied in excess of the amount required for the purpose for which it is levied, with the intention of using the excess for another purpose. Rogge v. Petroleum County, 107 M 36, 80 P2d 380 (1938).

Misapplication of Fund by Treasurer: The office of City Treasurer is a continuing one regardless of the person occupying the office at any particular time. The Treasurer is the servant of the city and not the agent of warrant holders; thus if he misapplies trust funds such as for special improvement purposes, the municipality is liable to the warrant holders. Blackford v. Libby, 103 M 272, 62 P2d 216 (1936).

Negotiability of Warrant: A city warrant is not a negotiable instrument in the sense of the law merchant, and while it may be transferred by delivery or assignment, the transferee takes it subject to all legal and equitable defenses which exist to it in the hands of the payee. Lillis v. Big Timber, 103 M 206, 62 P2d 219 (1936).

Conflict With Police Minimum Wages: If Title 7, ch. 6, part 42 (now repealed), contained any provisions in direct conflict with 7-32-4116 prescribing a minimum wage for policemen in cities of the first class, then 7-32-4116 controls as to such conflicts. State ex rel. Gebhardt v. City Council, 102 M 27, 55 P2d 671 (1936).

Judgment Debts Excluded From Budget Law: By Writ of Mandate, city was directed to pay policemen's salaries prescribed by 7-32-4116. City's objection that obedience to the Writ would compel it to violate the budget act held no defense, for under 7-6-4234 (now repealed), a court judgment giving rise to a municipal obligation is specifically excepted from the provisions of the budget law. State ex rel. Gebhardt v. City Council, 102 M 27, 55 P2d 671 (1936).

Emergency Warrants Proper for Unbudgeted Drain Assessments: Drain district assessments against a county that had been approved by the court and had the force of judgments were unpaid for lack of funds, and no budget appropriation had been made therefor. The Clerk and Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners should have issued emergency warrants for the assessments. A Writ of Mandate to the Board itself, directing it to pay the assessments, was improperly issued. State ex rel. Valley Center Drain District v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 100 M 581, 51 P2d 635 (1935), explained in Burke v. Sullivan, 127 M 374, 265 P2d 203 (1954).

Statute of Limitation — Not on Right to Enforce: Section 7-6-4122 (now repealed) places a limitation upon the discretionary period and is not a Statute of Limitation with respect to the right to enforce the judgment. The bar of the Statute of Limitations is imposed because of the failure of the possessor of a right to enforce it. "Such a statute may be used as a shield, but not as a sword." State ex rel. N. Am. Life Ins. Co. v. District Court, 100 M 476, 49 P2d 1119 (1935).

Methods of Payment: Section 7-6-4122 (now repealed), makes it the duty of a City or Town Council to levy sufficient tax to pay a judgment against the municipality within 3 years where there is not sufficient money in the general fund to pay it and authorizes the council to fund the debt if the judgment exceeds $10,000. The Board of Councilmen is vested with discretionary power to proceed in any of the several methods of procedure prescribed and thus may not be compelled by the judgment creditor, through Writ of Mandate, to make a specific levy for any one year to satisfy the judgment. State ex rel. N. Am. Life Ins. Co. v. District Court, 97 M 523, 37 P2d 329 (1934).

Reason for Section: By enacting 7-6-4121 (now repealed), authorizing cities to operate on a cash basis where they have reached the limit of indebtedness (Art. XIII, sec. 6, 1889 Mont. Const., replaced by Art. VIII, sec. 10, 1972 Mont. Const.), the Legislature did not attempt what it has no power to do: permit them to create indebtedness in excess of such limit, but provided a device by which, without creating an additional indebtedness, they may function on a cash basis. Commonwealth Pub. Serv. Co. v. Deer Lodge, 96 M 15, 28 P2d 472 (1934); Palmer v. Helena, 40 M 498, 107 P 512 (1910).

Reduction in Force — Failure to Use Section: A city which, having reached the constitutional limit of indebtedness, finds itself in financial straits, will not be heard to say, in defense of its violation of a civil service statute in removing a firefighter contrary to its provisions, that it did so to reduce expenses, where it has failed to take advantage of 7-6-4121 (now repealed) authorizing cities in such condition to pay their running expenses from current revenues upon a cash basis. State ex rel. Driffill v. Anaconda, 41 M 577, 111 P 345 (1910).

What Are Current Expenses:

Under 7-6-4121 (now repealed), a city which is indebted in excess of the limit prescribed by Art. XIII, sec. 6, 1889 Mont. Const. (replaced by Art. VIII, sec. 10, 1972 Mont. Const.), is permitted to conduct its affairs upon a cash basis and pay "reasonable and necessary current expenses from its current revenues", but the authority of such a city extends no further than to make expenditures both reasonable and necessary for the corporate existence of the city; in other words, the right to expend public money is limited to those items of expense which may properly be designated as "living expenses". Palmer v. Helena, 40 M 498, 107 P 512 (1910).

The determination of what is a current expense is for the courts; but the determination of the City Council as to whether a particular current expense is reasonable and necessary is not subject to review by the courts in the absence of fraud or abuse of discretion. Helena Water Works Co. v. Helena, 31 M 243, 78 P 220 (1904). See also State ex rel. Rowling v. Butte, 43 M 331, 117 P 604 (1911).

The term "current" was doubtless employed by the Legislature to distinguish the common, recurring, running expenses of a city from such expenses as partake of the nature of an investment or such as are to be incurred in a substantial or permanent improvement. Helena Water Works Co. v. Helena, 31 M 243, 78 P 220 (1904).

Reports of Money Received and Disbursed: In an action by a city against the sureties on the official bond of the Treasurer, the reports of the Treasurer to the City Council of money received and disbursed during the month, made under 7-6-4105 (now repealed), may be given in evidence against such sureties and are prima facie true, and when not contradicted by the sureties, are binding on them. Philipsburg v. Degenhart, 30 M 299, 76 P 694 (1904).

City Exceeding Debt Limit — Appropriation of Funds: Where a city had exceeded its debt limit, it could not incur an indebtedness not payable from a specially authorized tax but payable from funds previously appropriated, under an agreement that the claimants should accept warrants in payment of their claims, and if the warrant should not be paid, the city should not be liable thereon. The payment of such claims on the theory that the appropriation by ordinance was an assignment of the funds so appropriated for the payment of the claims was unauthorized. Helena Water Works Co. v. Helena, 27 M 205, 70 P 513 (1902).

No Liability for Void Contract: Although the City Council appropriated a sum to pay for water furnished under a contract, such action does not make the city liable therefor, since the contract out of which the liability arose was void and no lawful authority to pay it exists. State ex rel. Helena Water Works Co. v. Helena, 24 M 521, 63 P 99 (1900).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

DECISIONS UNDER FORMER LAW

Power of County Commissioners to Regulate Library Funded by County General Fund — Limitations as if Funded by Five-Mill Levy: The fact that Big Horn County funds its library through the county general fund does not allow the County Commissioners to usurp the library trustees' statutory authority for setting the library's budget and compensation for the library staff. If the County Commissioners fund the library's budget through the county general fund, the power to decide the library staff compensation still rests with the library trustees. The Commissioners may limit the overall funding of the library budget to 5 mills, as if the library were being funded pursuant to the 5-mill tax levy authorized by 22-1-304. To hold otherwise would allow the library trustees to adopt a budget that could assume the entire county general fund levy. 48 A.G. Op. 3 (1999). See also 54 A.G. Op. 7 (2012).

Setting of Compensation for Mosquito Control Board Employees — Approval Required: A mosquito control board may not set the level of compensation of board employees without the approval of the Board of County Commissioners. 47 A.G. Op. 11 (1998). See also 38 A.G. Op. 35 (1979).

Setting of Compensation for Weed Control Board Employees — Approval Required: A weed control board may not set the level of compensation of board employees without the approval of the Board of County Commissioners. 47 A.G. Op. 11 (1998). See also 38 A.G. Op. 35 (1979).

Excess Cash Balance to Be Added to Annual Budget Calculations — Establishment of Trust Fund With Excess Prohibited: A city with general government powers that has a cash balance from previously unbudgeted nontax revenue in excess of outstanding unpaid warrants at the close of the preceding fiscal year in any fund must add the cash balance into the all-purpose general fund to be used in calculating the city's annual operating budget and to set future tax levies. The cash may not be placed in a trust fund, such as a 10-year irrevocable trust fund operated by a third-party trustee. 46 A.G. Op. 15 (1996).

"Cash Balance" Defined: The term "cash balance", as used in 7-6-2319(1) (now repealed), means the cash in a fund on June 30 less any current liabilities. 44 A.G. Op. 18 (1991).

Prior Fiscal Year Reserve Not to Be Included in Current Year's Reserve: Because a prior fiscal year's reserve is not considered part of the amount "appropriated and authorized to be spent during the current fiscal year", as that phrase is used in 7-6-2319(2) (now repealed), it may not be used to calculate the current fiscal year's reserve. (See 1999 amendment.) 44 A.G. Op. 18 (1991).

Equipment Reserve Account as Capital Improvement Fund: An equipment reserve fund within the central garage internal service fund, established by a city with self-governing powers to provide for future equipment replacement, is a capital improvement fund within the meaning of 7-6-4134 (now repealed). 44 A.G. Op. 5 (1991).

Percentage Limitation Mandatory — Retroactive Transfer of Greater Percentage Impermissible: By its clear terms, 7-6-4134 (now repealed) regulates budget procedures of a city with self-governing powers. The 5% (see 1997 amendment) limitation in 7-6-4134 (now repealed) is a mandatory provision with which a city must comply in establishing its budget. Therefore, the retroactive transfer of more than 5% of all-purpose levy revenue is prohibited. 44 A.G. Op. 5 (1991).

Separate Accounting Required for Equipment Reserve Account in Enterprise Fund: Enterprise funds, such as funds generated from the provision of income-producing municipal services like water and sewer systems, may not be consolidated with revenue from other sources. A city may not reclassify equipment reserves maintained in the enterprise funds. Therefore, equipment reserve accounts in enterprise funds must be maintained separately from other equipment reserve accounts in a capital improvement fund. 44 A.G. Op. 5 (1991).

Transfer of Funds to Equipment Reserve Account From Sources Other Than All-Purpose Levy Fund Not Prohibited: Section 7-6-4134 (now repealed) does not prohibit the transfer of funds to an equipment reserve account from sources other than the all-purpose levy fund. 44 A.G. Op. 5 (1991).

Authorization by County Commission of Increase in Salary of County Officer: Even if the county budget allows for an increase in the salary of a county officer, only the Board of County Commissioners may authorize an increase through the budgetary process. Therefore, a Clerk of Court is not authorized to promote a deputy clerk to a chief deputy position at a higher pay scale without authorization in the county budget and approval of the Board. 43 A.G. Op. 77 (1990).

Use of Separately Appropriated Funds to Satisfy Negotiated Salary Increases: Section 7-6-4236 (now repealed) does not prohibit a municipality from using funds separately appropriated for the purpose of satisfying salary increases that may arise from collective bargaining negotiations ongoing at the time of a final budget's adoption to pay such increases. Use of such funds constitutes neither a "transfer" within the statutory meaning nor an increase in affected employees' salaries over amounts appropriated for those salaries. 42 A.G. Op. 65 (1988).

Authority of County Officer to Retain Defense Counsel: An elected county officer is not required to obtain the consent of the County Attorney or the County Commissioners in order to retain counsel in defense of a suit brought by the County Attorney pursuant to 7-6-2323 (now repealed). The county must reimburse the officer for legal fees incurred in the defense of the action unless an exclusion, as provided in 2-9-305, applies. 41 A.G. Op. 34 (1985).

Distribution of Corporate License Fees: Corporate license fees received between July 1, 1983, and June 30, 1984, under 15-31-702 (now repealed), are properly distributed pursuant to tax levies adopted by the Board of County Commissioners for fiscal year 1984, including any levy promulgated pursuant to 53-2-813 (now repealed). 41 A.G. Op. 26 (1985).

Change in County Classification — Time for Setting County Officials' Salaries: When a county's classification changes pursuant to 7-1-2111 (now repealed), the salaries of the county officials listed in 7-4-2503(1) must also change. The salaries must change as of July 1 of the following year, with the onset of a new fiscal year for the county. 40 A.G. Op. 81 (1984).

Grants Available Only After Completion of Fiscal Year: Under 7-6-2352 (now repealed), county governments may be eligible to receive state grants to District Courts only after the completion of the fiscal year in which the need for assistance arose. 40 A.G. Op. 39 (1984).

Restrictions on Segregation of Cash and Transfer of Poor Fund: Title 53, ch. 2, part 3, does not authorize a county to set aside money in the poor fund that will not be available for supporting public assistance activities in the county, as provided in 53-2-322 (now repealed). All money in the poor fund must be used for public assistance activities. However, 7-6-2326 (now repealed) permits the transfer of a poor fund cash balance to another fund at the end of a fiscal year. This may be done only when there is an ending balance in excess of the amount budgeted for the poor fund for the next fiscal year, and only the excess may be transferred. 40 A.G. Op. 29 (1983).

Source of Depletion Allowance Reserve Fund — Not Subject to Budgeting: Section 7-34-2402 permits poor fund money to be used to fund a depletion allowance reserve fund only to the extent that the money represents actual money received in excess of expenses incurred from or for the care of indigent patients in the county facility. Because depletion allowance reserve fund money is not derived from tax revenues and the sources and uses of the fund are limited statutorily, the transfer of money to a depletion allowance reserve fund is not subject to the requirements of 7-6-2326 (now repealed). 40 A.G. Op. 29 (1983).

Clerk and Recorder's Report — Basis for Determining Levy: The Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services (now Department of Public Health and Human Services) should rely upon the tax levies presented in the County Clerk and Recorder's report that is provided pursuant to 7-6-2322 (now repealed) for determining the amount levied by the county for purposes of its county poor fund during fiscal year 1982. (See 1999 amendment.) 40 A.G. Op. 18 (1983).

Maximum Mill Levy Not Required: Because of the requirements for establishing county mill levies under Title 7, ch. 6, part 23 (now repealed), and because of the unforeseeable nature of District Court expenses, the Department of Administration (now Supreme Court Administrator) may not require a county to impose the maximum levy established in 7-6-2511, for District Court expenses, in order to be considered eligible for a state grant to District Courts under 7-6-2352 (now repealed). 39 A.G. Op. 71 (1982).

Money Freed by Termination of Tax Protest Litigation — Use and Effect: Once tax money tied up in tax protest litigation is received by a municipality upon completion of litigation, it must be deposited to the credit of the fund or funds to which it would have been credited had it been timely received without protest, and it is then available for use. If money remains in a fund at the end of a fiscal year in which it was received, it is a part of the cash balance and is to be included in the calculations to determine the tax levy for the next year. 39 A.G. Op. 55 (1982).

District Court Employees as County Employees: District Court employees are paid by the county in which the court is located, receive the same county benefits as all other county employees, and are therefore county employees. 39 A.G. Op. 38 (1981).

Restrictions in Appropriation Bill Subservient to Statutory Power to Provide Assistance to Counties: Section 7-6-2352 (now repealed) reflects legislative intent to make financial assistance grants for the purpose of offsetting virtually all excess costs associated with the operation of a District Court except those for building, capital, and library maintenance, replacement, and acquisition. Restrictive language in the general appropriation bill of the 1981 legislative session limited the appropriation to emergency funding and only when extraordinary expenses are incurred, expressly conflicting with 7-6-2352 (now repealed). The Attorney General noted that the courts have considered such restrictions with disfavor, that the appropriation bill title did not refer to restrictions on the appropriation, and that the language of Art. V, sec. 11, Mont. Const., limits a general appropriation bill to appropriations. Rejecting the repeal by implication of 7-6-2352 (now repealed) by the restrictions in the appropriation bill, it was concluded that the Department of Administration (now Supreme Court Administrator) should follow the provisions of 7-6-2352 (now repealed) in providing financial assistance to counties for District Court expenses. 39 A.G. Op. 25 (1981).

Emergency Grant Made Only if Funds Appropriated for That Purpose: No funds were appropriated by the 1979 Legislature to fund emergency grants authorized by 7-6-2352 (now repealed). The statute provided that the Department of Administration (now Supreme Court Administrator) may make grants only from funds specifically appropriated for that purpose. If no such funds are provided, the Department is under no obligation to make grants and would by negative implication be precluded from doing so. 38 A.G. Op. 31 (1979).

Emergency Expenditures: A county may make emergency expenditures not reflected in its budget to cover the employer's share of PERS when the responsibility to pay that share arose after adoption of the budget for that fiscal year. 38 A.G. Op. 19 (1979).

Disaster Relief Eligibility: A county road reserve established pursuant to 7-6-2318 (now repealed) to pay costs of county road operations during the first 4 months of the next fiscal year is not a financial resource available to meet emergencies and disasters. 37 A.G. Op. 118 (1978).

Police Dispatch Services: A county may contract with a city or town to provide the municipal police department with police dispatch services operated through the County Sheriff's office. 37 A.G. Op. 10 (1977).

All-Purpose Levy Encompassing Multiple Levies: Required multiple levies must be included within the all-purpose levy. 36 A.G. Op. 94 (1976).

Disposition of Unexpended County Funds: Unexpended money remaining in a county's classification and appraisal fund as of July 1 may be transferred to other county funds, and the Department of Revenue may not utilize such unexpended money for classification and appraisal of taxable lands and improvements. 35 A.G. Op. 37 (1973).

Library Board Alone Has Authority to Spend Its Reserve Funds — Library's Proposed Budget Subject to Approval by Local Governing Body — Local Governing Body Has Sole Discretion to Levy Mills in Support of Library: Prior to 2001, a library board had complete control over its budget. While a library board still has the sole discretion to determine how to use the library's unspent funds under 22-1-309, its budget must be approved by the local governing body. Moreover, the local governing body, not the library board, determines the number of mills to levy in support of the library. Power of General Powers Town to Arbitrate Contract Held Included in Power to Contract: Holm-Sutherland contracted with the town of Shelby to construct sewer and water improvements within the town. The contract included a provision requiring that all disputes involving the interpretation of the contract documents or breach of the contract were to be settled by arbitration. When a dispute arose, Holm-Sutherland sought arbitration. Litigation ensued, and the town argued that as a noncharter government, it had only those powers granted by the Legislature and that a municipality's council had a duty pursuant to 7-6-4302 and this section to determine the validity of claims and that duty could not be delegated to an arbitrator. The Supreme Court agreed with the District Court that a general powers municipality has broad powers to enter into contracts pursuant to 7-1-4124(4) and (23), that Title 27, ch. 5, evidences a general state policy favoring arbitration, and that the powers granted a municipality establish its ability to be bound to the terms of a contract that contains a binding arbitration clause. Holm-Sutherland Co., Inc. v. Shelby, 1999 MT 150, 295 M 65, 982 P2d 1053, 56 St. Rep. 595 (1999).

Purpose of Section: This section was evidently intended to cover claims against the city arising in the ordinary course of carrying on the city government, in providing for the city's welfare in sundry directions, and in transacting the business and economic affairs of the city, but not on such contracts as are specifically provided for, which it must be presumed are designed to contain their own specific provisions, and among other material and essential conditions, stipulations respecting the time and manner of the payment of the consideration on the part of the city. Forsyth v. Crellin, 210 F 835 (9th Cir. 1914).

Claim Not Required for Salary: The provision of this section, requiring claims against a city to be verified and filed with the municipality, has no application to a claim for salary fixed by ordinance; hence a police officer was under no obligation to so present his claim to entitle him to recover his salary for the time he was unlawfully deprived of his office. Wynne v. Butte, 45 M 417, 123 P 531 (1912).

Case Notes

Licensing Fee for Adult Movie Video Booths as Regulatory Measure — Free Speech Not Violated: The Supreme Court affirmed a city ordinance imposing a $300 annual fee for adult movie video booths, finding the city met its burden of proving the fee was both reasonable and designed as a regulatory measure to provide funds for administrative costs, policing of the booths, and health enforcement costs and expenses. The court held that estimates of future expenses may be included for purposes of setting a fee and that, being regulatory in nature, the fee did not violate the right to free speech guaranteed by the first amendment to the U.S. Constitution and Art. II, sec. 7, Mont. Const. Great Falls v. M.K. Enterprises, Inc., 225 M 292, 732 P2d 413, 44 St. Rep. 242 (1987).

Attorney General's Opinions

Garbage Removal — Burning — Constitutional Law: A city may provide tax-supported garbage-hauling services. The service in Kalispell came under the state health department rules which also provide that the geographical area covered by a private hauler or tax-supported service is within the area where open burning is prohibited. Neither due process nor equal protection is violated by a prohibition of open burning in some areas when the object and tendency of the prohibiting legislation or a rule adopted thereunder is promotion of public health. 38 A.G. Op. 30 (1979).

Compiler's Comments

1999 Amendment: Chapter 584 at beginning inserted reference to 15-10-420; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 10, 1999.

Severability: Section 172, Ch. 584, L. 1999, was a severability clause.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 175, Ch. 584, L. 1999, provided that this section applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to tax years beginning after December 31, 1998.

Case Notes

Special Taxes: A city, under this section, had the power to levy special taxes for the purpose of paying interest on bonded indebtedness and creating a sinking fund, and the contention that the taxing power of a city of a class other than the first class was limited to a 10-mill levy for all purposes by 7-6-4405 (now repealed) was without merit. First Nat'l Bank of Glendive v. Sorenson, 65 M 1, 210 P 900 (1922).

7-6-4409. Determination of assessments.

Compiler's Comments

1993 Special Session Amendment: Chapter 27 in first sentence, after "department", inserted "of revenue" and deleted "or its agent" and substituted "property tax record" for "assessment book"; deleted (2) that allowed the Department of Revenue to charge for copies of assessment books; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective January 1, 1994.

Applicability: Section 171(2), Ch. 27, Sp. L. November 1993, provided that the amendments to this section apply to tax years after December 31, 1993.

Case Notes

Valuation by County Assessor: Under the provisions of this section and other statutes applicable and in force from time to time, the basis of taxation for a city or town has been the valuation made by the County Assessor for state and county purposes. The City or Town Council has had no authority to amend or change the items listed in the roll furnished by him, its office being merely to ascertain the rate of taxation necessary to produce the amount required to meet the expenses of the city or town government and to certify it to the County Treasurer. (See 1993 special session amendment.) Lockey v. Bozeman, 42 M 387, 113 P 286 (1910).

Assessment of City Property: Under this section and 7-6-4407 (now repealed), the assessment of property of a city was not completed until the date of the resolution of the City Council fixing and levying the amount of taxes to be levied and assessed for such year. State ex rel. Butte v. Johnson, 16 M 570, 41 P 706 (1895).

Legal Levy: The municipal authorities of an incorporated city could make a legal assessment in electing to take the assessment made by the county and state assessing authorities as the basis for the levy of municipal taxes on property within such city; and the levy of lawful taxes thereon by such city, according to the provisions of its charter and ordinances, constituted a legal levy. Lockey v. Walker, 12 M 577, 31 P 639 (1892).

7-6-4410. Property tax record to be furnished to certain municipalities.

Compiler's Comments

2003 Amendment: Chapter 34 near beginning of first sentence after "before the" substituted "first Monday in August" for "second Monday in July". Amendment effective February 18, 2003.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 9(4), Ch. 34, L. 2003, provided: "[This act] applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to any assessment or levy by any taxing jurisdiction for calendar year 2003 for which an assessment or levy date is not specified."

1993 Special Session Amendment: Chapter 27 in first sentence, after "department", inserted "of revenue" and deleted "or its agent" and substituted "property tax record" for "assessment

Applicability: Section 171(2), Ch. 27, Sp. L. November 1993, provided that the amendments to this section apply to tax years after December 31, 1993.

7-6-4412. Preparation of municipal property tax record.

Compiler's Comments

1993 Special Session Amendment: Chapter 27 in (1), in first sentence, substituted "shall provide a copy of the property tax record to" for "to make a duplicate of the corrected assessment book for" and at beginning of last sentence substituted "The record must be" for "Such book shall be styled "The Duplicate Assessment Book for the City of ...." and must contain" and near middle substituted "property tax record" for "assessment book"; in (2) substituted "The copy must be in a form that itemizes" for "Such duplicate must be made in a book furnished by the city clerk of each city in the county and ruled in columns specifying"; deleted (3) that read: "(3) The county clerk must deliver such duplicate assessment book to each city treasurer and take his receipt therefor, having attached thereto the affidavit similar to the one set out in 15-10-306"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective January 1, 1994.

Applicability: Section 171(2), Ch. 27, Sp. L. November 1993, provided that the amendments to this section apply to tax years after December 31, 1993.

Case Notes

Affidavit of County Clerk: The word "similar" in subsection (3) does not require the County Clerk to make an affidavit identical with the one required by 15-10-306 (now repealed) but merely requires an affidavit covering all the facts showing that the Clerk had done his duty in making the copy of the assessment book. (See 1993 special session amendment.) State ex rel. Butte v. Weston, 29 M 125, 74 P 415 (1903).

Delivery to City Treasurer: It is the duty of the County Clerk to deliver to the City Treasurer the duplicate assessment book required by this section at the same time the original or duplicate is delivered to the County Treasurer. (See 1993 special session amendment.) State ex rel. Butte v. Weston, 29 M 125, 74 P 415 (1903).

1993 Special Session Amendment: Chapter 27 in (1) substituted "property tax record" for "assessment book"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective January 1, 1994.

Applicability: Section 171(2), Ch. 27, Sp. L. November 1993, provided that the amendments to this section apply to tax years after December 31, 1993.

Case Notes

Assessments as Tax: Assessments for special city improvements, which under 7-12-4181 the County Treasurer is required to collect, fall within the meaning of the words "tax" and "taxes" as employed in this section, making it the duty of the County Treasurer to collect city taxes where a city has not imposed that duty upon its own Treasurer. State ex rel. Wolf Point v. McFarlan, 78 M 156, 252 P 805 (1927).

Remittance to City Without Delay: Where a city has failed to provide by ordinance for the collection of its taxes by its own Treasurer, the Treasurer of the county in which such city is situated must, under this section, collect and pay them to the City Treasurer without delay. State ex rel. Wolf Point v. McFarlan, 78 M 156, 252 P 805 (1927), explained in School District v. Pondera County, 89 M 342, 297 P 498 (1931).

Remittance to Municipal Treasurer: Although, under this section, the County Treasurer must collect taxes for a city or town which has not by ordinance placed the duty of collection upon its own Treasurer, no provision is made as to when the money so collected must be turned over to the City or Town Treasurer. The County Treasurer must, within a reasonable time after collection, compute the amount due the city or town and pay it over to the proper custodian. The lapse of 1 month after collection of the bulk of the city or town taxes is not a reasonable time within which to perform that duty. State ex rel. Cut Bank v. McNamer, 62 M 490, 205 P 951 (1922).

Attorney General's Opinions

Delinquency Interest, Penalties, and Costs to Follow Tax: The Montana Supreme Court held in School District v. Pondera County, 89 M 342, 297 P 498 (1931), that unless a statute provides otherwise, interest, penalties, and costs collected on delinquent taxes follow the tax; therefore, school districts, cities, and other government entities authorized to levy taxes are entitled to a pro rata share of the penalties collected on delinquent property taxes by the County Treasurer. 41 A.G. Op. 25 (1985).

Collection of Special Assessment for Demolition of Dangerous Building: Special assessments imposed by a city or town for the demolition by it of dangerous buildings constitute city or town taxes under this section, and the County Treasurer must collect a properly certified special assessment for demolition of a dangerous building unless the city or town has provided for the City Treasurer to collect taxes under this section. 39 A.G. Op. 39 (1981).

Liability for Tortious Collection: A County Treasurer acts as an agent of the city when collecting city taxes, and although he must follow proper collection procedures and must exercise due care to collect only properly certified assessments, if there is any problem with the validity of an assessment it is the city, not the County Treasurer, that may be liable. 39 A.G. Op. 39 (1981).

Purpose: The purposes of this section are clearly to avoid needless duplication of the effort and cost of billing property owners and collecting the money and to provide taxpayers the convenience of a single bill, purposes best served by a broad interpretation of the term "taxes" as used in this section. 39 A.G. Op. 39 (1981).

Retroactive Applicability: Section 175, Ch. 584, L. 1999, provided that this section applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to tax years beginning after December 31, 1998.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 105 at beginning of (1)(a), after "town", deleted "whose city treasurer or town clerk", after "held" substituted "by the city or town unless the" for "therefor by such city treasurer or town clerk but such", and before "days" inserted "working"; at end of (1)(b)(iv), after "added", substituted "if any" for "and the total amount of such delinquent tax or assessment with penalty added"; and near end of (1)(c), before "be included", substituted "that total must" for "the whole of the assessment remaining unpaid shall"; and made minor changes in style.

1987 Amendment: Near end of (1)(c) changed "7-12-4181" to "7-12-4182".

Case Notes

Assessments for Special Improvements: A County Treasurer could not be compelled, under this section, to spread upon the delinquent tax roll of the county certain assessments for special city improvements which became delinquent on a city lot after the county had bought it in at a tax sale, since special assessments are not taxes within the meaning of 15-18-403 (since repealed) and the liens of such assessments were extinguished upon issuance of the tax deed. State ex rel. Great Falls v. Jeffries, 83 M 111, 270 P 638 (1928), explained in Cascade County v. Weaver, 108 M 1, 90 P2d 164 (1939).

Library Board Alone Has Authority to Spend Its Reserve Funds — Library's Proposed Budget Subject to Approval by Local Governing Body — Local Governing Body Has Sole Discretion to Levy Mills in Support of Library: Prior to 2001, a library board had complete control over its budget. While a library board still has the sole discretion to determine how to use the library's unspent funds under 22-1-309, its budget must be approved by the local governing body. Moreover, the local governing body, not the library board, determines the number of mills to levy in support of the library. Finally, the local governing body has no obligation to continue to levy any certain number of mills for the library in perpetuity. 54 A.G. Op. 7 (2012).

Attorney General's Opinions

Calculation and Expenditure of "Carryforward" Mills Under 2001 Revision to Local Government Property Tax Levy and Budget Provisions: The 2001 revisions to local government property tax levy and budget laws instituted a general approach of deleting numeric limits on the number of mills that a local government could levy for any specific purpose and placed a cap on the number of mills that a local government is allowed to levy through property taxation. The combined effect was to free a local government to dedicate as much of its annual mill levy as it chooses for any lawful governmental purpose, as long as the total millage covered by the cap does not exceed the cap measured by the prior year's property tax assessments. Likewise, the "carryforward" provision in 15-10-420 does not depend on how many mills, if any, that a city chooses to devote to a particular purpose in any year. Instead, the provision allows a city, if it finds itself able to fund its operations without levying the full number of mills allowed, to hold in reserve for future years the authority to levy the difference between the number of mills allowed and the number actually levied. That authority is not calculated on the basis of the amount budgeted or the number of mills needed to fund a particular government function, but rather is calculated with reference to the whole amount raised by property taxes, subject to the statutory exceptions, without reference to how the money might have been spent in the prior year. However, the "carryforward" authority is prospective only and may not be applied to calculations for the 2001 budget year because the authority did not exist prior to July 1, 2001. Thus, "carryforward" mills may be levied in any future year after budget year 2001 and expended by a local government for any lawful purposes that the local government chooses. 49 A.G. Op. 5 (2001).

Unauthorized Levies Not to Be Used as Basis for Temporary Increase: The special levies authorized by 7-32-4117, 7-33-4130, and 19-10-301 (renumbered 19-19-301) must be included in the 65-mill levy authorized by 7-6-4451 and 7-6-4452 (now repealed). Any such special levies improperly levied in addition to the 65-mill all-purpose levy may not be used in computing the basis for a 5% increase under 15-7-122 (now repealed). 38 A.G. Op. 44 (1979).

All-Purpose Levy Encompassing Multiple Levies: Required multiple levies must be included within the 65-mill all-purpose levy authorized by 7-6-4451 and 7-6-4452 (now repealed). 36 A.G. Op. 94 (1976).

Section 37, Ch. 556, L. 1999, was a severability clause.

Applicability: Section 43, Ch. 426, L. 1999, provided: "[This act] applies to tax years beginning after December 31, 1999."

Section 39(2), Ch. 556, L. 1999, provided that this section applies to fiscal years beginning after June 30, 2000.

1981 Amendment: Increased the bond indebtedness limitation from 27% to 39% of the taxable value in (1).

Effect of 1981 Amendment: The primary purpose of Ch. 614, L. 1981, was to replace the system of taxation of automobiles and light trucks with a fee system. With the adoption of the fee system, automobiles and light trucks are no longer taxable property. The resulting loss of taxable valuation has a direct effect on the amount of indebtedness a political subdivision can incur. Thus it was necessary in Ch. 614 to increase the percentage of taxable valuation used as a limitation on indebtedness to offset the loss of taxable valuation attributable to automobiles and light trucks.

When Investment of Bond Proceeds in Government Securities Authorized: Money in a sinking fund is not available for investment if any of the bonds for which the sinking fund was established are not yet due but are then redeemable under optional provisions. While investment in government securities is authorized under this section, it is authorized only to the extent that the sinking fund is not needed for payment of the bonds or interest. Therefore, excess bond proceeds may not be retained in a separate fund and invested without first using the proceeds to calculate the amount of annual tax levy for a sinking fund. Any remainder of the proceeds may then be invested in accordance with this section. 44 A.G. Op. 18 (1991).

Chapter 614 increased the indebtedness limitation from 18% to 23% of the taxable value in (1).

Effect of 1981 Amendment: The primary purpose of Ch. 614, L. 1981, was to replace the system of taxation of automobiles and light trucks with a fee system. With the adoption of the fee system, automobiles and light trucks are no longer taxable property. The resulting loss of taxable valuation has a direct effect on the amount of indebtedness a political subdivision can incur. Thus it was necessary in Ch. 614 to increase the percentage of taxable valuation used as a limitation on indebtedness to offset the loss of taxable valuation attributable to automobiles and light trucks.

Case Notes

Federal Revenue Sharing Funds: The expenditure of federal revenue sharing funds is not an indebtedness or liability of the county within the meaning of the statutory restriction. Yovetich v. McClintock, 165 M 80, 526 P2d 999 (1974).

Airport Commission:

Board of County Commissioners which overtaxed taxpayers in one year in order to provide a fund out of which expenses for capital improvements and remodeling of airport were to be paid, which expenses exceeded $21,000, clearly violated Art. XIII, sec. 5, 1889 Mont. Const., by incurring a liability for over $10,000 without the approval of a majority of the electors of the county; county was not able to argue that "no indebtedness or liability" had been created because the money was already on hand. Extraordinarily high levy created a "reserve fund" to be used for capital improvements, which is not allowable due to restriction in 67-10-402 of reserve funds to improvement of surfaces of runways or ramps. Burlington N., Inc. v. Flathead County, 162 M 371, 512 P2d 710 (1973), distinguished in Yovetich v. McClintock, 165 M 80, 526 P2d 999 (1974).

City-county airport commission which borrowed $200,000 from the Aeronautics Commission (now Board of Aeronautics) without consent of electorate and which was obligated to repay a total sum of $238,500 over a 10-year period had incurred a debt upon which an amount over $10,000 was due each year and had violated Art. XII, 1889 Mont. Const. Resolution by airport commission which approved the loan and which obligated the county to repay the Aeronautics Commission (now Board of Aeronautics) only $10,000 did not bring the debt within the Constitution since the commission was itself obligated and was an agent of the county. Burlington N., Inc. v. Richland County, 162 M 364, 152 P2d 707 (1973), distinguished in Yovetich v. McClintock, 165 M 80, 526 P2d 999 (1974).

Redemption Bonds: The issuance by a county of coupon bonds for the purpose of redeeming outstanding county warrants is merely a change in the form of a subsisting liability and not the creation of a new indebtedness or liability and is, therefore, not within the inhibition of the laws of the state which provide in effect that counties shall not incur an indebtedness or liability for any single purpose in excess of a stated amount without the approval of a majority of the electors of the county. Hotchkiss v. Marion, 12 M 218, 29 P 821 (1892). See Edwards v. Lewis & Clark County, 53 M 359, 165 P 297 (1917).

Attorney General's Opinions

Lease-Purchase Agreement With Nonappropriation Clause Allowing Termination Without Penalty Not Considered Indebtedness or Liability — Voter Approval Not Required: A lease-purchase agreement that includes a nonappropriation clause and that allows for termination without penalty to a county does not constitute indebtedness or liability for purposes of this section and thus does not require voter approval. 52 A.G. Op. 3 (2007), overruling 38 A.G. Op. 56 (1979).

County Authorized to Incur Debt or Borrow Without Election: A county is authorized under this section to incur a liability or indebtedness up to $500,000 or, pursuant to 7-7-2402, to borrow up to $10,000 (see 1997 amendment) without an election. An installment purchase contract is not a "borrowing of money" within the meaning of 7-7-2402. A municipality is not required to hold an election to borrow money by a method other than issuing bonds, but it is limited by 7-7-4201 to a 28% debt ceiling. 42 A.G. Op. 13 (1987).

Authority to Contract for Lease Without Election: A contract providing for a total liability in excess of $40,000, prior to 1981 amendment, must be approved by the voters under this section even though it provides for annual payments of less than $40,000, an option to purchase at the end of the contract term for an additional payment less than $40,000, and an option to cancel at any time. 38 A.G. Op. 56 (1979), overruled in 52 A.G. Op. 3 (2007).

7-7-2103. Restriction on use of county credit by private persons.

Attorney General's Opinions

County Authorized to Appropriate Money for Museum — City Authorized to Appropriate Money for Public Purpose — Constitutionality Analyzed: Pursuant to 7-16-2202 (now repealed), a county, but not a city, is authorized to create a program to provide grants to private, nonprofit museums. However, pursuant to 7-1-4124, a city is allowed to grant money to public or private entities as long as the grant is for a public purpose, such as a museum that would enhance the education and enjoyment of the general public, but that would not be merely for the gain of a private entity. The Attorney General declined to opine regarding the constitutionality of 7-1-4124 or 7-16-2202 (now repealed), in light of the prohibition in Art. V, sec. 11(5), Mont. Const., against the appropriation of public funds for any private individual, private association, or private corporation not under control of the state, but did analyze that constitutional provision as it related to the question of county or city expenditures for grants to private museum programs, concluding that the constitutional prohibition applies only to the appropriation of public funds by the Legislature, not by local governmental entities. 48 A.G. Op. 12 (2000), overruling prior opinions to the contrary in 37 A.G. Op. 25 (1977), 37 A.G. Op. 105 (1978), and 39 A.G. Op. 25 (1981).

Federal Revenue Sharing Funds — Allocation by Board of County Commissioners: The Board of County Commissioners for a county that has not adopted a self-government form of local government may not make a grant of federal revenue sharing funds to individual county residents for the purpose of creating a water district under Title 7, ch. 13, parts 22 and 23, because there is no express or necessarily implied authority under which such a grant could be made and because the statutes provide a different mechanism for the creation and funding of a water district. 39 A.G. Op. 6 (1981).

Gift to Private Nonprofit Corporation: Under 20-8-111, the Board of Public Education, in its discretion, may give money that has been donated for the use and benefit of the Montana School for the Deaf and Blind to a private nonprofit corporation created and controlled by the Board and operated for the benefit of that school. However, the Board remains accountable for the money until it is used directly for the general support, maintenance, or improvement of the Montana School for the Deaf and Blind. 38 A.G. Op. 111 (1980).

Attorney General's Opinions

Act Allowing Private Parties to Contract for Jails Not in Conflict With Local Government Regulatory Statutes: The act allowing counties to contract with private parties for the building, maintenance, and operation of jails, enacted as Chapter 447, L. 1985, does not directly conflict with other Montana statutes regulating the indebtedness, contracts, jail facilities, or interlocal agreements of local governments. However, Chapter 447 is subject to the various applicable limitations contained in those statutes. 42 A.G. Op. 81 (1988).

1989 Amendment: At end of (1), after "jurisdiction", inserted "including the repayment of tax protests lost by the county". Amendment effective March 21, 1989.

1981 Amendment: Increased 9% to 11.25% wherever it appears; and increased 29% to 37% in (2).

Effect of 1981 Amendment: The primary purpose of Ch. 614, L. 1981, was to replace the system of taxation of automobiles and light trucks with a fee system. With the adoption of the fee system, automobiles and light trucks are no longer taxable property. The resulting loss of taxable valuation has a direct effect on the amount of indebtedness a political subdivision can incur. Thus it was necessary in Ch. 614 to increase the percentage of taxable valuation used as a limitation on indebtedness to offset the loss of taxable valuation attributable to automobiles and light trucks.

Case Notes

Resolution for Bond Issue — Compliance With Statute: In view of the purpose of Ch. 24, L. Ex. Session 1933-34 (omitted), i.e., to permit counties to secure the benefits of the National Industrial Recovery Act by borrowing money from the federal government for emergency relief, and the fact that it was apparent at the time the act was passed that the conditions and requirements of the government would conflict with the general laws of the state with relation to issuance and sale of bonds, failure of a Board of County Commissioners strictly to comply with the provisions of this section and 7-7-2251 as to the form of resolution to be passed by it providing for the issuance of bonds voted to obtain a federal loan was not fatal to their validity; having followed those provisions as closely as it was possible for it to do and at the same time conform to the requirements of the federal government, the Board's action was sufficient; so far as not in harmony with the federal requirements, this section and 7-7-2251 must be held inapplicable. Chapter 631, in first paragraph of "Notice of Sale" form before "amount" substituted "principal" for "total"; in fourth paragraph of notice substituted provision for amount of serial bonds and inclusion of maturity schedule for "If serial bonds are issued and sold, they will be in the amount of .... dollars ($....) each, except the last bond which will be in the amount of .... dollars ($....); the sum of .... dollars ($....) of the said serial bonds will become payable on the .... day of ...., 19.., and a like amount on the same day each year thereafter until all of such bonds are paid, except that the last installment will be in the amount of .... dollars ($....)."; and in fifth paragraph of notice after "....% per annum" inserted "commencing on the ... day of ... Therefore, excess bond proceeds may not be retained in a separate fund and invested without first using the proceeds to calculate the amount of annual tax levy for a sinking fund. Case Notes

Bonds for Health Care Facility Not Subject to Voter Approval: When Toole County proposed to borrow $1.7 million to construct a county hospital and nursing home, plaintiff sued, alleging that the county could not borrow money without first submitting the bond proposal to the voters for approval. Affirming the District Court decision, the Supreme Court ruled that the indebtedness for the repayment of bonds for the proposed health care facility is not indebtedness of the county for which an election is required under this section. State ex rel. Lovins v. Toole County, 278 M 253, 924 P2d 693, 53 St. Rep. 887 (1996).

Emergency Budget for General Relief Not for "Single Purpose" Requiring Electors' Approval: County Commissioners establishment of an emergency budget under 7-6-2341 through 7-6-2345 (7-6-2341, 7-6-2342, 7-6-2343, and 7-6-2345 now repealed) for general relief purposes in the amount of $15,000, without approval of the electors, is not creating an indebtedness or liability for a "single purpose" in excess of $10,000 (see 1991, 1997, and 2007 amendments) without such approval within the inhibition of this section since the entire debt for all relief purposes cannot be regarded as a single purpose but arises by virtue of many separate and distinct purposes, founded on a duty expressly imposed in normal functioning of county. State ex rel. Nelson v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 111 M 395, 109 P2d 1106 (1941).

Approval of Electors:

The Board of County Commissioners cannot borrow money to refund outstanding indebtedness exceeding $10,000 (see 1991, 1997, and 2007 amendments), by the issuance of bonds or otherwise, without having first obtained the approval of the electors of the county. Edwards v. Lewis & Clark County, 53 M 359, 165 P 297 (1917).

"The approval of a majority of the electors" and "a majority of the votes cast" are the same. The approval of a majority of the electors voting at an election to determine whether a proposed indebtedness shall be incurred was sufficient to legalize a bond issue. Morse v. Granite County, 44 M 78, 119 P 286 (1911).

Attorney General's Opinions

County Authorized to Incur Debt or Borrow Without Election: A county is authorized under 7-7-2101 to incur a liability or indebtedness up to $500,000 or, pursuant to this section, to borrow up to $10,000 (see 1991 and 1997 amendments) without an election. An installment purchase contract is not a "borrowing of money" within the meaning of this section. A municipality is not required to hold an election to borrow money by a method other than issuing bonds, but it is limited by 7-7-4201 to a 28% debt ceiling. 42 A.G. Op. 13 (1987).

7-7-2403. Determination of amount of loan.

Case Notes

Necessity of Loan: Upon submitting the question of a bond issue to the voters, the determination by the Board of the amount of the issue is a necessary prerequisite to the validity of subsequent proceedings, and in so doing the Board may proceed upon its own initiative and determine the necessity of the loan, without waiting for the filing of a petition. Morse v. Granite County, 44 M 78, 119 P 286 (1911).

Question Submitted to Electors: Where the Board of County Commissioners has determined the amount necessary for the general purpose of a proposed bond issue, such as the erection of a courthouse, it is not required, before submitting the question to a vote, to ascertain the cost of a suitable site for the building or that of the necessary furnishings. Morse v. Granite County, 44 M 78, 119 P 286 (1911).

2015 Amendment: Chapter 49 substituted "in accordance with 13-1-108" for "in all respects in the manner prescribed by law in regard to the submission of questions to the electors of a locality under the general election law"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective November 4, 2015.

Case Notes

Sufficiency of Notice: The provision of this section that the notice of election shall clearly state the object of the loan means the general object of the loan. It is not necessary to specify all of the details. So long as a reasonably comprehensive notice is given, the courts have no power to declare it insufficient. Reid v. Lincoln County, 46 M 31, 125 P 429 (1912). See Mansur v. Polson, 45 M 585, 125 P 1002 (1912).

7-7-2405. Form of ballots.

2015 Amendment: Chapter 49 substituted current language regarding language on election ballot for "There must be written or printed on the ballots the words "For the loan" and "Against the loan", and in voting, the elector shall vote for the proposition that the elector prefers by making an X opposite the proposition." Amendment effective November 4, 2015.

2007 Amendment: Chapter 61 made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2007.

Case Notes

Nature and Purpose of Loan: In an election held for the incurring of indebtedness by the issue of bonds for the erection and furnishing of a county courthouse, ballots on which were printed the words "for the loan" and "against the loan", without specifying the nature and purpose of the proposed loan, were held sufficient. Reid v. Lincoln County, 46 M 31, 125 P 429 (1912); Tinkel v. Griffin, 26 M 426, 68 P 859 (1902).

7-7-2406. Conduct of election and canvass of results.

Compiler's Comments

2015 Amendment: Chapter 49 substituted current language referencing Title 13, chapter 1, part 4, for "The election must be held and conducted and the returns must be made in all respects in the manner prescribed by law in regard to the submission of questions to the electors of a locality under the general election law." Amendment effective November 4, 2015.

Case Notes

Authority of Electors: A constitutional restriction that a Board of County Commissioners shall not incur any indebtedness or liability above a designated amount is a limitation upon the authority of the Board; it has no reference to the power of the people. Reid v. Lincoln County, 46 M 31, 125 P 429 (1912).

Application of Section: This section has no reference to the printed form of the ballot but merely requires that the provisions of the general election law touching the qualifications of the voters, the appointment of judges and clerks, the secrecy of the ballot, and the method of voting should be observed. Tinkel v. Griffin, 26 M 426, 68 P 859 (1902).

Attorney General's Opinions

Long-Term Lease With Contractual Nonappropriation Clause Not Considered Accumulation of Municipal Debt — Vote Not Required: A question arose regarding the applicability of laws regulating municipal government debt based on a proposal by the city of Great Falls to enter a contract for the development and operation of a water park. Under the arrangement, the city would enter a long-term lease to a private party of real property adjacent to the municipal swimming pool and concurrently lease from that party certain personal property to be used for the water park. The personalty lease would include an option for the city to purchase the personal property at the close of the lease terms and a nonappropriation clause under which the personalty lease would terminate without penalty to the city if the city chose not to appropriate funds for the lease payment in any fiscal year, in which case possession of the personal property would revert to the lessor, who would retain possession under a separate realty lease until that lease expired. The Attorney General concluded that such an arrangement did not create a debt and thus would not violate provisions of state law limiting the accumulation of debt by municipal governments. Further, the city's proposal would not pledge the taxing power of the city to make the full term of lease payments and therefore would not qualify as an obligation for which the general credit of the city is pledged that would require a vote of the people under 7-7-4221. 49 A.G. Op. 3 (2001), distinguishing 38 A.G. Op. 56 (1979). 38 A.G. Op. 56 was overruled in 52 A.G. Op. 3 (2007).

County Authorized to Incur Debt or Borrow Without Election: A county is authorized under 7-7-2101 to incur a liability or indebtedness up to $500,000 or, pursuant to 7-7-2402, to borrow up to $10,000 (see 1991 and 1997 amendments) without an election. An installment purchase contract is not a "borrowing of money" within the meaning of 7-7-2402. A municipality is not required to hold an election to borrow money by a method other than issuing bonds, but it is limited by 7-7-4201 to a 28% debt ceiling. 42 A.G. Op. 13 (1987).

Municipal Construction of Storm Sewers With Gas Tax Revenues — Sinking Fund for General Obligation Bonds Allowed: Where a city was authorized to use its gasoline tax allocation for construction of storm sewers and drains for draining city streets, it could also place the money allocated in a sinking fund used to pay general obligation bonds sold to finance construction of those sewers, as the only statutory restriction on the use of the funds is that the funds must be used exclusively for city streets. Nor do the statutes governing municipal financing prohibit the use of such money in a sinking fund for general obligation bonds. 40 A.G. Op. 19 (1983).

Paying a Consultant Prohibited: Section 7-7-4254(3) prohibits a municipality from paying a consultant for assistance or advice in any of the matters set forth in Title 7, ch. 7, part 42, relating to the issuance and sale of specific general obligation bonds, but it does not prohibit paying a consultant for assistance in matters involving the overall financial operation of the municipality, so long as the consultation is not limited to a simple bond issuance and sale and does not involve participation in specific bond proceedings. The prohibition is not limited to payment from the actual bond proceeds but includes all funds of the municipality. 38 A.G. Op. 34 (1979).

1981 Amendment: Increased 18% to 28% in (1).

Effect of 1981 Amendment: The primary purpose of Ch. 614, L. 1981, was to replace the system of taxation of automobiles and light trucks with a fee system. With the adoption of the fee system, automobiles and light trucks are no longer taxable property. The resulting loss of taxable valuation has a direct effect on the amount of indebtedness a political subdivision can incur. Thus it was necessary in Ch. 614 to increase the percentage of taxable valuation used as a limitation on indebtedness to offset the loss of taxable valuation attributable to automobiles and light trucks.

Case Notes

Purpose of Limitation: The purpose of the limitation in matters of indebtedness contained in this section is to prevent extravagance, and such provisions should be so construed as to accomplish the desired end so far as possible. Butler v. Andrus, 35 M 575, 90 P 785 (1907).

Municipal Grant of Public Funds to Authority Created by Interlocal Agreement Between Self-Governing Municipalities Lawful — Debt Obligations: A self-governing municipality may grant funds for the public purpose of operating the electric and natural gas utility. Debt incurred through corporate bonds issued by a public benefit nonprofit corporation incorporated by an authority created by interlocal agreement between self-governing municipalities is not subject to laws governing municipal debts or obligations if the municipalities are not legally obligated to appropriate money to pay the debt and the debt is without recourse to the spending power of the municipalities. 51 A.G. Op. 5 (2005). See also 48 A.G. Op. 12 (2000), and 49 A.G. Op. 3 (2001).

Long-Term Lease With Contractual Nonappropriation Clause Not Considered Accumulation of Municipal Debt — Vote Not Required: A question arose regarding the applicability of laws regulating municipal government debt based on a proposal by the city of Great Falls to enter a contract for the development and operation of a water park. Under the arrangement, the city would enter a long-term lease to a private party of real property adjacent to the municipal swimming pool and concurrently lease from that party certain personal property to be used for the water park. The personalty lease would include an option for the city to purchase the personal property at the close of the lease terms and a nonappropriation clause under which the personalty lease would terminate without penalty to the city if the city chose not to appropriate funds for the lease payment in any fiscal year, in which case possession of the personal property would revert to the lessor, who would retain possession under a separate realty lease until that lease expired. The Attorney General concluded that such an arrangement did not create a debt and thus would not violate provisions of state law limiting the accumulation of debt by municipal governments. Further, the city's proposal would not pledge the taxing power of the city to make the full term of lease payments and therefore would not qualify as an obligation for which the general credit of the city is pledged that would require a vote of the people under 7-7-4221. 49 A.G. Op. 3 (2001), distinguishing 38 A.G. Op. 56 (1979). 38 A.G. Op. 56 was overruled in 52 A.G. Op. 3 (2007).

Construction of Streets With Gas Tax Revenues — Subject to General Debt Limitation: If a city contracts for street construction work to be paid exclusively from gasoline tax revenue received from the state, the indebtedness is considered part of the city's general debt limitation under this section unless the conditions of some specific exception are otherwise met. 42 A.G. Op. 120 (1988).

(a) for indebtedness to be incurred during fiscal years 1999 through 2008, an additional 33% of the taxable value of class eight property within the city or town for tax year 1995, multiplied by 55%; and Applicability: Section 35, Ch. 29, L. 2001, provided: "(1) [This act] applies to the authorization and issuance of bonds occurring on or after July 1, 2001.

(2) Debt limits established under [this act] do not apply to bonds authorized before July 1, 2001, regardless of when the bonds are issued."

1999 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 426 in (2)(a) at beginning deleted "for indebtedness to be incurred during fiscal year 1997, an additional 11% of the taxable value of class eight property within the city or town for tax year 1995, for indebtedness to be incurred during fiscal year 1998, an additional 22% of the taxable value of class eight property within the city or town for tax year 1995, and"; inserted (2)(b) relating to taxable value of telecommunications property; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective January 1, 2000.

Chapter 556 in (2) near end substituted "55% of the debt limitation" for "55% over and above the 28%"; in (2)(a) at beginning deleted "for indebtedness to be incurred during fiscal year 1997, an additional 11% of the taxable value of class eight property within the city or town for tax year 1995, for indebtedness to be incurred during fiscal year 1998, an additional 22% of the taxable value of class eight property within the city or town for tax year 1995, and" and near end after "for tax year 1995" deleted "in each case of class eight property"; inserted (2)(b) regarding value attributable to electrical generation property; and made minor changes in style. 1995 Amendment: Chapter 570 in middle of (2), after "county taxes", inserted language limiting bonded indebtedness for class eight property for city or town water or sewer system (see 1995 Session Law for text); and made minor changes in style.

1981 Amendment: Increased 36% to 55% and 18% to 28% in (2).

Effect of 1981 Amendment: The primary purpose of Ch. 614, L. 1981, was to replace the system of taxation of automobiles and light trucks with a fee system. With the adoption of the fee system, automobiles and light trucks are no longer taxable property. The resulting loss of taxable valuation has a direct effect on the amount of indebtedness a political subdivision can incur. Thus it was necessary in Ch. 614 to increase the percentage of taxable valuation used as a limitation on indebtedness to offset the loss of taxable valuation attributable to automobiles and light trucks.

Case Notes

Retirement of Bonded Indebtedness: The contention by defendant town that since it was levying the maximum amount of taxes allowable under 7-6-4405 (now repealed), it could not levy a tax each year to pay interest on water bonds and create a sinking fund, was without merit. The levy under 7-6-4405 (now repealed) is for general, municipal, or administrative purposes, while under this section, a special tax may be levied in addition to that provided for herein to retire bonded indebtedness and interest on such bonds. State ex rel. Mueller v. Todd, 114 M 35, 132 P2d 154 (1942).

When City Estopped to Claim Funded Debt Invalid: A city, after extending the limit of its indebtedness to acquire a water supply and system beyond the 3% constitutional limit under Art. XIII, sec. 6, 1889 Mont. Const. (replaced by Art. VIII, sec. 10, 1972 Mont. Const.), to the extent of $25,000, issued registered warrants aggregating $75,000 without authorization by its voters, then funded the indebtedness by selling bonds to retire the warrants. The bonds recited that all proper steps had been taken to make them legal obligations of the city. The Supreme Court held that the city was estopped from questioning the bonds' validity and refusing further payment after 18 years by claiming the bonds were invalid on constitutional grounds. Clerihew v. Baker, 109 M 317, 96 P2d 269 (1939), distinguished in State ex rel. Truax v. Lima, 121 M 152, 193 P2d 1008 (1948).

Water System — Contract for Installation: Town could not lawfully contract for installation of water system in excess of the debt limitation without approval of taxpayers. Lumbermen's Trust Co. v. Ryegate, 50 F2d 219 (9th Cir. 1931).

Additional Indebtedness: Authority of a city to incur indebtedness beyond the 3% limit for the purpose of rendering or maintaining its water supply wholesome and fit for the purpose intended is clearly implied, if not expressly conferred. McClintock v. Great Falls, 53 M 221, 163 P 99 (1917).

Water System — Subject to P.S.C. Control: A city which has acquired a water supply by resorting to the extended limit of indebtedness is not thereby exempted from control and regulation by the state through the agency of the Public Service Commission. P.S.C. v. Helena, 52 M 527, 159 P 24 (1916).

Water System: In the ownership and control of its water system, a city acts in its proprietary character, as distinguished from its governmental capacity. P.S.C. v. Helena, 52 M 527, 159 P 24 (1916); Helena Consol. Water Co. v. Steele, 20 M 1, 49 P 382 (1897).

Private Sale of Bonds: Under this section, authorizing the City Council to reject all bids for municipal bonds and to sell them at private sale when it considers it best for the interests of the city, a city may contract to exchange such bonds at their face value for work incident to the construction of a water system at an agreed valuation, the price of the work being determined by a bid which is accepted, such an arrangement being tantamount to a "sale" of the bonds. Commonwealth Pub. Serv. Co. v. Deer Lodge, 96 M 48, 29 P2d 667 (1934).

Paying a Consultant Prohibited: Prior to 1983 amendment, 7-7-4254(3) prohibited a municipality from paying a consultant for assistance or advice in any of the matters set forth in Title 7, ch. 7, part 42, relating to the issuance and sale of specific general obligation bonds, but it did not prohibit paying a consultant for assistance in matters involving the overall financial operation of the municipality, so long as the consultation was not limited to a simple bond issuance and sale and did not involve participation in specific bond proceedings. The prohibition was not limited to payment from the actual bond proceeds but included all funds of the municipality. 38 A.G. Op. 34 (1979).

System Development Fees Allowable Form of Financing Future Expansion of City Water and Sewer System: When liberally construed, it is within the power of a self-governing municipality, as well as a reasonable extension of a city's express statutory authority, to implement the collection and accumulation of system development fees to fund a portion of the cost of future expansion of municipal water and sewer systems. The fees are proper as long as they are based on reasonably anticipated future costs of the city and the revenue generated from the fees is used solely to fund facility expansion or to pay for bonds sold for that purpose. Lechner v. Billings, 244 M 195, 797 P2d 191, 47 St. Rep. 1512 (1990).

Public Service Commission Jurisdiction Over Municipally Owned Utility: The ratesetting authority of a municipality under the Municipal Revenue Bond Act of 1939 does not preclude Public Service Commission (P.S.C.) jurisdiction over municipally owned utilities. Municipalities do establish rates for their services as required by 7-7-4404 and 7-7-4424 when they comply with the P.S.C. reporting requirements set forth in 69-3-301 and 69-3-302. The regulatory authority of the P.S.C. does not diminish a municipality's ability to establish an initial rate schedule, and nothing in the Municipal Revenue Bond Act precludes a review of such rate determinations. The Legislature intended such a review process by the very creation of such a regulatory and supervisory body. Helena v. Dept. of Public Service Regulation, 194 M 173, 634 P2d 192, 38 St. Rep. 1560 (1981).

Jurisdiction of City and Public Service Commission Overlapping: Although under the Municipal Revenue Bond Act the petitioner (city of Billings) has the power to prescribe fees for the services, facilities, and commodities furnished by a project financed pursuant to the Act, this authority is not exclusive. The rates which the city sets are subject to modification by the Public Service Commission when such rates are unjust or unreasonable. Billings v. Street Construction Projects Prohibited: Although gasoline tax revenue is earmarked for construction and maintenance of city streets, a street project does not qualify under this section because streets are not "revenue-producing facilities". The connection between street paving and gasoline tax revenue is not direct enough to render the "other revenue-producing facilities" exception applicable. Cities and towns are prohibited from issuing revenue bonds, which are to be retired by gasoline tax revenue, to finance street construction projects. 42 A.G. Op. 120 (1988).

Reimbursement of Financial Consultant for Bond Issuance: A financial consultant may not receive a commission based on the value of bonds purchased by it for services performed in connection with a municipal revenue bond offering and sale to the extent the commission, when subtracted from the purchase price of the bonds, reduces the bonds' effective selling price below par value. 7-8-103. Authorization for governmental and public entities to take property by gift or devise.

Lease to Private Club: Where property was conveyed to city in trust for use for park, recreational ground, and golf course purposes, a part of it could not be leased to private club so as to interfere with the public's use of the property. Hames v. Polson, 123 M 469, 215 P2d 950 (1950).

Grantor — Removal of Restrictions by Waiver: Lands deeded to a city for park purposes by deeds providing for reversion to the grantors if used for any other purpose may be used for some other purpose upon obtaining waiver, quitclaim deed, or unconditional deed from the owner of the reversionary interest, removing the restriction, whereupon the city will own the fee and use the property as it sees fit. Lloyd v. Great Falls, 107 M 442, 86 P2d 395 (1938).

Acceptance of Trust: Where at the time of the death of a testator who bequeathed property to a town for library purposes the law did not provide a method by which the municipality could accept the donation but later, after the estate had been distributed and the decree of distribution had become final by failure of appeal therefrom and the trust created thereby became effective, the Legislature enacted a statute under which a town could accept, the trust was not subject to attack on the ground of the town's former incapacity to accept. Cascade v. Cascade County, 75 M 304, 243 P 806 (1926).

Construction of Section: This section conferring the right upon cities to accept, by gift, deed, or devise, land for a public park does not by implication clothe it with power to condemn land for a public road leading thereto. State ex rel. McLeod v. District Court, 67 M 164, 215 P 240 (1923).

County Buildings and Equipment

7-8-2101. Provision of rooms for county purposes.

Case Notes

Failure to Provide Suitable Rooms: The office of County Auditor is an important one with many duties, and its proper fulfillment requires proper housing, help, and equipment. The act of the County Commissioners in furnishing the County Auditor as an office an 8- by 22-foot partitioned space, with no windows, insufficient ventilation, and only artificial lighting, was an abuse of discretion and an arbitrary act. State ex rel. Taylor v. Bd. of County Comm'rs, 128 M 102, 270 P2d 994 (1954). (Dissenting opinion, 128 M 102, 270 P2d 994 (1954).)

Provision of Suitable Rooms for County Purposes:

The matter of leasing privately owned property under power granted the Board of County Commissioners by this section is one addressed to the sound judgment and discretion of the Board. Bennett v. Petroleum County, 87 M 436, 288 P 1018 (1930).

The provision of this section, granting power to the Board of County Commissioners to provide suitable rooms "when there are no necessary county buildings", refers to a present proprietorship of such buildings by a county and not to property temporarily held and used under lease for county purposes. Bennett v. Petroleum County, 87 M 436, 288 P 1018 (1930).

Attorney General's Opinions

Provision of Office Space and Equipment by County for Part-Time County Attorney: A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide office space for a part-time County Attorney by providing space in a county building or, if no suitable space is available, by renting office space. Use of the space for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the space for private business purposes. Alternatively, the governing body may allow a claim by the County Attorney for the rental of office space needed to conduct the county's business if suitable office space is not available in county buildings. A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide necessary equipment for a part-time County Attorney by providing the use of the equipment owned by the county or, if no suitable equipment is available, by renting equipment. Use of the equipment for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the equipment for private business purposes. 46 A.G. Op. 10 (1995), followed in 46 A.G. Op. 20 (1996).

Compiler's Comments

Case Notes

Contract Beyond Term of Office: The Board of County Commissioners has authority under this statute to build a recreation center and pursuant to this authority may enter into a construction contract that extends beyond the terms of office of the individual members of the Board. Yovetich v. McClintock, 165 M 80, 526 P2d 999 (1974).

Attorney General's Opinions

No County Authority to Provide Housing to Low-Income Elderly: A county with general government powers does not have the authority under Art. XI, sec. 4, Mont. Const., or this section to construct or maintain an apartment complex for elderly low-income citizens that does not otherwise constitute a boarding or nursing home under 7-34-2301 and that does not constitute a public building under this section. Instead, a county or municipal housing authority should be created under Title 7, ch. 15, parts 21 or 44, to provide such housing. 42 A.G. Op. 20 (1987).

7-8-2103. Authorization to create county building commission.

Compiler's Comments

1995 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 520 in (1), in first sentence, substituted "health care facilities" for "hospitals"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 25, 1995. The amendment by Ch. 543 rendered the amendment in (1) void.

Chapter 543 near beginning, after "create a", inserted "building" and after "commission" substituted "subject to the provisions of 7-1-201 through 7-1-203" for remainder of section that read: "for the management of such civic center, youth center, park buildings, museums, county parks, recreation centers, hospitals, or any combination of two or more thereof. Such commission shall be composed of the chairman of the board of county commissioners and five lay members to be appointed by the board. In cases where a commission has been appointed, the commission, together with the board, shall have the power to employ a manager.

(2) The terms of office for the first lay members of the commission shall be, respectively, one for 1 year, two for 2 years, and two for 3 years. On the expiration of such terms of figures 1, 2, and 3 years, their successors shall hold for 3 years each.

(3) All of the above persons shall serve without compensation"; and made minor changes in style.

Case Notes

Park Board Not Legislative Body or Agent for Legislative Body: The trial court dismissed the plaintiffs' wrongful termination case on the basis that the park board was a legislative body immune from suit. The Supreme Court reversed the decision, stating that the board performed statutory executive functions and therefore was not a legislative body. The Supreme Court also ruled that the board was not an agent of the County Commissioners with respect to the employment of the plaintiffs and was not immune from suit on that basis. Koch v. Yellowstone County, 243 M 447, 795 P2d 454, 47 St. Rep. 1312 (1990).

7-8-2111. Inventory of county tools and equipment.

Compiler's Comments

1997 Amendment: Chapter 128 at beginning substituted "The board of county commissioners shall biennially prepare" for "It shall be the duty of the board of county commissioners to prepare" and before "inventory" deleted "annual".

7-8-2112. Written agreements for loan or lease of county tools and equipment.

Attorney General's Opinions

Provision of Office Space and Equipment by County for Part-Time County Attorney: A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide office space for a part-time County Attorney by providing space in a county building or, if no suitable space is available, by renting office space. Use of the space for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the space for private business purposes. Alternatively, the governing body may allow a claim by the County Attorney for the rental of office space needed to conduct the county's business if suitable office space is not available in county buildings. A county governing body may satisfy its obligation to provide necessary equipment for a part-time County Attorney by providing the use of the equipment owned by the county or, if no suitable equipment is available, by renting equipment. Use of the equipment for the County Attorney's private practice is allowed only through a written agreement between the county and the County Attorney leasing the use of the equipment for private business purposes. 46 A.G. Op. 10 (1995), followed in 46 A.G. Op. 20 (1996).

Part 22
Acquisition, Transfer, and Management of County Property

Part Case Notes

Sale of County Property: The contention that this part, providing the method to be pursued in selling county property, applies only to a sale of property obtained for purely public purposes but no longer needed for such purposes, and that therefore a ranch held by it in its proprietary capacity and not acquired for a public purpose does not fall within its purview, cannot be sustained. Franzke v. Fergus County, 76 M 150, 245 P 962 (1926).

7-8-2201. Authorization for county to obtain personal property.

Compiler's Comments

2017 Amendment: Chapter 255 substituted "may, subject to the provisions of this part" for "has jurisdiction and power, under such limitations and restrictions as are prescribed by law, to", before "personal property" deleted "real or", and at end deleted "and to preserve, take care of, manage, and control the same"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2017.

Case Notes

Application of Section:

This section refers to an outright purchase of property for county purposes, but it has no application to the acquisition of a right-of-way under the general highway law. Flynn v. Beaverhead County, 54 M 309, 170 P 13 (1917).

This section, relative to the manner of purchasing real estate, applies to a bridge. State ex rel. Donlan v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 49 M 517, 143 P 984 (1914).

Attorney General's Opinions

Authority of County to Issue General Obligation Bonds for Demolition of Abandoned County Building: Under its general duty to care for and maintain its property, a county, through its Board of County Commissioners, may issue general obligation bonds to fund demolition of a county-owned building that has been abandoned and poses a threat to the public safety and welfare. 44 A.G. Op. 31 (1992).

If the properties are not of equivalent values, the exchange may be completed if a cash payment is made in addition to the delivery of title for property having the lesser value"; deleted former (4) and (5) that read: "(4) If a county owns property containing a historically significant building or monument, the county may sell or give the property to nonprofit organizations or groups that agree to restore or preserve the property. The contract for the transfer of the property must contain a provision that:

(a) requires the property to be preserved in its present or restored state upon any subsequent transfer; and

Power to Sell Property: A county is merely a subdivision of the state for governmental purposes and as such is subject to legislative regulation and control. The Legislature may, within the limitations prescribed by the Constitution, circumscribe or extend the powers to be exercised by a county, and legislative authority to regulate or control the disposition of county property not having been limited by the Constitution, it could properly declare, as it did by this section, that such property may be sold only under the restrictions and in the manner therein indicated. When Payment on Installments on Purchase Price of Land Not Completed During Five-Year Period: The court held that this section, providing that deferred payments on contracts of county-owned lands may not extend over a period of more than 5 years, does not mean that at the end of the 5-year period the property rights of the vendee shall be lost if the purchase price has not all been paid, but that if there still remains a part of the purchase price unpaid and the vendee offers payment, the county may accept it without violating the provisions of this section. Case Notes

Preferential Right of Purchase: The preferential right to purchase from the county for only the amount of the taxes, penalties, and interest is purely statutory and, if claimed, must be exercised in the manner and within the time provided by statute or the right becomes lost. Beckman Bros., Inc. v. Weir, 120 M 305, 184 P2d 347 (1947).

Purchase From County Not Redemption: The purchase of tax-acquired property from the county by the former owner is not a redemption. Beckman Bros., Inc. v. Weir, 120 M 305, 184 P2d 347 (1947).

Owner's Right to Redeem: In mandamus proceedings where defendant county acquired land of plaintiff delinquent taxpayer by tax deed and the latter offered to pay the delinquent taxes, penalty, and interest the second time the land was offered for sale, but the Commissioners refused the taxes and sold the land to another on the ground that the owner lost his preferential right for failure to exercise it on the first sale, District Court did not err in finding for plaintiff. The general policy of the law is to preserve the owner's right to redeem regardless of prior failure and without any proviso that it be deemed lost for prior failure to exercise it. State ex rel. Johnson v. Garfield County, 116 M 300, 151 P2d 481 (1944), distinguished in Beckman Bros., Inc. v. Weir, 120 M 305, 184 P2d 347 (1947).

Tax Deed and Sale Proceedings Invalid for Lack of Jurisdiction — County's Reversionary Interest Relinquished by Settlement to Heirs of Pretax Deed Owner: Rosebud County applied for and received a tax deed pursuant to law (now repealed) and subsequently quitclaimed all but a royalty interest in the property. The Stanfords brought an action in District Court, alleging the invalidity of the tax deed and alleging that they were the owners of a royalty interest in the property. The county settled its interest in the action by relinquishing all its interests in the property. The District Court held that the tax deed was invalid but awarded the property to another party. The Supreme Court found that the tax deed was invalid under the former law because the proceedings on tax sales are in invitum. Citing King v. Rosebud County, 193 M 268, 631 P2d 711, 38 St. Rep. 1145 (1981), the court held that the failure to file an affidavit of notice of application for the tax deed, the fact that there was a recitation in the notice for application of a tax deed that the time for redemption had "long since expired" (contrary to the law), and the failure of the record to include an "affidavit of notice of tax sale" resulted in a lack of jurisdiction in the County Treasurer to issue the tax deed. The reservation of the royalty interest by the county survived the defective tax sale, and when the county relinquished all rights to its royalty interest as part of the settlement agreement, that interest reverted to the pretax sale owner. The heirs of that owner thus had a prima facie claim to the royalty interest. Stanford v. Rosebud County, 251 M 128, 822 P2d 1074, 48 St. Rep. 1124 (1991).

Deed Reserving Mineral Interest to County — No Mutual Mistake: A 1944 deed reserved a mineral interest to the county. The deed did not on its face indicate mutual mistake; the parties agreed in 1977 that the 1944 deed reserved a royalty, and not one of the interested parties claimed mutual mistake. Plaintiff did not overcome the presumption that the 1944 deed contained the final agreement of the parties. McSweyn v. Musselshell County, 193 M 525, 632 P2d 1095, 38 St. Rep. 1260 (1981).

Mineral Interest as Distinguished From Royalty Interest — No Unconstitutional Gift: Where a contract for deed contained a reservation of a mineral interest to the county but a later deed reserved only a royalty interest, the District Court held that this amounted to an unconstitutional gift to a private individual. The Supreme Court reversed, saying that the agreed statement of facts did not show the comparative values of royalty and mineral interests in this particular land. McSweyn v. Musselshell County, 193 M 525, 632 P2d 1095, 38 St. Rep. 1260 (1981).

Quiet Title Action Not Res Judicata Where Deed Executed After Action: A quiet title action as to mineral interests reserved by the county was not res judicata because the quiet title action occurred before the deed in question was executed, delivered, and accepted. McSweyn v. Musselshell County, 193 M 525, 632 P2d 1095, 38 St. Rep. 1260 (1981), distinguishing Smith v. Musselshell County, 155 M 376, 472 P2d 878 (1970).

Mineral Rights Reservation:

County has implied power under proviso of this section to make mineral reservation in deeds to tax-title lands sold by it. Smith v. Musselshell County, 155 M 376, 472 P2d 878 (1970).

In action to determine rights under deed, evidence that all parties to county's deed regarded reservation in deed as royalty interest and not mineral interest and language in deeds that "all minerals contained in and hereafter mined, produced, extracted, or otherwise taken" supported finding that such reservation was royalty interest. Superior Oil Co. v. Vanderhoof, 307 F. Supp. 84 (D.C. Mont. 1969).

Power to Reserve Mineral Rights: In the sale of land acquired by tax deed, the county has such powers as may be exercised by a private seller of land, and these powers include the waiver of forfeiture provisions in a contract after a forfeiture has been declared and the right to reserve the right to take roadbuilding material from the land for authorized public use. Helena Gun Club v. Lewis & Clark County, 141 M 490, 379 P2d 436 (1963).

Compiler's Comments

1991 Amendment: In (1)(a), near beginning after "proceeds of each sale", deleted "up to the amount of $10"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

Attorney General's Opinions

Application of Sale Proceeds to Delinquent Special Improvement District Assessments: A County Treasurer may not require delinquent special improvement district assessments to be paid in addition to the sale price of tax deed land because when a tax deed is issued, special assessment liens that were due and payable at that time are extinguished. However, the County Treasurer must apply the sale proceeds of the land to delinquent assessments, as provided in this section. 45 A.G. Op. 24 (1994).

City Assessments to Be Included and Prorated as Part of Allocation Received From Tax Sale: There is no correlation between the method of distribution of tax sale proceeds outlined in this section and the effect of a tax deed in 15-18-214. When a city has not requested and received assignment of a county's right to tax sale property, the city assessments must be included and prorated as part of the allocation of money received from a sale of county tax deed land under this section. 45 A.G. Op. 2 (1993).

2017 Amendment: Chapter 255 in (1) after "lease lands" substituted "with an estimated value of more than $20,000 under the provisions of this part, have the lands appraised by a disinterested certified general real estate appraiser" for "under the provisions of this part, cause the lands to be appraised by a qualified, independent person, who may be but is not required to be an employee of the department of revenue"; inserted (4) regarding filing a challenge of the appraised value of real property under this part; inserted (5) prohibiting board of county commissioners from selling, exchanging, or leasing lands for less than appraised value; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2017.

Applicability: Section 171(2), Ch. 27, Sp. L. November 1993, provided that the amendments to this section apply to tax years after December 31, 1993.

1983 Amendment: Inserted (3) authorizing lease of mineral interests without appraisal.

Case Notes

City Land Donated for Park — Election Required Prior to Lease for Rifle Club: In a 1901 conveyance of land to the city of Whitefish, the deed stated that the land was to be used for public park purposes and that if not so used, the land was to revert to grantor. The Supreme Court held that this section requires that the city receive voter approval in a special election prior to leasing the park to a rifle club. Prezeau v. Whitefish, 198 M 416, 646 P2d 1186, 39 St. Rep. 1090 (1982). Overruling Colwell v. Great Falls, 117 M 126, 157 P2d 1013 (1945), and Hames v. Polson, 123 M 469, 215 P2d 950 (1950), to the extent that they conflict with this opinion and this section.

No Exception to Election Requirement — Contrary Purpose Unnecessary: This section requires that an election be held to approve any sale or lease of municipal property that is held in trust for a specific purpose. The statute does not limit the requirement of a special election to only those instances in which the sale or lease would be for a purpose that is contrary to the specific trust purpose. Prezeau v. Whitefish, 198 M 416, 646 P2d 1186, 39 St. Rep. 1090 (1982). Overruling Colwell v. Great Falls, 117 M 126, 157 P2d 1013 (1945), and Hames v. Polson, 123 M 469, 215 P2d 950 (1950), to the extent that they conflict with this opinion and this section.

Lease to Private Club: Lease of a golf course and part of clubhouse to private club, which contained no provisions safeguarding the rights of the inhabitants of the city and which was not submitted to the voters for approval at a special election, is void. Hames v. Polson, 123 M 469, 215 P2d 950 (1950); overruled by Prezeau v. Whitefish, 198 M 416, 646 P2d 1186, 39 St. Rep. 1090 (1982), to the extent that it conflicts with the opinion in Prezeau and 7-8-4201(2)(b).

When Leasing Not Required to Be Submitted to Vote: Even if the municipal auditorium was held in trust for specific purposes, question of leasing of the auditorium to a private individual for the purpose of exhibiting moving pictures was not required to be submitted to the taxpayers at an election, where it did not appear that the lease would interfere with the use of property for the purposes for which it was being held in trust. Colwell v. Great Falls, 117 M 126, 157 P2d 1013 (1945), distinguished in Hames v. Polson, 123 M 469, 215 P2d 950 (1950); overruled by Prezeau v. Whitefish, 198 M 416, 646 P2d 1186, 39 St. Rep. 1090 (1982), to the extent that it conflicts with the opinion in Prezeau and 7-8-4201(2)(b).

Sale of City Land by City With Self-Government Powers — Vote Required: Although subsection (2)(a) of this section requires a two-thirds vote of the city commission to sell city land, a city with self-governing powers may enact a superseding ordinance allowing the sale of city land by a simple majority vote. 43 A.G. Op. 41 (1989). After analyzing subsection (2)(b) of this section, the Attorney General applied the same analysis and conclusion to allow the governing body of a local government unit with self-governing powers to enact an ordinance providing for the disposition by majority vote of the council of property held in trust for a specific purpose. 43 A.G. Op. 55 (1990).

Dedication of Lands to Use of Public Forever — Trust for Specific Purpose: Park dedication language in a subdivision plat dedicating certain lands "to the use of the public forever" creates a trust for a specific purpose. Under the terms of this section, a municipal election must be held before the city can dispose of the property. 41 A.G. Op. 42 (1986).

GENERAL PROVISIONS RELATED TO SERVICES

Part 1
Interlocal Agreements

Part Compiler's Comments

Severability Clause: Section 5, Ch. 82, L. 1967, was a severability clause.

Part Case Notes

No Duty of Insurer to Cover City's Conversion of Pension Funds: The city of Dillon failed to properly pay pension benefits, even though the city received the money from the state. When a beneficiary sued the city to recover unpaid benefits, the city tendered defense of its claim to its insurer, but the insurer declined to provide coverage or defend the claim based on a financial gain exclusion in the insurance policy. The beneficiary was granted summary judgment, so the city paid the judgment and filed an action to recover against the insurer. The District Court held that the insurer was liable and breached its duty to defend, so the insurer appealed. The Supreme Court held that the insurer had no duty to provide coverage to the city because the city's claim arose in whole or in part from the city's unlawful retention and conversion of the pension funds, so the city had no coverage for the claims for return of principal and interest. The District Court was reversed. Dillon v. Mont. Municipal Ins. Authority, 2009 MT 393, 353 M 370, 220 P3d 623 (2009).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Library Board Alone Has Authority to Spend Its Reserve Funds — Library's Proposed Budget Subject to Approval by Local Governing Body — Local Governing Body Has Sole Discretion to Levy Mills in Support of Library: Prior to 2001, a library board had complete control over its budget.

While a library board still has the sole discretion to determine how to use the library's unspent funds under 22-1-309, its budget must be approved by the local governing body. Moreover, the local governing body, not the library board, determines the number of mills to levy in support of the library. Finally, the local governing body has no obligation to continue to levy any certain number of mills for the library in perpetuity. 54 A.G. Op. 7 (2012).

Authority for Creation of Public Benefit Nonprofit Corporation to Operate Electric and Natural Gas Utility Business: The Montana Nonprofit Corporation Act, Title 35, ch. 2, allows the creation of a public benefit nonprofit corporation and an interlocal agreement creating a corporation as the nonprofit corporation's sole member to operate an electric and natural gas utility. The authority created by interlocal agreement between self-governing municipalities may exercise only those powers that any of the municipalities might exercise. 51 A.G. Op. 5 (2005). See also 48 A.G. Op. 14 (2000).

County Commission Generally Obligated to Fund Library Budget — County Allowed to Bind Itself to Fund Library Budget Through Interlocal Agreement: The Board of County Commissioners is generally obligated to fund the county library budget, as submitted by the library board pursuant to 22-1-309, within the limits set in 15-10-420. The 2001 statutory changes did not delete a library board's authority to determine the amount of financial support required by the library, nor did the changes confer on the Board of County Commissioners the authority to modify a library budget submitted by the library board. Further, nothing in the 2001 tax and budget amendments prevents a county from voluntarily entering an interlocal agreement to provide that the county would accept a library board's budget proposal and levy the necessary mills to fund it. 49 A.G. Op. 16 (2002). See also 41 A.G. Op. 91 (1986), and 48 A.G. Op. 3 (1999). However, see 54 A.G. Op. 7 (2012), which concluded that the local governing body alone has the authority to determine the number of mills to levy in support of the library.

State Financial Responsibility for Sentenced Inmate Upon Oral Pronouncement of Sentence: A sentencing hearing represents the only common date by which the criminal justice system can definitely measure when legal and financial responsibility for an inmate shifts from a county to the state. Oral pronouncement of sentence from the bench in the presence of a defendant constitutes final judgment (see St. v. Lane, 1998 MT 76, 288 M 286, 957 P2d 9 (1998)). Once sentenced, an inmate is considered to be in the legal custody of the Department of Corrections, even though a local or regional detention center may serve as a place of temporary detention until the inmate can be placed by the Department. Therefore, upon oral pronouncement of sentence that transfers legal custody of an inmate to the Department, the financial responsibility for the inmate transfers to the Department as well. 49 A.G. Op. 13 (2001).

No County Obligation to Provide Waste Disposal and Landfill Services to Towns: Under 7-11-104 and 7-13-203 (now repealed), a county has no legal obligation to provide solid waste disposal and landfill services to towns that have used the county landfill on a charge-per-load basis if there is no refuse disposal district or interlocal agreement between the towns and county to provide those services. 43 A.G. Op. 1 (1989).

Interlocal Agreements for County Jail Use: State law does not preclude a county and a city or town from entering into an interlocal agreement wherein the county may charge a city or town for maintaining prisoners committed to the county jail at the request of municipal authorities for violating either state laws or municipal ordinances. 42 A.G. Op. 70 (1988).

Attorney General's Opinions

General Government Power County — Interlocal Agreement With Municipal Housing Authority: If a city has created a municipal housing authority, the municipal housing authority and county may enter an interlocal agreement under which the county may administer the Community Development Block Grant project for the rehabilitation of privately owned housing within 10 miles of the city limits. 40 A.G. Op. 17 (1983).

Municipal Housing Authority — Public Agency: A municipal housing authority is a public agency or political subdivision that may enter into interlocal agreements. 39 A.G. Op. 37 (1981).

1997 Amendment: Chapter 397 in first sentence inserted "including the issuance of bonds for the joint construction of a facility under 20-9-404"; and made minor changes in style.

Applicability: Section 4, Ch. 397, L. 1997, provided: "[This act] applies to contracts entered into after [the effective date of this act]." Effective October 1, 1997.

Attorney General's Opinions

Merger of Fire Services Between City and County With General Government Powers Not Allowed: A proposed city initiative would have merged a city fire department and a rural county fire district into a new fire protection district with an urban and a rural division. However, both the city and county were local government units with general government powers and had not been consolidated as allowed by law. Under the provisions of the initiative, neither fire department would maintain its own identity; therefore, the proposed merger would abrogate the city fire department as a separate entity and would be an invalid exercise of general government powers. This opinion does not preclude the provision of fire protection services in a cooperative fashion through an interlocal agreement that city voters may, by initiative, require the city governing body to pursue. 43 A.G. Op. 56 (1990).

No County Obligation to Provide Waste Disposal and Landfill Services to Towns: Under 7-13-203 (now repealed) and this section, a county has no legal obligation to provide solid waste disposal and landfill services to towns that have used the county landfill on a charge-per-load basis if there is no refuse disposal district or interlocal agreement between the towns and county to provide those services. 43 A.G. Op. 1 (1989).

County Power to Grant Franchises — Interlocal Agreements Not Precluded: Article XI, sec. 4, Mont. Const.; 7-3-144; 7-4-2611; and 7-5-2129, as well as applicable case law, imply that a county vested with general government powers may exercise the power to grant franchises. Under this section, a city-county interlocal franchise agreement is possible. 42 A.G. Op. 87 (1988).

Act Allowing Private Parties to Contract for Jails Not in Conflict With Local Government Regulatory Statutes: The act allowing counties to contract with private parties for the building, maintenance, and operation of jails, enacted as Chapter 447, L. 1985, does not directly conflict with other Montana statutes regulating the indebtedness, contracts, jail facilities, or interlocal agreements of local governments. However, Chapter 447 is subject to the various applicable limitations contained in those statutes. 42 A.G. Op. 81 (1988).

General Government Power County — Interlocal Agreement With Municipal Housing Authority: If a city has created a municipal housing authority, the municipal housing authority and county may enter an interlocal agreement under which the county may administer the Community Development Block Grant project for the rehabilitation of privately owned housing within 10 miles of the city limits. 40 A.G. Op. 17 (1983).

General Government Power County — Not to Enter Agreement With City to Rehabilitate Rural Dwellings: A county with general government powers and a city generally may not enter into an interlocal agreement under which the county could administer the Community Development Block Grant project for the rehabilitation of privately owned housing because neither is statutorily authorized to rehabilitate dwellings outside the city limits. 40 A.G. Op. 17 (1983).

Municipal Housing Authority — Public Agency: A municipal housing authority is a public agency or political subdivision that may enter into interlocal agreements. 39 A.G. Op. 37 (1981).

Joint Self-Insurance Programs: Montana counties may procure insurance separately or jointly and may use a deductible or self-insurance plan. Therefore, it is permissible for counties to enter into a joint self-insurance program. 38 A.G. Op. 75 (1980).

Nonexclusive Means of Establishing Insurance Program: An interlocal agreement pursuant to 7-11-104 is not the exclusive means by which counties might establish a joint self-insurance program, provided that the method selected is not specifically prohibited by law. 38 A.G. Op. 75 (1980).

Law Enforcement Commission Not Required for Consolidated City-County Agency: A consolidated city-county law enforcement agency governed by Title 7, ch. 11, part 3, does not require a law enforcement commission established under 7-32-4151. 42 A.G. Op. 58 (1988).

Part Compiler's Comments

Transition: Section 43, Ch. 286, L. 2009, provided: "(1) Subject to subsection (2), a special district in existence on [the effective date of this act] [effective July 1, 2009] must comply with the provisions of [sections 1 through 20] [Title 7, ch. 11, part 10] upon alteration of its boundaries or a change in its amount or method of assessment. If dissolution is proposed for a special district in existence on [the effective date of this act] [effective July 1, 2009], the proposal is subject to the provisions of [section 20] [7-11-1029].

(2) A special district in existence on [the effective date of this act] [effective July 1, 2009] is required to comply with the provisions of [section 10] [7-11-1014] only upon alteration of its boundaries."

Effective Date: Section 44, Ch. 286, L. 2009, provided that this part is effective July 1, 2009.

Part Case Notes

Delegation of Authority by Fair Commission: Where money has been appropriated to the county fair commission for advertising purposes, the fair commission must determine the method and nature of the advertising and cannot, under 7-21-3410 (now repealed), delegate that responsibility to a corporation or individual not responsible to the state or county, such as a chamber of commerce. Dickey v. Bd. of Comm'rs, 121 M 223, 191 P2d 315 (1948).

County Fair — Tax on Admission Tickets: Cascade County was not subject to a penalty for the alleged willful failure to collect the proper admission tax on the sale of admission tickets to the county fair since the county in establishing the county agricultural fair was engaged in a governmental function authorized by Montana statutes. Cascade County v. Penwell, 67 F. Supp. 253 (D.C. Mont. 1946).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Nonusers Within District as "Receiving a Service" — Liability for Assessment: A property owner is "receiving a service", as that phrase is used in 7-13-231, for the purposes of fee assessment under the provisions of former Title 7, ch. 13, part 2, whether or not the property owner is actually using facilities. 40 A.G. Op. 22 (1983). This holding was applied specifically to solid waste management districts in 44 A.G. Op. 28 (1992).

Rulemaking Authority of Board to Clear Title to Burial Lots: It is within the statutory authority established in 7-35-2109 and 7-35-2110 (both now repealed) that a board of trustees of a cemetery district may establish rules for the purpose of clearing title to burial lots. 44 A.G. Op. 9 (1991).

Power of Cemetery District Trustees to Sell Headstones and Grave Markers: Consistent with the liberal construction of powers granted to local government units, the board of trustees of a cemetery district may, under 7-35-2109 (now repealed), sell headstones and grave markers at the cemetery for use in the cemetery as long as the profits are used in furtherance of the purposes of the cemetery district. 43 A.G. Op. 31 (1989).

7-11-1002. Definitions.

Attorney General's Opinions

County Authorized to Appropriate Money for Museum — City Authorized to Appropriate Money for Public Purpose — Constitutionality Analyzed: Pursuant to 7-16-2202 (now repealed), a county, but not a city, is authorized to create a program to provide grants to private, nonprofit museums. However, pursuant to 7-1-4124, a city is allowed to grant money to public or private entities as long as the grant is for a public purpose, such as a museum that would enhance the education and enjoyment of the general public, but that would not be merely for the gain of a private entity. The Attorney General declined to opine regarding the constitutionality of 7-1-4124 or 7-16-2202 (now repealed), in light of the prohibition in Art. V, sec. 11(5), Mont. Const., against the appropriation of public funds for any private individual, private association, or private corporation not under control of the state, but did analyze that constitutional provision as it related to the question of county or city expenditures for grants to private museum programs, concluding that the constitutional prohibition applies only to the appropriation of public funds by the Legislature, not by local governmental entities. 48 A.G. Op. 12 (2000), overruling prior opinions to the contrary in 37 A.G. Op. 25 (1977), 37 A.G. Op. 105 (1978), and 39 A.G. Op. 25 (1981).

2013 Amendment: Chapter 171 in (1) substituted "60 days" for "30 days", after "from" inserted "either", and after "intention" inserted "or the date the protest form provided for in subsection (2)(c) was sent to property owners, whichever is later"; inserted (2)(a) allowing written protest under subsection (2)(b) or (2)(c); in (2)(b) inserted first sentence regarding conformity with this section, in second sentence following "must" deleted "be in writing", after "protestor" inserted "by either its street address or its legal description, whichever the property owner prefers", and after "signed by" substituted "a majority" for "all"; inserted (2)(c) relating to governing body sending out protest forms; deleted former (5)(b) that read: "(b) In determining the sufficiency of protest, each protest must be weighted in proportion to the amount of the assessment to be levied against the lot or parcel with respect to which it is made"; in (5)(b)(i) substituted "50% or more" for "more than 50%"; inserted (5)(b)(ii) regarding more than 10% but less than 50% of the cost; and made minor changes in style. Multijurisdictional Service Districts

Part Attorney General's Opinions

A multijurisdictional service district may not be formed for the sole purpose of equalizing the tax burden among those currently using the service; however, one increased service of the district may be to equalize the tax burden among users as long as the district provides services in the manner required by 7-11-1101 (now repealed). 46 A.G. Creation of Multijurisdictional Service District Within Existing Library District to Increase Allowable Mill Levy Improper: A multijurisdictional service district within an existing service district may not be created for the purpose of increasing the total mill levy within the existing district when the proposed service district would not increase the existing service area, serve people not currently receiving the service, or equalize the tax burden among those who would use the service. 44 A.G. Op. 11 (1991).

Case Notes

Adequate Procedures and Notice — No Grounds for Setting Aside Creation of Business Improvement District: A group of property owners sought an injunction to void the creation of a business improvement district (BID) in the city of Kalispell and seeking a refund of assessments paid. The District Court found that nothing in statute invalidated the petitions for creating the BID and that the city followed the required statutory process for forming the BID. The property owners appealed, and the Supreme Court reviewed the BID creation process used by the city. The plaintiffs made no showing that any property owners, whether supporting or opposing the BID, were confused or misled by the process or that they failed to receive the required notice, nor did plaintiffs establish that the city failed to comply with any specific statutory requirement. Plaintiffs did show that the city's recordkeeping process was deficient, but that alone was not fatal to the BID process. Absent any grounds for setting aside creation of the BID, the District Court was affirmed. Bud-Kal v. Kalispell, 2009 MT 93, 350 M 25, 204 P3d 738 (2009).

Part 21
Rural Improvement Districts

Part Case Notes

Statutory Framework for Creation of Rural Improvement District Properly Followed: The Supreme Court approved the procedure followed by the Lewis and Clark Board of County Commissioners after examining whether each step in the nine-part process for creation of a rural improvement district was addressed. Buckley v. Wordal, 262 M 306, 865 P2d 240, 50 St. Rep. 1570 (1993).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Formation of New Improvement District Required for Substantial Expansion of Existing One: A sewer district constituting a rural special improvement district could be significantly expanded and the district's service area doubled in size only by the creation of a new special improvement district. The provisions of 7-12-2161(4) contemplate only maintenance of an existing system for which notice has previously been given and upon which a hearing has been previously held. A substantial addition to an existing district with notice or comment by the affected property owners would conflict with the notice procedures applicable to property owners not yet taxed for the improvement of their property. 40 A.G. Op. 44 (1984).

Rural Improvement Districts — County Attorney Not Legal Advisor: Except for legal work required by the Board of County Commissioners in connection with the creation of a rural improvement district, it is not the duty of a County Attorney to represent rural improvement districts formed under Title 7, ch. 12, part 21. 40 A.G. Op. 27 (1983).

Attorney General's Opinions

Creation of Special Improvement District to Improve County Road: A Board of County Commissioners has authority to order the creation of a rural special improvement district to improve a county road established by the county road petition process. 41 A.G. Op. 61 (1986).

7-12-2102. Authorization to create rural improvement districts — property owners may petition for creation.

2017 Amendment: Chapter 140 in (2)(a) at beginning inserted exception clause; inserted (2)(b) concerning the creation of a special improvement district solely for the purpose of road maintenance; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2017.

Amendment effective March 30, 2007.

2005 Amendment: Chapter 529 inserted (2) authorizing county commissioners to create a special improvement district upon receipt of a petition that includes consent of all owners of property in proposed district; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2005.

1985 Amendment: In (1), after "require" deleted "and upon the petition of 60% of the freeholders affected thereby", before "outside" deleted "in thickly populated localities", and after "purchase" substituted "one or more of the improvements of the kind described in 7-12-4102, in or for the benefit of the special improvement district" for "devices intended to protect the safety of the public from open ditches carrying irrigation or other water and maintaining sanitary and storm sewers, light systems, waterworks plants, water systems, sidewalks, and such other special improvements as may be petitioned for"; in (2), in first sentence, after "may", deleted "upon compliance with subsection (1)" and in second sentence substituted "may not be included in the rural special improvement district if 40% of those property owners protest the creation" for "may be included in the rural special improvement district only if 60% of those property owners approve".

1981 Amendment: Inserted (2) relating to districts abutting or within a city.

Case Notes

Maintenance Distinguished From Reconstruction — Rural Improvement District: Yellowstone County replaced a 4-inch water main serving a rural special improvement district with a 12-inch main and assessed costs as "maintenance" costs against the property owners in the district. The court determined that the replacement costs were "reconstruction" costs as set forth in 7-12-4102, rather than "maintenance" costs under 7-12-2120 or 7-12-2162, and must be funded by creating a special improvement district under this section after notice and opportunity to object as provided in 7-12-2105 and 7-12-2109, respectively. Miller v. Yellowstone County, 234 M 193, 761 P2d 829, 45 St. Rep. 1836 (1988).

Action Challenging Sufficiency of Petition Moot: Under the former version of this section before its amendment in 1985 (and before the 2005 amendment adding subsection (2)), a petition of 60% of the freeholders affected was required for the establishment of a rural special improvement district (RSID). Appellants filed an application for a Writ of Prohibition under the former law to prohibit the County Commissioners from building a swimming pool pursuant to creation of an RSID, alleging that the petition to create the RSID was not in compliance with the law. The District Court denied their application. The Supreme Court affirmed the denial, ruling the question moot because of the 1985 amendment. Porch v. Powder River Bd. of County Comm'rs, 219 M 179, 710 P2d 1364, 42 St. Rep. 1936 (1985).

Attorney General's Opinions

Establishment of Rural Improvement District for Weed Control — Preemption: A Board of County Commissioners may not use this section or 7-12-4102 to authorize a rural improvement district to provide weed control because those statutes are subordinate to and preempted by the specific statutory scheme of weed control in Title 7, ch. 22, part 21. 42 A.G. Op. 90 (1988).

Creation of Special Improvement District to Improve County Road: A Board of County Commissioners has authority to order the creation of a rural special improvement district to improve a county road established by the county road petition process. 41 A.G. Op. 61 (1986).

Swimming Pool: The creation of a rural improvement district for the purpose of constructing and maintaining a public swimming pool is proper if the facility will specially benefit the property subject to the assessments associated with the district. 41 A.G. Op. 15 (1985).

County Allowed Choice Whether to Issue Bonds Secured by Revolving Fund — County Not Relieved of Obligation to Make Loans to Deficient Rural Special Improvement Districts: The plain meaning of statutes regarding revolving funds, as well as the legislative history, supports the legislative intent to allow counties to choose whether to finance a rural special improvement district by issuing bonds secured by the revolving fund. Nothing in the statutes voids the commitment to loan from the revolving fund if the district becomes deficient. In this case, County Commissioners agreed to a revolving fund obligation and issued bonds secured by the revolving fund. The District Court reasoned that this was a violation of the constitutional prohibition against indebtedness beyond a certain percent, holding that the county was thus relieved of its obligation to make such loans. However, special improvement bond obligations are limited to the district funds and, if necessary, receive loans from the revolving fund. If both funds are insufficient to meet bond payments, there is no other source to pay the bonds. Under 7-12-2182, revolving fund levies are limited to an amount that would increase the balance in the fund to no more than 5% of the principal amount of the outstanding bonds. The District Court erred in its decision that the county was not obligated to make loans to the special improvement districts. Having exercised the discretion to institute a revolving fund and freely enter into an agreement with the bondholders and the underwriters, under both the terms of the agreement and applicable statutes, a county is obliged to carry out that contractual obligation. Loans from the revolving fund and subsequent tax levies are within the constitutional mandates of Art. VIII, sec. 1, Mont. Const., which requires that state funds be used for public purposes. Further, a county's obligation to make such loans and levy taxes to fund the revolving fund is mandatory, rather than discretionary, and is not an unconstitutional pledge of credit. Carbon County v. Dain Bosworth, Inc., 265 M 75, 874 P2d 718, 51 St. Rep. 436 (1994), distinguishing Stanley v. Jeffries, 86 M 114, 284 P 134 (1929), and Hansen v. Havre, 112 M 207, 114 P2d 1053 (1941).

Inclusion of Same Amount of Each Lot in Assessment and District: In fixing the boundaries of a rural improvement district, a Board of County Commissioners may include less than the entire amount of a lot so as to equalize costs borne by each lot. Here a district relating to roads and entrance lights was created and for each lot only the 2,000 square feet closest to the road was included in the district, although the lots varied greatly in size. The duty under 7-12-2103 to describe the boundaries of the district is not affected by lot size, and the boundaries may be fixed so that the same amount of each lot is included in the district. Warner v. Gallatin County Comm'rs, 220 M 430, 715 P2d 1068, 43 St. Rep. 502 (1986).

Chapter 665 in first sentence of (3) inserted "describe generally the method or methods by which the costs of the improvements will be assessed".

Maintenance Distinguished From Reconstruction — Rural Improvement District: Yellowstone County replaced a 4-inch water main serving a rural special improvement district with a 12-inch main and assessed costs as "maintenance" costs against the property owners in the district. The court determined that the replacement costs were "reconstruction" costs as set forth in 7-12-4102, rather than "maintenance" costs under 7-12-2120 or 7-12-2162, and must be funded by creating a special improvement district under 7-12-2102 after notice and opportunity to object as provided in this section and 7-12-2109, respectively. Failure to Give Notice: Failure to give the notice required by Ch. 156, L. 1917, as amended by Ch. 67, L. 1919, in the attempted creation of a rural improvement district deprived the county of jurisdiction to proceed, and a property owner, in his action to enjoin the collection of the tax against his property to pay for the improvement, was not estopped to deny the validity of the assessment by his omission to object to the creation of the district prior to its completion. Billings Bench Water Ass'n v. Yellowstone County, 70 M 401, 225 P 996 (1924), distinguished in Wood v. Kalispell, 131 M 390, 310 P2d 1058 (1957).

Seypar, Inc., argued that the district did not have the authority to impose the fee against individual property owners and that the cost should have been assessed against the whole district. The Supreme Court ruled that although state law gave the district the same administrative powers as County Commissioners have over a single county sewer district, those powers are not the same as a local self-governing unit and therefore the district did not have the authority to exercise any power not prohibited by Montana law. The Supreme Court stated that since the district was not self-governing, it could not argue that the statutes relating to municipal districts applied to it by analogy. No Presumption That Hookup Fees Reasonable: Seypar, Inc., argued that the sewer district's $500 hookup fee assessed against each of Seypar, Inc.'s, 70 lots was unreasonable. The Supreme Court held that the District Court was wrong in finding that the district was a local self-governing unit and that therefore there was no presumption that the district's fees were reasonable. However, the Supreme Court found that the district had introduced evidence that the fees were reasonable and Seypar, Inc., had presented no contrary evidence. Therefore, Seypar, Inc., it had not met its burden of proof to show that the fees were unreasonable. Seypar, Inc. v. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 175, L. 1997, provided: "WHEREAS, the administrative time involved with rural special improvement districts' maintenance districts can be substantial; and

WHEREAS, these districts benefit only the property owners within the districts' boundaries and not the county as a whole; and

WHEREAS, many of the rural special improvement districts rely on the county to make the maintenance decisions for the district; and

WHEREAS, the county receives no revenue for the administration and other costs involved with operating rural special improvement maintenance districts."

Attorney General's Opinions

Payment of Fire Hydrant Fee From Rural Improvement District Maintenance Fund: Counties have the power to create rural improvement districts outside of incorporated cities and towns for the purpose of acquiring and constructing certain improvements in the public interest, including the construction of water mains and hydrants. Maintenance, preservation, and repair of those improvements are paid for from the rural improvement district maintenance fund. Therefore, payment of a fire hydrant fee charged to a rural improvement district for provision of water to hydrants owned by the district may be made from the district's maintenance fund. 45 A.G. Op. 4 (1993).

Responsibility for Costs of Maintenance and Repair of County Road Established by Petition: If a rural special improvement district is created to improve a county road established by the county road petition process, the district is responsible for the costs of maintenance and repair of the road. 41 A.G. Op. 61 (1986).

Formation of New Improvement District Required for Substantial Expansion of Existing One: A sewer district constituting a rural special improvement district could be significantly expanded and the district's service area doubled in size only by the creation of a new special improvement district. The provisions of 7-12-2161(4) contemplate only maintenance of an existing system for which notice has previously been given and upon which a hearing has been previously held. A substantial addition to an existing district with notice or comment by the affected property owners would conflict with the notice procedures applicable to property owners not yet taxed for the improvement of their property. 40 A.G. Op. 44 (1984).

Maintenance Distinguished From Reconstruction — Rural Improvement District: Yellowstone County replaced a 4-inch water main serving a rural special improvement district with a 12-inch main and assessed costs as "maintenance" costs against the property owners in the district. The court determined that the replacement costs were "reconstruction" costs as set forth in 7-12-4102, rather than "maintenance" costs under 7-12-2120 or this section, and must be funded by creating a special improvement district under 7-12-2102 after notice and opportunity to object as provided in 7-12-2105 and 7-12-2109, respectively. County Allowed Choice Whether to Issue Bonds Secured by Revolving Fund — County Not Relieved of Obligation to Make Loans to Deficient Rural Special Improvement Districts: The plain meaning of statutes regarding revolving funds, as well as the legislative history, supports the legislative intent to allow counties to choose whether to finance a rural special improvement district by issuing bonds secured by the revolving fund. Nothing in the statutes voids the commitment to loan from the revolving fund if the district becomes deficient. In this case, County Commissioners agreed to a revolving fund obligation and issued bonds secured by the revolving fund. The District Court reasoned that this was a violation of the constitutional prohibition against indebtedness beyond a certain percent, holding that the county was thus relieved of its obligation to make such loans. However, special improvement bond obligations are limited to the district funds and, if necessary, receive loans from the revolving fund. If both funds are insufficient to meet bond payments, there is no other source to pay the bonds. Under 7-12-2182, revolving fund levies are limited to an amount that would increase the balance in the fund to no more than 5% of the principal amount of the outstanding bonds. The District Court erred in its decision that the county was not obligated to make loans to the special improvement districts. Having exercised the discretion to institute a revolving fund and freely enter into an agreement with the bondholders and the underwriters, under both the terms of the agreement and applicable statutes, a county is obliged to carry out that contractual obligation. Loans from the revolving fund and subsequent tax levies are within the constitutional mandates of Art. VIII, sec. 1, Mont. Const., which requires that state funds be used for public purposes. Further, a county's obligation to make such loans and levy taxes to fund the revolving fund is mandatory, rather than discretionary, and is not an unconstitutional pledge of credit. Carbon County v. Dain Bosworth, Inc., 265 M 75, 874 P2d 718, 51 St. Rep. 436 (1994), distinguishing Stanley v. Jeffries, 86 M 114, 284 P 134 (1929), and Hansen v. Havre, 112 M 207, 114 P2d 1053 (1941).

Special Improvement Districts

Part Case Notes

Failure to Prove Mistake or Fraud in City Determination of Boundary of Special Improvement District — Summary Judgment Proper: The city of Missoula included plaintiffs' property in a storm sewer drainage special improvement district, and plaintiffs filed a complaint, alleging that pursuant to 7-12-4162, they could not be included in the special improvement district absent some benefit to them from the proposed system. The District Court heard contradicting evidence on the question of benefit, but concluded that plaintiffs failed to produce evidence of mistake or fraud as required in Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440 (1983), and summarily dismissed plaintiffs' complaint. The Supreme Court affirmed. Under Stevens, a city's determination of benefit and creation of special improvement district boundaries is conclusive absent proof of mistake or fraud that precludes the exercise of sound judgment. Plaintiffs did not satisfy the threshold requirement in Stevens and thus could not prevail even if the facts articulated in the complaint were true. Enger v. Missoula, 2001 MT 142, 306 M 28, 29 P3d 514 (2001).

Boundary of Special Improvement District — How Drawn: A special improvement district's boundary lines should be drawn in such a way that the improvement brings a benefit to the included properties and that the benefit is substantially more intense than that which is realized by the properties outside of the district boundaries. The fact that outside property derives some general benefit should not affect the special benefit afforded the district properties. Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440, 40 St. Rep. 1267 (1983).

Sufficiency of Resolution of Intention to Create SID: Plaintiffs unsuccessfully challenged in the District Court the validity of the creation by the City Council of a special improvement district (SID) to expand off-street parking in downtown Missoula. The SID was proposed to the City Council by the Parking Commission. Two alternatives were presented. One involved addition of parking spaces on three surface lots. The other involved addition of parking spaces on two lots and construction of a parking garage on a third lot. Both proposals entailed acquisition of the same parcels of land. The City Council then adopted, pursuant to 7-12-4104, a resolution of intention to create an SID, including both alternative plans in the resolution. Written protests were filed, and opposition to creation of the SID was expressed at a public hearing. The City Council then adopted a resolution creating the SID. In the resolution, the general nature of the improvements was set forth in the alternative. On appeal, the Supreme Court ruled that the alternative structure of the resolution of intention did not deny property owners notice of the cost and nature of the proposed improvement. Nor does 7-12-4104 preclude use of the alternative form. Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440, 40 St. Rep. 1267 (1983).

Notice to Be Published Rather Than Posted if Possible: The obvious intent of the Legislature as declared in 7-12-4107 (now repealed) was to permit posting of notice only when publication could not be made in the city, and whenever there is a newspaper published in the city, whether "daily", "semiweekly", or "weekly", publication therein should take precedence over notice by posting. Hansen v. Havre, 112 M 207, 114 P2d 1053 (1941).

Compiler's Comments

2007 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 93 inserted (3) regarding order and creation of a special improvement district; in (4) at beginning of second sentence substituted "Properties" for "Property owners" and near middle after "district if" substituted "under the assessment methodology provided in the resolution of intention, the owners of lots, tracts, or parcels outside the city representing not less than 40% of the total projected assessments against properties outside the city" for "40% of those property owners"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 30, 2007.

Chapter 163 in (2)(d)(v) at beginning inserted "land, structures, and". Amendment effective October 1, 2007.

1985 Amendment: At end of (1) inserted "or bonds"; in (2)(a) and (2)(b) inserted "acquiring by purchase" and made minor changes in phraseology; in (2)(d) inserted "acquisition"; and in second sentence of (3) substituted "may not be included in the special improvement district if 40% of those property owners protest the creation" for "may be included in the special improvement district only if 60% of those property owners approve".

1981 Amendment: Inserted (3) relating to districts abutting city limits or extending beyond city limits.

Case Notes

Failure to Prove Mistake or Fraud in City Determination of Boundary of Special Improvement District — Summary Judgment Proper: The city of Missoula included plaintiffs' property in a storm sewer drainage special improvement district, and plaintiffs filed a complaint, alleging that pursuant to 7-12-4162, they could not be included in the special improvement district absent some benefit to them from the proposed system. The District Court heard contradicting evidence on the question of benefit, but concluded that plaintiffs failed to produce evidence of mistake or fraud as required in Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440 (1983), and summarily dismissed plaintiffs' complaint. The Supreme Court affirmed. Under Stevens, a city's determination of benefit and creation of special improvement district boundaries is conclusive absent proof of mistake or fraud that precludes the exercise of sound judgment. Plaintiffs did not satisfy the threshold requirement in Stevens and thus could not prevail even if the facts articulated in the complaint were true. Enger v. Missoula, 2001 MT 142, 306 M 28, 29 P3d 514 (2001).

Maintenance Distinguished From Reconstruction — Rural Improvement District: Yellowstone County replaced a 4-inch water main serving a rural special improvement district with a 12-inch main and assessed costs as "maintenance" costs against the property owners in the district. The court determined that the replacement costs were "reconstruction" costs as set forth in this section, rather than "maintenance" costs under 7-12-2120 or 7-12-2162, and must be funded by creating a special improvement district under 7-12-2102 after notice and opportunity to object as provided in 7-12-2105 and 7-12-2109, respectively. Miller v. Yellowstone County, 234 M 193, 761 P2d 829, 45 St. Rep. 1836 (1988).

City Ordinance Requiring Developer Surcharge — Valid Exercise of Self-Governing Power: A city ordinance imposing a 5% surcharge on developers of raw land prior to creation of a special improvement district was a valid exercise of the city's self-governing powers. Diefenderfer v. Billings, 223 M 487, 726 P2d 1362, 43 St. Rep. 1934 (1986).

Boundary of Special Improvement District — How Drawn: A special improvement district's boundary lines should be drawn in such a way that the improvement brings a benefit to the included properties and that the benefit is substantially more intense than that which is realized by the properties outside of the district boundaries. The fact that outside property derives some general benefit should not affect the special benefit afforded the district properties. Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440, 40 St. Rep. 1267 (1983).

Bond Issues — Payment: Where a special improvement district was established under this section and bonds were issued "payable from the collection of the special tax or assessment which is a lien against the real estate within said improvement district", the bonds were not a general obligation of the town and the town could not be compelled to redeem the bonds from a water fund made up of water rentals from water users, even though the town may have had authority to make payments from such fund. State ex rel. Truax v. Lima, 121 M 152, 193 P2d 1008 (1948).

Assessment Not to Be Predicated on Future Action of Public Authority: A special improvement district was created for the construction of a main trunk line sewer which would not serve plaintiff's lot or a majority of the lots within the district until laterals could be constructed. This would require the creation of local districts within the main trunk line district. As an assessment cannot be predicated on future action of public authorities, plaintiff's land could not be assessed for the main trunk line sewer. Crutchfield v. Nash, 84 M 556, 276 P 938 (1929).

Powers of City Council Limited: The statutes of this state relating to the creation of special improvement districts not only qualify and limit the powers which the City Council may exercise but they define with particularity the mode in which the restricted authority may be used, and compliance with their provisions is the sine qua non to the creation of a special improvement district for making improvements the expense of which is to be a charge against the property included. Johnston v. Hardin, 55 M 574, 179 P 824 (1919); Cooper v. Bozeman, 54 M 277, 169 P 801 (1917); Shapard v. Missoula, 49 M 269, 141 P 544 (1914).

Right to Attack Validity of Creation of District: Where an owner joined in a petition for the creation of a special improvement district and thereafter, in creating it, a large part of the property described therein was excluded by the City Council, the petitioner was not estopped from subsequently attacking the validity of the creation by the fact that he joined in the petition. Lewistown v. Warren, 52 M 356, 157 P 954 (1916).

Construction of Section: The provisions of this section were not repealed by implication by Ch. 89, L. 1913, relating to special improvements in cities and towns. Shapard v. Missoula, 49 M 269, 141 P 544 (1914).

Federal Property: The constitutional provision that a state shall not impose any taxes upon property therein belonging to the United States includes special assessments for street improvements. Ford v. Great Falls, 46 M 292, 127 P 1004 (1912).

Theory of Act:

With respect to special improvements, the "superficial area" rule is the rule of this state; it amounts to a legislative declaration that all property in a proposed district is, presumptively, equally benefited by the improvement contemplated. Mansur v. Polson, 45 M 585, 125 P 1002 (1912).

The whole theory of local taxation or assessments is that the improvements for which they are levied afford a remuneration in the way of benefits. Power v. Helena, 43 M 336, 116 P 415 (1911).

School District Property: The property of a school district, devoted exclusively to public school purposes, is, in the absence of express constitutional or statutory exemption, liable for the payment of assessments made for special municipal improvements. Kalispell v. School District, 45 M 221, 122 P 742 (1912).

Constitutionality: Laws providing for the creation of special improvement districts and imposing a tax by way of assessment upon the property legislatively determined to be benefited are not open to the objection that they deprive the owner of his property without due process of law. McMillan v. Butte, 30 M 220, 76 P 203 (1904).

Attorney General's Opinions

Special Improvement Districts — Legal Services — City Controls: Because a special improvement district (SID) is a creature of statute, with the power to create it clearly vested in the city, a developer seeking creation of a special improvement district has no authority to designate a private attorney to perform legal services in connection with the SID or to fix the fee for such legal services. 38 A.G. Op. 29 (1979).

7-12-4103. Formation of district to defray cost of acquiring private property.

Case Notes

Paying for Condemned Property Outside City Limits: In the absence of such a provision as contained in this section, the power of a municipality to create a special improvement district in a city for the construction of a project to protect city property from overflows would be implied on grounds of special necessity, and in such case, as well as where the power is expressly conferred, property in the special improvement district may properly be assessed for the purpose of paying for condemned property lying outside the city limits. Hansen v. Havre, 112 M 207, 114 P2d 1053 (1941).

7-12-4104. Resolution of intention to create special improvement district.

Applicability: Section 9, Ch. 293, L. 2011, provided: "[This act] applies to bonds issued pursuant to Title 7, chapter 12, parts 21, 41, and 42, for which the resolution to create the district is adopted after December 31, 2011."

1985 Amendment: In (2) inserted (d) requiring specification of assessment method; in (3) substituted "character of it in the resolution" for "character of the same"; and made minor changes in punctuation and phraseology.

Case Notes

Resolution Creating Special Improvement District — Not Subject to Referendum: A resolution creating a municipal special improvement district that encompasses less area than the municipal limits is not subject to referendum because the resolution affects only the people within the improvement district rather than the people of the municipality as a whole. The Supreme Court further held that the resolution creating a special improvement district is part of an administrative procedure, not a legislative action subject to referendum. Shelby v. Sandholm, 208 M 77, 676 P2d 178, 41 St. Rep. 186 (1984), distinguished in The Greens at Fort Missoula, LLC v. Missoula, 271 M 398, 897 P2d 1078, 52 St. Rep. 501 (1995).

Extended District: Besides those requirements enumerated in this section, the City Commission must take two additional steps under 7-12-4109 to have a valid resolution of intention for an "extended" district. Smith v. Bozeman, 144 M 528, 398 P2d 462 (1965).

Construction of Section: The words "approximate estimate" should not be construed liberally. Koich v. Helena, 132 M 194, 315 P2d 811 (1957).

Sufficiency of Resolution:

Plaintiffs unsuccessfully challenged in the District Court the validity of the creation by the City Council of a special improvement district (SID) to expand off-street parking in downtown Missoula. The SID was proposed to the City Council by the Parking Commission. Two alternatives were presented. One involved addition of parking spaces on three surface lots. The other involved addition of parking spaces on two lots and construction of a parking garage on a third lot. Both proposals entailed acquisition of the same parcels of land. The City Council then adopted, pursuant to this section, a resolution of intention to create an SID, including both alternative plans in the resolution. Written protests were filed, and opposition to creation of the SID was expressed at a public hearing. The City Council then adopted a resolution creating the SID. In the resolution, the general nature of the improvements was set forth in the alternative. On appeal, the Supreme Court ruled that the alternative structure of the resolution of intention did not deny property owners notice of the cost and nature of the proposed improvement. Nor does this section preclude use of the alternative form. Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440, 40 St. Rep. 1267 (1983).

Where improvement was amply covered by general description contained in resolution of intention, that waterworks were to be constructed outside of special improvement district for purpose of furnishing water for pipes laid in district, held sufficient, so far as concerns description of work chargeable to district. Lumbermen's Trust Co. v. Ryegate, 61 F2d 14 (9th Cir. 1931).

A resolution of intention to create a special improvement district, the title of which stated that it was a "resolution of intention", etc., and the body of which substantially contained the recitals required by statute and advised the taxpayers of the time and place where their objections to its creation would be heard, was sufficient as against the objection that in it the City Council had not declared its intention to create it. Aiken v. Glendive, 60 M 1, 197 P 1003 (1921).

Boundary: Under this section, a city has the power to fix the boundary of a special improvement district at any distance from the front line of a street and is not required to include the whole platted area of each lot. Ricker v. Helena, 68 M 350, 218 P 1049 (1923).

Discretion of Council:

In an action to set aside the proceedings of a City Council had in the creation of a special street improvement district and to enjoin the carrying out of a paving contract entered into, on the grounds that the city had joined in one district property abutting on several streets, that the character of work to be done on one street was different from that to be done on others, and that property on several streets would not be benefited by the paving on another, proceedings reviewed and held, in view of the power lodged in the City Council by this section to include in one district and in one contract any number of streets, any kind of work, etc., that the Council did not abuse its discretion. Ricker v. Helena, 68 M 350, 218 P 1049 (1923).

The City Council as a special tribunal to conduct the hearing is clothed with limited powers only, and no presumption in favor of its jurisdiction will be indulged. The statute measures its authority, and compliance with the terms of the statute is a condition precedent to the right to act. Johnston v. Hardin, 55 M 574, 179 P 824 (1919).

Departure From Resolution: Under a resolution of intention to create a special improvement district for the purpose of paving streets, with the necessary excavations, cutting, filling, etc., and "incidental work", held that defendant city was properly enjoined from entering into a contract the provisions of which departed substantially from the purposes set forth in the resolution, in that they included reduction in the street widths and the construction of new parking, curbing, and storm sewers, each of which constitutes a distinct city improvement under this section, and none of which was therefore subject to inclusion under the term "incidental work". Evans v. Helena, 60 M 577, 199 P 445 (1921).

Substantial Compliance: A resolution passed by the Town Council reciting the creation of an improvement district and that the resolution should be deemed one of intention to create, and creating it, followed by a description of its boundaries and of the character of the proposed improvements, with an estimate of the cost, etc., and that objections to its creation and the final adoption of the resolution would be heard in a certain place at a given time, held to have been in substantial compliance with statutory provisions. Harvey v. Townsend, 57 M 407, 188 P 897 (1920).

Boundary Description Incorrect: Where a resolution of intention to create a special improvement district described the boundaries of an entirely different district from that referred to in the notice served upon the owner of property affected, the City Council did not acquire jurisdiction to proceed with the improvement. Johnston v. Hardin, 55 M 574, 179 P 824 (1919).

Necessary Steps to Create Districts: The successive steps necessary to be taken by a City Council in the creation of special improvement district are: (1) the adoption of a resolution of intention; (2) the service of the required notice; (3) a hearing and determination against protests; and (4) the passage of a resolution creating the district. The first three of these steps are jurisdictional, and a failure to take any one of them is fatal to the proceedings. Johnston v. Hardin, 55 M 574, 179 P 824 (1919); Shapard v. Missoula, 49 M 269, 141 P 544 (1914).

Creation of District Without Resolution of Intention: Before a special improvement district can be created, the City Council must pass a resolution of intention to do so, give notice of its passage, etc. Where the Council, in an endeavor to create such a district, passed a resolution which proclaimed the creation of the district and an intention to assess the property liable for the cost of the improvement, the proceedings were void in limine for want of a proper resolution of intention. Cooper v. Bozeman, 54 M 277, 169 P 801 (1917).

Description of Boundaries: By a resolution to create a special improvement district described as being bounded by certain lots, such lots were not incorporated in but excluded from the proposed district. Lewistown v. Warr, 52 M 353, 157 P 953 (1916).

Purpose of Boundary Description: Proceedings for the imposition of a special improvement tax are in invitum, and before property can be held subject to the burden, it must be described with sufficient certainty that the owner cannot be misled, it being the intention of the statute that the resolution of intention shall contain a description of the proposed district by a line which marks its exterior boundaries. Lewistown v. Warr, 52 M 353, 157 P 953 (1916).

Resolution of Intention — Primary Step: The resolution of intention is the primary step to be taken in every instance and is the basis of the whole proceeding, the omission of which is fatal and renders all the subsequent proceedings nugatory. Shapard v. Missoula, 49 M 269, 141 P 544 (1914).

Case Notes

Notice:

Landowners who appear before the City Council to protest the establishment of an improvement district do not thereby waive their right to restrain its establishment on the ground of defective publication of notice. Guffey v. Helena, 140 M 211, 369 P2d 803 (1962).

Parties who have either received notice or waived it by appearing to protest may not take advantage of the failure of notice to other parties who have neither protested nor appeared as parties to the suit. Shaw v. Kalispell, 135 M 284, 340 P2d 523 (1959), explained in Guffey v. Helena, 140 M 211, 369 P2d 803 (1962).

This section does not require the City Clerk to mail copies of the required notice to persons who are neither record owners nor personally known owners of an interest in property in the district, since they have been careless in failing to record their ownership. Shaw v. Kalispell, 135 M 284, 340 P2d 523 (1959), explained in Guffey v. Helena, 140 M 211, 369 P2d 803 (1962).

Failure of the notice mentioned in this section to refer to the resolution for a description of boundaries is insufficient to vitiate the proceedings. (See 1995 amendment as to notice requirements.) Harvey v. Townsend, 57 M 407, 188 P 897 (1920).

The caption of a notice is not part of the notice itself and cannot be looked to to supply any deficiency in the notice. Johnston v. Hardin, 55 M 574, 179 P 824 (1919).

In the absence of the statutory notice of the City Council's intention to create a special improvement district, plaintiff property owner was not called upon to act, an inference deducible from his complaint that he had actual knowledge that his property was to be included in the proposed district being insufficient. Johnston v. Hardin, 55 M 574, 179 P 824 (1919).

Publication of a notice of intention to create a special improvement district, which contained the proper reference to time and place for hearing objections to its final adoption, was sufficient. Allen v. Butte, 55 M 205, 175 P 595 (1918).

Purpose of Resolution: The essential purpose of a resolution of intention is to: (1) apprise the taxpayers that the city intends to propose a special improvement district; (2) describe the area that will be encompassed in the district; (3) describe the type and character of improvements that will be included within the district; and (4) state the cost of the improvements to be made. Koich v. Helena, 132 M 194, 315 P2d 811 (1957).

Failure to Mail Notice: A special improvement district for the purpose of raising funds was void where one of the property owners affected was not mailed a notice. Wood v. Kalispell, 131 M 390, 310 P2d 1058 (1957).

Newspaper Publishing Five Days a Week Considered a Daily: The provision "must be published for five days in a daily newspaper" was met by publication for 5 consecutive days in a paper, which 5 days constituted all its publications for a week, it having been held that a newspaper published 5 days in the week is a "daily" in the popular sense. (See 1995 amendment.) Hansen v. Havre, 112 M 207, 114 P2d 1053 (1941).

7-12-4108. Responsibility for posting and publication of notice.

Case Notes

Error in Publication of Notice: Under this section, any error in or departure from the mode of publication of any notice incident to the creation of a special improvement district is insufficient to invalidate the proceedings when it appears that the notice was actually published for the time required by the act. Aiken v. Glendive, 60 M 1, 197 P 1003 (1921).

7-12-4109. Extension of proposed district.

Compiler's Comments

1985 Amendment: In introduction after "improvement to" deleted "an extended district that may include other" and substituted "declares to be, together with the lots abutting the improvement, the property benefited" for "declares to be the district benefited".

Case Notes

Sufficiency of Resolution: Besides those requirements enumerated in 7-12-4104, the City Commission must take two additional steps under this section to have a valid resolution of intention for an "extended" district. Smith v. Bozeman, 144 M 528, 398 P2d 462 (1965).

Purpose of Assessment: Where a district was created for the purpose of paying for improvements at intersections as authorized by this section and another district was created under 7-12-4167 to defray the cost of the street where it abuts on privately owned property, there was in no sense double taxation. The assessments were for different purposes. One assessment was to raise money to defray the cost of the intersections and the other to defray the cost of the street where it abuts on privately owned property. Bidlingmeyer v. Deer Lodge, 128 M 292, 274 P2d 821 (1954).

Public Benefit: In an action to recover improvement taxes paid under protest, held that, this section not so providing, a resolution of intention to create an extended improvement district including lots not fronting on the improvement, for the purpose of installing water mains and fire protection apparatus, need not recite that the contemplated work was of more than local or ordinary public benefit, the adoption of the resolution being a sufficient finding that in the opinion of the City Council the proposed improvement was of that character. Almas v. Havre, 70 M 33, 223 P 896 (1924).

7-12-4110. Protest against proposed work or district.

Compiler's Comments

2007 Amendment: Chapter 93 in (1)(a) near beginning added reference to subsection (2) to exception clause; inserted (2) providing that this section does not apply to certain districts; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 30, 2007.

2005 Amendment: Chapter 401 in (1)(a) at beginning inserted exception clause; inserted (1)(b) extending the protest period by 2 days if the 15-day period in subsection (1)(a) includes a holiday; in (2) at end of second sentence after "within the" substituted "protest period" for "15-day period"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2005.

2003 Amendment: Chapter 277 inserted (3) defining owner for purposes of this section; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2003.

1985 Amendment: In (2) inserted "identify the property in the district owned by the protestor, and be signed by all the owners of the property. The protest must".

Case Notes

Construction of Section: The provision of this section that objections to a proposed special improvement shall be heard at the next regular meeting of the City Council after the expiration of the 15 days in which protest can be made is directory only. Harvey v. Townsend, 57 M 407, 188 P 897 (1920).

7-12-4112. Hearing on protest.

Case Notes

Failure to Object at Hearing: A property owner failed to enter his objections to inclusion of his land in a special improvement district at a hearing held by the city for such purpose. For this reason he was estopped from maintaining an action to determine the question even though his property was so situated as to receive no benefit. Power v. Helena, 43 M 336, 116 P 415 (1911).

7-12-4113. Sufficient protest to bar proceedings — exceptions.

Compiler's Comments

1985 Amendment: In introduction of (1) before "protest shall" deleted "sufficient" and after "commission when" deleted "the protest is against the proposed work and"; in (1)(a), at beginning deleted "the cost thereof is to be assessed against property fronting thereon and", inserted "property in the district to be assessed for", and substituted "cost of the proposed work, in accordance with the method or methods of assessment described in the resolution of intention" for "property fronting on the proposed work"; and in (3), inserted "property in the district to be assessed for", and substituted "cost of the district, in accordance with the methods of assessment described in the resolution of intention" for "property affected, as herein provided".

Case Notes

Determination of Area of Protest: The phrase, "the area of the property to be assessed", as used in this section to describe those persons entitled to protest creation of an improvement district, depends upon the method of assessment used by the city under 7-12-4161. Smith v. Bozeman, 144 M 528, 398 P2d 462 (1965).

Property Owned by City Also to Be Computed: In determining whether a given percentage of the owners of property affected by a proposed special improvement have filed protests against it, the City or Town Council is authorized by this section to take into consideration property owned by it and included in the district, such property being subject to assessment therefor the same as privately owned property. Ricker v. Helena, 68 M 350, 218 P 1049 (1923).

Withdrawal From Protest: A property owner in a city who has signed a protest against the creation of a special improvement district may, within the time allowed for presenting such protest, withdraw therefrom and thus defeat the protest. Hawley v. Butte, 53 M 411, 164 P 305 (1917).

Sufficiency of Protest: An alleged protest to street paving, filed by abutting owners, stating the reasons why they did not desire the paving done during a certain year and stating that they were willing to have the street paved 2 years later and that payment therefor should be required in three annual installments, was not an unqualified protest to the paving. McMillan v. Butte, 30 M 220, 76 P 203 (1904).

2005 Amendment: Chapter 401 in (1) at beginning substituted "The council may order proposed improvements after" for "When"; in (1)(a) near middle after "within" substituted "the time prescribed in 7-12-4110" for "15 days"; in (1)(b) near middle after "found" deleted "by said council"; in (1)(c) at end after "denied" deleted "immediately thereupon, the council shall be deemed to have acquired jurisdiction to order the proposed improvements"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2005.

Case Notes

Resolution Creating Special Improvement District — Not Subject to Referendum: A resolution creating a municipal special improvement district that encompasses less area than the municipal limits is not subject to referendum because the resolution affects only the people within the improvement district rather than the people of the municipality as a whole. The Supreme Court further held that the resolution creating a special improvement district is part of an administrative procedure, not a legislative action subject to referendum. Shelby v. Sandholm, 208 M 77, 676 P2d 178, 41 St. Rep. 186 (1984), distinguished in The Greens at Fort Missoula, LLC v. Missoula, 271 M 398, 897 P2d 1078, 52 St. Rep. 501 (1995).

Waiver of Claim for Damages: By failure of an objecting property owner to give notice of defects or irregularities in the proceedings to the Council within 60 days after the contract for the work is let, he waives all claim for damages under this section. Harvey v. Townsend, 57 M 407, 188 P 897 (1920).

Acquisition of Jurisdiction: It is only after the lapse of 15 days from the first publication of notice of intention to create an improvement district and after all protests have been disposed of adversely to objecting property owners that the City Council shall be deemed to have acquired jurisdiction to order the improvement (see 2005 and 2007 amendments). Shapard v. Missoula, 49 M 269, 141 P 544 (1914).

Attorney General's Opinions

Vacation of Street by Mayor-Council Government — Legal Effect on City's Interest in Street: Under this section, a municipality has the authority to close all or part of a street to through traffic without giving up its legal interest in the street or to vacate all or part of the street and revoke its legal interest in it. A municipality with a mayor-council form of government is bound by the procedures in this section rather than by 7-3-4448, which applies only to commission-manager forms of government, when it seeks to discontinue, close, or vacate a street. The choice between vacating a street and closing a street is a matter for the discretion of the municipal officers of a mayor-council form of government. 46 A.G. Op. 4 (1995), clarifying Wynia v. Great Falls, 183 M 458, 600 P2d 802 (1979).

Case Notes

Sewer District Not Local Self-Governing Unit: The lower court granted a multicounty sewer district's motion for summary judgment, ruling that the district had the right to impose hookup inspection fees on the appellant, Seypar, Inc. Seypar, Inc., argued that the district did not have the authority to impose the fee against individual property owners and that the cost should have been assessed against the whole district. The Supreme Court ruled that although state law gave the district the same administrative powers as County Commissioners have over a single county sewer district, those powers are not the same as a local self-governing unit and therefore the district did not have the authority to exercise any power not prohibited by Montana law. The Supreme Court stated that since the district was not self-governing, it could not argue that the statutes relating to municipal districts applied to it by analogy. The Supreme Court held that the district did have the power to impose hookup fees under 7-12-2151. Seypar, Inc. v. Water & Sewer District No. 363, 1998 MT 149, 289 M 263, 960 P2d 311, 55 St. Rep. 578 (1998).

Amendment effective October 1, 2001.

1985 Amendment: In (1), substituted "of making or acquiring" for "of the making of", inserted "including incidental expenses", and "for each improvement to be made or acquired for the benefit of the district"; and in (2) substituted language allowing city council to use multiple methods of assessment and to have flexibility in assessing for more than one improvement for "The method of assessment provided for in 7-12-4163 shall not apply to assessments in improvement districts created under the provisions of 7-12-4109."

Case Notes

Method of Assessment: Since there is a direct correlation between this section and 7-12-4112, as expressed in the phrase, "the area of the property to be assessed", the method of assessment used by the city governs the basis for determining those persons entitled to protest creation of an improvement district. Smith v. Bozeman, 144 M 528, 398 P2d 462 (1965).

Double Taxation: Where a district was created for the purpose of paying for improvements at intersections as authorized by 7-12-4109 and another district was created to defray the cost of the street under this section, there was in no sense double taxation. The assessments were for different purposes. One assessment was to raise money to defray the cost of the intersections and the other to defray the cost of the street where it abuts on privately owned property. Bidlingmeyer v. Deer Lodge, 128 M 292, 274 P2d 821 (1954).

1993 Amendment: Chapter 269 inserted (3) allowing each lot or parcel of land to be assessed an equal amount of the cost of the improvement.

1985 Amendment: In (1), in first sentence substituted "an improvement against benefited property in the district" for "such improvements against the entire district", before "within such district" inserted "assessed", inserted "assessable" in two places, inserted "all benefited lots or parcels in", and inserted second and third sentences defining assessable area and providing size limitations of assessable area; in (2) before "property" inserted "benefited"; and in (3) in two places before "land", inserted "benefited".

Case Notes

Failure to Prove Mistake or Fraud in City Determination of Boundary of Special Improvement District — Summary Judgment Proper: The city of Missoula included plaintiffs' property in a storm sewer drainage special improvement district, and plaintiffs filed a complaint, alleging that pursuant to this section, they could not be included in the special improvement district absent some benefit to them from the proposed system. The District Court heard contradicting evidence on the question of benefit, but concluded that plaintiffs failed to produce evidence of mistake or fraud as required in Stevens v. Missoula, 205 M 274, 667 P2d 440 (1983), and summarily dismissed plaintiffs' complaint. The Supreme Court affirmed. Under Stevens, a city's determination of benefit and creation of special improvement district boundaries is conclusive absent proof of mistake or fraud that precludes the exercise of sound judgment. Plaintiffs did not satisfy the threshold requirement in Stevens and thus could not prevail even if the facts articulated in the complaint were true. Enger v. Missoula, 2001 MT 142, 306 M 28, 29 P3d 514 (2001).

Estoppel to Protest: The question of estoppel under 7-12-4176 does not preclude a property owner from protesting a figure used as the "assessable area" in a resolution of intention for purposes of determining the sufficiency of the protest under 7-12-4113, since it applies only to the actual assessment as stated in the resolution of assessment. Smith v. Bozeman, 144 M 528, 398 P2d 462 (1965).

Case Notes

Collection by City Treasurer: Assessments for special city improvements which under this section the County Treasurer is required to collect, held to fall within the meaning of the words "tax" and "taxes" as employed in 7-6-4413, making it the duty of the County Treasurer to collect city taxes where a city has not imposed that duty upon its own Treasurer. State ex rel. Wolf Point v. McFarlan, 78 M 156, 252 P 805 (1927).

Severability: Section 15, Ch. 617, L. 1987, was a severability section.

Attorney General's Opinions

Application of Sale Proceeds to Delinquent Special Improvement District Assessments: A County Treasurer may not require delinquent special improvement district assessments to be paid in addition to the sale price of tax deed land because when a tax deed is issued, special assessment liens that were due and payable at that time are extinguished. However, the County Treasurer must apply the sale proceeds of the land to delinquent assessments, as provided in 7-8-2306. 45 A.G. Op. 24 (1994).

Acceleration of Future Installments of Special Assessments Upon Delinquency: A city whose taxes are collected by the county has statutory authority to accelerate future installments of special assessments when one installment becomes delinquent. 42 A.G. Op. 82 (1988).

Payment of Delinquent Taxes, Including Special Assessments, to Effect Assignment of Rights: Under 15-17-303 (since repealed), an assignee must pay the amount for which the property was bid at the tax sale, and no provision is included for an assignment following partial payment of the delinquent general taxes, excluding unpaid special assessments, which are treated the same as general taxes under 7-12-4183. Therefore, a city must pay all delinquent taxes, including special assessments, to a county to effect an assignment of the rights of the county in property struck off following a tax sale. 41 A.G. Op. 77 (1986).

Payment of Special Assessments Due Prior to Deed Issuance: Following the issuance of a tax deed to a county, the county is not responsible for payment of delinquent special assessments, accelerated under authority of 7-12-4183, due prior to issuance of the deed. 41 A.G. Op. 77 (1986).

Reassessments: This section does not authorize reassessments to make up for delinquent assessments. State ex rel. Truax v. Lima, 121 M 152, 193 P2d 1008 (1948).

Construction of Section: This section does not authorize the reassessment of any of the property in a special improvement district to make up for delinquent assessments against other property. Its provisions have to do with the correction of invalid or erroneous assessment by reassessment. A reassessment cannot be made unless authorized by statute, and then only in the manner provided. School District v. Helena, 87 M 300, 287 P 164 (1930).

1985 Amendment: In (1) after "payable" substituted requirements for installments payable by 5 p.m. November 30 and May 31 for "on or before 5 p.m. on November 30 of each year except as provided in subsection (2).

(2) The governing body of a municipality may provide by resolution that one-half of the payment on special assessments or installments of special assessments may be deferred to no later than 5 p.m. on May 31 of the following year"; and in (2) changed "date" to "dates".

1981 Amendment: In (1) changed the time of payment from "6" to "5" p.m.; at end of (3) substituted "delinquent property taxes under 15-16-102" for "are or may hereafter be provided by the laws of Montana for other delinquent taxes".

7-12-4189. Simple interest on assessments.

Compiler's Comments

2001 Amendment: Chapter 162 in (1) at beginning inserted exception clause; in (1)(b) at end inserted "at the time the assessment is levied each fiscal year"; inserted (3) providing that while any bonds or warrants secured by assessments bear interest at a variable rate, the installments of assessments remaining unpaid must bear simple interest at an annual rate equal to the sum of 1% a year, plus the interest rate payable on the outstanding bonds or warrants of the rural special improvement district at the time the assessment is levied each fiscal year, plus, to the extent that the interest rate on the bonds or warrants is then less than the maximum rate prescribed for them or if there is no prescribed maximum rate, up to an additional 1% a year, as may be prescribed by the board of county commissioners in the resolution authorizing the issuance or sale of the bonds or warrants; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 28, 2001.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 229 in (1) substituted "equal to" for "not exceeding"; inserted (1)(c) concerning additional 1/2 of 1%; inserted (2) concerning reduction or elimination of additional interest rate; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 24, 1995.

Applicability: Section 16, Ch. 229, L. 1995, provided: "[This act] applies to all special improvement districts and rural special improvement districts created after [the effective date of this act] and, at the option of the city, town, or county, to bonds and warrants issued after [the effective date of this act], if the district was created before [the effective date of this act]." Effective March 24, 1995.

1985 Amendment: Near end of (1), after "charged", inserted remainder of subsection providing a vote not exceeding 1/2 of 1% over that payable on the district's bonds or warrants.

7-12-4190. Payment of assessments in installments.

Compiler's Comments

1987 Amendment: In (2), at beginning, substituted "The assessments are payable" for "If the bonds of the special improvement district are issued as serial bonds, the assessments must be payable", in two places, before "installments", substituted "semiannual" for "annual", and after first "installments" substituted reference to principal with interest on unpaid installments and resolution of city council or commission authorizing issuance of special improvement district bonds for "If the bonds are issued as amortization bonds, the assessments must be payable".

1985 Amendment: In (1), after "cost of" inserted "acquiring or" and after "years" deleted "payments to be made in equal annual installments"; inserted (2) relating to payment in installments; and inserted (3) relating to prepayment of assessments.

Case Notes

Assessments to Include Interest to Maturity: Special improvement district bonds are not general obligations of the city, and their payment is strictly limited to the fund provided by statute and ordinance; the lien of the assessments extends to each lot or parcel of land separately and not jointly, and payment thereof on one lot or issue of tax deed thereon discharges the lien thereon; assessments upon property in the district must, under this section, include the interest on the bonds to maturity, as part of the cost of such improvements. State ex rel. Griffith v. Shelby, 107 M 571, 87 P2d 183 (1939).

7-12-4191. Assessments and certain other charges as liens.

Case Notes

Tax Deed of Special Improvement Assessments Payable Before Execution: A general tax lien and a special improvement assessment lien are not of equal rank. Support of government is higher obligation than cost of local improvement. Where a special assessment for city improvement became delinquent on November 30, 1940, and was certified by the city to the County Clerk on December 7, 1940, and by the County Treasurer entered upon the tax rolls as a lien against the property, a county tax deed issued on December 23, 1940, extinguished the lien for the 1940 installment of the city special improvement assessment, because under 15-18-309 (since repealed) such assessment installment was payable before execution of the tax deed. Hartman v. Nimmack, 116 M 392, 154 P2d 279 (1944), cited in First Trust Co. of Mont. v. Great Falls, 256 M 390, 845 P2d 1227, 50 St. Rep. 45 (1993).

Extinguishment of Lien: Under our statutory provisions with relation to special improvements in cities and towns, any special assessment made and levied to defray the cost and expenses of special improvements constitutes a lien upon all property included in an improvement district, but under the provisions of 15-18-403 (since repealed), such a lien is extinguished by the issuance of a tax deed on sale of the property for delinquent taxes. Stanley v. Jeffries, 86 M 114, 284 P 134 (1929); State ex rel. Great Falls v. Jeffries, 83 M 111, 270 P 638 (1928).

Commencement of Lien: Where the City Council had acquired jurisdiction to order a special improvement and levy the assessment to pay for it, the assessment became a lien against the property benefited by it from the date the assessment became due, not affected by the circumstance that plaintiffs had recovered judgments against the city for damages caused by the improvement. Allen v. Butte, 55 M 205, 175 P 595 (1918).

2001 Amendment: Chapter 162 in (4)(a) at end inserted "or, if the bonds to be refunded bear interest at a variable rate, the council determines that the issuance of fixed rate refunding bonds is in the best interest of the owners of property in the district and the city or the council determines that the issuance of variable rate refunding bonds based on a different index or formula than that of the refunded bonds is reasonably expected to result over the remaining term of the bonds to be refunded in an interest rate at least 1/2 of 1% a year less than the rate of interest on the refunded bonds". Amendment effective March 28, 2001.

1989 Amendment: At beginning of introductory clause of (4) deleted "Unless there is, or will be on the next payment date, a default in the payment of bond principal or interest"; inserted (4)(b) relating to an actual default or a default by next payment date; inserted (4)(c) relating to a greater than 50% delinquency rate; in (6)(b) inserted "that will not be satisfied by a loan from the revolving fund"; inserted (6)(c) relating to a delinquency rate greater than 50%; and made minor changes in form and phraseology. Amendment effective April 5, 1989.

City Obligation to Make Revolving Fund Loans and Levy Taxes to Discharge Special Improvement District Bonds: When a city has established a revolving fund to secure payments on special improvement district (SID) bonds and when an SID fund does not have sufficient amounts to make payments on its bonds, the city must continue to make loans from the revolving fund to the SID fund and continue to levy the property tax in accordance with 7-12-4222 until the obligations on all bonds and warrants in the SID are discharged. 42 A.G. Op. 82 (1988).

7-12-4201. Use of bonds and warrants.

Compiler's Comments

1985 Amendment: In first sentence inserted "acquisition or" and "or incurred in the issuance of the bonds or warrants of the district, including incidental expenses".

Case Notes

No Power to Assess Expenses Apart From Bond Sale: Under this statute, a city does not have the authority to levy special improvement district assessments against property for incidental expenses of anticipated improvements when the improvements are not constructed on the property by the city. The statute clearly provides that creation costs shall be payable by special improvement district bonds. Assessments for special improvements must be in proportion to the benefits conferred by the improvement. Tocci v. Three Forks, 216 M 159, 700 P2d 171, 42 St. Rep. 720 (1985).

Issuance of Bonds at Discount: City Council has no power to issue bonds or warrants at a discount in payment of special improvement work, and a contract let to one who in making out his bid took into consideration the fact that the warrants he would receive were worth only 90 cents on the dollar and therefore added 10% to the actual cost was invalid as an attempt to do indirectly what the Council was prohibited from doing directly. Evans v. Helena, 60 M 577, 199 P 445 (1921).

7-12-4203. Details relating to special improvement district bonds and warrants.

Compiler's Comments

2003 Amendment: Chapter 277 deleted former (3) that read: "(3) As used in part 41 and this part, unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, the following definitions apply:

(a) "Amortization bonds" means the form of bonds that bear interest at a fixed rate and on which:

(i) a part of the principal must be paid each time that interest becomes payable;

(ii) the part payment of principal increases at each installment in the same amount that the interest decreases;

(iii) the combined interest and principal due on each due date remains the same until the bonds are paid;

(iv) the final payment may vary from prior payments in the amount resulting from disregarding fractional costs in prior payments; and

(v) the initial payment may be larger than subsequent payments if the increase represents interest accrued over an additional period not greater than 6 months.

(b) "Serial bonds" means a bond issue payable in semiannual or annual installments commencing not more than 2 years from the date of issue, any one installment consisting of one or more bonds, with the principal amount of bonds maturing in each installment not exceeding five times the principal amount of the bonds maturing in the immediately preceding installment." Amendment effective July 1, 2003.

Amendment effective March 28, 2001.

1997 Amendment: Chapter 459 deleted former (3) that read: "(3) All special improvement district bonds must be amortization bonds unless, in the judgment of the city council, serial bonds will be more advantageous to the district and can be sold at a comparatively reasonable rate or rates of interest"; and made minor changes in style.

1989 Amendments: Chapter 256 in (2) inserted last sentence relating to when the term of a bond commences; in (4)(b) substituted definition of serial bonds for former language that read: ""Serial bonds" means the form of bonds that are payable in annual installments and on which the amount maturing each year may not be more than three times the principal amount of bonds maturing in any previous year"; and made minor changes in phraseology. Amendment effective March 23, 1989.

Chapter 449 in (2), in first sentence, after "years", inserted clause authorizing a 30-year period for refunding bonds; in (4)(b) increased the annual maturity amount to five times from three times the principal amount from the previous year; and made minor changes in phraseology. Amendment effective April 5, 1989.

Subsection (4), defining amortization and serial bonds, was enacted as a separate section by sec. 51, Ch. 665, L. 1985, but is codified here for convenience.

1981 Amendment: Changed the payment of interest period to annually or semiannually at the discretion of the municipality on such dates as it prescribes, instead of on specified dates unless the municipality decided otherwise.

Case Notes

Where Action Held Maintainable to Recover on Warrants Paid Out of Order by County Treasurer: While the rule as to a city's liability to warrant holders damaged by reason of their warrants being paid out of order does not generally apply to county warrants, held, that where the County Commissioners created a special improvement district within an unincorporated town for the installation of waterworks, the county assumed the same duties as rest upon incorporated cities and towns and therefore was properly held liable for damage sustained by a holder of warrants not paid in the order of registration when the special fund became exhausted, and holder could presume Treasurer would do his duty by calling and giving notice. Witter v. Phillips County, 111 M 352, 109 P2d 56 (1941).

Mandamus to Pay Principal Held Up for Payment of Interest After Maturity: Where court refused mandamus proceedings on the ground that under this section the Treasurer was required to first pay all the accrued interest on outstanding bonds before payment of any principal, held, on appeal, that assessments could not provide a fund for payment of interest after maturity of the bonds and that plaintiff was entitled to payment of the principal of the bond sued upon but not to interest accrued thereon after maturity. State ex rel. Griffith v. Shelby, 107 M 571, 87 P2d 183 (1939).

Misapplication of Fund by Treasurer: The office of City Treasurer is a continuing one regardless of the person occupying the office at any particular time. The Treasurer is the servant of the city, and where he misapplies trust funds, such as for special improvement purposes, the municipality is liable to the warrant holders. Blackford v. Libby, 103 M 272, 62 P2d 216 (1936).

Statute of Limitations on Recovery — Trust Rule: The Statute of Limitations does not begin to run against registered city warrants or bonds until the City Treasurer calls them for payment or until the holder has an immediate cause of action. Being a trust fund, under the rule that as between trustee and beneficiary of an express and continuing trust, the Statute of Limitations does not begin to run until trust is repudiated and the beneficiary has received notice. Blackford v. Libby, 103 M 272, 62 P2d 216 (1936), distinguished as to creation of a trust and tolling of the statute of limitations in Samson v. St., 285 M 310, 948 P2d 232, 54 St. Rep. 1165 (1997).

1983 Amendment: Near beginning, following "may in its discretion" deleted "as to such district or districts created prior to February 25, 1929, and shall as to such district or districts created after February 25, 1929," and inserted last sentence prohibiting elimination of a revolving fund until all bonds and warrants have been paid.

Case Notes

Bond Issues — Payment: Where a special improvement district was established under 7-12-4102 and bonds were issued "payable from the collection of the special tax or assessment which is a lien against the real estate within said improvement district", the bonds were not a general obligation of the town and the town could not be compelled to redeem the bonds from a water fund made up of water rentals from water users, even though the town may have had authority to make payments from such fund. State ex rel. Truax v. Lima, 121 M 152, 193 P2d 1008 (1948).

Constitutionality — Validity as to Districts Created in Future, Invalidity as to Those Established in the Past: Contention that 7-12-4221 through 7-12-4228, referring to the matter of special improvement district revolving funds, are in conflict with Art. XIII, sec. 1, 1889 Mont. Const.; contravene Art. V, sec. 26, 1889 Mont. Const.; and conflict with Art. XII, sec. 11, 1889 Mont. Const. (now Art V, sec. 9, 1972 Mont. Const.), held groundless under authority of the case of Stanley v. Jeffries, 86 M 114, 284 P 134 (1929). Hansen v. Havre, 112 M 207, 114 P2d 1053 (1941).

7-12-4222. Sources of money for revolving fund.

Compiler's Comments

2009 Amendment: Chapter 349 in (1)(b) near end after "amount" substituted "of at least 5% and not more than 10%" for "equal to 5%"; in (1)(c) in second sentence after "fund" substituted "will exceed 10% or, with the amount levied by the tax, will exceed 10%" for "exceeds 5%", at end of sentence inserted "after all required transfers have been made to the district funds through fiscal yearend", and deleted former third sentence that read: "If a tax is levied, the tax may not be an amount that would increase the balance in the revolving fund above 5% of the then-outstanding special improvement district bonds and warrants secured by the revolving fund"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 24, 2009.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 229 in (1)(b), at beginning, substituted "shall, if the bonds or warrants are secured by the revolving fund pursuant to 7-12-4225" for "may", near middle substituted "equal to 5%" for "up to 5%", and at end substituted "as provided in 7-12-4169" for "and deposit it in the revolving fund upon receipt of such proceeds"; in (1)(c), after "levy", deleted "and collect"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 24, 1995.

Applicability: Section 16, Ch. 229, L. 1995, provided: "[This act] applies to all special improvement districts and rural special improvement districts created after [the effective date of this act] and, at the option of the city, town, or county, to bonds and warrants issued after [the effective date of this act], if the district was created before [the effective date of this act]." Effective March 24, 1995.

1983 Amendment: In (1)(b) in the middle and at the end, inserted "secured thereby" following "special improvement district bonds and warrants"; and in (2) inserted "secured by the revolving fund" after "any bond or warrant of such district" near beginning and after "alley approach warrants" near end.

1981 Amendments: Chapter 308 substituted the last two sentences of (1)(b) concerning when a tax may not be levied and, if levied, the amount permitted for "such levy, together with such transfer, not to exceed in any one year 5% of the principal amount of the then-outstanding special improvement district bonds or sidewalk, curb, and alley approach warrants".

Chapter 435 inserted (1)(a)(ii) relating to deposit of up to 5% in revolving fund.

Case Notes

City Ordinance Requiring Developer Surcharge — Valid Exercise of Self-Governing Power: A city ordinance imposing a 5% surcharge on developers of raw land prior to creation of a special improvement district was a valid exercise of the city's self-governing powers. Diefenderfer v. Billings, 223 M 487, 726 P2d 1362, 43 St. Rep. 1934 (1986).

Attorney General's Opinions

City Obligation to Make Revolving Fund Loans and Levy Taxes to Discharge Special Improvement District Bonds: When a city has established a revolving fund to secure payments on special improvement district (SID) bonds and when an SID fund does not have sufficient amounts to make payments on its bonds, the city must continue to make loans from the revolving fund to the SID fund and continue to levy the property tax in accordance with this section until the obligations on all bonds and warrants in the SID are discharged. 42 A.G. Op. 82 (1988).

7-12-4223. Loans from revolving fund to meet payments on bonds and warrants.

2001 Amendment: Chapter 162 at end inserted sentence stating that the loan must be made even if, in the case of bonds or warrants bearing interest at a variable rate, the interest rate on the special assessments when the loan is made is less than or later becomes less than the interest rate on the bonds or warrants. Amendment effective March 28, 2001.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 229 at beginning of first sentence inserted "During the period described in 7-12-4225(2)" and near middle, after "fund", inserted "after a transfer from the appropriate district reserve account, if established"; at end of second sentence substituted "and money available in the district fund" for "when added to such insufficient amount, as the case may require"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 24, 1995.

Applicability: Section 16, Ch. 229, L. 1995, provided: "[This act] applies to all special improvement districts and rural special improvement districts created after [the effective date of this act] and, at the option of the city, town, or county, to bonds and warrants issued after [the effective date of this act], if the district was created before [the effective date of this act]." Effective March 24, 1995.

1983 Amendment: In first sentence, inserted "which are secured by the revolving fund".

Case Notes

"May" to Mean "Must": The provision of this section "may, by order of the council be loaned" out of the special improvement revolving fund, held mandatory, the word "may" meaning "must", thus leaving no discretion in the city officials or their successors. (See 2001 amendment.) Hansen v. Havre, 112 M 207, 114 P2d 1053 (1941).

Unconstitutional in Part: Chapter 24, L. 1929 (7-12-4221 through 7-12-4228), insofar as it authorizes cities to assume liabilities for losses suffered by holders of special improvement bonds and warrants issued prior to the passage of the act, amounts to a reimbursement of the holders of such losses and is violative of Art. XII, sec. 11, 1889 Mont. Const. (now Art. V, sec. 9, 1972 Mont. Const.). Stanley v. Jeffries, 86 M 114, 284 P 134 (1929).

Attorney General's Opinions

City Obligation to Make Revolving Fund Loans and Levy Taxes to Discharge Special Improvement District Bonds: When a city has established a revolving fund to secure payments on special improvement district (SID) bonds and when an SID fund does not have sufficient amounts to make payments on its bonds, the city must continue to make loans from the revolving fund to the SID fund and continue to levy the property tax in accordance with 7-12-4222 until the obligations on all bonds and warrants in the SID are discharged. 42 A.G. Op. 82 (1988).

7-12-4224. Lien arising due to loan from revolving fund.

Compiler's Comments

2001 Amendment: Chapter 162 at end inserted "and that was determined at the time the loan was made, even if the interest rate on the bond or warrant subsequently changes"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 28, 2001.

Case Notes

Constitutionality: This section, providing a lien for money loaned to a special city improvement district, is not obnoxious to Art. I, sec. 10, U.S. Const., as impairing the obligations of the contracts of the holders of the bonds of the district, in that the lien is superior, senior, and prior to that of such holders, the purpose of the revolving fund being rather to add to the holders' security. Hansen v. Havre, 112 M 207, 114 P2d 1053 (1941).

Case Notes

Electric Lighting System: A special improvement district created under this section for the purpose of lighting the streets included within its boundaries may not be utilized to require the payment of maintenance costs, which in truth and in fact are not the cost of maintenance at all but are rather designed to reimburse the power company for its own costs incurred in installing its own lighting system. Part 1
Metropolitan Sanitary and/or Storm Sewer District

Part Compiler's Comments

Section Not Codified: Section 16-4418, R.C.M. 1947, a validation clause, was not codified in the MCA. This clause has not been repealed and is still valid law. Citation may be made to sec. 5, Ch. 165, L. 1965.

Part Case Notes

Benefit of Improvement to Be Commensurate With Burden of Levy: Although the creation of a sanitary and storm sewer district under the statutes was not challenged, appellant landowner challenged the creation of the district on the grounds that the burden imposed by the improvement tax to be levied exceeded the benefit to the property. As the property value after the improvement would increase from $500 per acre to $1,500 per acre, the trial court's finding that the benefit was commensurate with the burden was upheld. Duffie v. Metropolitan Sanitary & Storm Sewer District, 147 M 541, 417 P2d 227 (1966).

7-13-107. Notice of resolution of intention upon concurrence — hearing.

7-13-121. Assessment of costs.

Case Notes

Assessment Not Predicated Upon Future Public Action: Appellant landowner challenged the creation of a sanitary and storm sewer district on the grounds that an additional special improvement district would be necessary to make water available on his land for the sewer system. The rule that an assessment cannot be predicated upon future actions of public authorities was not violated as the water company testified it would extend its main upon residential development, thereby precluding a future special improvement district. Duffie v. Metropolitan Sanitary & Storm Sewer District, 147 M 541, 417 P2d 227 (1966).

Severability Clause: Section 2, Ch. 263, L. 1967, was a severability clause.

Section Not Codified: Section 16-4521, R.C.M. 1947, providing for the applicability of general election laws to elections authorizing bonded indebtedness, was not codified in the MCA, it being redundant with 7-13-2222. This section has not been repealed and is still valid law. Citation may be made to sec. 21, Ch. 242, L. 1957. See 1-2-208, stating that amendment to a codified provision is given effect over an uncodified provision.

Part Case Notes

Jurisdiction of Public Service Commission Over County Water Districts: Nothing in 7-13-2201 through 7-13-2348 expressly precludes the review and regulatory process of the P.S.C. pursuant to Title 69. The board of directors is empowered to establish rates; however, such rates are subject to review and alteration by the P.S.C. if unjust, unreasonable, or discriminatory. Helena v. Dept. of Public Service Regulation, 194 M 173, 634 P2d 192, 38 St. Rep. 1560 (1981).

Title Not Defective: That the title to the County Water District Act (Ch. 242, L. 1957) fails to refer to the water tax, bond tax, initiative, referendum, and addition of land provisions and only refers to the construction of waterworks does not render it defective and the Act unconstitutional. The water tax and bond tax provisions are necessary to finance the construction, and the remaining provisions are germane to the management sections of the Act. Parker v. Yellowstone County, 140 M 538, 374 P2d 328 (1962).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

County Water District Subject to Single Audit Act: A county water district is a local government entity and is thus subject to the requirements of the State of Montana Single Audit Act, Title 2, ch. 7, part 5. The requirement applies whether or not the county water district has accepted local, state, or federal funds during the year. 50 A.G. Op. 3 (2003).

Federal Revenue Sharing Funds — Allocation by Board of County Commissioners: The Board of County Commissioners of a county which has not adopted a self-government form of local government may not make a grant of federal revenue sharing funds to individual county residents for the purpose of creating a water district under Title 7, ch. 13, parts 22 and 23, because there is no express or necessarily implied authority under which such a grant could be made and because the statutes provide a different mechanism for the creation and funding of a water district. 39 A.G. Op. 6 (1981).

Attorney General's Opinions

Exercise of Eminent Domain by County Precluded With Regard to Municipal Property: A county water and sewer district may not exercise the right of eminent domain with respect to municipal property located within the district and used by the municipality to provide sewer services. 43 A.G. Op. 13 (1989).

Retention of Municipal Authority After Incorporation in County District: This section disclaims any intent to supersede through formation of a county district a municipality's authority with respect to maintenance or creation of a sewer and water system. Therefore, a municipality retains all authority granted under Title 7, ch. 13, part 43, with respect to providing water and sewer services after a county water and sewer district, which includes the municipality, has been incorporated. 43 A.G. Op. 13 (1989).

7-13-2203. County water and/or sewer districts authorized.

Attorney General's Opinions

Applicability of General Election Laws to County Water and Sewer Districts: The specific provisions governing water and sewer district elections in 7-13-2203, et seq., prevail over the requirements of the general election laws when the two conflict; therefore, the closure of registration and notice of closure requirements of 13-2-301 do not apply insofar as the time periods conflict. Reasonable time limitations can be adopted by the board of directors, giving electors at least 20 days' notice prior to closing registration. 37 A.G. Op. 45 (1977).

"Individual" to Include Corporation: The Legislature contemplated the participation of corporate property owners as voters in elections creating water and sewer districts. Amendment effective April 25, 1995.

1991 Amendment: In (7), after "purposes", inserted "or sell sewer service" and in two places, after "water", inserted "or sewerworks capacity".

1991 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 645, L. 1991, provided: "A statement of intent is provided for this bill because rulemaking authority is delegated to the board of health and environmental sciences [functions now transferred to Department of Natural Resources and Conservation] to prescribe procedures for administrative enforcement actions undertaken by the department of health and environmental sciences [functions now transferred to Department of Natural Resources and Conservation] in administering the public water supply laws, as provided in Title 75, chapter 6, and to develop a fee schedule to enable the department to recover costs in administering these laws. Rulemaking authority is also delegated to the department to develop fees to pay for costs of reviewing plats and subdivisions under the laws related to sanitation in subdivisions, as provided in Title 76, chapter 4. It is the intent of the legislature that the rules establish a reasonable fee schedule that approximates the department's actual and necessary costs.

The legislature anticipates that the department will expand its enforcement activity in order to address ongoing and increasing health problems with public water supply systems and public sewage systems in Montana. In undertaking this effort, the legislature expects that the department will have the option to pursue administrative enforcement as a means of expediting and encouraging compliance with Title 75, chapter 6. Nonetheless, it is the department's duty to clearly inform each violator of:

(1) the nature of the action taken against it;
(2) what the department requires to resolve the matter; and
(3) what legal avenues are available to the violator if he desires to contest the matter.

The legislature recognizes that an economic hardship may be imposed on a public water supply system in order for that system to be brought into compliance with state and federal public water supply laws and that this hardship may be further increased by the levying of administrative and civil penalties for noncompliance. It is the intention of the legislature that the department adopt rules that establish a procedure for the progressive enforcement of this act in which the levying of administrative and civil penalties is a final action. The department may adopt rules that allow for the bypass of the enforcement procedures and the immediate assessment of penalties if specific circumstances warrant this action.

The rules also require the board of health and environmental sciences [functions now transferred to Department of Natural Resources and Conservation] to develop fees for recovery of costs incurred by the department in delivering services to persons who own or operate or intend to own or operate a public water supply system or public sewage system. These costs include costs associated with review of engineering plans and specifications, inspections, and general assistance. To assist the board in developing these rules, the department shall prepare and submit to the board a detailed estimate of projected costs associated with these services for fiscal years 1992 and 1993. The board shall develop a fee schedule that will provide revenues that are commensurate with the projected costs. A similar approach should be used by the department in developing rules setting new fees for review of plats and subdivisions under 76-4-105."

Part 23
County Water and/or Sewer Districts
Continued

Part Compiler's Comments

Severability Clause: Section 2, Ch. 263, L. 1967, was a severability clause.

Part Case Notes

No Duty of County to Collect Delinquent Water and Sewer Charges — Mandamus Denied: A water and sewer district sought a writ of mandamus to compel a county to collect delinquent assessment owed by an individual. This part does not set forth a clear legal duty on the part of the county to collect the delinquent charges. The county can assess taxes sufficient to cover both bonded indebtedness payments and operating expenses, but only after advance notice required by 7-13-2304 through 7-13-2307. Delinquent water and sewer assessments levied against an individual are different from taxes levied against all district property under 7-13-2302. Absent a clear legal duty, mandamus was properly denied. RAE Subdivision County Water & Sewer District v. Gallatin County, 233 M 456, 760 P2d 755, 45 St. Rep. 1631 (1988).

Jurisdiction of Public Service Commission Over County Water Districts: Nothing in 7-13-2201 through 7-13-2348 expressly precludes the review and regulatory process of the P.S.C. pursuant to Title 69. The board of directors is empowered to establish rates; however, such rates are subject to review and alteration by the P.S.C. if unjust, unreasonable, or discriminatory. Helena v. Dept. of Public Service Regulation, 194 M 173, 634 P2d 192, 38 St. Rep. 1560 (1981).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

County Water District Subject to Single Audit Act: A county water district is a local government entity and is thus subject to the requirements of the State of Montana Single Audit Act, Title 2, ch. 7, part 5. The requirement applies whether or not the county water district has accepted local, state, or federal funds during the year. 50 A.G. Op. 3 (2003).

Federal Revenue Sharing Funds — Allocation by Board of County Commissioners: The Board of County Commissioners of a county which has not adopted a self-government form of local government may not make a grant of federal revenue sharing funds to individual county residents for the purpose of creating a water district under Title 7, ch. 13, parts 22 and 23, because there is no express or necessarily implied authority under which such a grant could be made and because the statutes provide a different mechanism for the creation and funding of a water district. 39 A.G. Op. 6 (1981).

7-13-2301. Establishment of charges for services — payment of charges.

Case Notes

No Authority to Levy Annual Assessment Against Nonusers: This section does not authorize a water and sewer district to levy annual assessments against nonusers. The assessments against the defendants were therefore void. RAE Subdivision County Water & Sewer District v. Frank J. Trunk & Son, 251 M 22, 823 P2d 845, 48 St. Rep. 1065 (1991).

Water and Sewer District Power to Collect Delinquent Assessments: A water and sewer district had the power to bring an action under 7-13-2217(1)(b) and this section to collect delinquent assessments from an individual without referring the same to a county for collection as taxes. Attorney General's Opinions

County Water and Sewer District General Obligation Bonds Payable by Levy on All District Property: Under 7-13-2331, general obligation bonds for water and sewer districts are issued in the same manner prescribed for school district bonds, unless the school district process conflicts. School district bonds are payable by levy on the taxable value of all real and personal property within a school district. Sections 7-13-2301 and 7-13-2303 and this section set the manner and conditions for payment of a bonded debt that is primarily based on revenue or fees generated from water and sewer district services and contingently backed by a tax levy upon lands benefited by the district, but do not expressly outline the manner and conditions for payment of a bonded debt based on a general obligation. Therefore, general obligation bonds issued by a county water and sewer district are payable by levy on the taxable value of all real and personal property in the district in the same manner as school district bonds. 49 A.G. Op. 22 (2002).

Water and Sewer District Levies for Repayment of Loan Obligation as Property Taxes: Assessments levied by a water and sewer district pursuant to this section for the purpose of repaying a general loan obligation are considered property taxes under Title 15, ch. 10, part 4. Therefore, the property tax limitations of part 4 apply, even if the district has never previously exercised its levy authority under this section. 43 A.G. Op. 46 (1989).

Payment of Property Taxes for Municipal Sewer Service by County District Residents: Persons receiving municipal sewer services but residing within a county water and sewer district are required to pay that portion of property taxes imposed pursuant to this section with respect to the district's expenditures unrelated to principal and interest payments for bonded indebtedness. 43 A.G. Op. 13 (1989).

Area Basis Assessment Not Unconstitutional: The assessment of property within the district on an area basis was not violative of the 14th amendment to the United States Constitution as the evidence showed that the property assessed would be enhanced to the extent of the burden imposed. Case Notes

Jurisdiction of Public Service Commission: The Public Service Commission (P.S.C.) has no authority to determine water service area boundaries of an incorporated city, nor may the P.S.C. assume jurisdiction over the expansion of an adjoining county water district. Under this section, control over the size of a county water district is expressly vested in the board of directors and the electors. The statute does not mention a requirement of P.S.C. approval before land may be added to a county water district. It should be noted, however, that the P.S.C. has authority under 69-3-201 to determine on a case-by-case basis whether adequate service is provided at reasonable rates to customers who are within the service area. Billings v. P.S.C., 193 M 358, 631 P2d 1295, 38 St. Rep. 1162 (1981).

General Provisions
Related to Municipal Utility Services

7-13-4101. Authority to permit laying of utility mains.

Case Notes

Duty to Maintain Pipes and Mains: When a city grants a water company the right to lay pipes and mains, there is also imposed an obligation to keep them in repair. Even though Public Service Commission rules required the owner of the premises being served by the water company to own, operate, maintain, and repair the curb box, neither the city nor the water company could pass the burden of reasonably safe maintenance on to the property owner. The property owner is merely the water company's agent for the performance of the water company's duty to maintain the pipes and mains. Nord v. Butte Water Co., 96 M 311, 30 P2d 809 (1934).

Duty to Restore Excavated Streets: A water company authorized by a city to excavate streets in supplying water to the city was under an obligation to restore the streets to the condition in which they were found and anticipate and guard against the effect of natural causes that might render them dangerous. The primary duty did not rest with the city. The water company's negligence in so restoring made it liable to the plaintiff when she overturned her carriage and suffered injuries as a result of the negligence. Robinson v. Mills, 25 M 391, 65 P 115 (1901).

7-13-4107. Protection of private waste disposal service in municipality.

Compiler's Comments

2011 Amendment: Chapter 301 at end substituted "until the municipality first fully compensates the private motor carrier for the resulting damage to its business" for "unless the municipality pays the private motor carrier fair market value for the carrier's equipment or unless the municipality delays commencing the public service for a period of 5 years from the date of the decision by the municipality to provide the garbage and solid waste services. The private motor carrier must be given notice of the decision by the municipality to provide exclusive garbage and solid waste services no later than 10 days after the decision has been made by the municipality". Amendment effective April 29, 2011.

2007 Amendment: Chapter 61 made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2007.

Case Notes

Town Code Not Permitted to Charge for Unused Garbage Services: L&L Sanitation (L&L) hauled garbage for a number of years for the town of Culbertson. When its contract ended and was awarded to another hauler, L&L advertised to haul commercial and residential garbage for citizens living inside and outside the town limits. Citizens who requested L&L services then contacted the town clerk to discontinue their town garbage service but were advised that they could not discontinue their town garbage service and that if they did not pay their garbage bills, their water service would be turned off. L&L sought a declaratory judgment that the town, pursuant to its own town code, could not restrict garbage collection to the town's contracted service and had no power to shut off water service to any person or business disposing of garbage through contract with L&L or otherwise. The District Court found for the city, noting that although the town code did not provide that the town's contracted garbage service was exclusive, neither did the code provide that the collection fee was abated if the town collection service was not used. The Supreme Court reversed after examining the applicable town code and holding that the code neither required nor permitted a fee to be charged for its garbage service unless the service was used. The issue of the town's power to discontinue water service for failure to pay for garbage service was apparently not addressed. Labatte v. Culbertson, 282 M 342, 938 P2d 611, 54 St. Rep. 377 (1997).

Constitutionality — Substantial Impairment of Contractual Obligations: On November 25, 1978, a city and a private garbage collection service entered into a contract in which the latter was to provide garbage collection services for the city from November 1, 1978, through June 30, 1979. On June 30, 1979, the city voted to provide its own garbage service beginning July 1, 1979. Retroactive application of this section would clearly substantially impair the contractual obligations of the city. Whether it constitutes an unconstitutional impairment of contract under Art. II, sec. 31, Mont. Const., was not decided because the contract expired before the effective date of the statute. D & F Sanitation Serv. v. Red Lodge, 196 M 490, 640 P2d 461, 39 St. Rep. 287 (1982).

Effective Date: On November 25, 1978, a city and a private garbage collection service entered into a contract in which the latter was to provide garbage collection services for the city from November 1, 1978, through June 30, 1979. On June 30, 1979, the city voted to provide its own garbage service beginning July 1, 1979. This section was not applicable, as there was no contract in existence on the section's effective date of July 1, 1979. Furthermore, this section was not intended to apply to contracts in existence before January 1, 1979. D & F Sanitation Serv. v. Red Lodge, 196 M 490, 640 P2d 461, 39 St. Rep. 287 (1982).

Public Sewer Systems

7-13-4202. Construction of public sewers.

"Public Sewer" Defined:

In a sewer system composed of both public and district sewers, the main artery or trunkline is the public sewer. Also, a sewer built according to public sewer specification, which fits into the general sewer system of the city, serves the public, and will drain a large area of the city when other sewers are established, is a public sewer. Crutchfield v. Nash, 84 M 556, 276 P 938 (1929).

A sewer system designated a trunk sewer and intended to serve as an outlet for the district sewers to be constructed later is a public sewer; its construction costs cannot be assessed under the special improvement district laws. Rush v. Grandy, 66 M 222, 213 P 242 (1923).

7-13-4203. Financing of public sewers.

Case Notes

Main Trunkline Sewer Not to Be Paid for by Assessments: A special improvement district was created for construction of a main trunkline sewer, district main sewer, and submain sewer. This system would not serve a majority of the lots within the district until lateral sewers could be constructed, requiring the creation of local districts within the main trunkline district. This was improper, as the sewer system contemplated was a public sewer system and could not be paid for by assessments on the property within the district. Crutchfield v. Nash, 84 M 556, 276 P 938 (1929).

Special Improvement District Laws Not Appropriate for Public Sewers: A sewer system designated a trunk sewer and intended to serve as an outlet for the district sewers to be constructed later was a public sewer; its construction costs could not be assessed under the special improvement district laws. Rush v. Grandy, 66 M 222, 213 P 242 (1923).

Attorney General's Opinions

Jurisdiction Over Municipal Sewer Rates: Chapter 13, part 42, confers jurisdiction over municipal sewage rates upon the Public Service Commission only when the city finances its sewer system under the SID method for district sewers, appropriates money from the general or sewer fund or issues municipal bonds for public sewers, and has obtained voter approval to impose such rates as provided in 7-13-4204. 37 A.G. Op. 65 (1977).

Service Charge for Sewer Connection: A municipality may impose an initial service charge for connections to the municipal sewer system based upon the size of the water service as long as the fee is reasonable and can be placed in a special fund used for repairs and capital improvements. No special provisions exist as to public notice or hearings. 37 A.G. Op. 30 (1977).

7-13-4204. Rental charges for use of sewer system — election required.

Compiler's Comments

2015 Amendment: Chapter 49 in (1) substituted "registered electors who are residents of the city or town, the city or town council shall conduct an election in accordance with Title 13, chapter 1, part 5, on" for "qualified electors, the city council shall submit to a vote to the qualified electors, at the annual municipal election or at a special election held in conjunction with a regular or special election" and after "city" inserted "or town"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective November 4, 2015.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 387 in (1), after "special election", substituted "held in conjunction with a regular or special election" for "called for that purpose"; and made minor changes in style.

Part 43
Municipal Sewage and/or Water Systems

Part Case Notes

Termination of Service — Federal Due Process Requirements: The declaration by the State of Montana in 7-13-430, the pertinent enabling legislation, that municipally owned water service utilities are to be created for the benefit of the public, taken in conjunction with the fact that under 7-13-4306 the services provided by such utilities may be terminated only for cause, establishes that a customer has a justified expectation of continued water service, created and secured by existing state and local law. Accordingly, a customer serviced by a municipally owned water service utility in the State of Montana may assert a "legitimate claim of entitlement" within the protection of the federal Due Process Clause of the 14th amendment. This court reads the Due Process Clause to require, prior to termination of utility services for nonpayment of charges: (1) notice informing the customer not only of the possibility of termination but also of a procedure for challenging a disputed bill; and (2) an established procedure for resolution of disputes or some specified avenue of relief to customers who dispute the existence of a liability. Frates v. Great Falls, 568 F. Supp. 1330, 40 St. Rep. 1307 (D.C. Mont. 1983).

Implied Power of City to Allocate Proportionate Share of Construction Cost: A city sought to construct a shop complex that would be used by various departments of the city, including the water and sewer department. Although there is no express statute, the city possesses an implied power to allocate a share of the construction costs against the funds of each department. Greener v. Great Falls, 157 M 376, 485 P2d 932 (1971).

Net Income — Reasonable Expenses: A city sought to construct a shop complex that would be used by various departments of the city, including the water and sewer department. Construction costs were to be partially financed by money from the special funds of the departments and would be paid in installments over 5 years. As the repayment of outstanding bonds was not in jeopardy, the payments were held to be reasonable expenses of operation and maintenance of the water and sewer department. Greener v. Great Falls, 157 M 376, 485 P2d 932 (1971).

Constitutionality: Legal electors under 7-13-4303 (now repealed) were not the proper parties to attack its constitutionality on the grounds that some people who could not vote would have to pay or that some people outside of the city might be charged. Also, that there were some people who could vote on the project but would not be required to pay for it did not yield an unreasonable classification. Billings v. Nore, 148 M 96, 417 P2d 458 (1966).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Separate Accounting Required for Equipment Reserve Account in Enterprise Fund: Enterprise funds, such as funds generated from the provision of income-producing municipal services like water and sewer systems, may not be consolidated with revenue from other sources. A city may not reclassify equipment reserves maintained in the enterprise funds. Therefore, equipment reserve accounts in enterprise funds must be maintained separately from other equipment reserve accounts in a capital improvement fund. 44 A.G. Op. 5 (1991).

Retention of Municipal Authority After Incorporation in County District: Section 7-13-2202 disclaims any intent to supersede through formation of a county district a municipality's authority with respect to maintenance or creation of a sewer and water system. Therefore, a municipality retains all authority granted under this part with respect to providing water and sewer services after a county water and sewer district, which includes the municipality, has been incorporated. 43 A.G. Op. 13 (1989).

7-13-4301. Establishment of sewage and water systems.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 453 near beginning, after "town", deleted "when authorized to do so by a majority vote of the qualified electors voting on the question"; and made minor changes in style.

Case Notes

System Development Fees Allowable Form of Financing Future Expansion of City Water and Sewer System: When liberally construed, it is within the power of a self-governing municipality, as well as a reasonable extension of a city's express statutory authority, to implement the collection and accumulation of system development fees to fund a portion of the cost of future expansion of municipal water and sewer systems. The fees are proper as long as they are based on reasonably anticipated future costs of the city and the revenue generated from the fees is used solely to fund facility expansion or to pay for bonds sold for that purpose. Lechner v. Billings, 244 M 195, 797 P2d 191, 47 St. Rep. 1512 (1990).

7-13-4304. Authority to charge for services.

Case Notes

Sewer District Not Local Self-Governing Unit: The lower court granted a multicounty sewer district's motion for summary judgment, ruling that the district had the right to impose hookup inspection fees on the appellant, Seypar, Inc. Seypar, Inc., argued that the district did not have the authority to impose the fee against individual property owners and that the cost should have been assessed against the whole district. The Supreme Court ruled that although state law gave the district the same administrative powers as County Commissioners have over a single county sewer district, those powers are not the same as a local self-governing unit and therefore the district did not have the authority to exercise any power not prohibited by Montana law. The Supreme Court stated that since the district was not self-governing, it could not argue that the statutes relating to municipal districts applied to it by analogy. The Supreme Court held that the district did have the power to impose hookup fees under 7-12-2151. Seypar, Inc. v. Water & Sewer District No. 363, 1998 MT 149, 289 M 263, 960 P2d 311, 55 St. Rep. 578 (1998).

System Development Fees Allowable Form of Financing Future Expansion of City Water and Sewer System: When liberally construed, it is within the power of a self-governing municipality, as well as a reasonable extension of a city's express statutory authority, to implement the collection and accumulation of system development fees to fund a portion of the cost of future expansion of municipal water and sewer systems. The fees are proper as long as they are based on reasonably anticipated future costs of the city and the revenue generated from the fees is used solely to fund facility expansion or to pay for bonds sold for that purpose. Lechner v. Billings, 244 M 195, 797 P2d 191, 47 St. Rep. 1512 (1990).

Termination of Service — Federal Due Process Requirements: The declaration by the State of Montana in 7-13-430, the pertinent enabling legislation, that municipally owned water service utilities are to be created for the benefit of the public, taken in conjunction with the fact that under 7-13-4306 the services provided by such utilities may be terminated only for cause, establishes that a customer has a justified expectation of continued water service, created and secured by existing state and local law. Accordingly, a customer serviced by a municipally owned water service utility in the State of Montana may assert a "legitimate claim of entitlement" within the protection of the federal Due Process Clause of the 14th amendment. This court reads the Due Process Clause to require, prior to termination of utility services for nonpayment of charges: (1) notice informing the customer not only of the possibility of termination but also of a procedure for challenging a disputed bill; and (2) an established procedure for resolution of disputes or some specified avenue of relief to customers who dispute the existence of a liability. Frates v. Great Falls, 568 F. Supp. 1330, 40 St. Rep. 1307 (D.C. Mont. 1983).

Assessment to Be Equitable: Plaintiffs were assessed a tax for a portion of the costs of storm sewers and paid this tax under protest. At trial, the plaintiffs showed that it was highly unlikely that water running off their property would end up in the sewer system. Therefore, the assessments were not as equitable as possible in proportion to the services rendered and were erroneous. Berger v. Billings, 186 M 326, 607 P2d 558, 37 St. Rep. 397 (1980).

Commercial/Residential Rate Disparity: That commercial users of a storm sewer were charged three times as much as residential users is not objectionable because of the difference in runoff from the property. Billings v. Nore, 148 M 96, 417 P2d 458 (1966).

Duty Upon City to Administer: This section imposes a duty on a city to impose rates following an affirmative bond issue. A city ordinance setting forth the rates is an administrative act. Billings v. Nore, 148 M 96, 417 P2d 458 (1966).

Indirect Benefit Assessable: Because persons living within an existing storm sewer system would be indirectly benefited by a proposed extension of the system, they were properly assessable. Billings v. Nore, 148 M 96, 417 P2d 458 (1966).

No Violation of Legislature's Authority to Delegate Power: In authorizing a municipality to set rates for a water or sewage system, the Legislature has not violated its authority to delegate its powers. A considerable amount of administrative detail is necessary to implement such rates. Billings v. Nore, 148 M 96, 417 P2d 458 (1966).

Prevention of Pollution Not Required: Subsection (1) is specific and directly deals with rates and charges. The language does not require a finding of prevention of pollution before rates and charges can be assessed. Billings v. Nore, 148 M 96, 417 P2d 458 (1966).

Vacant Lots Not Charged for Storm Sewers: That certain vacant lots were not charged for storm sewer service is not objectionable because runoff was minimal and enforcement of the charges was impractical. Billings v. Nore, 148 M 96, 417 P2d 458 (1966).

Attorney General's Opinions

Municipal Authority to Set Water and Sewer Service Rates — Applicability of Human Rights Act to Setting of Water and Sewer Rates: A provision in this section provides that the rates for municipal water and sewer charges may be fixed in advance and must be uniform for like services in all parts of the municipality. The city of Bozeman sought to provide discounts or preferential rates to senior citizens on water and wastewater charges. The question was whether the senior rates violated the statutory requirement for uniform or equitable rates. The Attorney General held that because water and sewer ratemaking is not an area affirmatively subject to state control, a local government with self-government powers may set rates for those services without regard to the requirements of this section. However, the Attorney General noted that age discrimination does violate Title 49, ch. 2, commonly known as the Montana Human Rights Act, that Bozeman is subject to the Act despite its status as a self-governing municipality, and that discrimination in government services is affirmatively subject to state control. Without deciding whether Bozeman's proposed ordinance would meet the standard of strict construction of reasonable grounds based on age, the Attorney General nevertheless concluded that 49-2-308 of the Act did apply to the Bozeman ordinance setting senior rates for municipal water and sewer services. 50 A.G. Op. 10 (2004).

Service Charge for Sewer Connection: A municipality may impose an initial service charge for connections to the municipal sewer system based upon the size of the water service as long as the fee is reasonable and can be placed in a special fund used for repairs and capital improvements. No special provisions exist as to public notice or hearings. 37 A.G. Op. 30 (1977).

No Lien for Nonpayment of Water Bill: A city or town may not file a lien against a landowner's property due to a tenant's failure to pay for water service contracted for and used by the tenant. Discontinuance of service is the only statutory remedy provided for nonpayment of water charges. When a power is conferred upon a municipality and the mode in which it is to exercise that power is prescribed, such mode must be pursued. 40 A.G. Op. 7 (1983).

7-13-4314. Annexation as requirement for receiving service.

Case Notes

Annexation Waivers Required After Annexation Proceedings Commenced — No Fraud or Duress: A municipality may require annexation waivers in exchange for utility services even if the waivers are requested after annexation proceedings are initiated. Because waivers received after the city of Lewistown advised landowners that their water service would be terminated were valid, the District Court did not err in determining that there was not a majority of valid protests against an annexation. St. John v. Lewistown, 2017 MT 126, 387 Mont. 444, 395 P.3d 486. See also Schanz v. Billings, 182 Mont. 328, 597 P.2d 67 (1979), and Gregg v. Whitefish City Council, 2004 MT 262, 323 Mont. 109, 99 P.3d 151.

City Resolution Allowing Implied Consent to Annexation Upon Continued Use of Utility Services Affirmed: The city of Whitefish adopted a municipal resolution requiring that property owners consent to annexation in order to continue to receive city utility services and allowing the city to imply consent to annexation from property owners that continued to receive the services after they received notice requiring them to disconnect from the utilities. Property owners contended that the resolution was invalid, but the District Court held the resolution valid, and the Supreme Court affirmed. The Attorney General held in 46 A.G. Op. 12 (1995), that a municipality may establish a rule requiring consent to annexation as a condition for continued receipt of services, and that opinion is in accord with 69-7-201. Further, the utility rule in this case put the burden on the property owner to arrange to disconnect from services if protesting annexation, so once proper notice was given, under 7-2-4710 and 28-2-503 the city's procedure to imply consent was a proper method to determine if a property owner wished to continue to receive city services or to protest annexation. Gregg v. Whitefish City Council, 2004 MT 262, 323 M 109, 99 P3d 151 (2004).

Recorded Waiver of Annexation Protest by Prior Property Owner — Present Owner Precluded From Protesting Annexation: In 1966, the city of Whitefish adopted a policy that a landowner outside the city boundary had to agree to waive the right to protest future annexation in order to continue to receive city water and sewer services. The waivers were properly recorded and later used by the city to invalidate annexation protests by current landowners in 1998. The District Court concluded that the waivers constituted a covenant running with the land and that the current owners were precluded from protesting the proposed annexation. On appeal, the current owners argued that the right to protest in 7-2-4710 resided with the current property owner and that the statutory consent to annexation authorized by this section only applied to the initiation of services and could not transfer to subsequent purchasers. The Supreme Court disagreed. Under 7-1-113, a self-governing entity may act even when there are controlling state laws as long as the local government's actions are not inconsistent with or lower or less stringent than state requirements. The purpose of this section is to ensure that property owners outside a municipality can request utility services and to ensure that the local government can later require annexation in exchange for utilities. Creating a covenant that runs with the land furthers this purpose. In addition, 70-17-203 also provides that every covenant made for the direct benefit of the property runs with the land. The waivers directly benefited the property and were allowable, so the District Court was affirmed. Gregg v. Whitefish City Council, 2004 MT 262, 323 M 109, 99 P3d 151 (2004). See also State ex rel. Swart v. Molitor, 190 M 515, 621 P2d 1100 (1981), and St. John v. Lewistown, 2017 MT 126, 387 Mont. 444, 395 P.3d 486.

City's Annexation Ordinance Not Coercive: A city's annexation ordinance requiring property to be annexed prior to extension of water and sewer services was not tantamount to coercion and would not render the principles of estoppel inapplicable. Schanz v. Billings, 182 M 328, 597 P2d 67, 36 St. Rep. 1163 (1979).

Water Supply and Regulation

Part Case Notes

City Ordinance Not Conclusive Presumption of Necessity — Standard of Proof: A city ordinance adopted pursuant to 7-5-4106 did not establish a conclusive presumption that the taking of private property for a water system was necessary. The controlling statutes are in this part, and absent an agreement to purchase, 7-13-4404 requires that the standard of proof outlined in 70-30-111 be met before private property may be taken for a public use. Since the District Court has the power to determine whether a condemnation is necessary, the votes of the people and the city council cannot be considered as dispositive of the issue of necessity; however, the public interest as expressed in these votes must be considered and weighed with the other factors in determining whether acquisition is necessary. Missoula v. Mtn. Water Co., 228 M 404, 743 P2d 590, 44 St. Rep. 1633 (1987).

7-13-4402. Obtaining municipal water supply.

Case Notes

Power of Local Governments to Require All Residents to Connect to City Water Supply: The defendants argued that a city ordinance requiring them to hook up to the city water system violated their right to privacy by denying them the freedom to choose the type of water they wanted to use. The Supreme Court held that the interest asserted did not involve matters so fundamentally affecting the defendants' rights as to invoke constitutional protection. The court also held that a local government's concern with preventing health problems is a legitimate reason for controlling the water supply and a proper exercise of governmental power. Ennis v. Stewart, 247 M 355, 807 P2d 179, 48 St. Rep. 228 (1991).

Grant of Power to Cities: This section is the basic grant of power that allows cities to engage in the water business and charge for water and services provided. Leischner v. Knight, 135 M 109, 337 P2d 359 (1959).

Method of Installing Fixtures Within City's Discretion: As the statute is silent on the method to be used in tapping the main and installing the necessary fixtures, a city has discretionary power to decide the matter. Where a city chose its own employees, not licensed plumbers, to do the work exclusively instead of hiring independent plumbing contractors, it did not abuse its discretion. Leischner v. Knight, 135 M 109, 337 P2d 359 (1959).

7-13-4403. Acquisition of private water supply system.

Case Notes

Condemnation of Private Water System: The city of Missoula filed a complaint to condemn the water system privately owned by the defendant water company. The city previously lost an attempt to condemn the water system in Missoula v. Mtn. Water Co. (Mountain Water I), 228 Mont. 404, 743 P.2d 590 (1987), and Missoula v. Mtn. Water Co. (Mountain Water II), 236 Mont. 442, 771 P.2d 103 (1989). The District Court issued a preliminary order of condemnation. On appeal, the Supreme Court affirmed, finding that the defendants presented no compelling evidence that they were deprived of due process, that the District Court properly refused to grant a continuance and no actual prejudice resulted, that the defendants did not make a compelling case that they were not ready for trial because they were able to present a full and well-prepared defense, that the District Court properly declined to admit all of the proposed valuation evidence and the Legislature clearly intended for valuation to be determined by unbiased fact finders after the necessity determination, that the District Court properly refused to dismiss a party, that collateral estoppel was inappropriate because there was a change of circumstances sufficient to warrant a new analysis of whether public ownership of the water system was more necessary than private ownership and the city's previous attempt to acquire the water system did not bar the new action, that the District Court properly found that the effect of condemnation on employees was one of several nondispositive factors that must be considered, and that the District Court correctly determined that public ownership of the water system was more necessary than private ownership. Missoula v. Mtn. Water Co., 2016 MT 183, 384 Mont. 193, 378 P.3d 1113.

Acquisition by City Not Mandatory: Where there is an existing water supply system being operated under a franchise granted by the city, it is not incumbent upon the city to acquire that system before it procures its own system. Carlson v. Helena, 39 M 82, 102 P 39 (1909).

7-13-4404. Use of eminent domain powers to acquire water supply system.

Local Water Quality Districts

Part Compiler's Comments

1991 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 357, L. 1991, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill in order to provide guidance to the board of health and environmental sciences [functions now transferred to Board of Environmental Review] concerning rulemaking and approval of local water quality programs. The board shall adopt rules concerning the format of local water quality programs, including the level of information necessary for a local water quality district to show that its proposed program will be consistent with Title 75, chapter 5, and that its program will be effective in protecting, preserving, and improving the quality of surface water and ground water. The board may define by rule the types of best management practices that may be imposed upon each of the types of facilities and sources of pollution that may be regulated by local ordinances as authorized under [section 24(4)] [75-5-311(4)].

It is the intent of the legislature that administrative responsibilities be clearly allocated and, when necessary, clearly divided between the department of health and environmental sciences [functions now transferred to Department of Environmental Quality] and a local water quality district, insofar as possible, to ensure that permitholders, permit applicants, and citizens are not subject to conflicting or duplicative requirements. Through its approval of local water quality programs, the board of health and environmental sciences [functions now transferred to Board of Environmental Review] shall ensure that the department of health and environmental sciences' [functions now transferred to Board of Environmental Review] ability to continue to administer federally delegated water quality protection programs is not impaired. The board may also adopt rules to specify the procedures the department of health and environmental sciences [functions now transferred to Department of Environmental Quality] shall follow pursuant to 75-5-106 to authorize a local water quality district to enforce provisions of Title 75, chapter 5. It is the intent of the legislature that the boundaries of local water quality districts should correspond to the area or areas in which water quality problems have been documented.

Except as expressly provided in this bill, nothing in this bill may be considered to limit or restrict the authority of local governments to adopt rules and regulations authorized by other laws of the state."

Urban Transportation Districts

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Urban Transportation District Not Authorized to Tax and Manage County Roads: Yellowstone County sought an opinion on whether an urban transportation district is authorized to tax and manage county roads within its border or whether it is restricted to operating general public transportation systems. Although "transportation services and facilities" in 7-14-201 is not defined, the Attorney General construed these terms to denote a public transportation system, as opposed to road creation or maintenance. The Attorney General noted that the County Commissioners were expressly granted authority over county roads, and interpreting the urban transportation districts as having the power to create, manage, or levy taxes for public roads would directly conflict with this power. 55 A.G. Case Notes

Port Authority Insured Under County Insurance Policy — Extrinsic Evidence Considered — Policy Construed Against Drafter — Insurer Not Immune From Suit as Reinsurer: After a port authority building was destroyed by a fire, the port claimed that it qualified as an insured under a county insurance company policy that included county members and any other county entities that receive insurance through a county joint insurance authority. The insurance company claimed that the language in the policy did not extend to county entities such as the port. Additionally, the insurance company claimed that it was a reinsurer and therefore it was improper for the port to bring a direct claim against it. The Supreme Court held that the port qualified as an insured under terms of the policy and that a direct claim was proper. In reaching a conclusion that was contrary to the language of the policy, the court gave meaning to the entire contract, considered extrinsic evidence, and construed ambiguous language in the policy against the insurer as the drafter. In determining that a direct claim was proper, the court reasoned that the port dealt directly with the insurance company, and therefore the insurer was an excess insurance carrier, rather than a reinsurer. Amendment effective October 1, 1999.

Chapter 440 substituted (2)(a)(i) through (2)(a)(iii) concerning what constitutes a county road for former text that read: "any public highway opened, established, constructed, maintained, abandoned, or discontinued by a county in accordance with this chapter"; inserted (2)(b) concerning acceptance of road after public hearing; inserted (2)(c) concerning survey exemption; inserted (2)(d) concerning road abandoned by state; and made minor changes in style. Style changes were slightly different in the chapters. In each case, the codifier chose appropriate text.

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 440, L. 1999, provided: "WHEREAS, it has become necessary to clarify the duties of boards of county commissioners regarding roads under their jurisdiction; and

WHEREAS, it is appropriate to specify how the maintenance and oversight of certain roads may be transferred to a county in a manner that protects private property rights and allows the public to participate in the process; and

WHEREAS, clarifying in statute the definition of a county road and the rights and responsibilities of a board of county commissioners will prevent county road-related disputes from entering the court system."

Severability: Section 172, Ch. 584, L. 1999, was a severability clause.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 175, Ch. 584, L. 1999, provided that this section applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to tax years beginning after December 31, 1998.

Case Notes

Authority of County to Dedicate Public Road on Public Land Prior to Statehood: Defendants contended that plaintiff county had no authority to dedicate a public road over a school section of state land and requested summary judgment on the issue. Summary judgment was denied, and on appeal, the Supreme Court affirmed. The road was established several months before Montana statehood, at a time when the land was still under the authority of the federal government. Because the land had not yet been conveyed to the state, the Board of County Commissioners had authority under sec. 2477, Revised Statutes of the United States (1866), to create roads across the section of federal land. Powell County v. 5 Rockin' MS Angus Ranch, Inc., 2004 MT 337, 324 M 204, 102 P3d 1210 (2004). See also Peterson v. Baker, 81 P 681 (Wash. 1905), and U.S. v. Wyo., 195 F. Supp. 692 (D.C. Wyo. 1961).

County Roads Properly Established Prior to 1895 — Record Taken as a Whole — Summary Judgment Proper: Powell County filed an action seeking a declaratory judgment and injunctive relief to establish that two roads were considered public roads established in 1889 and 1903. Defendants denied that the roads were public and counterclaimed to quiet title. The District Court found for the county, and defendants appealed, but the Supreme Court affirmed. As held in McCauley v. Thompson-Nistler, 2000 MT 215, 301 M 81, 10 P3d 794 (2000), there were four ways that a public highway could be established prior to 1895: (1) by action of the proper authorities in accordance with statute; (2) by prescriptive use for the period required by statute; (3) by opening and dedication by the private owner; and (4) upon partition of real property. In the present case, there was some question whether the roads in question were properly established in 1889; however, as provided in Reid v. Park County, 192 M 231, 627 P2d 1210 (1981), a party is not required to produce complete documentary evidence of procedures that created a road many years ago, and the District Court may consider whether the record taken as a whole indicates that a public road was created. The record in this case sufficiently established the creation and dedication of the roads at issue, and absent any disputed material facts concerning whether the roads were properly created, summary judgment was proper. Powell County v. 5 Rockin' MS Angus Ranch, Inc., 2004 MT 337, 324 M 204, 102 P3d 1210 (2004). See also Sayers v. Chouteau County, 2013 MT 45, 369 Mont. 98, 297 P.3d 312, and Letica Land Co., LLC v. No Intent to Abandon Public Road Despite Reconveyance of Surrounding Property to Private Interests: In 1939 and 1940, the Shelby Country Club conveyed 160 acres of land to the city of Shelby with the understanding that the city would beautify the property as a park and lease it to the country club for a golf course. The city graded a road to the property and maintained Club Road thereafter. When the city could not obtain funds for a park, the property was reconveyed to the country club, and eventually, plaintiff acquired most of the property, while an 11.75-acre parcel was acquired by defendants. Plaintiff sought to have Club Road declared a private road and asked for damages for defendants' use of the road. The city subsequently annexed the road into the city limits and intervened in the suit, along with Toole County, to protect the public interest. The District Court declared Club Road to be a public road, and the Supreme Court affirmed. Although the District Court relied on section 32-103, R.C.M. 1947, rather than the applicable section 1612, R.C.M. 1921, the fact remained that once Club Road was laid out by the city as a public road and maintained its character through more than 50 years of public use, it remained a public road despite the reconveyance of the surrounding property to private interests, absent any clear intent by the city to abandon it. Smith v. Russell, 2003 MT 326, 318 M 336, 80 P3d 431 (2003).

Substantial Evidence of Establishment of County Road — Quiet Title Denied: Plaintiffs petitioned to have a road crossing their property abandoned as a county road, and when the county denied the petition, plaintiffs sought to quiet title and injunctive relief to prevent public use of the road. The District Court denied the request. Applying Reid v. Park County, 192 M 231, 627 P2d 1210 (1981), the Supreme Court examined the record as a whole and determined that the road had been proposed, viewed, constructed, and dedicated in substantial compliance with laws in effect in 1915 and that long-time historic use clearly indicated that the road was a public road. Absent any evidence that the county ever took affirmative steps to indicate an intent to abandon the road, the road remained a public road, and the District Court was affirmed. Galassi v. Lincoln County Bd. of Comm'rs, 2003 MT 319, 318 M 288, 80 P3d 84 (2003), followed in Roe Family LLC v. Lincoln County Bd. of Comm'rs, 2008 MT 70, 342 M 108, 179 P3d 514 (2008), to the extent that the record, taken as a whole, showed that a public road was created.

Creation of County Road — Applicability of Curative Statute of 1895: Garrison brought an action against Lincoln County, alleging that the county had no right or interest in a road that crossed Garrison's property. The District Court held that the road was a county road or, alternatively, that even if the road was not a county road, the public had obtained a prescriptive easement covering the road. Garrison appealed, arguing that County Commissioners in 1912 and 1913 failed to strictly comply with the statutory requirements for creating a county road, rendering the road private property, despite the fact that the road was declared public in 1913 and had been used extensively by the public and maintained by the county for over 50 years. The District Court properly relied on Reid v. Park County, 192 M 231, 627 P2d 1210 (1981), to conclude that the record taken as a whole presented clear evidence that despite discrepancies in its description or location, a county road was created and that any defects in the procedure used to create the road were remedied by the curative statute 2600 of the Political Code of 1895 that provided that all roads laid out, traveled, or used by the public were considered public highways. Garrison v. Lincoln County, 2003 MT 227, 317 M 190, 77 P3d 163 (2003), distinguishing Pederson v. Dawson County, 2000 MT 339, 303 M 158, 17 P3d 393 (2000).

County Right-of-Way Considered Easement — Injunction Proper Remedy to Ensure Access to Right-of-Way: Jefferson County filed a complaint for a temporary injunction, an order allowing entry upon land to survey McCarty Creek Road, which passed through McCauley's land to public land beyond, and an order setting a show cause hearing. The District Court issued the injunction allowing the survey and set a date for hearing. At the hearing, the court found extensive documentary evidence, dating back to 1883, confirming the existence of McCarty Creek Road and, in its final order, determined that the road, as it crossed McCauley's property, was a dedicated and established county road. The court further enjoined McCauley from interfering with access or obstructing ingress and egress on the road. The Supreme Court affirmed, finding substantial credible evidence to support the District Court's determination and finding no abuse of discretion in enjoining McCauley from interfering with the public use of McCarty Creek Road. Jefferson County v. McCauley Ranches, 1999 MT 333, 297 M 392, 994 P2d 11, 56 St. Rep. 1329 (1999), following Bolinger v. Bozeman, 158 M 507, 493 P2d 1062 (1972), Reid v. Park County, 192 M 231, 627 P2d 1210, 38 St. Rep. 631 (1981), and Bailey v. Ravalli County, 201 M 138, 653 P2d 139, 39 St. Rep. 2010 (1982), and distinguishing Porter v. K&S Partnership, 192 M 175, 627 P2d 836 (1981), Knudson v. McDunn, 271 M 61, 894 P2d 295 (1995), and Lurie v. Sheriff, 284 M 207, 944 P2d 205, 54 St. Rep. 847 (1997).

Contempt Order Against County for Failure to Follow Proper Procedures Annulled: The lower court found the county in contempt for abandoning and changing a portion of a road without following the procedures suggested in an earlier court order. The Supreme Court stated that not all of the record had been before the lower court. An examination of the entire record indicated that the county had tried to follow the procedures set out in statute and the earlier court order. The Supreme Court annulled the contempt order and suggested that the parties might want to move to have the injunction against changing or abandoning the relevant portion of the road dissolved. State ex rel. Fallon County v. District Court, 245 M 382, 801 P2d 610, 47 St. Rep. 2187 (1990).

Abandoned Public Road to Revert to Abutting Property Owners: An action was filed to quiet title to a county road that had been established as a public road in 1909. The certificate of dedication of the 1909 plat stated that the streets therein were "granted and dedicated to the use of the public forever". In 1944, pursuant to section 1635, R.C.M. 1935, a petition for county road closure was filed. That same year the petition was granted by the County Commissioners. After 1944, neither the plaintiffs nor their predecessors in interest paid any taxes on the roadway and no portion of the roadway was fenced into the lands now belonging to the plaintiffs until 1980. The court quieted title in the plaintiffs, ruling that the 1909 plat dedication was the equivalent of a right-of-way deed under which the public acquired only the right-of-way and the incidents necessary to its enjoyment and that upon abandonment the fee in the street reverted to the abutting landowners, with each abutting landowner taking fee from the edge of his property to the center of the street. Bailey v. Ravalli County, 201 M 138, 653 P2d 139, 39 St. Rep. 2010 (1982), followed in Herreid v. Hauck, 254 M 496, 839 P2d 571, 49 St. Rep. 884 (1992), and Knutson v. Schroeder, 2008 MT 139, 343 M 81, 183 P3d 881 (2008).

Bid Calling and Fund Expenditure — Administrative Functions: In calling for bids and preparing to expend county funds for a paving project, the County Commissioners were performing administrative functions in furtherance of their responsibility to manage and maintain county roads. For this reason a referendum directing them not to expend funds or call for bids was invalid. The referendum did not address the decision of whether the county should pave the road, a legislative function. Chouteau County v. Grossman, 172 M 373, 563 P2d 1125 (1977).

Attorney General's Opinions

Access to Rivers and Streams Via County Road Right-of-Way and Bridges: Given that the public has the right to use public highways in any manner and for any purpose consistent with or reasonably incidental to public travel, this right includes the use of public rights-of-way created by county roads to gain access to rivers and streams. Using a county road right-of-way as an access point to a river or stream right-of-way is consistent with and reasonably incidental to the public's right to travel on county roads. Further, a bridge and its abutments, as part of a public highway, offer the same access to rivers and streams for recreational use as the highway to which they are attached. However, the public's right of access is not unlimited and is subject to the following limitations: (1) the recreating public must stay within the county road and bridge right-of-way, which is assumed to be 60 feet unless otherwise stated by petition or dedication; (2) access may be limited by the reasonable exercise of a governing body's police power to control the use of roads for purposes such as safety and parking; and (3) use of a public highway may be limited by the manner in which it was created, such as a road created by prescriptive easement, which is limited both in size and usage to the original use during the prescriptive period and may include access for hunting, fishing, and recreation. 48 A.G. Op. 13 (2000).

Maintenance of County Roads — Discretionary or Mandatory: A county is required to maintain county roads established through the petition process but is not legally required to maintain other county roads, which include county roads created by dedication to the public. The Board of County Commissioners exercised its discretion to authorize maintenance of a county road created by dedication to the public from 1952 until 1981. The county is not required by law to maintain the road but has, within the limits of available funds, the power and discretion to do so. 41 A.G. Op. 32 (1985).

Duty to Install Culverts: The duty to build bridges imposed by 7-14-2204(1) includes the duty to install culverts when such devices are deemed most appropriate for conveying water beneath a public street or highway. 38 A.G. Op. 39 (1979).

Authority to Close Roads Because of Hazardous Conditions: Because the county is potentially liable for failure to maintain county roads in a safe condition, it has the implied power to temporarily close county roads when hazardous conditions exist. It is also responsible for the placement and maintenance of traffic control devices necessary to warn and regulate traffic. The procedures to be followed and the individual who is to make the decision to close roads are to be determined by the Board of County Commissioners. A county road superintendent or supervisor, if appointed, would be appropriate. Only in case of extreme emergency may the Highway Patrol block traffic. 37 A.G. Op. 116 (1977).

"Public Highways" — Forest Development Roads: Use of the term "public highways" for the purpose of imposing a gross vehicle weight tax, a special fuels tax, license plates requirements, or weight limitations does not include forest development roads. 37 A.G. Op. 9 (1977).

Parameters of County Commission Authority to Permit County Road Use for Pipelines: A Board of County Commissioners is charged with a significant amount of discretion under 7-1-2103, this section, and 7-14-2107 in determining whether to permit the use of a county road right-of-way for the laying of permanent or temporary pipelines. This discretion is potentially limited by state regulations under Title 69, ch. 13, concerning pipeline carriers, depending on specific factual situations. To be consistent with the holding in Bolinger v. Bozeman, 158 M 507, 493 P2d 1062 (1972), the Board must find that the action: (1) is necessary for the best interest of the county roads and the road districts; (2) does not unreasonably impair the special easements of abutting owners in the street for purposes of access, light, and air; and (3) is conducive to the public welfare and serves one of the purposes for which highways and streets are dedicated. 42 A.G. Op. 40 (1987).

Responsibility for Costs of Maintenance and Repair of County Road Established by Petition: If a rural special improvement district is created to improve a county road established by the county road petition process, the district is responsible for the costs of maintenance and repair of the road. 41 A.G. Op. 61 (1986).

Authority to Close Roads Because of Hazardous Conditions: Because the county is potentially liable for failure to maintain county roads in a safe condition, it has the implied power to temporarily close county roads when hazardous conditions exist. It is also responsible for the placement and maintenance of traffic control devices necessary to warn and regulate traffic. The procedures to be followed and the individual who is to make the decision to close roads are to be determined by the Board of County Commissioners. A county road superintendent or supervisor, if appointed, would be appropriate (see 1995 amendment allowing appointment of County Surveyor). Only in case of extreme emergency may the Highway Patrol block traffic. 37 A.G. Op. 116 (1977).

1999 Amendment: Chapter 440 in (2) at end of first sentence substituted "established in accordance with this chapter" for "petitioned for by freeholders"; inserted (4) concerning level and scope of maintenance; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 1999.

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 440, L. 1999, provided: "WHEREAS, it has become necessary to clarify the duties of boards of county commissioners regarding roads under their jurisdiction; and

WHEREAS, it is appropriate to specify how the maintenance and oversight of certain roads may be transferred to a county in a manner that protects private property rights and allows the public to participate in the process; and

WHEREAS, clarifying in statute the definition of a county road and the rights and responsibilities of a board of county commissioners will prevent county road-related disputes from entering the court system."

1993 Amendment: Chapter 253 near beginning of (2) and (3), after "board", substituted "may" for "shall"; and made minor changes in style.

Case Notes

No Abandonment of County Road Through Combination of Nonuse and Building of Highway: Defendants fenced a section of Flathead County road G since 1955, placing five gates across the road in various places. The road provided the only access for a land company and was used by state personnel to access state lands. The road was established in 1893, and no document on record indicated that the road was ever abandoned. Defendants refused to remove the gates upon request, so suit was filed to enjoin them from erecting and maintaining gates across the road, and because no genuine issue of fact existed to show that the county abandoned or intended to abandon the road, the District Court granted summary judgment to the state. To prove abandonment of a road by a government entity, there must be a showing of a clear intent to abandon and the conduct that is claimed to demonstrate the intent to abandon must be some affirmative official act, rather than mere implication. On appeal, defendants argued that the county evidenced its clear intent to abandon the right-of-way by the coupling of two circumstances: (1) relocation of a roadway by the public authority; and (2) subsequent nonuse of the roadway. The Supreme Court found the argument illogical. If nonuse does not create abandonment and the building of a highway does not create abandonment, then the combination of the two also does not create abandonment. The District Court was affirmed. Use of Public Road Created by Prescriptive Use Extends to All Reasonably Foreseeable Uses: Once a public road is established by prescriptive use, the use of that road is not limited to the adverse usage through which the road was acquired, but rather extends to all reasonably foreseeable uses, including foot travel. Pub. Lands Access Ass'n, Inc. v. Madison County Bd. of Comm'rs, 2014 MT 10, 373 Mont. 277, 321 P.3d 38.

Width of Public Right-of-Way Established by Prescription — Portion of Right-of-Way Necessary to Maintain County Road for Public Use — Not Reserved to County: Plaintiff association sued the county because property owners had erected fences along the county road to the ends of a bridge, thereby preventing the public from using the right-of-way access to the river. The parties stipulated that the right-of-way for this portion of the road had been established by prescriptive use. The plaintiff argued that the public's right-of-way extended not only to the road, but to portions along the road necessary to maintain it. The District Court disagreed and ruled that only the county had an easement that exceeded the fences for the purpose of maintaining and repairing the road. The plaintiff appealed and the Supreme Court reversed, holding that the width of a public road right-of-way established by prescriptive easement includes the areas necessary to support and maintain the road and that those areas are not reserved for the county. The Supreme Court therefore remanded the matter to the District Court to determine the actual width of the right-of-way in accordance with its guidelines. Pub. Lands Access Ass'n, Inc. v. Madison County Bd. of Comm'rs, 2014 MT 10, 373 Mont. 277, 321 P.3d 38.

Right-of-Way Incidents: Where a county grants a city permission to lay a sewerline along a county road, the consent of landowners abutting the road is not necessary. A public right-of-way may be used as the convenience and welfare of the public demand, not only according to the usages when dedicated but in light of advancing civilization. Bolinger v. Bozeman, 158 M 507, 493 P2d 1062 (1972), followed in Adams v. Dept. of Highways, 230 M 393, 753 P2d 846, 45 St. Rep. 298 (1988), and Jefferson County v. Requirement That Public Highways Be 60 Feet — No Control Over Roads Created by Prescription or Dedication: When no boundary markers were found marking a right-of-way at issue, the District Court determined the city's right-of-way was 60 feet in width, based in part on a surveying expert's opinion. The surveyor's opinion partially relied on a 1907 version of this section that specified public highways were 60 feet unless the County Commissioners specified otherwise. The Supreme Court agreed with the outcome of the surveyor's opinion for other reasons but noted that although this section supported the District Court's determination, it did not control roads created by prescription or dedication. Public Roads Created by Prescriptive Use: The width of a public road created by prescriptive use is determined by the extent of its use. This section applies only to public roads laid out by official act. Povah v. Portmann, 149 M 91, 423 P2d 56 (1967). However, see Pub. Lands Access Ass'n, Inc. v. Madison County Bd. of Comm'rs, 2014 MT 10, 373 Mont. 277, 321 P.3d 38, holding that once a public road is established by prescriptive use, the use of that road is not limited to the adverse usage through which the road was acquired.

Case Notes

Right-of-Way Applicable to Operation and Maintenance Road in Herd District Within Irrigation Project: As part of the Huntley irrigation project, Yellowstone County constructed an operation and maintenance road along one side of an irrigation canal. A nearby property owner later used the road to move cattle, and after plaintiffs complained to the County Sheriff several times over a period of years, plaintiffs installed cattle guards. The county subsequently removed the cattle guards, claiming that the road was a county road and that the county had a 60-foot right-of-way, giving it the right to remove obstructions, including cattle guards and overgrowth from trees obstructing the road. The county then trimmed and killed several of plaintiffs' trees, and plaintiffs sued the county, contesting the county's right-of-way. The District Court examined the historical use of the road and determined that the county's right-of-way was about 20 feet. The court also held that because the property was in a herd district and because all the parties preferred cattle guards to gates, the county was required to replace the cattle guards. The county appealed, but the Supreme Court affirmed. The county road was superimposed on the operation and maintenance road and thus was not more or less extensive than the operation and maintenance road, so the easement was 20 feet as the road currently existed. Further, because the project was a federal operation, the rights of the federal government prevailed. A witness for the federal government testified that cattle guards were preferable, so ordering the replacement of the cattle guards was also not erroneous. Weatherwax v. Yellowstone County, 2003 MT 215, 317 M 119, 75 P3d 788 (2003).

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 201, L. 2009, provided: "WHEREAS, the Legislature finds that significant controversy has existed related to public access to streams and rivers from county road and bridge rights-of-way; and

WHEREAS, a Montana Attorney General's Opinion in 2000 (48 A.G. Op. 13) held that the use of a county road right-of-way to gain access to streams and rivers is consistent with and reasonably incidental to the public's right to travel on county roads and that the public may gain access to streams and rivers by using the bridge, its right-of-way, and its abutments; and

WHEREAS, during the 2007-08 interim a group of stakeholders met to address the controversy and agreed in principle that a legislative solution was preferable and that past legislative attempts may have failed because they were overly complex; and

WHEREAS, the stakeholders also agreed in principle that any proposed legislation needed to provide:

(1) that a fence in a county road right-of-way abutting a bridge should not be considered an encroachment;

(2) that the public may access streams and rivers from a county road or bridge right-of-way, but that the public must stay in the right-of-way to gain access;

(3) that the legislation neither create any right nor extinguish any right related to county roads established by prescriptive use that exist at the time of passage;

(4) a process to define the physical characteristics of a fence used for public access in county road and bridge rights-of-way; and

(5) an approach with broad scope rather than an attempt to resolve a myriad of possible contingencies; and

WHEREAS, the stakeholders determined that each of these provisions was integral to the others and that if any section of the proposed legislation containing the agreed-upon principles was removed, the entire legislation should be void."

Attorney General's Opinions

Maintenance of Bridge Utilized by Public but Not Located on County Road: Prior to July 1, 1979, it would appear that a bridge on a road utilized by the public, which was located over a boundary between two counties, would be the common responsibility of the two counties. However, by adding a definition of "public bridges", the 1979 Legislature made it clear that counties are not responsible for maintenance of bridges that, although utilized by the public, are not located in a city or town in the county or on a county road maintained by the county. 38 A.G. Op. 50 (1979).

Duty to Install Culverts: The duty to build bridges imposed by 7-14-2204(1) includes the duty to install culverts when such devices are deemed most appropriate for conveying water beneath a public street or highway. 38 A.G. Op. 39 (1979).

Mill Increase for County Roads and Bridges Not Exception to I.M. No. 105 Tax Freeze: The 1989 increase in allowable mills for county road construction, maintenance, or improvement, as set out in this section, and for county bridge construction, maintenance, and repair, as set out in 7-14-2502, was not an exception to the I.M. No.105 property tax freeze established in 15-10-402, but rather was intended to be implemented by a reduction of millage in other areas of the county budget. (See 1999 amendment.) 43 A.G. Op. 74 (1990).

Mill Levy Increase — Proration to Parts of Fiscal Year to Accommodate October Effective Date: Section 7-14-2501 was amended in 1981 to authorize the Board of County Commissioners to levy

15 mills rather than 12 mills for the county road fund. (See 2001 amendment.) The increase, under the 1981 amendments to 1-2-201, becomes effective October 1, 1981. However, the county budget year begins July 1, 1981. The reasonable way to give effect to both amendments is to construe them to allow the Board to apply a rate of 12 mills for the 3 months of the current county fiscal year which fall before October 1, 1981, and a rate of 15 mills for the 9 months of the current county fiscal year which fall after October 1, 1981. 39 A.G. Part 26
Establishment, Alteration, and Abandonment of County Roads

Part Case Notes

Road Created in 1889 by Petition — Record Taken as Whole — Legal Standards: The failure to prove one or more particular conditions was not determinative of whether an 1889 county road was created. The record did not have to rely solely on county-created evidence, nor did the county's failure to depict the road on county maps determine whether the road was public. Rather, except for specifically showing a condition precedent requiring benefiting parties to bear the burden of building the road, the record as a whole demonstrated that the lower branch of Modesty Creek Road was created in substantial compliance with the statutory procedures for establishing an 1889 county road by petition. After reviewing the factual findings for clear error and the "record taken as a whole" conclusion of law for correctness, which requires substantial credible evidence, the Supreme Court affirmed the District Court's conclusions concerning the lower branch of Modesty Creek Road. Letica Land Co., LLC v. Anaconda-Deer Lodge County, 2015 MT 323, 381 Mont. 389, 362 P.3d 614.

Authority of County to Dedicate Public Road on Public Land Prior to Statehood: Defendants contended that plaintiff county had no authority to dedicate a public road over a school section of state land and requested summary judgment on the issue. Summary judgment was denied, and on appeal, the Supreme Court affirmed. The road was established several months before Montana statehood, at a time when the land was still under the authority of the federal government. Because the land had not yet been conveyed to the state, the Board of County Commissioners had authority under sec. 2477, Revised Statutes of the United States (1866), to create roads across the section of federal land. Powell County v. 5 Rockin' MS Angus Ranch, Inc., 2004 MT 337, 324 M 204, 102 P3d 1210 (2004). See also Peterson v. Baker, 81 P 681 (Wash. 1905), and U.S. v. Wyo., 195 F. Supp. 692 (D.C. Wyo. 1961).

County Roads Properly Established Prior to 1895 — Record Taken as a Whole — Summary Judgment Proper: Powell County filed an action seeking a declaratory judgment and injunctive relief to establish that two roads were considered public roads established in 1889 and 1903. Defendants denied that the roads were public and counterclaimed to quiet title. The District Court found for the county, and defendants appealed, but the Supreme Court affirmed. As held in McCauley v. Thompson-Nistler, 2000 MT 215, 301 M 81, 10 P3d 794 (2000), there were four ways that a public highway could be established prior to 1895: (1) by action of the proper authorities in accordance with statute; (2) by prescriptive use for the period required by statute; (3) by opening and dedication by the private owner; and (4) upon partition of real property. In the present case, there was some question whether the roads in question were properly established in 1889; however, as provided in Reid v. Park County, 192 M 231, 627 P2d 1210 (1981), a party is not required to produce complete documentary evidence of procedures that created a road many years ago, and the District Court may consider whether the record taken as a whole indicates that a public road was created. The record in this case sufficiently established the creation and dedication of the roads at issue, and absent any disputed material facts concerning whether the roads were properly created, summary judgment was proper. Powell County v. 5 Rockin' MS Angus Ranch, Inc., 2004 MT 337, 324 M 204, 102 P3d 1210 (2004). See also Sayers v. Chouteau County, 2013 MT 45, 369 Mont. 98, 297 P.3d 312, and Letica Land Co., LLC v. Anaconda-Deer Lodge County, 2015 MT 323, 381 Mont. 389, 362 P.3d 614.

No Intent to Abandon Public Road Despite Reconveyance of Surrounding Property to Private Interests: In 1939 and 1940, the Shelby Country Club conveyed 160 acres of land to the city of Shelby with the understanding that the city would beautify the property as a park and lease it to the country club for a golf course. The city graded a road to the property and maintained Club Road thereafter. When the city could not obtain funds for a park, the property was reconveyed to the country club, and eventually, plaintiff acquired most of the property, while an 11.75-acre parcel was acquired by defendants. Plaintiff sought to have Club Road declared a private road and asked for damages for defendants' use of the road. The city subsequently annexed the road into the city limits and intervened in the suit, along with Toole County, to protect the public interest. The District Court declared Club Road to be a public road, and the Supreme Court affirmed. Although the District Court relied on section 32-103, R.C.M. 1947, rather than the applicable section 1612, R.C.M. 1921, the fact remained that once Club Road was laid out by the city as a public road and maintained its character through more than 50 years of public use, it remained a public road despite the reconveyance of the surrounding property to private interests, absent any clear intent by the city to abandon it. Smith v. Russell, 2003 MT 326, 318 M 336, 80 P3d 431 (2003).

Right-of-Way Applicable to Operation and Maintenance Road in Herd District Within Irrigation Project: As part of the Huntley irrigation project, Yellowstone County constructed an operation and maintenance road along one side of an irrigation canal. A nearby property owner later used the road to move cattle, and after plaintiffs complained to the County Sheriff several times over a period of years, plaintiffs installed cattle guards. The county subsequently removed the cattle guards, claiming that the road was a county road and that the county had a 60-foot right-of-way, giving it the right to remove obstructions, including cattle guards and overgrowth from trees obstructing the road. The county then trimmed and killed several of plaintiffs' trees, and plaintiffs sued the county, contesting the county's right-of-way. The District Court examined the historical use of the road and determined that the county's right-of-way was about 20 feet. The court also held that because the property was in a herd district and because all the parties preferred cattle guards to gates, the county was required to replace the cattle guards. The county appealed, but the Supreme Court affirmed. The county road was superimposed on the operation and maintenance road and thus was not more or less extensive than the operation and maintenance road, so the easement was 20 feet as the road currently existed. Further, because the project was a federal operation, the rights of the federal government prevailed. A witness for the federal government testified that cattle guards were preferable, so ordering the replacement of the cattle guards was also not erroneous. Weatherwax v. Yellowstone County, 2003 MT 215, 317 M 119, 75 P3d 788 (2003).

No Abandonment of County Road Through Combination of Nonuse and Building of Highway: Defendants fenced a section of Flathead County road G since 1955, placing five gates across the road in various places. The road provided the only access for a land company and was used by state personnel to access state lands. The road was established in 1893, and no document on record indicated that the road was ever abandoned. Defendants refused to remove the gates upon request, so suit was filed to enjoin them from erecting and maintaining gates across the road, and because no genuine issue of fact existed to show that the county abandoned or intended to abandon the road, the District Court granted summary judgment to the state. To prove abandonment of a road by a government entity, there must be a showing of a clear intent to abandon and the conduct that is claimed to demonstrate the intent to abandon must be some affirmative official act, rather than mere implication. On appeal, defendants argued that the county evidenced its clear intent to abandon the right-of-way by the coupling of two circumstances: (1) relocation of a roadway by the public authority; and (2) subsequent nonuse of the roadway. The Supreme Court found the argument illogical. If nonuse does not create abandonment and the building of a highway does not create abandonment, then the combination of the two also does not create abandonment. The District Court was affirmed. St. v. Fisher, 2003 MT 207, 317 M 49, 75 P3d 338 (2003), following Baertsch v. Lewis & Clark County, 256 M 114, 845 P2d 106 (1992). See also Ashby v. Maechling, 2010 MT 80, 356 Mont. 68, 229 P.3d 1210.

Statutory Requirements to Be Followed for Creation of County Road: The Pedersons contended that because the county had constructed their road, maintained it, and accepted a right-of-way easement for the road, the county's actions were tantamount to acceptance of the road as a county road. The Supreme Court held that state law required the County Commissioners to make an affirmative decision to establish a county road and that in the present case, there was no record of any action taken by the Board; therefore, a county road could not have been established. Pederson v. Dawson County, 2000 MT 339, 303 M 158, 17 P3d 393, 57 St. Rep. 1441 (2000).

Public Highway Established Pursuant to 1895 Law — Mere Nonuse by County Not Considered Abandonment — Inapplicability of Prescriptive Easement and Reverse Adverse Possession: The District Court found that the Tucker Gulch Road was clearly defined and in use by the public for at least 27 years prior to enactment of sec. 2600, The Codes and Statutes of Montana (1895), which declared all highways and roads then used by the public as public highways. However, the court went on to hold that it was not a petitioned county road and that there was a prescriptive easement by the public over the road that had been lost through abandonment and by reverse adverse possession when a new road was relocated near the old one. The District Court properly found that Tucker Gulch Road was a public highway; however, mere nonuse or lack of maintenance by the county was insufficient to indicate a clear intent to abandon the road without notice and a public hearing. Moreover, the county's failure to respond to several quiet title actions in which the county was not served and the county's adoption of a resolution naming the road did not indicate an intent to abandon. Abandonment cannot be established by mere implication. The Supreme Court cited Baertsch v. Lewis & Clark County, 256 M 114, 845 P2d 106 (1992), for the general rule that title to a public road may not be obtained by adverse possession. The Supreme Court also cited Granite County v. Komberec, 245 M 252, 800 P2d 166 (1990), and affirmed the District Court's finding that there was not a public prescriptive easement along the relocated new road because most of the nonpermissive use of the new road was by occasional recreationists. The District Court's conclusion that creation of the easement was not specific and that the easements were designed for the access of the owners for activities associated with residential living was in error, however, absent evidence in the access agreement or survey establishing such a restriction. Thus, the grant of unrestricted access to landowners who had owned a mine adjoining the property in question was not in error. McCauley v. Thompson-Nistler, 2000 MT 215, 301 M 81, 10 P3d 794, 57 St. Rep. 855 (2000), distinguishing Pub. Lands Access Ass'n, Inc. v. Boone & Crockett Club Foundation, Inc., 259 M 279, 856 P2d 525 (1993), and followed in Lee v. Musselshell County, 2004 MT 64, 320 M 294, 87 P3d 423 (2004).

Abandonment of State Highway — Statements by State Field Supervisor Contemporaneous With Removal of Asphalt Held Not Evidence of Official Act by State Evidencing Clear Intent to Abandon Easement — Asphalt Alone Not "Highway": DeVoe brought a declaratory judgment action against the state, claiming that the removal of asphalt from a curving intersection and statements by a supervisor of a crew removing the old roadway evidenced an intent by the state to abandon its easement granted in 1937. DeVoe argued that statements by James Williams, the state's field project manager in charge of removal of the asphalt from the section of highway on the state's easement claimed by DeVoe to have been abandoned, showed that the state intended to abandon the easement. The Supreme Court held that the statements by Williams, to the effect that the state might give up the easement, were evidence of an intent to abandon but did not constitute evidence of an official act by the state indicating a clear intent to abandon the 1937 easement. The Supreme Court also noted that a "highway" is defined as including the highway right-of-way and that, for this reason, removal of asphalt does not constitute removal of the highway. The Supreme Court held that the District Court properly granted summary judgment against DeVoe because the District Court properly found that the easement was still subject to highway-related uses. DeVoe v. St., 281 M 356, 935 P2d 256, 54 St. Rep. 207 (1997).

Abandonment of County Road — Discretion in County Commission:

Following remand of Baertsch, infra, the landowners appealed the District Court decision establishing the county's 100-foot right-of-way. The Supreme Court affirmed on all issues, holding that the trial court properly determined that: (1) procedural requirements for creating the right-of-way by statute were met; (2) the County Commission, in granting the petition for the right-of-way in 1890, was obviously granting its contents, which was a request for a 100-foot right-of-way; (3) mere nonuse of the right-of-way, even for extended periods of time, was insufficient in itself to indicate an intent to abandon the public property; (4) the public road could not be obtained by adverse possession; (5) failure to apply equitable estoppel did not create a manifest injustice to the landowners; and (6) because the county was not properly a party to the prior litigation, res judicata did not apply. Baertsch v. Lewis & Clark County, 256 M 114, 845 P2d 106, 49 St. Rep. 1162 (1992), followed in DeVoe v. St., 281 M 356, 935 P2d 256, 54 St. Rep. 207 (1997).

After the decision in Ingram-Clevenger, infra, essentially the same landowners filed their complaint in this action, contending that: (1) the county road in its entirety was never properly dedicated; (2) the county abandoned all that portion of the road right-of-way not actually used for roadway and barrow pits; (3) the landowners obtained title to the disputed portion of the right-of-way by adverse possession; and (4) the county's claim was barred by equitable estoppel. The county raised the defense of res judicata, and the District Court concluded that res judicata was applicable. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that the issues in the two cases were not the same, noting that in Ingram-Clevenger the title to the road was not involved whereas in this case the claims were related to the title and could not properly have been presented as part of the proceedings for vacation of the road. As a result, the present case was not barred under a theory of res judicata, merger, the rule against splitting causes of action, or the doctrine of equitable estoppel. The case was remanded for a trial of the issues on the merits. Baertsch v. Lewis & Clark County, 223 M 206, 727 P2d 504, 43 St. Rep. 1660 (1986).

This part provides that the abandonment of a county road is discretionary with the Board of County Commissioners; thus, unless discretion is manifestly abused, mandamus will not lie. Although the provisions of 7-14-2103(3) appear to mandate the abandonment of a road upon proper petition, this part, being more specific, governs and the provisions of 7-14-2103(3) may be interpreted to conform with this part. Ingram-Clevenger, Inc. v. Lewis & Clark County, 194 M 43, 636 P2d 1372, 38 St. Rep. 1696 (1981).

Adverse Possession Inapplicable to Title to Public Roads: The general rule in Montana law is that title to public roads may not be obtained by adverse possession. Baertsch v. Lewis & Clark County, 256 M 114, 845 P2d 106, 49 St. Rep. 1162 (1992), following Billings v. Pierce Packing Co., 117 M 255, 161 P2d 636 (1945).

Statutory Requirements to Be Followed: Madison County attempted to establish a county road across defendants' land. The county invoked eminent domain. Section 70-30-108 requires compliance with the statutory provisions relating to the establishment of county roads. Title 7, ch. 14, generally requires a chain of events involving: (1) the filing of a proper petition with the county; (2) the option of the county surveying a specific route; (3) the county determination of the affected landowners and assessment of their damages; (4) the county offer of an award of damages; and (5) if the award is rejected, the beginning of condemnation proceedings. In this case the county did not receive a proper petition. The county offered damages for one proposed route but began condemnation on a different route for which no offer was made. The proceedings did not comply with the statutes and were not cured by 7-14-2609. The county may not ignore the mandates of the statutes or they would be of no consequence. Madison County v. Elford, 203 M 293, 661 P2d 1266, 40 St. Rep. 457 (1983).

Equitable Estoppel — Not Applicable to Road Abandonment: County officers gave erroneous information on how to petition for abandonment of a county road. Although the public has a right to rely on the advice of public officers, the doctrine of equitable reliance was not applicable. Because the public interest in the disposal of public lands merits a higher consideration than the reliance on statements made by public officers, road abandonment requires substantial compliance with statutory requirements. Chennault v. Sager, 187 M 455, 610 P2d 173, 37 St. Rep. 857 (1980), distinguished, in cases involving a private right of action, in Quirin v. Weinberg, 252 M 386, 830 P2d 537, 49 St. Rep. 331 (1992), and followed in Baertsch v. Lewis & Clark County, 256 M 114, 845 P2d 106, 49 St. Rep. 1162 (1992).

"Discontinue" Clarified: The term "discontinue", as used in Title 7, ch. 14, parts 26 and 41, is synonymous with the terms "abandon" and "vacate". 40 A.G. Op. 23 (1983).

7-14-2601. Petition to establish, alter, or abandon a county road.

Case Notes

Road Created in 1889 by Petition — Record Taken as Whole — Legal Standards: The failure to prove one or more particular conditions was not determinative of whether an 1889 county road was created. The record did not have to rely solely on county-created evidence, nor did the county's failure to depict the road on county maps determine whether the road was public. Rather, except for specifically showing a condition precedent requiring benefiting parties to bear the burden of building the road, the record as a whole demonstrated that the lower branch of Modesty Creek Road was created in substantial compliance with the statutory procedures for establishing an 1889 county road by petition. After reviewing the factual findings for clear error and the "record taken as a whole" conclusion of law for correctness, which requires substantial credible evidence, the Supreme Court affirmed the District Court's conclusions concerning the lower branch of Modesty Creek Road. Letica Land Co., LLC v. Anaconda-Deer Lodge County, 2015 MT 323, 381 Mont. 389, 362 P.3d 614.

Authority of County to Dedicate Public Road on Public Land Prior to Statehood: Defendants contended that plaintiff county had no authority to dedicate a public road over a school section of state land and requested summary judgment on the issue. Summary judgment was denied, and on appeal, the Supreme Court affirmed. The road was established several months before Montana statehood, at a time when the land was still under the authority of the federal government. Because the land had not yet been conveyed to the state, the Board of County Commissioners had authority under sec. 2477, Revised Statutes of the United States (1866), to create roads across the section of federal land. Powell County v. 5 Rockin' MS Angus Ranch, Inc., 2004 MT 337, 324

M 204, 102 P3d 1210 (2004). See also Peterson v. Baker, 81 P 681 (Wash. 1905), and U.S. v. Wyo., 195 F. Supp. 692 (D.C. Wyo. 1961).

County Roads Properly Established Prior to 1895 — Record Taken as a Whole — Summary Judgment Proper: Powell County filed an action seeking a declaratory judgment and injunctive relief to establish that two roads were considered public roads established in 1889 and 1903. Defendants denied that the roads were public and counterclaimed to quiet title. The District Court found for the county, and defendants appealed, but the Supreme Court affirmed. As held in McCauley v. Thompson-Nistler, 2000 MT 215, 301 M 81, 10 P3d 794 (2000), there were four ways that a public highway could be established prior to 1895: (1) by action of the proper authorities in accordance with statute; (2) by prescriptive use for the period required by statute; (3) by opening and dedication by the private owner; and (4) upon partition of real property. In the present case, there was some question whether the roads in question were properly established in 1889; however, as provided in Reid v. Park County, 192 M 231, 627 P2d 1210 (1981), a party is not required to produce complete documentary evidence of procedures that created a road many years ago, and the District Court may consider whether the record taken as a whole indicates that a public road was created. The record in this case sufficiently established the creation and dedication of the roads at issue, and absent any disputed material facts concerning whether the roads were properly created, summary judgment was proper. Powell County v. 5 Rockin' MS Angus Ranch, Inc., 2004 MT 337, 324 M 204, 102 P3d 1210 (2004). See also Sayers v. Chouteau County, 2013 MT 45, 369 Mont. 98, 297 P.3d 312, and Letica Land Co., LLC v. No Intent to Abandon Public Road Despite Reconveyance of Surrounding Property to Private Interests: In 1939 and 1940, the Shelby Country Club conveyed 160 acres of land to the city of Shelby with the understanding that the city would beautify the property as a park and lease it to the country club for a golf course. The city graded a road to the property and maintained Club Road thereafter. When the city could not obtain funds for a park, the property was reconveyed to the country club, and eventually, plaintiff acquired most of the property, while an 11.75-acre parcel was acquired by defendants. Plaintiff sought to have Club Road declared a private road and asked for damages for defendants' use of the road. The city subsequently annexed the road into the city limits and intervened in the suit, along with Toole County, to protect the public interest. The District Court declared Club Road to be a public road, and the Supreme Court affirmed. Although the District Court relied on section 32-103, R.C.M. 1947, rather than the applicable section 1612, R.C.M. 1921, the fact remained that once Club Road was laid out by the city as a public road and maintained its character through more than 50 years of public use, it remained a public road despite the reconveyance of the surrounding property to private interests, absent any clear intent by the city to abandon it. Smith v. Russell, 2003 MT 326, 318 M 336, 80 P3d 431 (2003).

Substantial Evidence of Establishment of County Road — Quiet Title Denied: Plaintiffs petitioned to have a road crossing their property abandoned as a county road, and when the county denied the petition, plaintiffs sought to quiet title and injunctive relief to prevent public use of the road. The District Court denied the request. Applying Reid v. Park County, 192 M 231, 627 P2d 1210 (1981), the Supreme Court examined the record as a whole and determined that the road had been proposed, viewed, constructed, and dedicated in substantial compliance with laws in effect in 1915 and that long-time historic use clearly indicated that the road was a public road. Absent any evidence that the county ever took affirmative steps to indicate an intent to abandon the road, the road remained a public road, and the District Court was affirmed. Galassi v. Lincoln County Bd. of Comm'rs, 2003 MT 319, 318 M 288, 80 P3d 84 (2003), followed in Roe Family LLC v. Lincoln County Bd. of Comm'rs, 2008 MT 70, 342 M 108, 179 P3d 514 (2008), to the extent that the record, taken as a whole, showed that a public road was created.

County Right-of-Way Considered Easement — Injunction Proper Remedy to Ensure Access to Right-of-Way: Jefferson County filed a complaint for a temporary injunction, an order allowing entry upon land to survey McCarty Creek Road, which passed through McCauley's land to public land beyond, and an order setting a show cause hearing. The District Court issued the injunction allowing the survey and set a date for hearing. At the hearing, the court found extensive documentary evidence, dating back to 1883, confirming the existence of McCarty Creek Road and, in its final order, determined that the road, as it crossed McCauley's property, was a dedicated and established county road. The court further enjoined McCauley from interfering with access or obstructing ingress and egress on the road. The Supreme Court affirmed, finding substantial credible evidence to support the District Court's determination and finding no abuse of discretion in enjoining McCauley from interfering with the public use of McCarty Creek Road.

Contempt Order Against County for Failure to Follow Proper Procedures Annulled: The lower court found the county in contempt for abandoning and changing a portion of a road without following the procedures suggested in an earlier court order. The Supreme Court stated that not all of the record had been before the lower court. An examination of the entire record indicated that the county had tried to follow the procedures set out in statute and the earlier court order. The Supreme Court annulled the contempt order and suggested that the parties might want to move to have the injunction against changing or abandoning the relevant portion of the road dissolved. State ex rel. Fallon County v. District Court, 245 M 382, 801 P2d 610, 47 St. Rep. 2187 (1990).

Quiet Title Action — Record Taken as a Whole: A landowner filed an action to quiet title to a county road established 80 years earlier, claiming that defects in the 1902 proceedings prevented establishment of a statutorily created 60-foot-wide public highway and that the existing public road was acquired by prescriptive use and was limited to the greatest width actually used. The record contained the actual petition to establish a road, signed by more than 20 residents of the area, including the appellant's predecessor in interest. The District Court decreed the road to be a 60-foot-wide declared county right-of-way, and the Supreme Court affirmed. The county is not required to prove on the face of the record that public officials had jurisdiction to create a public road if the record, taken as a whole, shows that a public road was created. Sheldon v. Flathead County, 218 M 270, 707 P2d 540, 42 St. Rep. 1573 (1985). See also O'Neill v. St., 225 M 364, 732 P2d 1330, 44 St. Rep. 305 (1987).

Abandoned Public Road to Revert to Abutting Property Owners: An action was filed to quiet title to a county road that had been established as a public road in 1909. The certificate of dedication of the 1909 plat stated that the streets therein were "granted and dedicated to the use of the public forever". In 1944, pursuant to section 1635, R.C.M. 1935, a petition for county road closure was filed. That same year the petition was granted by the County Commissioners. After 1944, neither the plaintiffs nor their predecessors in interest paid any taxes on the roadway and no portion of the roadway was fenced into the lands now belonging to the plaintiffs until 1980. The court quieted title in the plaintiffs, ruling that the 1909 plat dedication was the equivalent of a right-of-way deed under which the public acquired only the right-of-way and the incidents necessary to its enjoyment and that upon abandonment the fee in the street reverted to the abutting landowners, with each abutting landowner taking fee from the edge of his property to the center of the street. Bailey v. Ravalli County, 201 M 138, 653 P2d 139, 39 St. Rep. 2010 (1982), followed in Herreid v. Hauck, 254 M 496, 839 P2d 571, 49 St. Rep. 884 (1992), and Knutson v. Schroeder, 2008 MT 139, 343 M 81, 183 P3d 881 (2008).

Proceedings to Abandon Public Roadway Not to Be Questioned When More Than Thirty Years Have Elapsed Since Abandonment: In 1944, a roadway was abandoned by the County Commissioners pursuant to proceedings instituted under section 1635, R.C.M. 1935. In its review of the District Court's 1981 decision to quiet title to the roadway in the abutting property owners, the Supreme Court ruled that even though the record does not affirmatively show that the statutory notice requirements were met, in the absence of any question being raised by abutting landowners or the county over a period of more than 30 years, the proceedings cannot now be questioned. Bailey v. Ravalli County, 201 M 138, 653 P2d 139, 39 St. Rep. 2010 (1982).

Quiet Title Action — Petition to Establish Road: A landowner brought an action to quiet title to a road crossing his property. Despite jurisdictional defects, such as failure to require production of a copy of the petition establishing the road or proof that the petition was signed by 10 qualified petitioners, the record taken as a whole showed that a public road was created. Reid v. Park County, 192 M 231, 627 P2d 1210, 38 St. Rep. 631 (1981), followed in Jefferson County v. McCauley Ranches, 1999 MT 333, 297 M 392, 994 P2d 11, 56 St. Rep. 1329 (1999), Galassi v. Lincoln County Bd. of Comm'rs, 2003 MT 319, 318 M 288, 80 P3d 84 (2003), Lee v. Musselshell County, 2004 MT 64, 320 M 294, 87 P3d 423 (2004), and Sayers v. Chouteau County, 2013 MT 45, 369 Mont. 98, 297 P.3d 312.

Insufficient Petition to Abandon — Number of Signatures: A petition for abandonment of a county road without the necessary number of signatures does not substantially comply with statutes on abandonment. Thus, the County Commissioners were without authority to act with respect to the abandonment. Chennault v. Sager, 187 M 455, 610 P2d 173, 37 St. Rep. 857 (1980).

Petition by District Freeholders Affected — Majority in District Required: When the only persons signing a petition for abandonment of a county road were the four freeholders residing on land adjacent to the road, their petition was insufficient. "A majority of the freeholders of the road district" cannot be construed "a majority of those directly affected", even though the road district in this instance consisted of an entire county containing 40,000 residents. Chennault v. Sager, 187 M 455, 610 P2d 173, 37 St. Rep. 857 (1980).

Substantial Compliance: Under former law, technical strictness in complying with the statute was not required, only substantial compliance. Oates v. Knutson, 182 M 195, 595 P2d 1181, 36 St. Rep. 1011 (1979).

Case Notes

Substantial Evidence of Establishment of County Road — Quiet Title Denied: Plaintiffs petitioned to have a road crossing their property abandoned as a county road, and when the county denied the petition, plaintiffs sought to quiet title and injunctive relief to prevent public use of the road. The District Court denied the request. Applying Reid v. Park County, 192 M 231, 627 P2d 1210 (1981), the Supreme Court examined the record as a whole and determined that the road had been proposed, viewed, constructed, and dedicated in substantial compliance with laws in effect in 1915 and that long-time historic use clearly indicated that the road was a public road. Absent any evidence that the county ever took affirmative steps to indicate an intent to abandon the road, the road remained a public road, and the District Court was affirmed. Galassi v. Lincoln County Bd. of Comm'rs, 2003 MT 319, 318 M 288, 80 P3d 84 (2003), followed in Roe Family LLC v. Lincoln County Bd. of Comm'rs, 2008 MT 70, 342 M 108, 179 P3d 514 (2008), to the extent that the record, taken as a whole, showed that a public road was created.

No Abandonment of County Road Through Combination of Nonuse and Building of Highway: Defendants fenced a section of Flathead County road G since 1955, placing five gates across the road in various places. The road provided the only access for a land company and was used by state personnel to access state lands. The road was established in 1893, and no document on record indicated that the road was ever abandoned. Defendants refused to remove the gates upon request, so suit was filed to enjoin them from erecting and maintaining gates across the road, and because no genuine issue of fact existed to show that the county abandoned or intended to abandon the road, the District Court granted summary judgment to the state. To prove abandonment of a road by a government entity, there must be a showing of a clear intent to abandon and the conduct that is claimed to demonstrate the intent to abandon must be some affirmative official act, rather than mere implication. On appeal, defendants argued that the county evidenced its clear intent to abandon the right-of-way by the coupling of two circumstances: (1) relocation of a roadway by the public authority; and (2) subsequent nonuse of the roadway. The Supreme Court found the argument illogical. If nonuse does not create abandonment and the building of a highway does not create abandonment, then the combination of the two also does not create abandonment. The District Court was affirmed. St. v. Fisher, 2003 MT 207, 317 M 49, 75 P3d 338 (2003), following Baertsch v. Lewis & Clark County, 256 M 114, 845 P2d 106 (1992). See also Ashby v. Maechling, 2010 MT 80, 356 Mont. 68, 229 P.3d 1210.

Public Highway Established Pursuant to 1895 Law — Mere Nonuse by County Not Considered Abandonment — Inapplicability of Prescriptive Easement and Reverse Adverse Possession: The District Court found that the Tucker Gulch Road was clearly defined and in use by the public for at least 27 years prior to enactment of sec. 2600, The Codes and Statutes of Montana (1895), which declared all highways and roads then used by the public as public highways. However, the court went on to hold that it was not a petitioned county road and that there was a prescriptive easement by the public over the road that had been lost through abandonment and by reverse adverse possession when a new road was relocated near the old one. The District Court properly found that Tucker Gulch Road was a public highway; however, mere nonuse or lack of maintenance by the county was insufficient to indicate a clear intent to abandon the road without notice and a public hearing. Moreover, the county's failure to respond to several quiet title actions in which the county was not served and the county's adoption of a resolution naming the road did not indicate an intent to abandon. Abandonment cannot be established by mere implication. The Supreme Court cited Baertsch v. Lewis & Clark County, 256 M 114, 845 P2d 106 (1992), for the general rule that title to a public road may not be obtained by adverse possession. The Supreme Court also cited Granite County v. Komberec, 245 M 252, 800 P2d 166 (1990), and affirmed the District Court's finding that there was not a public prescriptive easement along the relocated new road because most of the nonpermissive use of the new road was by occasional recreationists. The District Court's conclusion that creation of the easement was not specific and that the easements were designed for the access of the owners for activities associated with residential living was in error, however, absent evidence in the access agreement or survey establishing such a restriction. Thus, the grant of unrestricted access to landowners who had owned a mine adjoining the property in question was not in error. McCauley v. Thompson-Nistler, 2000 MT 215, 301 M 81, 10 P3d 794, 57 St. Rep. 855 (2000), distinguishing Pub. Lands Access Ass'n, Inc. v. Boone & Crockett Club Foundation, Inc., 259 M 279, 856 P2d 525 (1993), and followed in Lee v. Musselshell County, 2004 MT 64, 320 M 294, 87 P3d 423 (2004).

Court Jurisdiction: The District Court did not follow proper statutory procedure for obtaining jurisdiction to abandon or order the abandonment of a road; therefore, it did not have jurisdiction to order County Commissioners to abandon the road and could not hold the Commissioners in contempt for violating the order. Bd. of County Comm'rs v. District Court, 203 M 44, 659 P2d 266, 40 St. Rep. 284 (1983), followed in Lee v. Musselshell County, 2004 MT 64, 320 M 294, 87 P3d 423 (2004).

Attorney General's Opinions

Notice Requirement — Road Abandonment: Before abandonment of a county road, actual notice must be given to all landowners of record affected thereby. An abandonment order is effective only as to interested parties properly notified. 37 A.G. Op. 130 (1978).

Compiler's Comments

2001 Amendment: Chapter 354 in (3) in first sentence substituted "as provided in 7-1-2121" for "or posted in three public places" and deleted former second sentence that read: "Such notice must be published in a newspaper or posted at least 1 week before the petition is acted on"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2001.

Case Notes

Closed for School Purposes: Erection of fence by school board on city-owned land adjacent to street in such a manner as to block neither vehicular nor pedestrian traffic would not be a discontinuance, closing, or vacation of all or part of street and would not fall within natural import of language "closed for school purposes" as used in this section, so that approval by 75% of lot owners on street was not required. State ex rel. Smart v. Big Timber, 165 M 328, 528 P2d 688 (1974).

Evidence of Public Detriment: Where the record did not show that the Commissioners made a finding of fact that a street could be closed without detriment to the public interest but it did show a detriment to abutting landowners, to the city, and to the public interest generally, the petition for discontinuance should have been denied. Miller v. Schrock, 135 M 409, 340 P2d 154 (1959).

Case Notes

Ferry as Incident of Highway: That a Board of County Commissioners had no express authority until 1909 to issue bonds for and establish public ferries is immaterial because a ferry is an incident or movable portion of a highway where it crosses a stream. Operation of Ferry a Proprietary Function: The county operated an aerial basket carrier to transport the public across a river in the winter season when the county ferry was inoperable. The county was found to be performing a proprietary function in operating the carrier and hence was liable for the plaintiff's injuries sustained while attempting to board the carrier. (Section 1, Ch. 38, L. 1943, declared such operation by the county to be a governmental function.) Jacoby v. Part 41
General Provisions Related to Municipal Trafficways and Public Grounds

Part Attorney General's Opinions

"Discontinue" Clarified: The term "discontinue", as used in Title 7, ch. 14, parts 26 and 41, is synonymous with the terms "abandon" and "vacate". 40 A.G. Op. 23 (1983).

7-14-4101. Municipal authority to establish, alter, and maintain trafficways and public grounds.

Case Notes

City Authority to Plant Trees: Plaintiff filed suit against the city to prevent the planting of trees in the boulevard area of the sidewalk in front on his property. The District Court dismissed plaintiff's complaint for failure to state a cause of action because the City Council has broad discretion under this section to alter and maintain city streets and avenues, including the planting of trees. A statement by the City Council Public Works Committee that no trees would be planted if plaintiff objected did not create a contract binding on the city. The elements of a contract are missing here, and there was no action by the City Council as required by 7-5-4121 to create a contract. Duncan v. Missoula, 239 M 201, 779 P2d 519, 46 St. Rep. 1619 (1989).

Limited Power to Vacate: The power of a city to vacate, discontinue, or close a street is limited by 7-14-2616. State ex rel. Smart v. Big Timber, 165 M 328, 528 P2d 688 (1974).

Issuance of License Conditional on Removal of Encroachment: Although a town has express authority to compel the removal of encroachments upon public property within its boundaries, it may do so indirectly under 7-21-4101 by tying the removal of a house encroaching on an alley to the issuance of a license to operate a mobile home court. Barnes v. Belgrade, 164 M 467, 524 P2d 1112 (1974).

Method of Issuing Bonds: When an indebtedness is incurred for the paving, repairing, and widening of streets, the accepted method of issuing bonds is by means of a special assessment and the creation of a special improvement district under 7-12-4131. Dietrich v. Deer Lodge, 124 M 8, 218 P2d 708 (1950).

No Power to Incur Indebtedness: This section does not give a City or Town Council the power to incur indebtedness or issue bonds for street purposes. Dietrich v. Deer Lodge, 124 M 8, 218 P2d 708 (1950).

Street Work Within Exclusive Jurisdiction of City: With relation to work to be done on the streets of a city, such streets are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the municipality through its Council. State ex rel. Butte v. Healy, 105 M 227, 70 P2d 437 (1937).

7-14-4102. Regulation of trafficways and public grounds.

Compiler's Comments

2015 Amendment: Chapter 173 in (1) at beginning inserted exception clause. Amendment effective October 1, 2015.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 287 in (6), after "sliding", inserted "skateboarding, rollerblading"; and made minor changes in style.

Case Notes

Municipality's Authority to Adopt Ordinance Limiting University Students' Rights to Park on City Streets: A university student association challenged the legality of a city ordinance limiting parking in residential areas near the university to residents of those areas. The Supreme Court held that municipalities have the power to regulate parking and that regulating parking to relieve congestion in certain residential neighborhoods was a reasonable exercise of governmental authority. Assoc. Students v. Missoula, 261 M 231, 862 P2d 380, 50 St. Rep. 1301 (1993).

Equitable Estoppel — Municipal Corporations: After a building permit was issued and construction began, it was discovered that the building encroached upon a city street. Relying on the assurance of the City Council that the building would not have to be removed, the builder resumed construction. Later the City Council ordered the building removed. Although the doctrine of equitable estoppel is applied to municipal corporations with great caution and only in exceptional cases, all six elements were present in this case. Boulder v. Bullock, 193 M 493, 632 P2d 716, 38 St. Rep. 1344 (1981).

Issuance of License Conditional on Removal of Encroachment: Although a town has express authority to compel the removal of encroachments upon public property within its boundaries, it may do so indirectly under 7-21-4101 by tying the removal of a house encroaching on an alley to the issuance of a license to operate a mobile home court. Barnes v. Belgrade, 164 M 467, 524 P2d 1112 (1974).

State Law and Ordinance Covering Same Subject: Since state traffic laws in effect in 1951 covered offenses both within and without municipalities, a city ordinance prohibiting drunken driving and providing for a penalty was void. An ordinance punishing an act made penal by an existing state law must yield to the state law. Billings v. Herold, 130 M 138, 296 P2d 263 (1956).

Parking Meters: The state has given the cities and towns a broad and comprehensive power over the streets within their limits. The use of parking meters as an aid in regulating motor vehicle traffic is a valid exercise of this power. Glodt v. Missoula, 121 M 178, 190 P2d 545 (1948).

7-14-4103. Regulation of motor vehicles.

Compiler's Comments

2015 Amendment: Chapter 173 in (1) at beginning inserted exception clause; in (2) substituted current definition of motor vehicles for "shall include all vehicles propelled by any power other than muscular power, except traction engines, road rollers, fire wagons and engines, fire department vehicles, and police patrol wagons"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2015.

7-14-4105. Lighting and cleaning of trafficways and public grounds.

Case Notes

Property Owner's Liability — Removal of Snow: A city ordinance which requires a property owner to keep the adjoining sidewalks free from snow and ice under penalty of fine is not intended for the protection of the individual by the owner. Rather, the owner is aiding the city in discharging the city's primary duty. Failure to comply with the ordinance with consequent injury to a pedestrian does not give rise to a cause of action against the owner. Steen v. Grenz, 167 M 279, 538 P2d 16 (1975); Childers v. Deschamps, 87 M 505, 290 P 261 (1930).

Electric Lighting System Owned by Corporation: Under this section, 69-4-101, and the sections authorizing special improvement districts, an improvement district may be created for the purpose of maintaining an electric lighting system and furnishing electrical current to the system even though the system is owned by an individual or corporation. Marchi v. Brackman, 130 M 228, 299 P2d 761 (1956).

Nuisance Action Improper: A claim under this section that parking meters are a nuisance and obstruction necessitating removal by the city is improper, as this section merely authorizes a city to clean and enforce cleaning of streets. Glodt v. Missoula, 121 M 178, 190 P2d 545 (1948).

Garbage Removal Within Police Power: The authority of cities to remove garbage and to provide a special tax against the property from which it is removed to meet the cost falls within the police power in the interest of public health. N. Pac. Ry. v. Lutey, 104 M 321, 66 P2d 785 (1937).

Duty of City — Sidewalks: If a city ordinance requires the abutting owner to keep a sidewalk in repair, the city's duty to the public is not affected; it merely makes the abutting owner a joint agent with the city for the performance of the city's duties. Headley v. Hammond Bldg., Inc., 97 M 243, 33 P2d 574 (1934).

Nuisance Created by City's Disposal of Garbage: Although a city has the power to regulate the removal and disposition of garbage, it does not have the right to so deposit it as to create a condition injurious to health or offensive to the senses and thus interfere with the comfortable enjoyment of life and property. Lennon v. Butte, 67 M 101, 214 P 1101 (1923).

Removal of Snow and Ice by Occupant: An ordinance required the occupant of premises to keep adjoining sidewalks free of ice and snow. As the remedy against the occupant is merely cumulative and not inconsistent with the power granted, a city has the right to proceed against the occupant as well as the owner. Helena v. Kent, 32 M 279, 80 P 258 (1905).

Attorney General's Opinions

Authority to Tax for Garbage Removal Services: A city does not have authority under 7-14-4106(1) to impose a tax for city garbage removal services; rather, 7-6-4401 provides this authority. 38 A.G. Op. 30 (1979).

(Annotator's Note: Section 7-14-4106(1), MCA 1978, contained a typographical error that was determinative of this aspect of the opinion. The error was corrected in the Official Report of the Code Commissioner—1979 at page 8. Section 7-14-4106(1) does indeed authorize a city to impose a tax for city garbage removal services.)

7-14-4106. Payment for cost of removing waste.

Compiler's Comments

2001 Amendment: Chapter 574 near end substituted "charge" for "tax"; and deleted former (2) that read: "(2) The city or town council may further, until full liquidation is realized, include in such tax an amount not to exceed 20% of any floating indebtedness consisting of valid outstanding warrants drawn and issued against the fund or funds used to defray the expense of removing such matter, existing at the close of business on June 30, 1943, together with not to exceed such per centum of the current interest thereon from such last-mentioned date. The money derived from such portion of such levy and assessment for such additional amount, if included in such tax, may only be expended toward liquidating such floating indebtedness, together with the interest thereon, and not otherwise"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

Case Notes

Assessment of All Property Within City: It is not always possible to ascertain from what property garbage in the streets arises. Whether all of the property in a city derives a benefit from its removal is doubtful; however, its removal is necessary for the public health. If the levy in question covers too much property, the assessment is unlawful in part only. N. Pac. Ry. v. Lutey, 104 M 321, 66 P2d 785 (1937).

Garbage Removal Within Police Power: The authority of cities to remove garbage and to provide a special tax against the property from which it is removed to meet the cost falls within the police power in the interest of public health. N. Pac. Ry. v. Lutey, 104 M 321, 66 P2d 785 (1937).

Tax Similar to Special Assessment: The special tax provided for by this section in essence requires property owners to pay for services rendered. It is similar to a special assessment in that the city must determine what property should be assessed. Such a determination, in the absence of fraud or manifest mistake, is conclusive. N. Pac. Ry. v. Lutey, 104 M 321, 66 P2d 785 (1937).

Attorney General's Opinions

Authority to Tax for Garbage Removal Services: A city does not have authority under this section to impose a tax for city garbage removal services; rather, 7-6-4401 provides this authority. 38 A.G. Op. 30 (1979).

Compiler's Comments

1983 Amendment: Near beginning of section, after "town council" substituted "may" for "has power to"; after "for the" substituted "maintenance" for "sprinkling"; near middle of section, after "town and" substituted "may fix" for "to fix the"; and at end of section, inserted references to Title 7, ch. 12, part 44.

Case Notes

Burden on County to Show Material Fact Regarding Height of Hedge — Nonconforming Use Not Proved — Summary Judgment Improper: A municipal code provision, passed in 1978, regulated, for traffic safety purposes, the height of hedges that could be grown on corners of intersections at 3 feet, but also permitted the existence of nonconforming uses prior to 1978. Ramirez was injured in a vehicle accident at an intersection where the hedge was taller than 5 feet and sought to hold the county accountable for failing its duty to enforce the ordinance. In granting summary judgment to the county, the District Court held the hedge to be a prior nonconforming use, noting that the hedge had been there since at least 1959. The Supreme Court reversed, finding that the county had offered no proof that the hedge was either taller than 3 feet in 1978 or had not been trimmed since 1978. The county did not meet its burden of showing the absence of this genuine issue of material fact; thus, summary judgment was improper. Ramirez v. Hatch, 1999 MT 107, 294 M 316, 979 P2d 1281, 56 St. Rep. 441 (1999).

Sprinkling as Maintenance — Liability of City: Because the sprinkling of streets is related more to the maintenance of the streets than to public health, it is a corporate rather than a governmental function. A city is therefore liable for injuries arising from the negligence of the driver of a sprinkling truck. Griffith v. Butte, 72 M 552, 234 P 829 (1925).

Retroactive Applicability: Section 3, Ch. 159, L. 2007, provided: "[This act] applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to city or town council orders for the construction of sidewalks, curbs, gutters, or alley approaches occurring after December 31, 2006."

1983 Amendment: In (1), increased payment term from 8 to 12 years.

Case Notes

Sidewalk Along State Highway Within Department's Jurisdiction: A city cannot levy a special assessment for a sidewalk installed by the city along a state highway without the involvement of the Department of Highways (now Department of Transportation). Palffy v. Bozeman, 168 M 108, 540 P2d 955 (1975).

7-14-4114. Procedure to discontinue streets.

Compiler's Comments

2001 Amendment: Chapter 354 in (3) in first sentence after "must be published" deleted "or posted in three public places" and in second sentence substituted "as provided in 7-1-4127" for "in a newspaper or posted at least 1 week before the petition is acted on"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2001.

1989 Amendment: In (1), in middle of introductory phrase after "town", deleted "upon the petition in writing of all owners of lots on the street or alley" and at end inserted "upon"; inserted (1)(a) and (1)(b) concerning petitions; and in (2), after "school purposes", inserted clause relating to discontinuance of street or alley and at end, after "closed", deleted "will be required".

Section Not Codified: The last paragraph of section 11-2801, R.C.M. 1947, a validation clause, was not codified in the MCA. This clause has not been repealed and is still valid law. Citation may be made to sec. 1, Ch. 36, L. 1945.

Case Notes

Authority to Permanently Close: The City Commission had authority to make a temporary closure permanent without a further petition when the original petition requested that action be taken "on a trial basis until a final determination has been made by the City Commission that the overall effect . . . has been beneficial". This language gave the Commission continuing authority after the closure on a temporary basis. Wynia v. Great Falls, 183 M 458, 600 P2d 802, 36 St. Rep. 1589 (1979).

Closure Versus Vacation: Closure and vacation are not synonymous. The former merely alters the use of a street, while the latter effects the vacation of the city's legal interest in the street.

Therefore, a city may close a street without meeting the notice requirements of 7-3-4448 if it complies with the notice requirements of this section, and in such a case the requirement of 7-3-4448 that the right of access be maintained does not apply. Further, there is no reversion to the lot owners of half the closed street since the city retains its rights in the street. Wynia v. Great Falls, 183 M 458, 600 P2d 802, 36 St. Rep. 1589 (1979).

Percentage of Signatures Required — Closure for School Purposes: When the petition for closure requested the closure of four segments of a street, the required number of signatures was 75% of the lot owners of the whole part of the street to be closed and not 75% of the lot owners abutting on a particular closed segment. The whole part of the street to be closed was determined by looking at the total effect of the simultaneous closure of the four segments. Wynia v. Great Falls, 183 M 458, 600 P2d 802, 36 St. Rep. 1589 (1979).

Restriction of Access by Street Closure Not Compensable: The abutting lot owners do not suffer compensable damage when a street closure restricts their access to their property as long as some "adequate and reasonable" means of access are preserved. Wynia v. Great Falls, 183 M 458, 600 P2d 802, 36 St. Rep. 1589 (1979).

7-14-4122. Construction and maintenance of sidewalks, curbs, and gutters.

Case Notes

Liability of City for Actions of Executive Branch Officers of City With Self-Governing Powers: Although this section gives city councils the power to regulate and repair sidewalks, the section does not apply when a city has adopted a charter that provides for separate branches of government and delegates different duties to each branch. When a charter gave the executive branch the power to enforce the ordinance pertaining to sidewalk repair, any negligent acts or omissions connected with the maintenance of sidewalks were attributable to the executive branch and neither the city's legislative body nor its agents were implicated by the executive's failure to repair the sidewalks. Accordingly, the city was not immune from suit under 2-9-111 for the negligent maintenance of a city sidewalk. Woods v. Billings, 248 M 254, 811 P2d 534, 48 St. Rep. 421 (1991).

Lack of Notice: An assessment levied in 1908 to pay for the expense incurred by a city in the construction of a sidewalk without first giving the owner of the abutting property notice and affording him an opportunity to construct it himself, as required by the statute and an ordinance of the city then in force, was invalid and constituted no lien on the property. Murray v. Helena, 65 M 485, 211 P 197 (1922).

Establishment and Change of Street Grade

Part Case Notes

Subway Under Railroad Tracks: A city ordered a railroad company to construct a subway under its tracks on the city's main street. Two businesses were situated on the railroad's right-of-way adjacent to the main street whose means of ingress and egress would be destroyed by the lowering of the grade. Because the main street had existed for 50 years and had been paved and improved, the grade could not be changed without first complying with this part. State ex rel. Miles City v. N. Pac. Ry., 88 M 529, 295 P 257 (1930).

Part 43
Municipal Regulation of Railways and Street Railroads

7-14-4301. Regulation of railways.

Compiler's Comments

2007 Amendment: Chapter 61 made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2007.

Case Notes

Railroad Right-of-Way — Extent of Uses: When the grant of a right-of-way is made to a railroad company without restrictions, it contemplates not merely the railroad as it may be established in the first instance but the railroad with all its necessary appurtenances as it may from time to time come necessarily to be. The construction and use of coal docks by the railroad company within its right-of-way are therefore proper. Smith v. N. Pac. Ry., 50 M 539, 148 P 393 (1915).

Commercial Railroad Distinguished From Street Railroad: A mining company's railroad used for carriage of its and the public's supplies, ore, and merchandise is not a commercial railroad as distinguished from a street railroad. Kipp v. Davis-Daly Copper Co., 41 M 509, 110 P 237 (1910).

Mining Company's Railroad as Public Use: A city may permit the use of its streets in any manner and for any purpose reasonably incident to public travel. Because modes of public travel change, the owner of adjacent property is presumed to have received compensation when the way was created for changing public uses. The use of a mining company's railroad for carriage of its and the public's supplies, ore, and merchandise which otherwise would be transported by teams is a public use. Kipp v. Davis-Daly Copper Co., 41 M 509, 110 P 237 (1910).

7-14-4302. Regulation of lighting for railway right-of-way — crossings.

Case Notes

Change of Grade Resulting From Railroad Crossing: Before a city may order the construction of a subway street crossing necessitating a change in the grade of the street, it must comply with 7-14-4201, et seq. State ex rel. Miles City v. N. Pac. Ry., 88 M 529, 295 P 257 (1930).

Not Applicable to Street Railroads: Because this section does not apply to street railroads, an ordinance requiring a street railway company to light its track within the corporate limits without expense to the city is void. Helena Light & Ry. v. Helena, 47 M 18, 130 P 446 (1913).

7-14-4303. Authorization for and regulation of street railroads.

Case Notes

Authority Over Street Railroads: This section and 7-5-4101 confer all the powers necessary for the policing of street railroads. Helena Light & Ry. v. Helena, 47 M 18, 130 P 446 (1913).

Railroads and Street Railroads Distinguished: The frequent use in the laws of this state of the prefix "street" before "railroads" or "railways" indicates the legislative intention to maintain a distinction between railroads and street railroads. In construing enactments pertaining to railroads, they should not be held to apply to street railroads unless the intention is apparent. Helena Light & Ry. v. Helena, 47 M 18, 130 P 446 (1913).

(b) the municipality shall be exempt from the payment of fees provided by 69-12-421 and 69-12-422."

No County Authority to Provide Housing to Low-Income Elderly: A county with general government powers does not have the authority under Art. XI, sec. 4, Mont. Const., or 7-8-2102 to construct or maintain an apartment complex for elderly low-income citizens that does not otherwise constitute a boarding or nursing home under 7-34-2301 and that does not constitute a public building under 7-8-2102. Instead, a county or municipal housing authority should be created under Title 7, ch. 15, parts 21 or 44, to provide such housing. 42 A.G. Op. 20 (1987).

Case Notes

Legislative Finding of "Public Purpose" Upheld: Legislation having for its purpose the eradication of slums and the substitution of safe and sanitary dwellings is well within the definition of "public purpose". The Legislature having so declared, it is not the duty or the prerogative of the Supreme Court to interfere with that finding in the absence of a clear showing that the determination was wrong. Rutherford v. Great Falls, 107 M 512, 86 P2d 656 (1939).

Attorney General's Opinions

County Housing Authority — Implicit Power to Finance Rehabilitation of Private Dwellings: A county housing authority has implicit statutory power to administer the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program for the rehabilitation of privately owned housing, and a general power county government may therefore administer the CDBG program through a county housing authority. This conclusion is reached because the Legislature recognizes the existence of substandard housing in rural as well as urban areas, and the constitution mandates the resolution of reasonable doubts in favor of local government power. 40 A.G. Op. 17 (1983).

General Government Power County — No Power to Finance Rehabilitation of Private Dwellings: A county with general government powers has no inherent authority to administer a program for the rehabilitation of privately owned housing funded under the Community Development Block Grant program since no statutes expressly confer this power on general power county governments. 40 A.G. Part 41
General Provisions Related to Municipal Housing and Construction

Equitable Estoppel Defense Defeated — Failure of Counterclaim to State Claim for Which Relief May Be Granted: The city of Whitefish sought and obtained a permanent injunction against Troy Town Pump, Inc. (Town Pump), requiring removal of a sign that violated the city's ordinance. Town Pump's defense was that the city's approval of the original building plan equitably estopped the city's claim. Alternatively, Town Pump counterclaimed for the costs of remodeling the building. In order for the city to obtain a permanent injunction, it first had to overcome Town Pump's counterclaim that it was equitably estopped from doing so. The city successfully defeated the counterclaim. Absent a legal theory upon which to base damages, the city could not be held liable, so the District Court did not err in dismissing Town Pump's counterclaim for damages on grounds that it failed to state a claim for which relief could be granted. Whitefish v. Troy Town Pump, Inc., 2001 MT 58, 304 M 346, 21 P3d 1026 (2001).

Revocation of Prior City Approval of Building Plan Based on Incorrect Conclusion That Proposed Fascia Did Not Constitute Sign — Equitable Estoppel Inapplicable — Jurisdiction Properly Retained: The city of Whitefish adopted a master plan that included a policy providing that commercial signs are a blighting factor and that contained strict limits on the size and character of signs. Troy Town Pump, Inc. (Town Pump), submitted blueprints to the city for a new exterior, referred to as a fascia, that included lettering above an awning. The city manager reviewed the blueprints for the design before it was installed and, believing that only the written words but not the entire awning constituted a sign, approved the design and issued a building permit. When installed, the awning consisted of a band of translucent, raspberry-colored material 4 feet 11 inches high, extending about 162 feet across the entire length of the front of the building. Four rows of white fluorescent light tubes located behind the awning extended the entire length of the material and lit it from behind, and four neon lights were placed in front of the awning, which ran horizontally the entire length of the front of the building and approximately 42 feet along the rear of the building. The City Council concluded that the entire awning constituted a sign that violated the city ordinance because it was too big and directed Town Pump to remove the lighting. When Town Pump refused, the city sought an injunction prohibiting Town Pump from operating the lighting. Town Pump's defense was that the city's claims were barred under the doctrine of equitable estoppel, because the design had already been reviewed and the building permit issued. During a bench trial, the city manager testified that if he had realized that the fascia would create a lighting scheme that dwarfed the lettering and far exceeded general lighting needs, he would not have approved the building permit. The District Court issued a permanent injunction requiring removal of all lighting and reserved jurisdiction to determine whether the entire awning constituted a sign within the meaning of the ordinance, thereby justifying further injunctive relief. In a subsequent order, the court granted the city's motion for judgment on the pleadings on the counterclaim on grounds that the counterclaim failed to state a claim upon which relief could be granted. Town Pump appealed. The Supreme Court held that original approval of the building permit was based on an incorrect misrepresentation of law, not fact, that the fascia did not constitute a sign. Thus, Town Pump failed to establish the first element of equitable estoppel, which requires a misrepresentation of fact. Further examination revealed that Town Pump failed to establish even one element of equitable estoppel, dooming its defense to the city's request for an injunction. The city's broad definition of sign was intended to include not only traditional signs, but also embellishments intended to draw attention to a traditional sign or to the business itself, so the District Court did not abuse its discretion in ordering removal of the lighting. Further, under the city's broad request for relief, the court did not err in retaining jurisdiction to allow the city to return to court after the lighting was removed to consider an order requiring removal of the awning. The court simply exercised its discretion in a manner that allowed it to grant all relief necessary in the matter. Whitefish v. Troy Town Pump, Inc., 2001 MT 58, 304 M 346, 21 P3d 1026 (2001).

Arbitrary Denial of Building Permit by City Council — City, City Council, and Individual Council Members Liable: In an action under 43 U.S.C. 1983, the court of appeals upheld the District Court's holding that the Billings City Council's refusal to issue a building permit after the applicant had satisfied all the requirements for issuing the permit was an arbitrary and capricious action that deprived the applicant of his substantive due process rights. The city, City Council, and individual members of the City Council have no immunity from such action and are all liable for damages. Bateson v. Geisse, 857 F2d 1300 (9th Cir. 1988).

Case Notes

"Area" Concept — Taking: The "area" concept of taking, that so long as a city establishes boundaries of an urban renewal district it need not prove necessity for taking individual properties, does not prevail if it is shown that the property is not reasonably necessary to the clearance of the blighted area and prevention of recurrence of blight. Helena v. DeWolf, 162 M 57, 508 P2d 122 (1973).

No Conclusive Presumption of Public Use: Condemnation by a city for urban renewal of a blighted area does not create a conclusive presumption of public use and necessity as provided by 7-5-4106. Helena v. DeWolf, 162 M 57, 508 P2d 122 (1973).

Showing of Necessity to Take Property: A city sought to condemn property for parking facilities designed to serve structures to be built by private enterprise. Because the city was unable to predict when such structures would be built, if at all, a showing of necessity to take property for an urban renewal project was not made. Helena v. DeWolf, 162 M 57, 508 P2d 122 (1973).

General Municipal Statutes Not Applicable to Housing Authority: After the City Council exercises its discretion to empower the Mayor to appoint Commissioners and proceed with incorporation of a housing authority, appropriates money for the authority's first-year expenses, and does other acts of similar import, the general municipal statutes cease to have any further application to the authority, it being under the exclusive control of 7-15-4401, et seq., and 7-15-4501, et seq. State ex rel. Great Falls Housing Authority v. Great Falls, 110 M 318, 100 P2d 915 (1940).

Exemption From State and Local Taxation: Because the property and securities of a housing authority are essentially public property, they qualify for the exemption from state and local taxation under Art. VIII, sec. 5, Mont. Const. Rutherford v. Great Falls, 107 M 512, 86 P2d 656 (1939).

Section Not Codified: Section 35-136(part), R.C.M. 1947, was not codified in the MCA, because it was redundant with this section. This provision has not been repealed and is still valid law. Citation may be made to sec. 1, Ch. 138, L. 1935. See 1-2-208, stating that amendment to a codified provision is given effect over an uncodified provision.

Case Notes

Appropriation of Funds by City Mandatory: A city may not refuse to make an appropriation for a housing authority's first-year expenses and overhead on the grounds that it has no funds appropriated for that purpose or no funds not otherwise appropriated. Funds required to be expended under this section constitute "mandatory expenditures required by law" within the meaning of 7-6-4251 (now repealed). State ex rel. Helena Housing Authority v. Helena, 108 M 347, 90 P2d 514 (1939).

Donation of Funds by City — Constitutionality: City funds may constitutionally be donated to a housing authority as the city is performing, indirectly through a public agency created by the state, one of the primary functions of municipal government. State ex rel. Helena Housing Authority v. Helena, 108 M 347, 90 P2d 514 (1939); Rutherford v. Great Falls, 107 M 512, 86 P2d 656 (1939).

Estimate Within City's Discretion: A city has discretion in making the estimate of the housing authority's first-year expenses and overhead and will not be overruled absent a clearly arbitrary abuse of this discretion. State ex rel. Helena Housing Authority v. Helena, 108 M 347, 90 P2d 514 (1939).

2001 Amendment: Chapter 197 in first sentence of (2) after "must be" substituted "directly assisted by" for "tenants of" and at end inserted "and are known as resident commissioners", deleted former second through fourth sentences that read: "One tenant commissioner shall represent family tenants, and one tenant commissioner shall represent elderly tenants and tenants with disabilities. Nominees for tenant commissioner shall submit to the city clerk a petition signed by not less than 25 adult tenants of the authority or 25% of the adult tenants of the authority, whichever is greater. The city clerk shall submit a list of the tenant nominees to the mayor for appointment to the housing authority", and in second sentence substituted "resident" for "tenant" and at end inserted exception clause. 1997 Amendment: Chapter 472 in second sentence of (2) substituted "tenants with disabilities" for "handicapped tenants"; and made minor changes in style.

1989 Amendment: In (1) raised from five to seven the number of commissioners comprising an authority; inserted (2) setting out tenant commissioner requirements and explaining the nominating process; and made minor changes in phraseology.

Contract With City for Slum Clearance: A contract between a city and a housing authority whereby the city agreed to eliminate unsafe and unsanitary dwellings in the city to an extent at least equal to the number of new dwelling units to be erected by the authority and to cooperate generally in the program of the authority was valid. Rutherford v. Great Falls, 107 M 512, 86 P2d 656 (1939).

Attorney General's Opinions

Power of Municipal and County Housing Authorities to Enter Into Interlocal Agreements: The Missoula Housing Authority may not enter into an interlocal agreement with Ravalli and Mineral Counties to administer federal rent subsidy programs beyond its jurisdictional boundaries. However, it may so administer via cooperative agreements with other housing authorities. 39 A.G. Op. 37 (1981).

Administration of Federal Rent Supplement Program — Purpose of Municipal Housing Authorities — Jurisdictional Area: Although there is no explicit statutory authority for a municipal housing authority to administer federal rent supplement funds, an authority may do so because the purpose of the federal program falls within the range of duties of a municipal housing authority. The federal program may not be administered outside an authority's 10-mile jurisdictional boundaries. 39 A.G. Op. 4 (1981).

Administration of Federal Rent Supplement Program — Purpose of Municipal Housing Authorities — Jurisdictional Area: Although there is no explicit statutory authority for a municipal housing authority to administer federal rent supplement funds, an authority may contract to administer the funds because the purpose of the federal program falls within the range of duties allocated to a municipal housing authority. The federal program may not be administered outside an authority's 10-mile jurisdictional area because there is no authority to bypass the 10-mile limit and because the commissioners are required to strictly comply with the provisions of law. 39 A.G. 7-15-4454. General powers related to housing programs.

Case Notes

"Persons of Low Income": That this section authorizes the commissioners to determine who are "persons of low income" without providing a specific standard does not result in an unconstitutional delegation of legislative powers. Because housing authorities will be funded chiefly by federal programs, the federal restrictions will assure uniformity in the standard throughout the state. Rutherford v. Great Falls, 107 M 512, 86 P2d 656 (1939).

7-15-4455. Housing projects subject to planning, zoning, and building laws.

Case Notes

Subcontractor's Lien Against Housing Authority Improper: A subcontractor's mechanics' lien (now construction lien) for utility installation on a Montana Housing Authority project was improper. Even though Montana's mechanics' lien (now construction lien) laws are to be liberally construed to protect the rights of lien claimants and housing authorities may be sued, 7-15-4532 exempts Authority property from levy and sale by execution and 27-18-102 exempts it from attachment and execution. Bender v. Rookhuizen, 211 M 366, 685 P2d 343, 41 St. Rep. 1418 (1984).

Strict Conformance With General Laws Not Required: Considered in connection with 7-15-4440, this section can only mean that when the general laws are required to be generally applied they shall be so only when the application will not defeat the purpose of the housing authority law. County Board of Park Commissioners

Board — No Authority to Levy Tax: A County Park Board does not have the authority to levy a special tax for park purposes. 40 A.G. Op. 49 (1984).

Authority of Board of County Commissioners Over Parkland: A County Park Board may not sell county park property. However, a Board of County Commissioners may sell land that has been dedicated to the public for park purposes in accordance with procedures set out in 7-16-2324, and it may sell county land which has been used or purchased but not dedicated for park purposes subject to the limitations set out in 7-8-2211 through 7-8-2220. 36 A.G. Op. 38 (1975).

Duties of County Park Board: A County Park Board may expend its funds only for the improvement of any parkland to which the county holds legal title. However, Montana law does not require a County Park Board to develop every parcel of parkland or any particular parcel of parkland. 36 A.G. Op. 38 (1975).

Restriction of Use to Residents of a Particular Area: Generally, a County Park Board may not restrict the use of any county park to the residents of any particular area, although the history and circumstances of each park must be reviewed to determine whether there are any special circumstances that would create an exception to this general rule. Of course, no such restriction exception should be made without also considering whether the constitutional guarantee of equal protection under the law would be violated thereby. 36 A.G. Op. 38 (1975).

Duties of County Park Board: A County Park Board may expend its funds only for the improvement of any parkland to which the county holds legal title. However, Montana law does not require a County Park Board to develop every parcel of parkland or any particular parcel of parkland. 36 A.G. Op. 38 (1975).

Restriction of Use to Residents of a Particular Area: Generally, a County Park Board may not restrict the use of any county park to the residents of any particular area, although the history and circumstances of each park must be reviewed to determine whether there are any special circumstances that would create an exception to this general rule. Of course, no such restriction exception should be made without also considering whether the constitutional guarantee of equal protection under the law would be violated thereby. 36 A.G. Op. 38 (1975).

2005 Amendment: Chapter 333 in (1) near middle after "76-3-621" deleted "or a similar statute or pursuant to any instrument not specifically conveying land to a governmental unit other than a county" and at end after "lands" inserted "unless conveyance to a governmental unit other than a county is provided by law or agreement". Amendment effective October 1, 2005.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 468 in (1) and (4) substituted "76-3-621" for "76-3-606 and 76-3-607"; and made minor changes in style.

1995 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 468, L. 1995, provided: "It is the intent of the legislature that the department of commerce, local government assistance division, update its model subdivision rules to minimize the fiscal impacts to local governments in implementing this legislation."

Applicability: Section 13, Ch. 468, L. 1995, provided: "Funds in a park fund that exceed $10,000 as of [the effective date of this act] [October 1, 1995] must be used for park land acquisition and initial development. Funds in a park fund up to $10,000 as of [the effective date of this act] [October 1, 1995] may be used for park maintenance in accordance with a formally adopted park plan."

1985 Amendment: In (3)(d) inserted "as provided in 7-1-2121".

Case Notes

Writ of Certiorari Not Available — Appropriation of In-Lieu Funds: When the County Commission appropriated in-lieu park funds to a project not specifically authorized in the county outdoor recreation and open space plan, a Writ of Certiorari did not lie because the Commission, in appropriating money, was acting in a legislative, not judicial, capacity. There is no action more clearly legislative than that of appropriation of public funds. Burgess v. Gallatin County Comm'n, 215 M 503, 698 P2d 862, 42 St. Rep. 585 (1985).

Attorney General's Opinions

Park Board Partly Funded by County General Fund: The funding for the county park board's obligations is derived from the county general fund as well as from other specific sources as enumerated by 7-16-2328, 76-3-606 (now repealed), and this section. Since a specific separate tax levy is not authorized for the park fund, additional money must be appropriated from the county general fund authorized by 7-6-2501 if the revenue from sources other than taxation is insufficient to meet the necessary expenditures. 40 A.G. Op. 49 (1984).

Restriction on Use of Revenues Received From Sale of Park Lands and Donations: Revenues raised from sale of park lands and from cash donations in lieu of dedication of land for park purposes pursuant to 76-3-606 (now repealed) and this section are restricted in use to the purposes of purchase of additional lands or the initial development of parks and playgrounds. While these revenues are part of the park fund, they should be separated from unrestricted park fund revenues. 40 A.G. Op. 49 (1984).

Authority of Board of County Commissioners Over Parkland: A County Park Board may not sell county park property. However, a Board of County Commissioners may sell land that has been dedicated to the public for park purposes in accordance with procedures set out in this section, and it may sell county land which has been used or purchased but not dedicated for park purposes subject to the limitations set out in 7-8-2211 through 7-8-2220. 36 A.G. Op. 38 (1975).

General Provisions
Affecting Municipal Government

Part Case Notes

Municipal Parks Within Exclusive Control of City: Matters pertaining to creation and maintenance of public parks in cities are of purely local and private concern over which, under the doctrine of self-government, the municipalities have exclusive control. State ex rel. Gerry v. Edwards, 42 M 135, 111 P 734 (1910).

7-16-4101. Municipal authority to establish, alter, and maintain parks.

Case Notes

Land Dedicated for Park Purposes — Vacating Park: A city has the authority to vacate a public park located on land expressly dedicated for public park purposes where no reversionary clause is involved. Smith v. Hot Springs, 125 M 458, 240 P2d 249 (1952).

No Formal Action Required to Vacate: No formal action need be taken to vacate a public park. It may be accomplished by unequivocal acts showing a clear intent to abandon the use as a park, such as the erection of permanent structures for nonpark purposes. Smith v. Hot Springs, 125 M 458, 240 P2d 249 (1952).

Vacating Part of Park: A part of a public park may be vacated as well as the whole. Smith v. Hot Springs, 125 M 458, 240 P2d 249 (1952).

Land Deeded for Park Purposes — Reversionary Clause: Lands were deeded to a city for park purposes by deeds providing for reversion to the grantors if used for any other purpose. The lands may be used for some other purpose if the city obtains a waiver, quitclaim deed, or unconditional deed from the owner of the reversionary interest removing the restriction. The city then will own the lands in fee and may use the property as it sees fit. Lloyd v. Great Falls, 107 M 442, 86 P2d 395 (1938).

7-16-4103. Authorization to establish various cultural, social, and recreational facilities.

Case Notes

Operating Swimming Pool Not Governmental Function: Municipal operation of a public swimming pool is a proprietary and not a governmental function. A municipality is liable, in a proper case, for tortious acts of its officers and employees in such operation. Felton v. Great Falls, 118 M 586, 169 P2d 229 (1946).

Attorney General's Opinions

Election Required to Issue Bonds to Furnish Swimming Pool: An election is required pursuant to 7-7-4221 to issue general obligation bonds for the purpose of furnishing a municipal swimming pool; however, there is no statutory requirement for an election to borrow money for that purpose by means other than issuing general obligation bonds. 41 A.G. Op. 73 (1986).

Use of Open-Space Bond Proceeds: A city may use proceeds from bonds issued pursuant to Title 76, ch. 6, the Open-Space Land and Voluntary Conservation Easement Act, for the maintenance of open-space land acquired with bond proceeds and to fund the development of a comprehensive plan (now growth policy) for purchase, use, development, and maintenance of open-space land. 47 A.G. Op. 8 (1997).

Election Required to Issue Bonds to Furnish Swimming Pool: An election is required pursuant to 7-7-4221 to issue general obligation bonds for the purpose of furnishing a municipal swimming pool; however, there is no statutory requirement for an election to borrow money for that purpose by means other than issuing general obligation bonds. 41 A.G. Repair or Maintenance of Swimming Pool — City Not to Borrow Money: Section 7-16-4104, authorizing a city to incur indebtedness, does not include authority to do so for maintenance or repairs (see 1997 amendment). The Legislature intended that maintenance or repair of swimming pools be funded by tax levy under 7-16-4105 or by park funds under 7-16-4107; therefore, a city may not borrow money to maintain or repair a municipal swimming pool. 41 A.G. Case Notes

Development and Use Agreement Not Precluding City From Entering Agreement for Construction Project on Public Property — Franchise Agreement Outside Scope of Citizen Group's Agreement With City: A citizen's group entered a franchise agreement with a professional baseball organization to bring a team to Missoula. After two potential sites were rejected, the city of Missoula accepted a gift of property upon which to construct a baseball facility and granted the citizen group the right to finance and construct the stadium on the property and to convey the completed facility to the city. The citizen group moved to enjoin the city from development of the proposed civic baseball stadium because of the city's failure to comply with statutory requirements for planning, funding, and managing the facility. All claims were dismissed on summary judgment, and the citizen group appealed, but the Supreme Court affirmed. The development and use agreements in this case did not preclude the city from executing an agreement with another entity for the construction of a similar facility on public property or from leasing a city-owned facility for baseball games or any other purpose. Any franchise agreement between the baseball organization and the citizen group was outside the scope of the group's agreement with the city, so the voter-approval provisions of 7-5-4321 did not apply. The citizen group's argument that the city was required to comply with urban renewal laws also failed. The decision whether to proceed with development under the urban renewal statutes was up to the city, and the fact that the city designated the capital improvements associated with the stadium construction as an urban renewal project did not require that the citizen group's building project come under the same purview. Rather, under this section, the city is permitted to obtain an athletic field and civic stadium through purchase, donation, or condemnation and to regulate its use, but nothing in the statute prohibits the city from designating a stadium project as an urban renewal project or mandates that the project be designated as an urban renewal project. The District Court properly found that the city appropriately exercised its administrative authority in accepting the gift property and then leasing the site to the citizen group for purposes of constructing a stadium using private financial resources. The citizen group failed to raise a genuine issue of material fact that would preclude summary judgment. Fair Play Missoula, Inc. v. Missoula, 2002 MT 179, 311 M 22, 52 P3d 926 (2002).

7-16-4107. Use of park funds for public recreation.

Attorney General's Opinions

Repair or Maintenance of Swimming Pool — City Not to Borrow Money: Section 7-16-4104, authorizing a city to incur indebtedness, does not include authority to do so for maintenance or repairs. The Legislature intended that maintenance or repair of swimming pools be funded by tax levy under 7-16-4105 or by park funds under 7-16-4107; therefore, a city may not borrow money to maintain or repair a municipal swimming pool. 41 A.G. 7-16-4223. Leasing of municipal land for nonpark purposes.

Land Deeded for Park Purposes — Reversionary Clause: Lands were deeded to a city for park purposes by deeds providing for reversion to the grantors if used for any other purpose. The lands may be used for some other purpose if the city obtains a waiver, quitclaim deed, or unconditional deed from the owner of the reversionary interest removing the restriction. The city then will own the lands in fee and may use the property as it sees fit. Lloyd v. Great Falls, 107 M 442, 86 P2d 395 (1938).

Property Development Review

Effective Date: This part is effective October 1, 2005.

Part 21
General County Licensing Authority

7-21-2101. General licensing power of counties.

Case Notes

Licensing Classifications: The Legislature imposed a license tax on motion picture theaters. The statute was attacked as containing an arbitrary classification because vaudeville and other classes of entertainment were excluded from its operation. Such theaters were taxable under a different statute. The court held that while the Legislature may impose a license tax on certain occupations and not on others, arbitrary and unreasonable classifications are not permissible. A classification, however, cannot be said to be unreasonable and arbitrary unless it precludes the assumption that it was made in the exercise of legislative judgment and discretion. No unlawful discrimination was involved. State ex rel. Griffin v. Greene, 104 M 460, 67 P2d 995 (1937).

Occupation — Valid Licensing Classification: Occupation is a valid ground for license tax classification, whether as to the amount imposed or as between subjection to and immunity from imposition. Equitable Life Assurance Co. v. Hart, 55 M 76, 173 P 1062 (1918); St. v. Hammond Packing Co., 45 M 343, 123 P 407 (1912).

Constitutionality:

This section is not, because of the exemptions therein contained, an unconstitutional denial of the equal protection of the laws. Quong Wing v. Kirkendall, 223 US 59, 56 L Ed 350, 32 S Ct 192 (1912).

Assuming that this section classifies laundries for license purposes into steam laundries and laundries operated by hand, such classification is not arbitrary or unreasonable. Quong Wing v. Kirkendall, 39 M 64, 101 P 250 (1909), affirmed 223 US 59, 56 L Ed 350, 32 S Ct 192 (1912).

The Legislature is not required to tax all occupations equally or uniformly. It had power to single out proprietors of hand laundries and compel them to pay a license, and so long as the law was uniform as to all persons operating such laundries, there was no denial of the equal protection of the laws. Quong Wing v. Kirkendall, 39 M 64, 101 P 250 (1909), affirmed 223 US 59, 56 L Ed 350, 32 S Ct 192 (1912), affirmed on remittitur, 47 M 16, 130 P 2 (1913).

License tax upon laundries did not violate Art. XII, sec. 11, 1889 Mont. Const. (similar to Art. VIII, sec. 3, 1972 Mont. Const.), requiring uniformity in the assessment and levy of taxes. St. v. Camp Sing, 18 M 128, 44 P 516 (1896); State ex rel. Sam Toi v. French, 17 M 54, 41 P 1078 (1895).

Priority of Lien: Property that is held or used in any trade, occupation, or profession for which a license is required is liable for the license fee. The lien for the amount of license has precedence over any mortgage upon the property. Burfiend v. Hamilton, 20 M 343, 51 P 161 (1897).

Invalidity of Similar Section: Section 816 of the Revised Statutes of 1879 (now repealed), a statute similar to this section, authorized the summary seizure and sale of property belonging to another but in use by a person from whom a license fee was due. The section created a lien thereon and was held unconstitutional under Due Process of Law Clause of the federal constitution. Chauvin v. Valiton, 8 M 451, 20 P 658 (1889).

1983 Amendment — Executive Order: Section 7, Ch. 79, L. 1983, changed "state examiner" to "department of administration". However, Ch. 287, L. 1983, transferred functions of generally assisting local governments from the Department of Administration to the Department of Commerce and provided that: "The governor may by executive order assign to the department of commerce in a manner consistent with this act functions allocated to the department of administration by the 48th legislature relating to local governments or political subdivisions." By Executive Order No. 4-83, the Governor transferred the function contained in this section from the Department of Administration to the Department of Commerce, and the Code Commissioner has corrected the reference accordingly.

Amendment effective October 1, 2009.

Case Notes

Construction of Statute: The words "any person required to take out a license" mean any person engaged in a profession, trade, or occupation for which a license tax is required, and a person engaged in any such business, upon the payment of the required fee, can demand a license as a matter of right. In the enactment of the section, the Legislature intended nothing more than to provide means for the collection of a license fee from one entitled to a license as a matter of right upon payment of the fee. Licensing of Itinerant Vendors

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Constitutionality — Licensing Requirement Prior to Entry of Goods Into State: Sections 7-21-2301 through 7-21-2310 held unconstitutional as violating Art. I, sec. 8, U.S. Const., insofar as they attempt to impose a license for persons selling or seeking to sell the goods of a nonresident of Montana prior to the introduction of such goods in the state. 11 A.G. Op. 141 (1925).

Case Notes

Power to Prohibit Door-to-Door Solicitation: The city of Billings enacted an ordinance declaring uninvited door-to-door solicitation a nuisance punishable as a misdemeanor. It was argued that a state statute regulating itinerant vendors did not empower a city to prohibit their activities, therefore precluding the ordinance. The Supreme Court disagreed. Under the expanded powers of local self-government provided by Montana's Constitution, a city possessing those powers may exercise any power not prohibited by the constitution or state statute. A city possessing self-government powers may prohibit uninvited door-to-door solicitation by itinerant vendors, and a licensing statute does not legalize an activity otherwise prohibited. Any statements to the contrary contained in DeLong v. Downes, 175 M 152, 573 P2d 160 (1977), are expressly overruled. Tipco Corp. v. Billings, 197 M 339, 642 P2d 1074, 39 St. Rep. 600 (1982).

Case Notes

Tax on Sale of Attorney's Services — Invalid: A city ordinance imposing an annual tax on every lawyer or law firm carrying on the practice of law, calculated on the basis of gross revenue generated from attorney-client relationships, was held to be an unconstitutional sales tax. The tax was beyond the scope of self-government powers and in violation of 7-1-112, since it was not related to any regulatory control measure for the health or welfare of the city but was a tax on the sale of attorneys' services. Brueggemann v. Billings, 221 M 375, 719 P2d 768, 43 St. Rep. 905 (1986).

Regulatory Municipal Business License Applicable to Attorneys — Unconstitutional: A business license ordinance enacted by a self-governing municipality requiring municipal licensure of attorneys and that provided for regulation was an unconstitutional encroachment on the Supreme Court's authority to regulate the bar as provided in Art. III, sec. 2, Mont. Const., because the ordinance conditions attorneys' access to the practice of law. The ordinance included police provisions that could conceivably cover standards of practice, prohibited attorneys from carrying on their occupation without procuring a municipal license, required municipal licensure of nonresident attorneys practicing in the municipality, and provided for fines and incarceration for failing to comply with the ordinance. Harlen v. Helena, 208 M 45, 676 P2d 191, 41 St. Rep. 162 (1984).

Mandamus: Action of Town Council in refusing to issue a mobile home court license until petitioner had removed a house which encroached onto a public alley was not an abuse of discretion, and mandamus will not lie to compel the issuance of the license. State ex rel. Barnes v. Belgrade, 164 M 467, 524 P2d 1112 (1974).

Abuse of Discretion: City Council could not, at its discretion, deny developers a license to operate a trailer park, where developers had complied with the city's health ordinances, Council disregarded the findings of the city's administrative officers, and developers had begun construction of the park before the area had been rezoned. State ex rel. Bennett v. Stow, 144 M 599, 399 P2d 221 (1965).

Ordinance Required: Where the city's licensing ordinance did not include the operation of a call office for drycleaning, the city was without jurisdiction to arrest the operator of such an establishment for conducting business without a license. In the absence of a licensing ordinance, the city is powerless to attempt to exact license fees or to regulate the operation of any business. State ex rel. Willumsen v. Butte, 135 M 350, 340 P2d 535 (1959).

No Power to License Liquor Sales: The Prohibition Act of 1917, repealing all conflicting acts and all municipal ordinances relating to issuance of liquor licenses, divested municipalities of power to license sale of liquor under general statutes. Stephens v. Great Falls, 119 M 368, 175 P2d 408 (1946).

State Liquor Statutes to Control: Special statutes subsequently enacted relating to liquor traffic and licensing of sale of liquor control the more general statutes authorizing cities generally to license businesses and occupations and will be regarded as an exception to or qualification of the prior general statutes. State ex rel. Wiley v. District Court, 118 M 50, 164 P2d 358 (1945).

Interference on Gross Abuse: The power to license has been properly delegated to cities and towns by this section. It grants them the power to fix the amount, terms, and manner of issuing and revoking licenses or to refuse to issue them. Courts will not interfere in this exercise except when there has been a gross abuse of discretion. State ex rel. McIntire v. Libby, 107 M 216, 82 P2d 587 (1938).

Plumber's License Applicant — Court Review: Sections 5183 through 5193, R.C.M. 1921 (now repealed), relating to the municipal regulation of the plumbing business, were attacked by an unsuccessful applicant for a license as an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority to a municipal board. The statutes were not so lacking in detail as to how examinations for applicants for licenses were to be conducted or as to the nature of the examination to amount to a conferring of arbitrary or capricious power on the Board of Examiners. Though the statutes did not provide for review by the courts of the Board of Examiners' actions, an aggrieved applicant for a license could by an appropriate proceeding have an allegation of arbitrary or capricious action reviewed by the courts. St. v. Stark, 100 M 365, 52 P2d 890 (1935).

Validity of Licensing Ordinance — Discretionary Granting: An ordinance vested in public officials the discretion to grant or refuse a license to carry on an ordinarily lawful business without referring to all of the classes to which the ordinance was intended to apply and without specifically enumerating the conditions to which similarly situated persons had to conform. Such an ordinance is normally invalid but is subject to the qualification that where it is impractical to lay down an all-comprehensive rule or where it relates to the administration of the police power and is necessary to protect the general welfare, morals, and safety of the public, it is not essential that the ordinance prescribe all the conditions upon which the license will be granted or refused. A person arbitrarily denied a license under such an ordinance may apply to the courts for relief. State ex rel. Altop v. Billings, 79 M 25, 255 P 11 (1927).

Amount of License Fee: What is a reasonable license fee must depend largely upon the sound discretion of the City Council, having reference to the circumstances and necessities of the case. Unless, however, the amount is manifestly unreasonable in view of its purpose as a regulation, the court will not adjudge it a revenue measure. Bozeman v. Nelson, 73 M 147, 237 P 528 (1925).

Taxi License:

Taxicabs and autobuses operated for hire are legitimate objects of license fees. Bozeman v. Nelson, 73 M 147, 237 P 528 (1925).

Subdivision 3 of section 5039, R.C.M. 1921 (now 7-21-4101), provided that the license fee which a city might impose upon industries and businesses must not exceed the sum required by statute when the state requires a license therefor. Chapter 154, L. 1923 (since repealed), while authorizing the State Railroad Commission (now Public Service Commission) to require the payment of a license not to exceed $10 per motor vehicle, does not declare that a license shall be exacted. A city imposed a license fee of $25 for the first taxi operated for hire and $12 for each additional one. The Supreme Court held that in the absence of a showing that the Railroad Commission (now Public Service Commission) had exercised the power given it by Ch. 154, the fee exacted by the City Council cannot be said to exceed the fee imposed by the state for the same purpose. State ex rel. Bozeman v. Police Court, 68 M 435, 219 P 810 (1923).

License Authority — Police Power: The Legislature may not constitutionally authorize a city to provide revenue for general municipal purposes by the imposition of license taxes. It may, however, properly authorize it to impose such a tax upon any industry or upon the right to transact any business which falls within the scope of police regulations. Bozeman v. Nelson, 73 M 147, 237 P 528 (1925).

Revenue Incidental: Although revenue may result incidentally from an undisputed exercise of the police power, that fact alone does not divest the regulation of its police character and make it an exercise of the taxing power. Bozeman v. Nelson, 73 M 147, 237 P 528 (1925).

Power to Impose License Tax: A city cannot raise revenue for general municipal purposes by the imposition of license taxes. State ex rel. Bozeman v. Police Court, 68 M 435, 219 P 810 (1923).

Coal Dealer: Section 84-1402, R.C.M. 1947 (15-58-102, now repealed), required every coal dealer in the state to pay annually to the state a license fee of $1 and in addition thereto 5 cents per ton for every ton of coal sold by him during any one year upon which the mines license fee exacted by section 84-1302, R.C.M. 1947 (now repealed), had not been paid by the mine operator. Under subdivision 3 of section 5039, R.C.M. 1921 (now 7-21-4101), the power of cities or towns to license an industry or business was limited to an amount not to exceed the sum required by the state to be paid to it by the same business. A city ordinance exacting a fee of $1 from coal dealers and in addition 5 cents for every ton of coal sold, without incorporating therein the clause limiting the payment of the 5 cents to coal upon which the mines license fee exacted by section 84-1302, R.C.M. 1947 (now repealed), had not been paid to the state, was invalid as in excess of the power of the city to impose. State ex rel. Butte v. Police Court, 65 M 94, 210 P 1059 (1922).

Attorney General's Opinions

City Licensing: A city can license local aspects of interstate commerce if not a direct burden or impediment, but enterprises preempted by state regulation are not subject to city licensing. 37 A.G. Op. 100 (1977).

Regulation of Gambling Hours: A city may restrict by ordinance the hours of licensed gambling since it is the type of subject matter traditionally the object of reasonable regulation for the protection of the public health, safety, and welfare. 37 A.G. Op. 67 (1977).

Implied Amendment: This section was held impliedly amended by section 66-411, R.C.M. 1947 (37-30-307, now repealed), as amended by sec. 4, Ch. 183, L. 1937, to the extent that section 11-903, R.C.M. 1947 (now 7-21-4101), may have authorized cities and towns to license barbers. 17 A.G. Op. 314 (1938).

Municipal Regulation of Business and Commodities

Part Case Notes

Regulatory Municipal Business License Applicable to Attorneys — Unconstitutional: A business license ordinance enacted by a self-governing municipality requiring municipal licensure of attorneys and that provided for regulation was an unconstitutional encroachment on the Supreme Court's authority to regulate the bar as provided in Art. III, sec. 2, Mont. Const., because the ordinance conditions attorneys' access to the practice of law. The ordinance included police provisions that could conceivably cover standards of practice, prohibited attorneys from carrying on their occupation without procuring a municipal license, required municipal licensure of nonresident attorneys practicing in the municipality, and provided for fines and incarceration for failing to comply with the ordinance. Harlen v. Helena, 208 M 45, 676 P2d 191, 41 St. Rep. 162 (1984).

7-21-4201. Regulation of certain activities.

Pawnshop: An ordinance making it unlawful to keep a pawnshop open after 6 p.m. is not a prohibition of the business but a regulation of it authorized by this section. Butte v. Paltrovich, 30 M 18, 75 P 521 (1904).

Police Regulations: The power conferred upon a city by this section is primarily to enact such police regulations, with reference to the occupations therein enumerated, as shall be necessary to the good order and general welfare of its citizens. Butte v. Paltrovich, 30 M 18, 75 P 521 (1904).

Attorney General's Opinions

County Power to Contract With Humane Society: Counties which have enacted dog licensing requirements may contract with local humane societies for the impoundment and disposition of unlicensed dogs. In addition, counties may contract with local humane societies for kenneling and disposition of animals incidental to the Sheriff's performance of his duties as humane officer. 37 A.G. Op. 105 (1978).

City Licensing of Real Estate Firms: A city may not require real estate firms to obtain business licenses. 37 A.G. Op. 71 (1977).

7-21-4202. Regulation of foodstuffs.

Compiler's Comments

2017 Amendment: Chapter 28 in (3) inserted exception clause; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective February 17, 2017.

1987 Amendment: Near beginning, after "inspection of", deleted "beef, pork".

7-21-4205. Licensing and regulating of vehicles engaged in transporting persons and property.

Case Notes

Taxicabs: An ordinance requiring taxicab drivers to occupy a position by the side of their vehicles along the curb line of the street fronting a railway station and prohibiting them from soliciting patronage on railway property was a valid exercise of the police power. It withstood the objections that it was in conflict with the Due Process of Law Clause of the federal and state constitutions, indirectly interfered with interstate commerce carried on partially within the state, and impaired the obligations of contracts between the operator of the taxicabs and railway companies. Butte v. Roberts, 94 M 482, 23 P2d 243 (1933).

Ordinance — License Fee — Tax — Determination: An ordinance required the operator of buses and taxis to pay a license fee to aid in the police power and regulation by the city. The operator contended that it was an unlawful tax. Where a fee is imposed for the purpose of regulation and the ordinance imposing it requires compliance with conditions in addition to the payment of the prescribed fee, it is a license imposed under the police power. When the fee is exacted solely for revenue purposes without further conditions, it is a tax. In this case, the fee was a license and the ordinance was not invalid as imposing an unreasonable tax. State ex rel. Bozeman v. Police Court, 68 M 435, 219 P 810 (1923).

WEED AND PEST CONTROL

Part 21
County Weed Control

Part Compiler's Comments

Severability: Section 33, Ch. 607, L. 1985, was a severability clause.

Part Administrative Rules

Title 4, chapter 5, ARM Noxious weed management.

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Establishment of Rural Improvement District for Weed Control — Preemption: A Board of County Commissioners may not use 7-12-2102 or 7-12-4102 to authorize a rural improvement district to provide weed control because those statutes are subordinate to and preempted by the specific statutory scheme of weed control in Title 7, ch. 22, part 21. 42 A.G. Op. 90 (1988).

County Recoupment of Costs of Weed Control — Landowner Agreements — Former Law: Under 7-22-2146 the County Commissioners and weed control supervisors (now District Weed Board) are not required to have an agreement to assist landowners with weed control. Landowners in counties without such agreements are obliged to carry the entire financial burden of the weed program. If 7-22-2147 (now repealed) were to be interpreted to allow recovery by the county of only two-thirds of the costs incurred in destroying weeds on the property of noncomplying landowners, it would be economically advantageous for the landowners to refuse to cooperate in the program and let the county control all weeds instead. Complying landowners would bear the total cost of weed control while recalcitrant landowners would be liable for only two-thirds of the expenses. Therefore, in counties in which the full financial responsibility for a weed control program lies with the landowners, the county may recover the full amount of the cost incurred in noxious weed control if the weed board must institute weed control measures pursuant to 7-22-2124 (now repealed) without the consent of the owner. 39 A.G. Op. 13 (1981).

Written Notice to Enter Land: A county weed control district (now weed management district) must serve a written notice, pursuant to 7-22-2123 (now repealed), prior to entering land for weed control purposes unless it has prior written permission to enter the land from the person owning, occupying, or controlling the land. 36 A.G. Op. 103 (1976).

Case Notes

Seller's Failure to Control Weeds Not Breach of Contract: Property buyers claimed breach of contract because of seller's failure to control noxious weeds on adjacent property. The Supreme Court noted the existing statutory remedy for allowing propagation of noxious weeds in holding that the failure to control weeds was not sufficient to forgive payment on a contract by buyers for the purchase of land. It is the policy of the state of Montana to properly control and manage noxious weeds in order to protect the agricultural economy and natural ecosystems of the state. It is also the policy of the state of Montana to properly manage pesticides in order to ensure public and worker safety and to protect the environment. Weed district supervisors need special training and education in order to design and administer weed management programs that appropriately implement these policies. The legislature recognizes that funding is an important consideration that may constrain the level and type of training a weed district supervisor may obtain at any one time or in any particular year. County Recoupment of Costs of Weed Control — Landowner Agreements — Former Law: Under 7-22-2146 the County Commissioners and weed control supervisors (now District Weed Board) are not required to have an agreement to assist landowners with weed control. Landowners in counties without such agreements are obliged to carry the entire financial burden of the weed program. If 7-22-2147 (now repealed) were to be interpreted to allow recovery by the county of only two-thirds of the costs incurred in destroying weeds on the property of noncomplying landowners, it would be economically advantageous for the landowners to refuse to cooperate in the program and let the county control all weeds instead. Complying landowners would bear the total cost of weed control, while recalcitrant landowners would be liable for only two-thirds of the expenses. Therefore, in counties in which the full financial responsibility for a weed control program lies with the landowners, the county may recover the full amount of the cost incurred in noxious weed control if the weed board must institute weed control measures pursuant to 7-22-2124 (now repealed) without the consent of the owner. 39 A.G. Case Notes

Landlord Not Liable for Tenants' Mixed Breed Dog — Animal Liability and Premises Liability Separate Claims: The plaintiffs sued the defendant landlord and defendant tenants after both of their children were bitten by the tenants' dog. On summary judgment against the landlord, the plaintiffs stipulated that there was no evidence in the record that the landlord was aware the dogs had previously bitten anyone. The District Court concluded that the plaintiffs' negligence claim failed because the landlord did not know the dogs were vicious and that the plaintiffs' strict liability claim failed because the dog was not a purebred pit bull breed. On appeal, the Supreme Court affirmed, holding that injury by animal and premises liability are separate theories of liability and that absence of liability under one theory does not preclude recovery under the other. However, the plaintiffs' claim failed because there was insufficient evidence to conclude that the landlord had reason to know the dogs were vicious and because the record did not demonstrate that the dogs were inherently vicious by nature of their breed. General Provisions Affecting Municipalities

7-31-4101. Board of health.

Case Notes

Proper Function: Any rule made by a Board of Health having a reasonable and direct relation to securing protection from rabid animals is a proper exercise of the Board's functions. The determination as to the means used to meet a threatening situation is vested in the Board and not the courts. Ruona v. Billings, 136 M 554, 323 P2d 29 (1958).

Attorney General's Opinions

Interlocal Cooperation Agreements: Since 7-31-4101 allows any city to provide for a Board of Health and 50-2-104 creates a County Board of Health in each county and even though 50-2-107 holds that cities other than first- and second-class cities cannot participate in a District Board of Health, 7-11-104 allows a public agency to contract with another public agency to perform an administrative service when both agencies are authorized by law to perform such services. Therefore, it appears as though all cities and counties can enter a contract for the provision of such common services. 35 A.G. Op. 48 (1973).

Attorney General's Opinions

Department of Public Safety Undersheriff Serves at Pleasure of Sheriff — No Due Process Right to Hearing in Cases of Termination From Employment: The statutes dealing with departments of public safety provide due process rights for terminated subordinate employees of the department director. However, an Undersheriff does not fit within any of the categories of employees mentioned in the law, but rather serves at the pleasure of the Sheriff. Therefore, the due process provisions of 7-32-107 through 7-32-110 do not apply upon the termination of an Undersheriff who is appointed to serve in a department of public safety. 48 A.G. Validity of Acts of De Facto Public Officer: Dismissed police officer contended the Law Enforcement Commission that decided to discharge him was not properly empaneled at the time of his hearing because of technical defects in the manner of appointment of two of its members. With regard to one member, there was no merit to this objection. As to the second, he, at the least, was acting as a de facto officer at the time of the hearing. A de facto officer's acts are valid to the extent they involve the interest of the public and a third person. Wood v. Butorovich, 220 M 484, 716 P2d 608, 43 St. Rep. 546 (1986). Nepotism Statute Applicable to Reserve Officers: A reserve officer holds a position of public trust within the meaning of 2-2-302; therefore, the appointment of a reserve Deputy Sheriff is subject to the nepotism law prohibiting appointment of a relative within the fourth degree of consanguinity or second degree of affinity. 42 A.G. Control of County Search and Rescue Units by Unit Officers — Control of Finances: While search and rescue units recognized and operated by a county function under the County Sheriff's operational control whenever called into service, all other aspects of the units remain private, volunteer organizations under the control of unit officers. Therefore, a unit that receives tax money for its support may maintain private bank accounts to distribute funds accumulated from nontax sources. Case Notes Authority of Deputy Sheriff to Make Arrest Without Completing Training Within One Year of Appointment: Jess asserted that the Deputy Sheriff who arrested her for DUI lacked the authority to make the unsupervised arrest because the deputy had not completed basic law enforcement training as required in 7-32-303 and that because the deputy was unauthorized, Jess's suspended driver's license should be reinstated. The Supreme Court disagreed. Under 7-32-303, a deputy must complete basic training within 1 year of appointment. However, the deputy was appointed only 8 months prior to the arrest and was therefore within the 1-year pretraining period. The deputy had completed 280 hours of reserve training and 24 hours of DUI training and had made numerous arrests both with and without supervision and thus was sufficiently experienced to form a particularized suspicion of DUI. The District Court's denial of Jess's motion for license reinstatement was affirmed. Jess v. St. ex rel. Records & Driver Control, 2008 MT 422, 347 M 381, 198 P3d 306 (2008).

Attorney General's Opinions

Basic Training Course Completion Requirement — No Extension Based on Break in Service: Even if a peace officer has a break in service during the grace period granted under this section, the peace officer must successfully complete a basic training course within a 1-year period that commences with the officer's initial appointment, plus any additional time (up to 180 days) granted by the Public Safety Officer Standards and Training Council. Because the statutes do not contemplate an exception based on the employment circumstances of an individual officer, the peace officer may not extend the officer's 1-year grace period by the length of the break in service, regardless of whether the break in service extends beyond the 1-year period described in this section. An officer whose break in service extends beyond the 1-year grace period may not be rehired or reappointed to allow the officer another grace period or an extension to the grace period by virtue of the rehiring or reappointment. Once the original grace period expires, the individual must complete basic training before resuming peace officer duties; however, the agency may employ the individual in another capacity until the individual completes the basic training. 54 A.G. Op. 8 (2012).

Only One Basic Training Extension Allowed: This section authorizes only one 180-day extension of the requirement that an appropriate peace officer basic training course, certified by the Board of Crime Control (now Montana Public Safety Officer Standards and Training Council), be attended and successfully completed by every peace officer within 1 year of the officer's initial appointment. 48 A.G. Case Notes Distinction Between Undersheriff and Deputy Sheriff: An undersheriff is not equivalent to a Deputy Sheriff for the purposes of establishing tenure or termination only upon written notice and for cause. The clear unambiguous statement in 7-32-2102 that the Sheriff must appoint someone "undersheriff to hold during the pleasure of the sheriff" is not repealed by the grant of tenure to Deputy Sheriffs in 7-32-2107. Holly v. Preuss, 172 M 422, 564 P2d 1303 (1977).

2015 Amendment: Chapter 262 in (1) near end substituted "good cause as defined in 39-2-903" for "one or more of the following specified causes:

(a) conviction of a felony subsequent to the commencement of employment;

(b) willful disobedience of an order or orders given by the sheriff;

(c) drinking intoxicating liquor while in uniform or while on official duty or being intoxicated in a public place while in uniform or while on official duty;

(e) incapacity materially affecting ability to perform official duties; or

(f) gross inefficiency in the performance of official duties". Amendment effective July 1, 2015.

Chapter 244 inserted (2) concerning quotas; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 25, 2007.

Case Notes

Acquitted Deputy Subject to Dismissal for Gross Inefficiency: A deputy was dismissed and indicted for beating a prisoner. He was acquitted of the felony charge and sought reinstatement. At the reinstatement trial, the deputy moved for a summary judgment, arguing that the only reason he had been fired was the criminal charge. The Supreme Court affirmed the lower court's denial of the motion, ruling that the deputy's actions could also be construed by the jury to constitute gross inefficiency, which is also grounds for dismissal. Smith v. Roosevelt County, 242 M 27, 788 P2d 895, 47 St. Rep. 506 (1990), distinguished in McKay v. Bd. of Labor Appeals, 1999 MT 329, 297 M 357, 990 P2d 1251, 56 St. Rep. 1313 (1999).

Distinction Between Undersheriff and Deputy Sheriff: An undersheriff is not equivalent to a Deputy Sheriff for the purposes of establishing tenure or termination only upon written notice and for cause. The clear unambiguous statement in 7-32-2102 that the Sheriff must appoint someone "undersheriff to hold during the pleasure of the sheriff" is not repealed by the grant of tenure to Deputy Sheriffs in 7-32-2107. Holly v. Preuss, 172 M 422, 564 P2d 1303 (1977).

What Constitutes "Willful Disobedience": The refusal of a Deputy Sheriff to obey a written order to turn over criminal files to another officer is "willful" where the Deputy had a willingness to retain those files, even though no malicious motive may have been behind such action. Erickson v. Fisher, 170 M 491, 554 P2d 1336, 33 St. Rep. 947 (1976).

Applicability of State Law Other Than Montana Minimum Wage and Maximum Hours Law to Workers Covered by Fair Labor Standards Act: The federal Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 requires provisions of state law other than the Montana minimum wage and maximum hours law (Title 39, ch. 3, part 4), which set shorter workweeks for specified groups of employees, to be given effect. 41 A.G. Op. 58 (1986).

Four-Day Workweek: Local law enforcement agencies may, with the consent of affected employees, schedule a 40-hour workweek consisting of 4 consecutive 10-hour days. 38 A.G. Op. 83 (1980).

Case Notes

Service of Process as Exercise of Discretion in Charge of Threat in Official Matters: Deputies attempted to serve civil process on Keating at his home. Keating threatened the officers and was convicted of threats in official matters under 45-7-102. On appeal, Keating contended that service of process was not a discretionary function that could serve as the basis of a charge of threats in official matters. The Supreme Court noted that the statutory definition of threats in official matters speaks to a threat made for the purpose of influencing an exercise of discretion by a public servant but does not speak to a discretionary function. The fact that service of process is a statutory duty under this section, rather than a discretionary function, does not relate to the issue of whether service of process involves an exercise of discretion under 45-7-102. Under former Rule 4D, M.R.Civ.P. (now superseded), personal service of process can be accomplished wherever and whenever the person to be served can be found. The Sheriff's Department uses a variety of discretionary methods of serving process. Thus, service of process clearly involves the power of choice among several courses of action, constituting a sufficient exercise of discretion to form a basis for charges of threats in official matters. St. v. Keating, 285 M 463, 949 P2d 251, 54 St. Rep. 1250 (1997).

Liability of Sheriff: This section is merely declaratory of the common law, and the Sheriff is not liable in damages for damage caused by mob violence. Annala v. McLeod, 122 M 498, 206 P2d 811 (1949).

Authority Limited to State: A Sheriff is without authority, as such, beyond the confines of the state. The ordinary discharge of his duties does not authorize him to leave the state except where he is designated the agent of the state in cases of extradition. Brannin v. Sweet Grass County, 88 M 412, 293 P 970 (1930).

Nonfeasance — Warrants Removal: The failure of a Sheriff to arrest a person who commits a crime in his presence constitutes nonfeasance in office and warrants his removal as Sheriff. State ex rel. Beazley v. District Court, 75 M 116, 241 P 1075 (1925).

Breaches of the Peace: The necessity of the Sheriff in assembling his deputies, police, and employees of the defendant as a posse comitatus is not in question. Presumably the Sheriff was acting within his authority, and he was the one to judge whether he needed help to preserve the peace. It was his duty to prevent and suppress breaches of the peace, riots, and insurrections and to command the aid of as many male inhabitants of his county as he thought necessary to execute that duty. Upon such an occasion the Sheriff is the commander of all he summons to his aid, and all under his command are in duty bound to obey his lawful orders. McCarthy v. Anaconda Copper Min. Co., 70 M 309, 225 P 391 (1924).

Failure to Suppress Riot: On June 13, 1914, large numbers of people, many bearing arms, unlawfully and riotously assembled on the streets of Butte. The Miners' Union Hall was wrecked, the safe was dynamited, one man was killed, and two were wounded. The Sheriff was charged with failure to act and removed from office. The court held that when a riot exists to the knowledge of the Sheriff, it becomes his duty to suppress it. He must command the rioters to disperse and arrest them if they do not disperse. For this purpose he may command the aid of all persons present or within the county. The duty imposed is absolute, and evidence that the riot occurred with the knowledge of the Sheriff and that it continued for 8 hours without action on his part was sufficient to warrant his removal from office. St. v. Driscoll, 49 M 558, 144 P 153 (1914).

Guarding Railroad Strikers: A Sheriff employed a number of men, sworn in as Deputy Sheriffs, to guard railroad strikers, after having assured the company that he was able to enforce the peace without such aid. The company had agreed to pay for such services, and the company was liable for such payment, the statutory provision empowering the Sheriff to call to his aid such persons as may be necessary to suppress unlawful assemblies and the provision prohibiting a Sheriff from demanding for official services any greater fees than are allowed by law notwithstanding. Sullivan v. Utah & N. Ry., 11 M 236, 28 P 307 (1891).

Attorney General's Opinions

Sheriff Authorized to Accept Compensation From Federal Agency for Performance of Services Outside Official Duties: A Sheriff may receive compensation from a federal agency under the terms of a cooperative law enforcement agreement without violating any Montana statutory or constitutional provision, so long as the services rendered by the Sheriff fall outside the scope of the Sheriff's official duties. 49 A.G. Op. 12 (2001).

Duty of County Sheriff to Enforce Law Throughout County: Although it is often customary for a County Sheriff to leave local policing to local law enforcement officers, the Sheriff is a county officer whose authority extends over the entire county, including all municipalities and townships within the county. If local law enforcement is lacking, the Sheriff must undertake that enforcement. 45 A.G. Op. 9 (1993).

County Power to Contract With Humane Society: Counties which have enacted dog licensing requirements may contract with local humane societies for the impoundment and disposition of unlicensed dogs. In addition, counties may contract with local humane societies for kenneling and disposition of animals incidental to the Sheriff's performance of his duties as humane officer. 37 A.G. Op. 105 (1978).

1989 Amendment: In first sentence, before "7-32-2121", substituted "detention center under" for "county jail pursuant to" and in two places substituted reference to detention center staff for reference to jailers.

1986 Amendment: Substituted "A sheriff who operates a county jail pursuant to 7-32-2121 may appoint deputy sheriffs or nonsworn individuals as jailers. A nonsworn individual appointed as a jailer need not receive the same salary as a deputy sheriff" for "A sheriff who operates a county jail may appoint two deputies in counties of the first, second, or third class and one deputy in counties of the fourth, fifth, sixth, or seventh class who shall act as jailer and receive the same salary as other deputy sheriffs."

Insurance Expense — Privately Owned Vehicle: Unless a Sheriff, Undersheriff, or Deputy Sheriff has been assigned use of a vehicle purchased or leased by the county and furnished under the terms of 7-32-2125, the Board of County Commissioners must provide full coverage insurance for privately owned motor vehicles of a Sheriff, an Undersheriff, and Deputy Sheriffs when such vehicles are used on official business. The type of insurance to be furnished must be full comprehensive, collision, and public liability insurance in the limits specified, and the Board of County Commissioners is obligated to pay that portion of the premium for such insurance that approximates the time the vehicle will be used on official business during the policy period. 34 A.G. Insurance Expense and Coverages for Privately Owned Vehicles Used by Sheriffs on Official Business: A county may require Deputy Sheriffs to individually purchase "no-deductible" comprehensive and collision insurance for their private vehicles and pay or reimburse each Deputy for that portion of the premium which approximates the time the vehicle is used on official business. If such coverage is unavailable, deductible coverages may be purchased if the county reimburses its Deputy Sheriffs the amount of the deductible for repairs necessitated by job-related, insured damages. 37 A.G. Case Notes

Application of Section: This section, providing that if a Sheriff refuses to pay over money which came into his hands by virtue of his office, the person entitled thereto may recover it with 25% damages, has application only to cases of intentional delinquency. It merely prescribes punishment for willful or corrupt neglect of duty and is therefore inapplicable to a case where failure to pay was due to the closing of a bank in which the money was deposited. Wells-Dickey Co. v. Benjamin, 74 M 170, 239 P 771 (1925).

Loss Due to Bank Failure: An officer who comes into possession of funds by virtue of his office and deposits the same, exercising good faith and due care in the selection of the depository, is not liable on his official bond for their loss resulting from the failure of the bank. Wells-Dickey Co. v. Benjamin, 74 M 170, 239 P 771 (1925).

Mandamus — When Unnecessary: Under this section a means is provided for compelling a Sheriff to pay money which may have come into his hands by virtue of his office to the person entitled thereto. Mandamus does not lie to compel him to do so. State ex rel. Grantier v. Woods, 67 M 337, 215 P 671 (1923).

Case Notes

Irregularity Not to Invalidate Sale: The Sheriff of Stillwater County held property under a valid Writ of Attachment. The Writ of Execution was directed to the Sheriff of Yellowstone County. The Writ was sufficient to advise the Stillwater Sheriff that the claim had been reduced to judgment and could be treated as surplusage in other respects. Failure of the Sheriff to sell the property to satisfy judgment after receipt of the Writ of Execution would have rendered him personally liable to the creditor. Stokke v. Graham, 129 M 96, 281 P2d 1025 (1955).

Writ of Supreme Court — Process: The decision of the Supreme Court, on an application for a writ under its original jurisdiction, constitutes the judgment of the court, and the writ itself that is thereafter issued is merely the court process issued for the enforcement thereof. State ex rel. Clark v. District Court, 103 M 145, 61 P2d 836 (1936).

Attachment — Duty of Sheriff: The Sheriff in levying a Writ of Attachment has a special interest in the property, not only for the satisfaction of any judgment that the attaching creditor may recover but for the protection of the real owner of the property. If the defendant in the action in which the levy was made recovers judgment, it is the duty of the Sheriff to return the attached property or the proceeds to the defendant or his agent. This duty would also be imposed upon the Sheriff if judgment was recovered by the plaintiff but was satisfied otherwise than by the application of the property or the value thereof. It is the duty of the Sheriff, in any event, to safely keep and account for property he has seized by virtue of a Writ of Attachment. Fergus Motor Co. v. Schott, 95 M 249, 26 P2d 365 (1933).

Sufficiency of Complaint: The complaint in an action against a Sheriff and his official bondsman for damages flowing from the refusal of the officer to levy a Writ of Attachment alleged that the judgment in the attachment suit and all of the rights of the judgment creditor against the defendants had been assigned to plaintiff and that plaintiff was the assignee of all of the rights of the said judgment creditor against them. This pleading was sufficient to show an assignment of the cause of action in the absence of a special demurrer or motion to make more definite and certain. Gotzian & Co. v. Norris, 89 M 307, 297 P 489 (1931).

Mandamus — When Required: Where a judgment creditor is entitled to the possession of specific property and the Sheriff refuses to proceed under execution, the remedy of an action for damages on the officer's bond is not adequate and mandamus lies to compel action. State ex rel. Duggan v. District Court, 65 M 197, 210 P 1062 (1922).

Mandamus — When Unnecessary: Where a Sheriff wrongfully refuses to levy upon and sell property on execution issued on a money judgment, he is liable in damages to the judgment creditor on his official bond. The creditor has a plain, speedy, and adequate remedy and is not entitled to a Writ of Mandate to compel the officer to proceed under the execution. State ex rel. Duggan v. District Court, 65 M 197, 210 P 1062 (1922).

Form of Action: A Sheriff who wrongfully seizes personal property under a Writ of Attachment may be sued in any appropriate form of action the person whose rights have been invaded may choose to pursue. Bank of Commerce v. USF&G Co., 58 M 236, 194 P 158 (1920).

Mistaken Execution — Liability: A Sheriff acting under an execution sold property in the possession of the debtor but belonging to a third person. The Sheriff on learning of the true owner of the property returned the money to the purchaser and the property to its owner and made his return upon the execution in accordance with the facts. The Sheriff was not liable to the creditor for the amount realized at the sale. McCarthy v. O'Marr, 19 M 215, 47 P 953 (1897).

7-32-2141. Fees of sheriff.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 390 in (2), near middle after "be", substituted "deposited" for "credited" and after "treasurer" substituted "in the general fund of the county unless the county has instituted a public safety levy, in which case the fees must be deposited in the account established pursuant to 7-6-2513" for "to the sheriff's budget"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 12, 1995.

1989 Amendment: In (1), in first sentence, inserted introductory clause, at end of first sentence substituted "the fees, if any, set by the county governing body" for "the following fees", and inserted introductory clause in second sentence. Amendment effective March 29, 1989.

1981 Amendment: Increased the fee in (1)(a), (1)(c), (1)(d), (1)(e), (1)(i), (1)(j), and (1)(l) from $2 to $5; increased the fee in (1)(f) from $1 to $2.50; increased the fee in (1)(g) from $4 to $5; increased the fee in (1)(h) from $5 to $7; inserted (1)(b), (1)(m), (1)(n), and (2) relating to return of summons for person not found, holding Sheriff's sale, cancellation or postponement of sale, and deposit and credit of fees collected, respectively; and made minor changes in phraseology.

Case Notes

Agreement for Extra Fees: There is no rule in Montana that bars an attaching creditor from entering into a private agreement with the Sheriff to pay such Sheriff out of the attaching creditor's own pocket additional compensation over and above that contemplated by the statute. Bucher v. Fraser, 138 M 83, 354 P2d 1042 (1960).

"Fees" Defined: The term "fees", as used in this section, refers to the Sheriff's mileage as well as his other charges. St. v. Story, 53 M 573, 165 P 748 (1917).

Sheriff's Sale Commission: A Sheriff is entitled to his commission on the purchase price paid for real property sold by him under an order of sale in a foreclosure action even when the mortgagee buys the property. Jurgens v. Hauser, 19 M 184, 47 P 809 (1897).

7-32-2142. Fees of sheriff for holding property.

Case Notes

Attachment by Sheriff — Reimbursement of Expenses: Under a Writ of Attachment, a Sheriff takes and retains possession of the property at his peril. When he appoints a custodian to keep and care for the attached property, he is liable to the custodian under his express contract or for reasonable compensation. The Sheriff is entitled to reimbursement of his actual, necessary, and reasonable expenses. Where the Sheriff has paid the expense of keeping and caring for the attached property and judgment in the action goes against the defendant, the Sheriff is entitled to deduct his expenses from the proceeds of the property before turning them over to the attaching creditor. Letz v. Letz, 123 M 494, 215 P2d 534 (1950).

Keeper of Attached Property: Under this section the necessity for the appointment of a keeper of attached property is a question to be determined by the trial court, taking into consideration all facts and circumstances. On appeal, defendant debtor may not complain for the first time that the appointment was unnecessary and improper and that the expense had been unnecessarily incurred. Chowning v. Madison Land & Irrigation Co., 84 M 494, 276 P 946 (1929).

When Fee Payable: A Sheriff is not entitled to be paid for his trouble and expense in taking and keeping property under attachment or execution until the allowance for so doing is fixed by the court. If the Sheriff takes possession and employs a keeper without an order from the court, he is personally liable for the keeper's compensation. Noel v. Cowan, 80 M 258, 260 P 116 (1927).

Keeper — No Obligation to Determine Appointment: The Sheriff took into his possession a large amount of personal property under a Writ of Attachment and appointed a caretaker. A receiver was later appointed by the court who refused to pay the caretaker for his services. A Sheriff who fails to secure an order authorizing the appointment of a keeper before appointing him may be held personally liable for his compensation. The keeper has no obligation to determine whether such an order was secured. Daly v. Kelley, 57 M 306, 187 P 1022 (1920).

1985 Amendment: Inserted (4) relating to a fee in lieu of mileage.

Attorney General's Opinions

Mileage Reimbursement for Constables: Parties involved in civil litigation in Justice's Court who desire to have legal process served by a constable should prepay the cost of service based upon the estimated round-trip mileage involved and the mileage reimbursement rate established in 2-18-503. A constable should be reimbursed for travel only upon the amount of miles actually traveled at the legally established rate. Any difference between the amount paid by the parties to litigation for service of process by a constable and the amount that the constable is reimbursed accrues to the benefit of the local governing body providing the service. 42 A.G. Op. 15 (1987).

2001 Amendment: Chapter 371 in (1) near middle of fourth sentence after "by the" substituted "governor" for "attorney general" and deleted former fifth sentence that read: "In determining the actual expense if travel is by a privately owned vehicle, the mileage rate shall be allowed as provided in subsection (2)"; in (2) in third sentence near middle after "travel or for" substituted "expenses" for "subsistence" and at end after "section" deleted "the fees for mileage named in this section being in full for all such traveling expenses in both civil and criminal work"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2001.

1983 Amendment: In (1), substituted "Montana state hospital" for "Warm Springs state hospital".

Case Notes

Amendment of Claim to Include Mileage Up to Ten Cents — Where Limitation Statute Not Applicable: A Sheriff's claims for mileage during two terms in office had been approved by the Commissioners at the rate of 7 cents and 8½ cents per mile. After retiring from office he presented additional claims for the difference between those rates and 10 cents per mile under section 4885, R.C.M. 1921 (now this section). He was not required to present the latter claims within a year after the last claim accrued, under 7-6-2421, because they amounted to amendments of the original Board approved claims. Weir v. Silver Bow County, 113 M 237, 124 P2d 1003 (1942).

Construction:

The provision in section 4885, R.C.M. 1921 (now this section), that the Sheriff "while in the discharge of his duties, both civil and criminal", shall receive 10 cents per mile actually and necessarily traveled, did not mean that he might collect that amount per mile in the performance of every duty imposed upon him. It meant, in the performance of other duties for which he is authorized to charge mileage, it shall be fixed at 10 cents per mile. Brannin v. Sweet Grass County, 88 M 412, 293 P 970 (1930).

The term "fees", as used in section 3137, Rev. C. 1907 (now this section), connotes mileage payable to the Sheriff by the county in certain cases. St. v. Story, 53 M 573, 165 P 748 (1917).

Misconduct in Office: A Sheriff, Constable, or other peace officer traveling in the discharge of his duties is entitled to charge only for each mile "actually and necessarily" traveled. A Chief of Police is guilty of misconduct in office for claiming and collecting mileage fees for services performed by another officer, he paying to the latter his actual traveling expenses and retaining for himself the balance of the total amount received. State ex rel. Wynne v. Examining & Trial Bd., 43 M 389, 117 P 77 (1911).

Constitutionality: Chapter 86, sec. 1, L. 1905, allowing Sheriffs only actual traveling expenses for transporting prisoners and insane persons was constitutional when applied to officers elected prior to its passage. Scharrenbroich v. Lewis & Clark County, 33 M 250, 83 P 482 (1905).

Attorney General's Opinions

State Financial Responsibility for Sentenced Inmate Upon Oral Pronouncement of Sentence: A sentencing hearing represents the only common date by which the criminal justice system can definitely measure when legal and financial responsibility for an inmate shifts from a county to the state. Oral pronouncement of sentence from the bench in the presence of a defendant constitutes final judgment (see St. v. Lane, 1998 MT 76, 288 M 286, 957 P2d 9 (1998)). Once sentenced, an inmate is considered to be in the legal custody of the Department of Corrections, even though a local or regional detention center may serve as a place of temporary detention until the inmate can be placed by the Department. Therefore, upon oral pronouncement of sentence that transfers legal custody of an inmate to the Department, the financial responsibility for the inmate transfers to the Department as well. 49 A.G. Op. 13 (2001).

Returning Patients to Montana State Hospital — Financial Responsibility: A Sheriff who returns a patient to Warm Springs State Hospital (now Montana State Hospital) pursuant to 7-32-2144 when the patient has been subjected to an involuntary civil or a criminal commitment is entitled to reimbursement for his costs from the applicable county for a person committed pursuant to 46-14-221 and 46-14-222 or the institution to which the person is committed when committed pursuant to 46-14-301, 53-21-121, 53-21-124, and 53-21-127. 37 A.G. Op. 129 (1978).

Transport of Prisoners by Aircraft: A Sheriff may be reimbursed under this section for expenses incurred in transporting prisoners to or from the state prison by aircraft or airline if flying is the least expensive means of transport. 36 A.G. Op. 70 (1976).

Evidence of Negligence in County Jail Sufficient to Uphold Verdict — Duty of Jailer to Inmate: Moralli was injured when she slipped on the wet floor of a bathroom in the Lake County jail. The Supreme Court held that there was sufficient evidence of negligence on the part of the county to prevent a directed verdict and for the court to be bound by the jury verdict. Following Pretty On Top v. Hardin, 182 M 311, 597 P2d 58 (1979), the Supreme Court found that the county owed a duty to the plaintiff, the duty had been breached, and the breach was the cause of the plaintiff's injury. Moralli v. Lake County, 255 M 23, 839 P2d 1287, 49 St. Rep. 872 (1992).

Act Allowing Private Parties to Contract for Jails Not in Conflict With Local Government Regulatory Statutes: The act allowing counties to contract with private parties for the building, maintenance, and operation of jails, enacted as Chapter 447, L. 1985, does not directly conflict with other Montana statutes regulating the indebtedness, contracts, jail facilities, or interlocal agreements of local governments. However, Chapter 447 is subject to the various applicable limitations contained in those statutes. 42 A.G. Op. 81 (1988).

2007 Amendment: Chapter 21 inserted (5) allowing a board of county commissioners to lease county property for use as a detention center for not more than 30 years; inserted (6) allowing a county or two or more local governments acting together to enter a lease-purchase agreement for not more than 20 years for the construction, furnishing, and purchasing of a detention center; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 16, 2007.

1989 Amendment: Inserted introductory clause; throughout section changed references to jail to detention center, county commissioners to governing body, and county to local government; at beginning of (1) changed "shall" to "may" and in two places substituted "multijurisdictional detention center" for "common jail"; near beginning of (2) substituted "detention center allowed" for "jail required"; in (2)(a), after "administrator and", deleted "with the sheriff's concurrence" and at end, after "position", inserted "or appointing the sheriff as detention center administrator"; near beginning of (2)(b), after "agreement", deleted "with the concurrence of the sheriffs of all participating counties"; substituted (3) (see 1989 Session Law for text) for former subsection that read: "The common jails in the several counties of this state are kept by the sheriffs, jail administrators, or private parties agreeing to act as jailers of the counties in which they are respectively situated. In the case of more than one county utilizing a common jail as provided in subsection (1), such jail shall be kept by the sheriffs of the counties utilizing the common jail on a basis as the sheriffs shall agree, by a jail administrator hired by the county in which the jail is situated, or by a private party agreeing to act as the jailer"; at end of (4), after "maintained", inserted "and operated. The costs must be paid for out of the county treasury"; and made minor changes in phraseology and punctuation.

1985 Amendment: Inserted (2) relating to a multicounty jail; in (3) in first sentence, after "sheriffs", inserted "jail administrators, or private parties agreeing to act as jailers" and at end after "agree", inserted "by a jail administrator hired by the county in which the jail is situated, or by a private party agreeing to act as the jailer".

County Responsibility for Medical Costs of Detained Person Unable to Pay — "Nature of the Crime" Approach: In determining whether a city or a county is responsible for medical costs incurred by a person ultimately charged with a violation of state law but who is unable to pay, the Supreme Court adopted the "nature of the crime" approach. This approach determines financial responsibility not on the basis of which agency first takes a person into custody, but rather on the basis of the crime charged. Because the county is vested with the primary responsibility for enforcing state law and maintaining facilities to accomplish that responsibility, performance of the task necessarily includes assumption of the associated financial burden. Mont. Deaconess Medical Center v. Johnson, 232 M 474, 758 P2d 756, 45 St. Rep. 1207 (1988).

Limited Use of Multijurisdictional Detention Center for Confinement of Out-of-State and Federal Inmates: A multijurisdictional detention center may contract for the confinement of out-of-state and federal inmates only for the purposes authorized by 7-32-2203. Those purposes do not include the confinement of adult felony and misdemeanor offenders who are committed by an out-of-state jurisdiction or the federal government. In conformity with the intent of the Legislature to not allow routine interstate exchanges of inmates in and out of Montana, the authority to confine adult offenders who are committed by an out-of-state jurisdiction or the federal government is reserved to the Department of Corrections under narrow circumstances only. 52 A.G. County Primarily Responsible for Postarrest Medical Care: A county is primarily responsible to third-party providers for postarrest medical care given to a person who is ultimately charged with a violation of state law. Following conviction, an inmate who has the means to pay is responsible for the ultimate payment of medical costs pursuant to 7-32-2245, and a county at that point may seek recovery from another party pursuant to state law. 47 A.G. Failure to Admit Person to Jail When Committed by Competent Authority — Negligence Per Se Argument Not Considered for First Time on Appeal: Russell violated the terms of his suspended sentence and was ordered to report to the county jail no later than 8 a.m. on December 28, 1998. When Russell appeared at the jail, a written order of commitment could not be found, so Russell was turned away. When Prindel was subsequently injured by Russell, Prindel argued that failure to admit Russell to jail constituted negligence per se on the part of the county. However, Prindel did not allege any elements of negligence per se in the action, so the Supreme Court declined to address the issue on appeal. Prindel v. Ravalli County, 2006 MT 62, 331 M 338, 133 P3d 165 (2006).

Failure to Admit Person to Jail When Committed by Competent Authority Negligent Violation of Duty of Care: Russell violated the terms of his suspended sentence and was ordered to report to the county jail no later than 8 a.m. on December 28, 1998. When Russell appeared at the jail, a written order of commitment could not be found, so Russell was turned away. On December 30, Russell stabbed Prindel at a party, and Russell was sentenced to life in prison for attempted deliberate homicide. Prindel subsequently sued the county, alleging that the failure to incarcerate Russell on the 28th, despite a court order that Russell begin serving a sentence on that day, amounted to negligence that proximately caused Prindel's injury. The District Court granted summary judgment to the county, concluding that the county had no duty to prevent Russell from injuring Prindel and that the issue of causation need not be addressed. On appeal, the Supreme Court reversed. The county's argument that it had no duty of care without a written order was without merit because the oral pronouncement of sentence constituted the competent authority to incarcerate Russell, and the jail's ignorance of the commitment order did not diminish the court order's status as a competent authority. The county had a special relationship of custody under this section to take Russell into custody for the protection of the public, and failure to do so was negligence as a matter of law. Russell posed a foreseeable risk, Prindel was a foreseeable plaintiff, and the county owed a duty to Prindel to exercise reasonable care to protect him against Russell. Reasonable minds could differ as to whether Russell's act of stabbing Prindel was so unforeseeable as to sever the chain of causation, so summary judgment for the county was error. Prindel v. Ravalli County, 2006 MT 62, 331 M 338, 133 P3d 165 (2006), following Lopez v. Great Falls Pre-Release Serv., Inc., 1999 MT 199, 295 M 416, 986 P2d 1081 (1999), and LaTray v. Havre, 2000 MT 119, 299 M 449, 999 P2d 1010 (2000).

Accounting to Commissioners: Prior to the 1971 amendment of this section, a Sheriff had no clear legal duty to provide the Board of County Commissioners with a detailed itemized accounting of county funds received for furnishing board to prisoners of county jail. State ex rel. Lucier v. Murphy, 156 M 186, 478 P2d 273 (1970).

Expense of Providing Food: The Sheriff is compelled by law to supply prisoners with food. The law does not prescribe where the food shall be prepared, whether inside the jail or out, at the option of the Sheriff. It is intended that the Sheriff not make any profit or gain out of providing food, but neither is it intended that the Sheriff suffer a loss in furnishing food. A part of the necessary expense in providing food is the cost of the fuel with which the food is cooked. Pac. Coal Co. v. Silver Bow County, 79 M 323, 256 P 386 (1927).

Contract With Federal Government: The provision of section 5547, United States Revised Statutes, making it the duty of the Attorney General of the United States to contract with "the managers or proper authorities having control" of federal prisoners in county jails for their subsistence, contemplates that the contract shall be made with the Sheriffs and not with the Boards of County Commissioners. The former, under this section, are the custodians of the jails and answerable for the safekeeping of the persons confined. Majors v. County of Lewis & Clark, 60 M 608, 201 P 268 (1921).

1989 Amendment: Substituted entire section (see 1989 Session Law for text) for former section that read: "(1) When a county jail or building contiguous to it is on fire and there is reason to believe that the prisoners may be injured or endangered, the sheriff, jail administrator, or private party jailer must remove them to a safe and convenient place and there confine them as long as it may be necessary to avoid the danger.

(2) When a pestilence or contagious disease breaks out in or near a jail and the physician thereof certifies that it is likely to endanger the health of the prisoners, the district judge may by a written appointment designate a safe and convenient place in the county or the jail in a contiguous county as the place of their confinement. The appointment must be filed in the office of the clerk and authorize the sheriff, jail administrator, or private party jailer to remove the prisoners to the designated place or jail and there confine them until they can be safely returned to the jail from which they were taken.

(3) If in the opinion of the sheriff, jail administrator, or private party jailer any prisoner, while detained, requires medication, medical services, or hospitalization, the expense of the same shall be borne by the agency or authority at whose instance the prisoner is detained when the agency or authority is not the county wherein the prisoner is being detained. 1985 Amendment: Throughout section after "sheriff" inserted "jail administrator, or private party jailer"; and made minor change in phraseology.

Case Notes

Conditions of Jail Held Not to Violate Statute — Defendant's Release Not Required: Collier was arrested and charged with solicitation of deliberate homicide, which was reduced to criminal endangerment by a plea bargain. At the District Court level and on appeal, Collier challenged her continued incarceration in a county jail allegedly failing to comply with this section. The Supreme Court noted that the District Court had taken testimony on the issue and that the testimony showed that although the jail was not in 100% compliance with this section, conditions were not so bad as to constitute a health hazard. The Supreme Court pointed out that testimony also showed that Collier brought some of the unsanitary conditions upon herself. St. v. Collier, 277 M 46, 919 P2d 376, 53 St. Rep. 534 (1996).

County Responsibility for Medical Costs of Detained Person Unable to Pay — "Nature of the Crime" Approach: In determining whether a city or a county is responsible for medical costs incurred by a person ultimately charged with a violation of state law but who is unable to pay, the Supreme Court adopted the "nature of the crime" approach. This approach determines financial responsibility not on the basis of which agency first takes a person into custody, but rather on the basis of the crime charged. Because the county is vested with the primary responsibility for enforcing state law and maintaining facilities to accomplish that responsibility, performance of the task necessarily includes assumption of the associated financial burden. Mont. Deaconess Medical Center v. Johnson, 232 M 474, 758 P2d 756, 45 St. Rep. 1207 (1988).

Due Process Right of Official Detainees to Medical Care: The Supreme Court cited Revere v. Mass. Gen. Hosp., 463 US 239, 77 L Ed 2d 605, 103 S Ct 2979 (1983), in holding that due process demands that persons detained by government agencies receive adequate medical care regardless of their ability to pay; responsibility for costs is a matter of state law. State Financial Responsibility for Sentenced Inmate Upon Oral Pronouncement of Sentence: A sentencing hearing represents the only common date by which the criminal justice system can definitely measure when legal and financial responsibility for an inmate shifts from a county to the state. Oral pronouncement of sentence from the bench in the presence of a defendant constitutes final judgment (see St. v. Lane, 1998 MT 76, 288 M 286, 957 P2d 9 (1998)). Once sentenced, an inmate is considered to be in the legal custody of the Department of Corrections, even though a local or regional detention center may serve as a place of temporary detention until the inmate can be placed by the Department. Therefore, upon oral pronouncement of sentence that transfers legal custody of an inmate to the Department, the financial responsibility for the inmate transfers to the Department as well. 49 A.G. Op. 13 (2001).

Attorney General's Opinions

State Financial Responsibility for Sentenced Inmate Upon Oral Pronouncement of Sentence: A sentencing hearing represents the only common date by which the criminal justice system can definitely measure when legal and financial responsibility for an inmate shifts from a county to the state. Oral pronouncement of sentence from the bench in the presence of a defendant constitutes final judgment (see St. v. Lane, 1998 MT 76, 288 M 286, 957 P2d 9 (1998)). Once sentenced, an inmate is considered to be in the legal custody of the Department of Corrections, even though a local or regional detention center may serve as a place of temporary detention until the inmate can be placed by the Department. Therefore, upon oral pronouncement of sentence that transfers legal custody of an inmate to the Department, the financial responsibility for the inmate transfers to the Department as well. 49 A.G. Op. 13 (2001).

Chapter 286 at end substituted "Title 41, chapter 5, part 3" for "41-5-301 through 41-5-307, 41-5-309, and 41-5-311".

Compiler's Comments

2003 Amendment: Chapter 579 substituted (2) concerning inmate responsibility for medical costs for former text that read: "An inmate is responsible for the actual costs of medication, medical services, or hospitalization while the inmate is detained in a detention center. Inability to pay may not be a factor in providing necessary medical care for an inmate. This section does not restrict an inmate's right to use a third-party payor"; inserted (3) concerning collection of inmate's medical costs; inserted (4) concerning inability to pay; inserted (5) concerning right to use third-party payor; and inserted (6) concerning city or town as arresting agency. Amendment effective May 5, 2003.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 388 in (1), in first sentence after "costs", inserted "including actual medical costs", in second sentence substituted "The rate for confinement costs must be determined in accordance with 46-18-403" for "The rate at which the inmate must pay the costs must be established at the sentencing hearing", and inserted third sentence concerning payment of court-ordered confinement costs; inserted (2) concerning an inmate's responsibility for medical costs; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 12, 1995.

Case Notes

No District Court Authority to Order Sale of Firearms During Sentencing: The defendant pleaded nolo contendere to robbery, assault with a weapon, and burglary. As part of the sentencing the District Court directed the County Sheriff to sell the defendant's firearms and apply the proceeds to the cost of incarceration at the county detention facility. On appeal, the Supreme Court reversed the condition that the firearms be sold and the proceeds applied against the defendant's incarceration costs. The court reasoned that the Legislature did not provide the District Court with the statutory authority to order the sale of firearms. St. v. Lee, 2015 MT 259, 381 Mont. 33, 358 P.3d 168.

Requirement to Pay Costs of Confinement in Detention Center — Not Applicable to Montana State Prison: The Supreme Court ordered the District Court to strike a condition from the defendant's sentence requiring the defendant to pay "all future costs of incarceration and medical costs while incarcerated" pursuant to 7-32-2245. The statute applies only to costs of confinement in a detention center as defined in 7-32-2201. St. v. Ring, 2014 MT 49, 374 Mont. 109, 321 P.3d 800.

Conditions Imposed in Written Judgment and Sentence Different From Those Imposed in Oral Sentence — Lane, Waters, and Simpson Reviewed — Test to Determine Which New Conditions Lawful or Unlawful — Payment of Restitution and Costs: Johnson was sentenced orally for writing bad checks and later contended that four of the conditions imposed in the written judgment and sentence by the District Court were unlawful under St. v. Lane, 1998 MT 76, 288 M 286, 957 P2d 9 (1998), because they were not announced orally when she was sentenced in open court. The Supreme Court reviewed its decisions in St. v. Waters, 1999 MT 229, 296 M 101, 987 P2d 1142 (1999), and St. v. Simpson, 1999 MT 259, 296 M 335, 989 P2d 361 (1999), and reasoned that a written sentence would be held unlawful only if it substantively increased the defendant's loss of liberty or the defendant's sacrifice of property. Under this test, the Supreme Court held that two of the four penalties not mentioned by the District Court in its oral pronouncement of Johnson's sentence were unlawful, those being the restitution ordered to the Missoula County jail of money expended for Johnson's medical care and the requirement that Johnson pay for the costs of her prosecution in District Court. The Supreme Court held that the other two parts of the written sentence, the requirement that Johnson make restitution from money earned in prison and the imposition of certain "civil" restrictions as conditions of Johnson's suspended sentence, such as the requirement that Johnson stay out of gambling casinos, were lawfully imposed because they did not increase the amount of money that Johnson was ordered to pay or increase Johnson's deprivation of liberty in addition to those penalties imposed orally. The requirement for payment from prison earnings only specified where the money was to come from, and the "civil" restrictions were largely mentioned by the District Court at Johnson's sentencing hearing. St. v. Johnson, 2000 MT 290, 302 M 265, 14 P3d 480, 57 St. Rep. 1225 (2000), followed in St. v. Greene, 2015 MT 1, 378 Mont. 1, 340 P.3d 551.

Attorney General's Opinions

County Primarily Responsible for Postarrest Medical Care: A county is primarily responsible to third-party providers for postarrest medical care given to a person who is ultimately charged with a violation of state law. Following conviction, an inmate who has the means to pay is responsible for the ultimate payment of medical costs pursuant to this section, and a county at that point may seek recovery from another party pursuant to state law. 47 A.G. Case Notes

Construction of Section: Under this section, authorizing the Board of County Commissioners to offer rewards for the apprehension and conviction of persons who have committed a felony, by the use of the words "who have committed a felony", it was the intention of the Legislature to authorize rewards only after a felony has been committed. Part 41
Municipal Police Force

Part Case Notes

Metropolitan Police Law Exclusive Remedy — Collective Bargaining Agreement Grievance Procedure Inapplicable: A police officer terminated pursuant to the metropolitan police law, Title 7, ch. 32, part 41, pursued remedies under the grievance procedure of his union's collective bargaining agreement. The Supreme Court noted that under the agreement a grievance arose only on a misapplication of a provision of the agreement. Neither party claimed a misapplication of the method of discharge. By the agreement's own terms, the metropolitan police law was applicable and provided adequate administrative and judicial determination and review. Butte-Silver Bow did not commit an unfair labor practice by refusing to grieve the matter as being outside the grievance procedure provided by 7-32-4164. City/County of Butte-Silver Bow v. Bd. of Personnel Appeals, 225 M 286, 732 P2d 835, 44 St. Rep. 237 (1987).

City Liable for Negligent Acts of Police Officers: The power in the city to control its policemen in both broad and detailed affairs related to their work brings the policemen squarely within the definition of "employee" and subjects the city to liability for torts committed within the scope of their employment or duties. St. v. District Court, 170 M 15, 550 P2d 382, 33 St. Rep. 464 (1976).

Reduction of Police Force — Good Faith Required: The police force of Helena was appointed pursuant to the provisions of Ch. 136, L. 1907. The force was reduced by ordinance for alleged economic reasons. Subsequently, others were appointed as special policemen to fill the places of those discharged at substantially the same expense as the discharged officers' salaries. The ordinance was void for lack of good faith in attempting to defeat the purposes of the statutes. State ex rel. Quintin v. Edwards, 40 M 287, 106 P 695 (1909).

7-32-4101. Police department authorized and required.

Mandatory as to First- and Second-Class Cities:

Since provisions of the Metropolitan Police Law prior to amendment were mandatory on cities of the first and second class, where newly passed city ordinance required police officers to serve continuously on the active list for not less than 30 years before being eligible for retirement, the ordinance was in direct conflict with sections 11-1818 and 11-1821, R.C.M. 1947 (now repealed), and invalid. Bartels v. Miles City, 145 M 116, 399 P2d 768 (1965).

The Metropolitan Police Law, placing the police department under civil service rules, was mandatory as to cities of the first class, prior to 1939 amendment, but was left optional with the authorities of the smaller cities and towns whether they would bring themselves within its provisions. Grush v. Bishop, 46 M 97, 126 P 619 (1912), explained in McBroom v. Polson, 137 M 33, 349 P2d 1023 (1960); State ex rel. Buchner v. Mayor, 41 M 377, 109 P 710 (1910).

Appointment of Policemen in Third-Class City: Where a city had not elected to come under the provisions of the Metropolitan Police Law, it was not bound by any of the provisions thereof and was not prohibited from appointing a policeman who had not been a resident for 6 months. McBroom v. Polson, 137 M 33, 349 P2d 1023 (1960).

Duty to Maintain Adequate Force: A municipality has the duty to maintain an adequate police force and, it follows, the duty to preserve order. In performing that duty the municipality is performing a governmental function. Kingfisher v. Forsyth, 132 M 39, 314 P2d 876 (1957).

Liability of City for Tortious Act of City Policeman: A city is not liable for tortious acts of a city policeman committed while acting within the course and scope of his employment in enforcing the laws and ordinances of a city. Kingfisher v. Forsyth, 132 M 39, 314 P2d 876 (1957).

Broad Power: The purpose of the laws relative to police departments and Police Commissioners was to remove the police from the influence of politics and to make the tenure of the force secure irrespective of the political effect of their actions. In considering the broad powers given Police Commissions, it is apparent that they are not bodies for only advisory purposes but that the intention of the Legislature was to make them bodies of considerable importance whose findings should have weight. State ex rel. Goings v. Great Falls, 112 M 51, 112 P2d 1071 (1941).

Other Offices: The Metropolitan Police Law contemplates that in addition to the office of Chief of Police, which the law itself creates, there shall be different grades and other offices established by the City Council, as indicated in 7-32-4104, or by the Mayor in the event the Council fails to act, as shown by 7-32-4103. State ex rel. Dwyer v. Duncan, 49 M 54, 140 P 95 (1914).

Purpose of Statute: The purpose of the Legislature in enacting the Metropolitan Police Law was to remove the police force as far as possible from the control of partisan political influences by putting it under civil service rules and thus raise the standard of efficiency. State ex rel. Bennetts v. Duncan, 47 M 447, 133 P 109 (1913); State ex rel. Quintin v. Edwards, 40 M 287, 106 P 695 (1910).

Construction of Statute: The Legislature, in enacting the "police commission bill", employing, as it did, many expressions which are exclusive in their meaning, intended to supplant all existing legislation as to the mode of constituting the police departments of cities and to put all members thereof under civil service rules. State ex rel. Wynne v. Quinn, 40 M 472, 107 P 506 (1910).

Department Not to Be Abolished: The police force cannot be abolished as a whole, for under this section the city is required to maintain it, nor can it be abolished in part. The power of the city extends only to a reduction in its numbers for economical reasons, and it must be exercised in good faith. State ex rel. Quintin v. Edwards, 40 M 287, 106 P 695 (1910).

Commission Form of Government: The Metropolitan Police Law is quite similar in its provisions relating to the appointment, suspension, and discharge of the Chief of Police and of members of the police force to the provisions of the law relating to municipal fire departments, as respects the chief and members of the city fire department. As to policemen, this court has held that the mode of their suspension or removal prescribed by the Metropolitan Police Law obtains under the commission form of government as forcibly as under the aldermanic form. State ex rel. Daly v. Dryburgh, 62 M 36, 203 P 508 (1921); State ex rel. Lease v. Wilkinson, 59 M 327, 196 P 878 (1921); State ex rel. Lease v. Wilkinson, 55 M 340, 177 P 401 (1918); State ex rel. McDonald v. Getchell, 51 M 323, 152 P 480 (1915).

Examination of Officers — Authority of Council: The city of Butte, by resolution of the City Council, created a commission to examine all members of the police force and to report to the Mayor any officers unable to discharge the duties of office. The supervision of the force is confided to the Mayor. It is his duty to know that the members of the force are physically able to perform the services required of them and to discharge members who cannot. Before making such a charge, he must have reasonable grounds to do so. If in the judgment of the City Council the Mayor needs assistance in that determination, section 3314, R.C.M. 1921 (now repealed), furnished authority for the provision of such help. Larkin v. Butte, 52 M 410, 158 P 316 (1916).

Organization by Ordinance: A city ordinance providing for the organization of the police department of the city in conformity with the statute governing that matter has, when duly passed, the force and effect of a statute. State ex rel. Dwyer v. Duncan, 49 M 54, 140 P 95 (1914).

Power of Council: The power to reduce the police force, as constituted under the Metropolitan Police Law, if unnecessarily large or for economic reasons, resides in the City Council and not in the Mayor. State ex rel. Rowling v. Mayor, 43 M 331, 117 P 604 (1911).

Review of Action by Mayor: If the Mayor of a city puts members of the police department out of active service but afterwards complies with an order of court to reinstate them and, after they have served a short time, again retires them, he is not in contempt. State ex rel. Rowling v. District Court, 41 M 532, 110 P 86 (1910).

How Construed as to Appointment and Removal: A Chief of Police whose duties are the same as those of the ordinary policeman, except that the additional one of supervision and control of the entire force is imposed upon him, is a "policeman", and as such, after appointment under the act placing the police departments of cities under civil service rules, he is secure from removal from office in any other manner than that provided in the act. State ex rel. Wynne v. Quinn, 40 M 472, 107 P 506 (1910).

Law to Be Followed: This section is wholly inconsistent with the notion that the Mayor or the Council, or both together, may appoint or remove any member of the department in any other manner than that prescribed in the later law of which the section forms a part. State ex rel. Wynne v. Quinn, 40 M 472, 107 P 506 (1910).

Attorney General's Opinions

Mayor, Not Chief of Police, as Chief Law Enforcement Administrator in Commission-Executive Form of Government: In a commission-executive form of local government, the Mayor, not the Chief of Police, is the chief law enforcement administrator. Mayor Allowed to Designate Assistant Police Chief Without Approval of Municipal Council: In a council-mayor form of government, in the absence of a statutory requirement that a particular mayoral decision is subject to approval of the Municipal Council, the mayor may, in the exercise of the statutory authority to manage and supervise the municipal police force, designate an officer to serve as Assistant Police Chief without the prior approval of the Municipal Council. 46 A.G. Case Notes

Duties as Police Officer: The Chief of Police is a policeman or police officer in the same sense as is an ordinary policeman. When the circumstances demand it, he is required to perform all the duties of the ordinary policeman, for though he has the additional duty of supervision and control of the entire force, this does not lessen or abridge the duties which are enjoined upon all police officers under the general laws of the state. State ex rel. Wynne v. Quinn, 40 M 472, 107 P 506 (1910).

Applications for Appointment: Under this section, action by the Mayor must precede that of the Police Commission, and the City Clerk's action in transmitting an application to the Police Commission could not bind the Mayor. The Mayor need not submit applications when no vacancy exists, nor need he submit every application where a vacancy does exist, the matter resting in his sound discretion. The purpose of the Commission's certificate is to assure minimum qualifications. Horvath v. Mayor, 112 M 266, 116 P2d 874 (1941).

Applications for Appointment — War Veterans: A proceeding in mandamus was brought to compel the Mayor of a city to appoint an honorably discharged war veteran to the position of patrolman under Ch. 66, L. 1937 (10-2-201 through 10-2-206). A war veteran's application must be transmitted to the Police Commission by the Mayor when a vacancy exists, unless on reasonable investigation the Mayor is convinced he is not qualified. He may not be coerced by Writ of Mandate to take favorable action if after investigation he learns that the veteran is not qualified physically due to a back injury. The duty to appoint carries with it the duty to determine the requisite qualifications. State ex rel. Montgomery v. Mayor, 112 M 275, 114 P2d 1046 (1941); Horvath v. Appointment of Policemen in Third-Class City: Where a city had not elected to come under the provisions of the Metropolitan Police Law, prior to amendments making the law mandatory, it was not bound by any of the provisions thereof and was not prohibited from appointing a policeman who had not been a resident for 6 months. McBroom v. Polson, 137 M 33, 349 P2d 1023 (1960).

7-32-4113. Probationary period and confirmation of appointment.

Discretion of Mayor to Discharge Law Enforcement Officer Within Probationary Period — Officer's Right to Wrongful Discharge Claim Following Probationary Period: When the Legislature enacted the Wrongful Discharge From Employment Act, it did not remove a mayor's discretion under this section to review an officer's probationary period and determine whether a probationary law enforcement officer be recommended for permanent employment. Therefore, 39-2-904(1) and (3) (now (1)(a) and (1)(c)) do not apply as a matter of law to give a probationary officer grounds for wrongful discharge. However, once the officer has completed the probationary period in this section and is appointed, the protections in the Act apply and the officer may bring a wrongful discharge from employment claim. Ritchie v. Ennis, 2004 MT 43, 320 M 94, 86 P3d 11 (2004).

Confirmation of Police Officer After Completion of Probationary Period — No Denial Without Good Cause: Hobbs argued that the lower court erred in dismissing his suit against the city of Thompson Falls for terminating him without cause because the parties agreed that he had completed his probationary period and 39-2-904 states that an employee completing a probationary period may be terminated only for good cause. The city argued that this section extends the probationary period for 30 days because it states that upon completion of a probationary period, an officer's appointment must be confirmed by the city's governing body within 30 days. The Supreme Court held that Hobbs could be discharged only for good cause because the only way to reconcile the two statutes was to interpret them to mean that an officer's employment upon completion of the probationary period was subject to confirmation by the city's governing body. However, because the officer was beyond the probationary period during that 30-day time, the officer's confirmation could be denied only upon a showing of good cause. Hobbs v. Thompson Falls, 2000 MT 336, 303 M 140, 15 P3d 418, 57 St. Rep. 1432 (2000), distinguishing Schend v. Thorson, 170 M 5, 549 P2d 809 (1976).

Mayor's Discharge of Police Officer — Not a Denial of Due Process: Police officer's claim that his discharge by Mayor during his period of probation without opportunity to dispute reasons for discharge violated due process of law is without merit because constitutional right of due process only comes into play when one's vested "property" or "liberty" interests are at stake. Schend v. Thorson, 170 M 5, 549 P2d 809, 33 St. Rep. 449 (1976).

Probationary Officer — Reinstatement — Mandamus: A probationary police officer was discharged from the force prior to completion of 6 months' service. No one was appointed to the force to fill his position. He sought to compel the Mayor to submit his name to the City Council for confirmation of his appointment as a member of the police department. Because of his probationary status, he had no clear legal right to the position and mandamus did not lie to require the Mayor to submit his name for membership with the department. State ex rel. O'Neill v. Mayor, 96 M 403, 30 P2d 819 (1934).

Probationary Term:

A probationer, being a member of the police force, can be removed only upon charges made and trial had in conformity with this section and 7-32-4155. State ex rel. Bennetts v. Duncan, 47 M 447, 133 P 109 (1913).

A police captain is a "policeman" and upon appointment, after having served the probationary term of 6 months, is secure from removal from office except as provided by law. State ex rel. Bailey v. Edwards, 40 M 313, 106 P 703 (1910).

7-32-4114. Restrictions on activities of police officers.

Compiler's Comments

2005 Amendment: Chapter 225 in (1) inserted second sentence providing that a member of a police force may not strike; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2005.

Saving Clause: Section 8, Ch. 225, L. 2005, was a saving clause.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 124 at beginning of (1) inserted exception clause; inserted (2) regarding employment of a town or third-class city police force member in another department of town or city government; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 18, 1993.

1981 Amendment: Changed "shall" to "may" in (1); deleted former subsections (2) and (3) relating to restrictions on political activities of policemen; inserted (2) relating to political activity and officeholding by policeman's family; and inserted (3) relating to policeman's political activity while not on duty or in uniform.

7-32-4116. Minimum wage of police in first- and second-class cities.

Compiler's Comments

1981 Amendment: Substituted "section" for "[act]" in (3).

Case Notes

Applicability: The provisions of subsection (3) of this section apply to the computation of longevity pay for police chiefs under 7-4-4202(1) (now repealed). Johnson v. Bozeman, 179 M 412, 587 P2d 359, 35 St. Rep. 1695 (1978).

Actual Current Salary: Where a policeman's salary for 1 fiscal year was a stated amount that was calculated to include the longevity to which he was entitled, his "actual current salary" was the amount received other than for longevity, and the amount to which he is entitled for the next year is computed by adding his total longevity to the "actual current salary" rather than to the stated amount. State ex rel. Raw v. Helena, 139 M 343, 363 P2d 720 (1961).

Added Wages — Computation: Under this section as amended by Ch. 28, L. 1957, added wages must be added to the actual current salary and not to the minimum of $350 a month. Hill v. Billings, 134 M 282, 328 P2d 1112 (1958).

Annual Increase: Although the wages provided for by the 1957 amendment were payable only after July 1, 1957, this did not mean that the Legislature did not intend to consider service prior to that date in computing what the wages should be. Hill v. Billings, 134 M 282, 328 P2d 1112 (1958).

Length of Service: In enacting Ch. 28, L. 1957, amending this section, the Legislature intended to recognize the status of police officers according to the length of service in the past and to reward the more experienced by paying them a higher wage scale. The Legislature drew no distinction between years of service performed before July 1, 1957, and those performed after that date. Hill v. Billings, 134 M 282, 328 P2d 1112 (1958).

Constitutionality: This section did not offend against Art. XII, sec. 4, 1889 Mont. Const., prohibiting the Legislature from levying taxes upon the inhabitants of or property in cities. In maintaining a police force, city is performing a governmental function and not acting in its proprietary capacity and is subject to state control. It may not refuse to enforce the provisions of this section. State ex rel. Gebhardt v. Helena, 102 M 27, 55 P2d 671 (1936).

Construction of Statute: If this section contains any provisions in direct conflict with Title 7, ch. 6, part 42, known as the Municipal Budget Law, this section controls as to such conflicts. State ex rel. Gebhardt v. Helena, 102 M 27, 55 P2d 671 (1936).

All-Purpose Levy Encompassing Multiple Levies: This levy for minimum wages of police departments may be encompassed as part of but not in addition to the all-purpose levy authorized by law. 36 A.G. Op. 94 (1976).

Compiler's Comments

2001 Amendment: Chapter 574 at beginning of (2) deleted "In compliance with 1-2-112 and" and near end substituted "levy on the taxable value of all taxable property" for "levy not to exceed 2 mills on the taxable value of property"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

1999 Amendment: Chapter 584 in (2) inserted reference to 15-10-420; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 10, 1999.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 175, Ch. 584, L. 1999, provided that this section applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to tax years beginning after December 31, 1998.

1981 Amendment: Substituted the requirement that cities are to pay no less than the premium rate in effect as of July 1, 1980, for insurance coverage for policemen and their dependents for the requirement that cities pay 100% of the premium for insurance coverage for each policeman and his dependents in (1)(b); and inserted (1)(c) relating to provisions in collective bargaining agreements.

Interim Study Committee Bill: Chapter 88, L. 1981 (HB 3), was introduced at the request of the interim Study Committee on State Mandates and the Effects of State-Owned Property on Local Governments. See committee report, Legislative Council, 1980.

Attorney General's Opinions

All-Purpose Mill Levy — Forfeiture of Powers: Municipalities that adopt the all-purpose mill levy authorized in 7-6-4452 (now repealed) forfeit the power to impose levies for any particular purpose not clearly excepted by statute. Thus, the all-purpose mill levy supplants the taxing authority granted in 7-33-4111, 19-10-301 (renumbered 19-19-301), and 19-11-503 (renumbered 19-18-503) but does not supplant the taxing authority granted in 7-32-4117, 7-33-4130, 19-3-204, 19-9-704 (renumbered 19-9-209), sec. 2, Ch. 324, L. 1975 (not codified), sec. 2, Ch. 359, L. 1975 (not codified), and sec. 3, Ch. 438, L. 1975 (not codified). 38 A.G. Op. 112 (1980).

Compiler's Comments

1983 Amendment: Substituted language relating to work periods and days off duty (see 1983 Session Law for text) for "Each member of the police force in every city of the first and second class shall be given 2 days off duty in each 7-day period without loss of compensation."

Attorney General's Opinions

Applicability of State Law Other Than Montana Minimum Wage and Maximum Hours Law to Workers Covered by Fair Labor Standards Act: The federal Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 requires provisions of state law other than the Montana minimum wage and maximum hours law (Title 39, ch. 3, part 4), which set shorter workweeks for specified groups of employees, to be given effect. 41 A.G. Op. 58 (1986).

7-32-4119. Overtime compensation.

Compiler's Comments

1983 Amendment: Before "compensation for" inserted "overtime"; after "compensation for" deleted "overtime as provided under 39-3-405"; and added last clause relating to excess hours worked beyond period established by chief of police.

Case Notes

Policemen — Overtime Compensation — Application of Newly Enacted Statute: A declaratory judgment denied overtime compensation to policemen. A statute was then enacted granting overtime compensation to certain policemen. Applying traditional rules of statutory construction, overtime pay for policemen not mentioned in the statute was denied while overtime pay for those classes of policemen mentioned was upheld. The statute did not repeal the declaratory judgment. Dodd v. E. Helena, 180 M 518, 591 P2d 241, 36 St. Rep. 414 (1979).

7-32-4120. Expenditure of state payments by municipality not having police retirement system — annual report.

Compiler's Comments

1991 Amendment: Inserted (1) defining employee; near middle of (2), after "police", inserted "department employee", after "training" inserted "for equipment and personnel relating to substance abuse enforcement", and near end substituted "employees" for "members"; and made minor changes in style.

1981 Amendment: Substituted "chapter 9 or 10 [chapter 10 renumbered chapter 19] of Title 19" for "the police retirement system law" in (1).

Attorney General's Opinions

Pension Trust for PERS Members Prohibits Use of State Funds: Subsection (8) of 19-3-403 prohibits use of annual state payments received by a city pursuant to 19-10-305 (renumbered 19-19-305) for a pension trust plan for police officers who are also members of the Public Employees' Retirement System. 42 A.G. Op. 92 (1988).

Consolidated Law Enforcement Funding: Third-class cities or towns that have consolidated their police departments with county law enforcement offices may not use the funds received from the State Auditor under 19-10-305 (renumbered 19-19-305) to pay the county for their share of the consolidated law enforcement expense unless those funds are used exclusively for pensions and/or training. 37 A.G. Op. 117 (1978).

Expenditure of State Funds for Police Officers: A town may expend funds received pursuant to 19-10-305 (renumbered 19-19-305) to purchase an annuity for former members of its police department even though the town now has a consolidated department. 37 A.G. Op. 103 (1977).

Saving Clause: Section 100, Ch. 562, L. 1999, was a saving clause.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 251 in (1), near end after "difference between", substituted "the member's net salary, following adjustments for income taxes and pension contributions" for "his full salary"; inserted (2) requiring the inability to perform duties as a condition of qualification for partial salary payment; and made minor changes in style.

Attorney General's Opinions

Vacation and Sick Leave to Accrue for Police and Firefighters Injured on Duty: Police officers and firefighters who are injured in the line of duty and who receive salary benefits under 7-32-4132 and 7-33-4133 through the usual payroll system in the same manner as if they were still on regular duty accrue vacation and sick leave credit pursuant to 2-18-611 and 2-18-618. 52 A.G. Op. 7 (2008), overruling a contrary holding in 42 A.G. Op. 114 (1988).

Supplemental Wage Loss Benefits for Injured Police Officer Limited to Cumulative Total of One Year: When a police officer is injured in the line of duty, the employing city's obligation to supplement the officer's workers' compensation wage loss benefits pursuant to this section by paying the difference between benefits received and the officer's net salary ends after the city has paid benefits for a total of 1 year. The 1-year period may consist of aggregated periods of disability of less than 1 year resulting from the same injury and may extend beyond 1 calendar year from the date that the disability begins. 50 A.G. Op. 2 (2003).

Compensation of Police Officer Injured on Duty — No Accrual of Leave: Under this section, a police officer of a first- or second-class municipality (see 1999 amendment) who is injured in the performance of duty is entitled to the difference between any workers' compensation benefits received and the officer's regular salary. (See 1993 amendment.) However, this section does not provide for accrual of either vacation or sick leave benefits during the period of disability. 42 A.G. Op. 114 (1988), overruled in 52 A.G. Op. 7 (2008) to the extent that police officers and firefighters who are injured in the line of duty and who receive salary benefits under 7-32-4132 and 7-33-4133 through the usual payroll system in the same manner as if they were still on regular duty accrue vacation and sick leave credit pursuant to 2-18-611 and 2-18-618.

Full Salary Payable From Date of Injury: This section requires a first- or second-class municipality (see 1999 amendment) to pay the full salary (see 1993 amendment) of a police officer injured while at work from the initial date of the injury. 42 A.G. Op. 69 (1988).

Salary Payments to Municipal Policemen After Disabling Injury: Section 7-32-4132 requires a municipality to pay an injured policeman's full salary (see 1993 amendment) during the period of disability or 1 year, whichever ends first. The Workers' Compensation Fund is not liable for any wage loss benefits during that period because the municipality pays the policeman in full and he has suffered no wage loss. 37 A.G. Op. 156 (1978).

7-32-4151. Police commission required in all cities and some towns.

Case Notes

Statute of Limitations Not Applicable: Police Commission was not equitably estopped from preferring charges in reference to false statements on employment application 3 years after such application was submitted and 2 years 3 months after probationary period was completed as no mention is made in this section of any Statute of Limitations as to actions stemming from false information in employment application. Steer v. Missoula, 169 M 389, 547 P2d 843, 33 St. Rep. 332 (1976).

De Facto Officers: Where the Mayor of a city of the first class had appointed three residents to constitute the Examining and Trial Board (now Police Commission) of the police department created by this section, such persons, having qualified, were de facto officers whose official acts were legal, notwithstanding the City Council repeatedly refused to confirm them. State ex rel. Buckner v. Mayor, 41 M 377, 109 P 710 (1910).

Examining and Trial Board: The law, in effect, commands that there shall be an Examining and Trial Board (now Police Commission) of the police department, the members of which the Mayor is required to nominate; and as to cities of the first class, the law prior to amendment was mandatory, and as to other cities and towns, it was permissive only. State ex rel. Buckner v. Mayor, 41 M 377, 109 P 710 (1910).

Police Commission — Constitutionality: The statute establishing a Police Commission in cities and towns did not violate Art. V, sec. 36, 1889 Mont. Const., declaring that the Legislature could not delegate to any special commission the power to perform any municipal function. The Police Commission was held not to be a "special" commission within the meaning of the 1889 Montana Constitution, since the Mayor controlled the Commission. State ex rel. Quintin v. Edwards, 38 M 250, 99 P 940 (1908).

Attorney General's Opinions

Law Enforcement Commission Not Required for Consolidated City-County Agency: A consolidated city-county law enforcement agency governed by Title 7, ch. 11, part 3, does not require a law enforcement commission established under this section. 42 A.G. Op. 58 (1988).

Validity of Acts of De Facto Public Officer: Dismissed police officer contended the Law Enforcement Commission that decided to discharge him was not properly empaneled at the time of his hearing because of technical defects in the manner of appointment of two of its members. With regard to one member, there was no merit to this objection. As to the second, he, at the least, was acting as a de facto officer at the time of the hearing. A de facto officer's acts are valid to the extent they involve the interest of the public and a third person. Wood v. Butorovich, 220 M 484, 716 P2d 608, 43 St. Rep. 546 (1986). See also City/County of Butte-Silver Bow v. Bd. of Personnel Appeals, 225 M 286, 732 P2d 835, 44 St. Rep. 237 (1987).

Holding Office Beyond Term: There was no express or implied language in the applicable statute which qualified or prohibited the right and duty of members of a city Police Commission to continue to discharge the duties of such office after expiration of the term of office until successors had qualified. Case Notes

Administrator Statutorily Authorized to Modify Police Officer's Punishment: A police officer failed to report damage to an assigned patrol car at the beginning of the officer's shift. After an investigation established that the accident occurred during the officer's work shift, the Police Commission, following a hearing, suspended the officer for 3 weeks. Pursuant to the 1991 version of 7-32-4160, the city administrator modified the officer's punishment from suspension to termination. The District Court subsequently affirmed both the Commission's decision to suspend and the administrator's decision to modify the punishment to termination. On appeal, the Supreme Court affirmed, ruling that state law authorized a city administrator to modify a decision by the Police Commission. In re Termination of Abbey v. Billings Police Comm'n, 268 M 354, 886 P2d 922, 51 St. Rep. 1374 (1994).

City Manager Chief Executive Under Commissioner-Manager Form of Government: The city manager filed an order confirming the recommendation of the police commission directing the permanent discharge of a police officer. A few days later, the Mayor signed an order to retain the police officer subject to certain conditions and limitations. The city filed a declaratory judgment action appealing the decision of the Mayor. The District Court held that under 7-32-4153 the city manager, rather than the Mayor, was the proper party to review the decision of the police commission. The Supreme Court affirmed the District Court decision and held that under the commissioner-manager form of government, the city manager, not the Mayor, is the chief executive with power to affirm, modify, or veto decisions of the police commission. (a) is incompetent or has become incapacitated, by age, disease, or otherwise, to discharge the duties of his office;

(b) has been guilty of neglect of duty, of misconduct in his office, or of conduct unbecoming a police officer;

(c) has been found guilty of any crime; or

(d) whose conduct has been such as to bring reproach upon the police force"; in (2) substituted "an appeal of a police officer, to hear and determine the appeal" for "a charge against a police officer, to forthwith proceed to hear, try, and determine the charge"; and made minor changes in style.

Case Notes

Issue Preclusion and Claim Preclusion Barring Pursuit of WDEA Claim After Police Commission Decision Upheld on Review: Plaintiff, an 8-year veteran with the Cut Bank police department, was terminated from his position by the mayor after being observed apparently sleeping in his patrol car while on duty. Pursuant to 7-32-4155, the plaintiff appealed his termination to the city's Police Commission, which concluded that substantial evidence supported the mayor's decision to terminate the plaintiff's employment. The plaintiff then filed suit in the District Court, asserting a claim under the Wrongful Discharge From Employment Act (WDEA) and in the alternative seeking judicial review of the Commission's decision. The District Court affirmed the Commission's decision and, following a bench trial, entered a judgment under the WDEA that the plaintiff's discharge was not wrongful. The plaintiff appealed and the city cross-appealed, asserting that litigation of the WDEA claim was barred by issue preclusion and claim preclusion after the District Court upheld the Commission's decision. The Supreme Court determined that each element of a four-element test for issue and claim preclusion was satisfied and that the procedural safeguards in the Commission proceedings provided the plaintiff a full and fair opportunity to litigate his termination. Thus, the plaintiff was barred by principles of issue and claim preclusion from relitigating the same or redundant claims. Rooney v. Cut Bank, 2012 MT 149, 365 Mont. 375, 286 P.3d 241.

Statutory Due Process Safeguards for Police Officers Met — Continuance Properly Denied: Ex-wife served a citizen's complaint with the police department against her former husband

Wong, a police officer, alleging an ongoing pattern of harassment against herself, her babysitters, certain friends, and others that took place while Wong was on duty. A formal complaint alleging 39 charges was served on Wong 22 days before the police commission hearing was scheduled to begin. Following problems in retaining counsel, Wong moved for a continuance before the hearing, but the motion was denied. Wong subsequently appeared at the hearing pro se. The District Court held that the notice for hearing was statutorily sufficient but that the commission's denial of a continuance was arbitrary, capricious, and an abuse of discretion that denied Wong of procedural due process. The District Court reversed and remanded for another hearing based on the commission's failure to grant a continuance. The Supreme Court reversed the lower court after finding that the statutory safeguards for police officers were met, including provision of proper notice and a hearing at which Wong appeared and presented witnesses in his defense. Wong's appearance without counsel was due to his own actions. Denial of the continuance was not error. In re Termination of Wong v. Billings, 252 M 111, 827 P2d 90, 49 St. Rep. 158 (1992).

No Wrongful Discharge Action — Police Officers Never Fired: Two police officers brought an action for wrongful discharge against the city. The Supreme Court affirmed the lower court's granting of a summary judgment dismissing their suit. The court held that the officers had never been taken before the police commission as required by law and therefore they had never been legally discharged and accordingly could not bring an action for wrongful discharge. McCracken v. Chinook, 242 M 21, 788 P2d 892, 47 St. Rep. 501 (1990).

Admissibility in Police Disciplinary Hearing of Fact Witness Took Polygraph Test: Although the results of a witness's polygraph exam were not admitted in evidence, she was asked if she took a test and answered that she had. There was no objection, and the chairman of the Police Commission sitting at a police officers' disciplinary hearing admonished the Commission that evidence of taking the exam was to be ignored. On appeal, the District Court found no prejudice. The Supreme Court agreed. Gentry v. Helena, 237 M 353, 773 P2d 309, 46 St. Rep. 862 (1989).

Unchallenged Three-Month Suspension: Section 7-32-4163 (now repealed) provided that a police officer could be suspended with or without pay for up to 10 days in a given month and provided for an appeal by the officer. Three officers were suspended with pay from September 4 through November 30. They did not appeal. The record showed no prejudice, and the Supreme Court found no reversible error. Gentry v. Helena, 237 M 353, 773 P2d 309, 46 St. Rep. 862 (1989).

No Prejudice to Defense From Twenty and One-Half-Hour Hearing: Police Commission's disciplinary hearing for three police officers began at about 9:45 a.m. At about 9:15 p.m., the city finished its case. The Commission chairman told defense counsel to present their case. At 12:30 a.m., the chairman told the defense that the hearing could be adjourned to a later date, but the defense elected to continue. The hearing was completed after about 20½ hours. The hearing was inordinately long and wearying, but no prejudice to defendants was shown, and there was no reversible error. Gentry v. Helena, 237 M 353, 773 P2d 309, 46 St. Rep. 862 (1989).

Review Standard on Appeal to District and Supreme Courts: A Police Commission's findings in a disciplinary proceeding against a police officer are final and conclusive if supported by substantial evidence. The District Court, sitting as an appellate court, is not authorized to determine penalties, sanctions, or disciplinary measures that may be taken. On appeal from the District Court, the Supreme Court will use the standard of review in 2-4-704(2) of the Montana Administrative Procedure Act, and the findings, inferences and conclusions, and decision will not be reversed or modified unless they are clearly erroneous in view of the reliable, probative, and substantial evidence of the whole record. Gentry v. Helena, 237 M 353, 773 P2d 309, 46 St. Rep. 862 (1989).

Testimony at Administrative Hearing by Person Who Decides Appeal: Police officers at a disciplinary hearing before the Police Commission argued that because the city manager could veto or modify the Commission's decision, it was an inherent conflict of interest for him to testify against them at the hearing. On appeal, the District Court found no prejudice in the city manager's testimony, and the officers showed none on appeal to the Supreme Court. No rule prevented the testimony. The Supreme Court found no reversible error. Gentry v. Helena, 237 M 353, 773 P2d 309, 46 St. Rep. 862 (1989).

Validity of Acts of De Facto Public Officer: Dismissed police officer contended the Law Enforcement Commission that decided to discharge him was not properly empaneled at the time of his hearing because of technical defects in the manner of appointment of two of its members. With regard to one member, there was no merit to this objection. As to the second, he, at the least, was acting as a de facto officer at the time of the hearing. A de facto officer's acts are valid to the extent they involve the interest of the public and a third person. Wood v. Butorovich, 220

M 484, 716 P2d 608, 43 St. Rep. 546 (1986). See also City/County of Butte-Silver Bow v. Bd. of Personnel Appeals, 225 M 286, 732 P2d 835, 44 St. Rep. 237 (1987).

Police Officer's Right to Privacy Not Absolute: The constitutional right of privacy does not completely protect a police officer from discharge based solely upon his off-duty activities. The state has an overriding and compelling interest in protecting the public and preserving the integrity of the police department, and this interest overrode respondent's right to privacy. In re Raynes, 215 M 484, 698 P2d 856, 42 St. Rep. 569 (1985).

Records of Other Disciplinary Proceedings Not Relevant — Protective Order Proper: In a police commission proceeding for dismissal of a police officer, defendant police officer was denied, under former Rule 26(c), M.R.Civ.P. (now superseded), access to records of other police disciplinary proceedings that he planned to introduce in support of his defense of "discriminatory law enforcement". The evidence was not relevant to the proceeding, and the protective order was properly granted. In re Raynes, 215 M 484, 698 P2d 856, 42 St. Rep. 569 (1985).

Removal Not Excessive Punishment: Removal of an 18-year veteran of the Great Falls police force for conduct unbecoming an officer was not excessive punishment when the evidence indicated that in the course of operating a private hypnosis business defendant had engaged in sexual relations with his hypnotized clients and used his status as a police officer to gain his clients' confidence and trust. In re Raynes, 215 M 484, 698 P2d 856, 42 St. Rep. 569 (1985).

Scope of District Court Review: The District Court's review of a police commission determination under 7-32-4164 is a review of the questions of law and fact implicit within the police commission's decision. The review of the law is to determine whether the rulings are correct. The review of the facts is made under the substantial evidence test. In re Raynes, 215 M 484, 698 P2d 856, 42 St. Rep. 569 (1985).

Summary Proceeding: Policeman charged with several acts of misconduct and subject to proceedings under this section could not also be suspended under 7-32-4163 (now repealed) on the basis of the same charges. The procedures outlined in 7-32-4155 through 7-32-4163 (7-32-4162 and 7-32-4163 now repealed) and the summary proceeding under 7-32-4163 (now repealed) were mutually exclusive, the former being intended to deal with serious charges which, if proven, could lead to the officer's dismissal and the latter being intended to deal with minor disciplinary problems capable of being handled within the department. Miskovich v. Helena, 170 M 138, 551 P2d 995 (1976).

Dismissal During Probationary Period: Where city ordinance provided that newly hired police officers must serve a probationary period of up to 6 months, during which time they might be summarily dismissed by the Mayor, dismissal of plaintiff after 5 months on the basis of his "performance of duty, attitude toward and lack of desire to co-operate with those in charge" and Police Commission's refusal to give him a hearing on the charges against him did not violate the 14th amendment Due Process Clause, since dismissal from one's job during the probationary period is not a deprivation of liberty or property within the meaning of the clause. Schend v. Thorson, 170 M 5, 549 P2d 809 (1976).

Factors in Identifying Witness: Whether the witness who told a police investigator that petitioner was "rumored" to have stolen two bicycles from the police storage garage ought to be ordered identified in a proceeding before the Police Commissioner was dependent upon the circumstances of the case and called for a balancing of various factors, including the nature of the crime charged, possible defenses, the significance of the informer's testimony, the necessity to protect the flow of information, and the impact of nondisclosure on the accused's right to present a defense. In re Dewar, 169 M 437, 548 P2d 149 (1976).

Testimony — Power to Compel: Police Commission has the power under this section to compel the testimony of reluctant witnesses, subject to the same restrictions as those imposed upon a District Court in the trial of like cases. In re Dewar, 169 M 437, 548 P2d 149 (1976).

Trial: Where policeman had been improperly dismissed but reinstated, then charged with misconduct, dishonesty, and failure to obey a superior's lawful order, found guilty at a hearing as provided for by 7-32-4162 (now repealed) and then dismissed again, the first dismissal did not so taint the subsequent proceedings as to render them mere ex post facto attempts to provide due process and justify the discharge; the error of the improper dismissal was completely cured by the reinstatement. Steer v. Missoula, 169 M 389, 547 P2d 843 (1976).

Chairman — Prohibition Wrongfully Issued: The chairman of a Police Commission, though restrained from officially participating in the trial of a policeman for misconduct in office by Writ of Prohibition, improperly issued, nevertheless was present at the trial throughout, though not acting as chairman. His right to join his colleagues in the final disposition of the case, after dismissal of the prohibition proceeding, was not affected by the issuance of the Writ. State ex rel. Mueller v. District Court, 87 M 108, 285 P 928 (1930).

Prohibition — Jurisdiction Question: The Writ of Prohibition lies only to arrest proceedings without or in excess of jurisdiction—the power to hear and determine the case. Where the affidavit for the Writ does not present a jurisdictional question, as where a policeman under charges for misconduct seeks to disqualify a member of the police board from participating in the hearing for bias and prejudice but the statute does not provide for such disqualification, leaving the question of jurisdiction unaffected, the Writ does not lie. State ex rel. Mueller v. District Court, 87 M 108, 285 P 928 (1930), distinguished in State ex rel. Stewart v. District Court, 103 M 487, 63 P2d 141 (1936).

Quasi-Judicial Power: Under the Metropolitan Police Law there is no inherent right of indefinite tenure in the office of policeman. When remiss in their duty, the members of the police force are subject to discipline or removal from office after trial before the Police Commission which has quasi-judicial powers not limited by the provisions of the Montana Constitution applicable to courts. State ex rel. Mueller v. District Court, 87 M 108, 285 P 928 (1930).

No Disqualification: In the absence of statutory provision for the disqualification of members of the Police Commission on the ground of bias or prejudice, vested as it is with exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine charges against members of the police force, the right of a member of the Commission to participate in a hearing of charges against a policeman is not vulnerable to such attack, the rule of disqualification not applying to officers not judicial. State ex rel. Mueller v. District Court, 87 M 108, 285 P 928 (1930).

Charges — No Statute of Limitations: The sufficiency of charges against a police officer cannot be defeated by the fact that the specifications considered as a basis for criminal prosecution may be barred by the Statute of Limitations. State ex rel. O'Brien v. Mayor, 54 M 533, 172 P 134 (1918).

Fitness: In every proceeding for the removal of an officer, the charges against him are not to be tested by the rigid rules of criminal procedure, but the ultimate inquiry is the fitness of the accused to hold his position. Such inquiry is raised by the specific questions whether he is incompetent or has been guilty of neglect of duty or misconduct in office or conduct unbecoming an officer. State ex rel. O'Brien v. Mayor, 54 M 533, 172 P 134 (1918).

Trial: It is contemplated that charges against any officer in the department shall be heard by the Examining and Trial Board (now Police Commission). State ex rel. Dwyer v. Duncan, 49 M 54, 140 P 95 (1914).

What Is Sufficient Misconduct: A police officer, after having been notified of an obstruction on a sidewalk by a pedestrian who was injured by falling over it, paid no attention to the complaint further than to say that nothing could be done unless the complainant should swear out a warrant against the owner of the premises. He was guilty of misconduct in office, in view of police regulations governing such matters, as well as of neglect of duty. A charge substantially embodying these facts was sufficient to state either or both of these offenses made triable by the trial board of the police department. Bailey v. Examining & Trial Bd., 45 M 197, 122 P 572 (1912).

Illegal Mileage: Evidence was sufficient to support a finding of misconduct against the Chief of Police for claiming and collecting mileage fees for services performed by a subordinate. The Chief paid his subordinate his actual traveling expenses and retained for himself the balance of the total amount received. State ex rel. Wynne v. Examining & Trial Bd., 43 M 389, 117 P 77 (1911).

Police Chief as Officer — Removal: A Chief of Police whose duties are the same as those of an ordinary officer, except the additional duty of supervision and control of the force, is a "policeman". After appointment under the municipal police statutes, he is secure from removal in any manner other than provided in the statutes. State ex rel. Wynne v. Quinn, 40 M 472, 107 P 506 (1910).

7-32-4156. Appeals to be in writing.

Compiler's Comments

1993 Amendment: Chapter 468 at beginning substituted "An appeal brought by" for "Any charge brought against", near middle substituted "mayor, city manager, or chief executive" for "accused officer or member", increased number of days from 15 to 30, and at end substituted "appeal" for "charge"; and made minor changes in style.

Case Notes

Unsigned Complaint: Although this section provides that a complaint against a police officer must be in writing, there is no requirement that a complainant sign it. There was no error when the filed complaint had no signature. (See 1993 amendment.) Gentry v. Helena, 237 M 353, 773 P2d 309, 46 St. Rep. 862 (1989).

Charge to Be in Writing: The requirement of this section that a complaint charging a police officer with any of the offenses triable by the Examining and Trial Board (now Police Commission) of the police department shall be reduced to writing is met if it in substance makes out any of the offenses mentioned therein. (See 1993 amendment.) Bailey v. Examining & Trial Bd., 45 M 197, 122 P 572 (1912).

7-32-4160. Decision by police commission.

Compiler's Comments

1993 Amendment: Chapter 468 after "hearing" deleted "or trial"; substituted "the appeal" for "whether the charge was proven or not proven"; substituted reference to decision regarding the disciplinary order for "discipline, suspend, remove, or discharge any officer who shall have been found guilty of the charge filed against him"; deleted (2) and (3) that read: "(2) Such action of the police commission shall, however, be subject to modification or veto by the mayor, made in writing and giving reasons therefor, which shall become a permanent record of the police commission; provided, however, that where and when the police commission decides the charge not proven, the decision is final and conclusive and is not subject to modification or veto by the mayor or to any review.

(3) Where the police commission decides the charge proven, the mayor, within 5 days from the date of the filing of such findings and decision with the city clerk, may modify or veto such findings and decision"; and made minor changes in style.

Termination of Police Officer Affirmed — Right of Employer to Compel Answers to Employment-Related Questions — Due Process: Wolny appealed his termination as a Bozeman police officer for inappropriate use of force, making inconsistent statements, and failing to orally answer followup questions. The Supreme Court noted that Wolny was entitled to fundamental due process rights, including notice, an explanation of the evidence against him, and an opportunity to respond. However the court found that the officer's due process rights were not violated. The Police Commission properly considered the testimony of witnesses, correctly held that Wolny was insubordinate for failing to orally answer questions that were reasonably related to Wolny's fitness to perform duties or to his job performance, properly excluded the disciplinary history of other police officers, and adequately complied with its progressive discipline policy despite the fact that Wolny's personnel file was not offered as evidence. Wolny v. Bozeman, 2001 MT 166, 306 M 137, 30 P3d 1085 (2001), following In re Raynes, 215 M 484, 698 P2d 856 (1985), Boreen v. Administrator Statutorily Authorized to Modify Police Officer's Punishment: A police officer failed to report damage to an assigned patrol car at the beginning of the officer's shift. After an investigation established that the accident occurred during the officer's work shift, the Police Commission, following a hearing, suspended the officer for 3 weeks. Pursuant to the 1991 version of this section, the city administrator modified the officer's punishment from suspension to termination. The District Court subsequently affirmed both the Commission's decision to suspend and the administrator's decision to modify the punishment to termination. On appeal, the Supreme Court affirmed, ruling that state law authorized a city administrator to modify a decision by the Police Commission. In re Termination of Abbey v. Billings Police Comm'n, 268 M 354, 886 P2d 922, 51 St. Rep. 1374 (1994).

Discharge for Lying to Commission Under Oath: It was not reversible error for the city manager, on review of the Police Commission's hearing, to discharge three police officers who lied to the Commission under oath. (See 1993 amendment.) Gentry v. Helena, 237 M 353, 773 P2d 309, 46 St. Rep. 862 (1989).

Evidence in Support of Discharge for Harassing Citizen and Lying to Commission: Police Commission found three police officers guilty of lying to the Commission and two of them guilty under citizen's complaints and recommended suspensions without pay for two, a demotion for one, and a reprimand personnel file letter for one. The city manager, on review, terminated employment of all three. Substantial evidence supported the recommendation and termination. Two officers had been drinking for over 8 hours and had harassed a citizen while intoxicated. They made the rounds of a number of bars. The third had given the two a ride in a police car from a bar to their vehicle, and all three attempted to cover up the events before the Commission. Among the evidence was the testimony of several witnesses and an audiotaped record of a call one officer made for a ride in a police car. (See 1993 amendment.) Gentry v. Helena, 237 M 353, 773 P2d 309, 46 St. Rep. 862 (1989).

City Manager Chief Executive Under Commissioner-Manager Form of Government: The city manager filed an order confirming the recommendation of the police commission directing the permanent discharge of a police officer. A few days later, the Mayor signed an order to retain the police officer subject to certain conditions and limitations. The city filed a declaratory judgment action appealing the decision of the Mayor. The District Court held that under 7-32-4153 the city manager, rather than the Mayor, was the proper party to review the decision of the police commission. The Supreme Court affirmed the District Court decision and held that under the commissioner-manager form of government, the city manager, not the Mayor, is the chief executive with power to affirm, modify, or veto decisions of the police commission. (See 1993 amendment.) Raynes v. Great Falls, 215 M 114, 696 P2d 423, 42 St. Rep. 224 (1985).

Finding of Commission Binding Upon City Council: Relator sought a writ commanding the City Council to put him on the reserve list of police officers of the city, in accordance with a finding of the Police Commission submitted to the Council that relator was permanently disabled in line of duty so as to impair his ability as an active police officer. It recommended the Council and Board of Trustees of the police pension fund that he become a member of the police reserves. Such finding was binding on the Council to proceed under this section and by ordinance place him on the reserve list and ordered him paid as provided by statute. State ex rel. Goings v. Great Falls, 112 M 51, 112 P2d 1071 (1941).

1993 Amendment: Chapter 468 substituted present first sentence concerning mayor enforcing decision of police commission for "When a charge against a member of the police force is found proven by the board and is not vetoed by the mayor, the mayor must make an order enforcing the decision of the board or the decision as modified if modified by the mayor"; and made minor changes in style.

Statutory Due Process Safeguards for Police Officers Met — Continuance Properly Denied: Ex-wife served a citizen's complaint with the police department against her former husband Wong, a police officer, alleging an ongoing pattern of harassment against herself, her babysitters, certain friends, and others that took place while Wong was on duty. A formal complaint alleging 39 charges was served on Wong 22 days before the police commission hearing was scheduled to begin. Following problems in retaining counsel, Wong moved for a continuance before the hearing, but the motion was denied. Wong subsequently appeared at the hearing pro se. The District Court held that the notice for hearing was statutorily sufficient but that the commission's denial of a continuance was arbitrary, capricious, and an abuse of discretion that denied Wong of procedural due process. The District Court reversed and remanded for another hearing based on the commission's failure to grant a continuance. The Supreme Court reversed the lower court after finding that the statutory safeguards for police officers were met, including provision of proper notice and a hearing at which Wong appeared and presented witnesses in his defense. Wong's appearance without counsel was due to his own actions. Denial of the continuance was not error. In re Termination of Wong v. Billings, 252 M 111, 827 P2d 90, 49 St. Rep. 158 (1992).

Review Standard on Appeal to District and Supreme Courts: A Police Commission's findings in a disciplinary proceeding against a police officer are final and conclusive if supported by substantial evidence. The District Court, sitting as an appellate court, is not authorized to determine penalties, sanctions, or disciplinary measures that may be taken. On appeal from the District Court, the Supreme Court will use the standard of review in 2-4-704(2) of the Montana Administrative Procedure Act, and the findings, inferences and conclusions, and decision will not be reversed or modified unless they are clearly erroneous in view of the reliable, probative, and substantial evidence of the whole record. Gentry v. Helena, 237 M 353, 773 P2d 309, 46 St. Rep. 862 (1989).

Metropolitan Police Law Exclusive Remedy — Collective Bargaining Agreement Grievance Procedure Inapplicable: A police officer terminated pursuant to the metropolitan police law, Title 7, ch. 32, part 41, pursued remedies under the grievance procedure of his union's collective bargaining agreement. The Supreme Court noted that under the agreement a grievance arose only on a misapplication of a provision of the agreement. Neither party claimed a misapplication of the method of discharge. By the agreement's own terms, the metropolitan police law was applicable and provided adequate administrative and judicial determination and review. Butte-Silver Bow did not commit an unfair labor practice by refusing to grieve the matter as being outside the grievance procedure provided by this section. (See 1993 amendment.) City/County of Butte-Silver Bow v. Bd. of Personnel Appeals, 225 M 286, 732 P2d 835, 44 St. Rep. 237 (1987).

Scope of District Court Review: The District Court's review of a police commission determination under this section is a review of the questions of law and fact implicit within the police commission's decision. The review of the law is to determine whether the rulings are correct. The review of the facts is made under the substantial evidence test. In re Raynes, 215 M 484, 698 P2d 856, 42 St. Rep. 569 (1985).

Review of Decision: Decision of Police Commission is subject to judicial review, but there is no right to jury trial or hearing de novo. Helena v. District Court, 166 M 74, 530 P2d 464 (1975).

Time Limitation: Where a statute creates a right which did not exist at the common law and prescribes the time within which the right must be exercised, the limitation does not affect the remedy merely but is the essence of the right itself—a condition attached to the right to sue. Under this rule of law, it was proper to dismiss a complaint of a police officer alleging that he was illegally removed from the force where the complaint was not filed until 5 months after the accrual of his cause of action. The 60-day limitation for such actions contained in the statute was an effective bar to his right to sue. King v. Mayor, 71 M 309, 230 P 62 (1924).

Removal of Officer — Certiorari: The Examining and Trial Board (now Police Commission) of the Butte police department discharged an officer under the Metropolitan Police Law. The officer contended that the complaint on which he was tried did not state facts sufficient to constitute the offense with which he was charged, or if the complaint was sufficient, that there was no substantial evidence tending to prove the charges. Certiorari was proper to review the action of the Board to determine if it had exceeded its jurisdiction or authority, but since no transcripts of the proceedings are required, the only remedy concerning sufficiency of the evidence is an independent suit in equity. State ex rel. Examining & Trial Bd. v. Jackson, 58 M 90, 190 P 295 (1920).

Municipal Detention Centers

7-32-4201. Municipal detention centers authorized.

1989 Amendment: Near beginning substituted "detention center, as defined in 7-32-2120" for "jail" and at end, after "same", deleted "and to cause the prisoners to work on streets or elsewhere within 3 miles of the city"; and made minor changes in phraseology.

Attorney General's Opinions

County Primarily Responsible for Postarrest Medical Care: A county is primarily responsible to third-party providers for postarrest medical care given to a person who is ultimately charged with a violation of state law. Following conviction, an inmate who has the means to pay is responsible for the ultimate payment of medical costs pursuant to 7-32-2245, and a county at that point may seek recovery from another party pursuant to state law. 47 A.G. Op. 2 (1997).

Part 43
Powers of Municipal Council Related to Law Enforcement

7-32-4301. Regulations governing arrest authorized.

Case Notes

Clarification of Authority of Out-of-Jurisdiction Peace Officer in Making Arrest: The defendant appealed his conviction of DUI, arguing the District Court should have dismissed the charge since his arrest was illegal because the out-of-jurisdiction peace officer who arrested him exceeded her authority under the private person arrest statute by investigating the defendant for DUI. In affirming the defendant's conviction, the Supreme Court revisited its analyses in Maney v. St., 255 Mont. 270, 842 P.2d 704 (1992), St. v. Hendrickson, 283 Mont. 105, 939 P.2d 985 (1997), and St. v. Williamson, 1998 MT 199, 290 Mont. 321, 965 P.2d 231, and concluded that the assumption underlying these cases — that if a peace officer lacks authority to act in the capacity of a peace officer, then the only alternative is that the peace officer acts in the capacity of a private person — is incorrect. The Supreme Court concluded that an out-of-jurisdiction peace officer must meet the arrest standard that applies to a private person in the same circumstances: if probable cause exists to believe that a person is committing or has committed an offense and the existing circumstances require the person's immediate arrest. If this standard is met, the officer may then follow the procedures applicable to peace officers when processing an arrest. St. v. Updegraff, 2011 MT 321, 363 Mont. 123, 267 P.3d 28.

Authority and Probable Cause to Make DUI Arrest: Ditton contended that the city police officer who arrested Ditton for DUI lacked authority to make the arrest because the arrest occurred outside city limits. Ditton also asserted that the officer lacked probable cause to make the arrest. Nevertheless, Ditton was convicted of DUI. Ditton appealed, but the Supreme Court affirmed on both issues. Although the arrest was outside city limits, pursuant to 7-32-4301 and relevant city ordinances, police officers had authority to conduct traffic stops within 5 miles of city limits. The arrest was within that area, so the officer had authority to make the stop. In addition, probable cause was present based on Ditton's overall driving, including striking a stop sign after the officer activated emergency lights, and an audio and video recording of the interactions between Ditton and the officer. The interactions, which included Ditton's performance in field sobriety tests, Ditton's overall appearance and level of functionality, and Ditton's driving, were sufficient to allow the officer to make a probable cause determination. St. v. Ditton, 2009 MT 57, 349 M 306, 203 P3d 806 (2009).

City Police Officer Making Arrest Outside Territorial Jurisdiction — Probable Cause Required: A city police officer, investigating a phone call reporting a suspected drunk driver, pursued Williamson outside city limits and arrested him, although the officer observed no erratic driving or other indicators of alcohol impairment prior to stopping Williamson's truck. Williamson moved to suppress all the evidence on the basis that the officer did not have probable cause to make the stop, contending that probable cause was necessary because the officer was acting outside his territorial jurisdiction as a city police officer and that the information within the officer's knowledge at the time of the stop did not rise to the level of probable cause. Williamson's motion was denied. Clarifying the difference between the probable cause necessary to effectuate a valid arrest and the particularized suspicion necessary to justify an investigative stop, the Supreme Court noted that although an officer ordinarily needs only a particularized suspicion for a traffic stop, under these circumstances, the officer was outside his jurisdiction when the stop was made and was thus not acting within the scope of his authority as a peace officer. The criminal procedures in 46-5-401 and 46-6-311 were not available to the officer. Rather, as a peace officer acting outside his territorial jurisdiction, his authority was limited to that provided to private citizens under 46-6-502, so probable cause was required. The citizen informant's telephone report was not sufficient to establish probable cause because the relayed report was devoid of information as to why the informant believed that Williamson was intoxicated and the officer did not inquire into the basis of the report before stopping Williamson's truck. The report created, at most, a suspicion that an offense was being committed, but that suspicion alone was insufficient to establish probable cause. Even if the informant had sufficient information to establish probable cause for a citizen's arrest of Williamson, that information was not relayed to the officer, who thus did not possess sufficient information to make the stop. The judgment was reversed because the District Court erred in refusing to suppress the evidence. St. v. Williamson, 1998 MT 199, 290 M 321, 965 P2d 231, 55 St. Rep. 843 (1998), distinguishing St. v. Schoffner, 248 M 260, 811 P2d 548 (1991). Williamson was followed in St. v. Reiner, 2003 MT 243, 317 M 304, 77 P3d 210 (2003).

In St. v. Updegraff, 2011 MT 321, 363 Mont. 123, 267 P.3d 28, the Supreme Court clarified the authority of out-of-jurisdiction peace officers to make arrests, concluding that an out-of-jurisdiction peace officer must meet the arrest standard that applies to a private person in the same circumstances, and if this standard is met, the officer may then follow the procedures applicable to peace officers when processing an arrest.

Territorial Jurisdiction Not Controlling on Officer's Right to Make Arrest: Williams argued that Krausz, a Miles City police officer, did not have the authority to arrest him for driving under the influence because he was not stopped in Miles City or within 5 miles of the city limits. The Supreme Court held that Krausz was acting at the request of a highway patrol officer who did have jurisdiction over the incident and that therefore Krausz did have the authority to arrest Williams. St. v. Williams, 273 M 459, 904 P2d 1019, 52 St. Rep. 1085 (1995).

Arrest Outside City Limits by City Police Absent Local Ordinance — Arrest Lawful in Capacity as Private Citizen: The city of Eureka never enacted an ordinance giving city police jurisdiction outside the city limits pursuant to this section, and defendant contended that his arrest for DUI and hit-and-run made 0.8 mile outside Eureka was therefore illegal and that all evidence resulting from the arrest was inadmissible. The Supreme Court found that by enacting this section (authorizing city police arrests within 5 miles of town), 46-6-502 (authorizing arrests by private citizens), and 46-6-411 (authorizing out-of-state officers in close pursuit to make arrests in Montana), it is clear that Montana no longer adheres to the common-law rule strictly prohibiting arrests outside an officer's jurisdiction. A police officer outside his jurisdiction has not lost his characteristics of being a private citizen; therefore, if an arrest by a private citizen would be lawful under the circumstances, the arrest by an officer outside his jurisdiction would be lawful. St. v. McDole, 226 M 169, 734 P2d 683, 44 St. Rep. 561 (1987), followed in St. v. Williamson, 1998 MT 199, 290 M 321, 965 P2d 231, 55 St. Rep. 843 (1998).

In St. v. Updegraff, 2011 MT 321, 363 Mont. 123, 267 P.3d 28, the Supreme Court clarified the authority of out-of-jurisdiction peace officers to make arrests, concluding that an out-of-jurisdiction peace officer must meet the arrest standard that applies to a private person in the same circumstances, and if this standard is met, the officer may then follow the procedures applicable to peace officers when processing an arrest.

7-32-4302. Control of disturbances of the peace.

Case Notes

Narrow Construction of Disturbing the Peace Ordinance — No Vagueness or Overbreadth: Appellant was convicted of breach of the peace under Whitefish Municipal Ordinance, 9.64.010, which read: "No person within the municipality, or within three miles of the municipal limits, shall willfully and maliciously disturb the peace and quiet of any street, neighborhood, family, or person by loud, tumultuous noise, or by tumultuous or offensive conduct, or by using offensive, loud radio or television sets, or by threatening, quarreling, scolding, hallooing, hollering, challenging to fight, or fighting, or by cursing, swearing, uttering obscene, profane, vulgar, or indecent language in the presence of any person or persons, or by committing any obscene, vulgar, indecent, or lewd act in any public place, or in view of any person or persons". Appellant had been talking louder than normal on a city street at about 2 a.m., and when a police officer told appellant to "hold it down", appellant said "Well, [m.f.], I will holler and yell when and wherever I want if I want to". The Supreme Court construed the ordinance narrowly as applying only to words spoken willfully and maliciously, and that constitute "fighting words" with a direct tendency to violence, and stated that as so construed the ordinance is not unconstitutional for vagueness or overbreadth. Whitefish v. O'Shaughnessy, 216 M 433, 704 P2d 1021, 42 St. Rep. 928 (1985).

Obscene "Fighting Words" Spoken to Police Officer — Disturbing the Peace Conviction Upheld: While on a city street at about 2 a.m. after closing his restaurant and bar, appellant and his friends were engaged in a louder-than-normal conversation. A police officer approached and told appellant to "hold it down". Appellant said, "Well, [m.f.], I will holler and yell when and wherever I want if I want to". The language constituted "fighting words", and by definition a threat of violence or violent response occurred. Appellant was properly convicted of disturbing the peace. Whitefish v. O'Shaughnessy, 216 M 433, 704 P2d 1021, 42 St. Rep. 928 (1985).

Protection of Public Morals: Notwithstanding repeal of the state prohibition laws, a city has the power to prohibit, by ordinance, traffic in intoxicating liquors under its general powers granted it by 7-5-4101 and this section under which it may pass ordinances to prevent acts or conduct calculated to disturb the public peace or which is offensive to public morals. State ex rel. Moreland v. Police Court, 87 M 17, 285 P 178 (1930).

Attorney General's Opinions

Authority to Enact Ordinances Regulating Breach of Peace: This section authorizes but does not require that a city or town council adopt ordinances to prevent acts or conduct calculated to disturb the public peace. In situations in which this authority has not been exercised, a city or town police officer acting within the officer's territorial jurisdiction may arrest a person for the violation of a state law prohibiting offenses against the public order. 45 A.G. Op. 9 (1993).

Enforceability of Ordinance Regulating Discharge of Firearms Within Three Miles of City: A city may adopt an ordinance prohibiting disorderly conduct resulting from the discharge of firearms and enforce the ordinance within 3 miles of the city limits pursuant to this section. 42 A.G. Op. 8 (1987).

No Local Authority to Prohibit Minors in Licensed Premises: An incorporated town with general powers does not have the authority to enact an ordinance prohibiting persons under the age of 19 from being on licensed premises where alcoholic beverages are sold and consumed. The local government may not enact an ordinance providing for greater penalties than those found in 45-5-624 for a person under the age of 19 convicted of possession of alcoholic beverages. 41 A.G. Op. 84 (1986).

Amendment effective May 5, 2003.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 6, Ch. 561, L. 2003, provided: "[Sections 1 and 3] [7-1-111 and 7-32-4304] apply retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to ordinances enacted prior to [the effective date of this act]." Effective May 5, 2003.

2009 Amendment: Chapter 171 in (1)(e) near end of first sentence after "national" deleted "and other appropriate"; in (3) near beginning after "direction of the" substituted "trustees, if trustees have been designated to manage the fire agency under the provisions of this chapter. If the governing body retains management, then the fire chief serves under the direction of the governing body" for "governing body that has created the governmental fire agency"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2009.

Rural Fire Districts

Part Case Notes

Permissible Scope of Fire District's Services: When a fire district is governed by a board of trustees, the board of trustees and the fire chief determine the scope of the fire district's services. Bull Lake Fire District v. Lincoln County, 2013 MT 342, 372 Mont. 469, 313 P.3d 174.

Extension of Immunity to All Rural Fire Districts Regardless of Method of Formation: Plaintiffs contended that under 7-33-2208, immunity for rural firefighters extended only to rural fire crews and fire companies established on the initiative of a county government under part 22 of this chapter, but not to crews and companies established in response to a petition by landowners pursuant to this part. The Supreme Court found, after examining the legislative history of 7-33-2208, no logic or reason for granting or withholding immunity to a rural firefighting unit based on the method of its origin and extended immunity to districts established under both part 22 and this part. Allegations of negligent acts and omissions in fire suppression techniques outside the scope of 7-33-2208 did not constitute a genuine issue of material fact sufficient to preclude summary judgment based on immunity. Noting the 1989 amendment to 7-33-2208, the court further impliedly extended immunity to fire companies organized under part 23 and fire service areas organized under part 24. Hyde v. Evergreen Volunteer Rural Fire Dept., 252 M 299, 828 P2d 1377, 49 St. Rep. 259 (1992).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Rural Fire District Not to Incorporate Under Nonprofit Corporation Act: Although the formation and operation of nonprofit corporations are generally controlled by the Montana Nonprofit Corporation Act (Title 35, ch. 2), the particular process relating to the creation and operation of fire districts is specifically mandated by Title 7, ch. 33, part 21. Therefore, a rural fire district may not be established or reestablished and operated under Title 35, ch. 2, in order to avoid personal liability. 43 A.G. Op. 2 (1989).

Provision of Fire Protection Services Outside City Limits: A city may contract with entities to provide fire protection services outside the city limits. 42 A.G. Op. 80 (1988).

Rural Firefighters — Not Within Workers' Compensation Coverage: A firefighter in a rural fire district is not an "employee" as defined in 39-71-118 and hence is not within the Workers' Compensation Act. Similar benefits are available to him under the provisions of Title 19, ch. 12 (renumbered Title 19, ch. 17). 40 A.G. Op. 9 (1983).

Question of Rural Fire District as Taxing Unit: A rural fire district operated by a board of trustees is a taxing unit within the meaning of 15-10-412 (now repealed); however, a rural fire district operated by the county and not by a board of trustees is not a taxing unit. 42 A.G. Op. 80 (1988).

Three-Year Contract — Call-for-Bid Requirements: Fire districts are not subject to the statutory 3-year contract and call-for-bid requirements. 36 A.G. Op. 73 (1976).

Status of County Fire District Salaried Employees: The county has authority to establish and equip a fire district, to levy taxes to fund the district, to contract for fire protection, or to appoint trustees to manage the district. Full-time salaried employees of the fire district are employees of the county in the absence of an intervening employer, such as a city, town, or private fire service, and not volunteers. As such they are entitled to vacation, sick leave, and group insurance benefits. They are subject to hours of employment as provided by statute for county employees and have tenure rights consistent with tenure rights of other paid fire companies. 35 A.G. Op. 71 (1974).

Attorney General's Opinions

Response by Fire Service Organizations to Hazardous Materials Incidents: Unless otherwise provided by law, the decision to order a firefighter to respond to or investigate a hazardous materials incident is within the discretion of the supervising entity of each fire service organization. The State Fire Marshal (now the state fire prevention and investigation program of the Department of Justice) does not have specific rulemaking authority to prescribe which fire service organization should respond to such incidents. 42 A.G. Op. 104 (1988).

Trustee-Operated Fire District Liable for Indemnification: Employees of a fire district operated by trustees must be indemnified under the comprehensive state insurance plan and the Tort Claims Act by the fire district rather than by the county in which the fire district is located. 42 A.G. Op. 84 (1988), overruling a contrary holding in 35 A.G. Op. 71 (1974), and followed in 43 A.G. Op. 2 (1989).

Question of Rural Fire District as Taxing Unit: A rural fire district operated by a board of trustees is a taxing unit within the meaning of 15-10-412 (now repealed); however, a rural fire district operated by the county and not by a board of trustees is not a taxing unit. 42 A.G. Op. 80 (1988).

Rural Fire District Created After 1986 Not Subject to Property Tax Limitations: A rural fire district created after 1986 and established as a taxing unit is not subject to the property tax limitations of Title 15, ch. 10, part 4. There is no provision for new taxing units to limit their levies to their first year of existence or to 1986 amounts levied by another taxing unit. 42 A.G. Op. 80 (1988), followed in 42 A.G. Attorney General's Opinions

Application of Property Tax Limitation: If the board of trustees of a rural fire district determines that it must acquire real property and construct a fire hall in order to "adequately operate" the fire district and if it requires funding in addition to that otherwise allowed under 15-10-412 (now repealed), it may proceed to increase revenue under subsection (9) of that section. 42 A.G. Op. 126 (1988).

Preparation of Bylaws by Fire Service Area Trustees: If the County Commissioners appoint a board of trustees to govern and manage the affairs of a fire service area, the fire service area trustees must prepare and adopt suitable bylaws. 42 A.G. Op. 102 (1988).

Financing Acquisition of Fire Equipment and Facilities: Fire district trustees have authority to enter into loan agreements to finance the acquisition of equipment and facilities needed by the district for fire protection. 38 A.G. Op. 87 (1980), followed in 42 A.G. Op. 126 (1988).

Power to Submit Budget to County Commissioners: Fire district trustees have the power to submit a proposed budget for capital outlay to the County Commissioners. 36 A.G. Op. 73 (1976).

Case Notes

Constitutionality: The provisions of this section, as amended in 1953, for levy of a special assessment upon property within districts without notice to property owners were unconstitutional as being in direct conflict with the Due Process of Law Clause in Art. III, sec. 27, 1889 Mont. Const. (now Art. II, sec. 17, 1972 Mont. Const.), and the first clause of the 14th amendment to the United States Constitution. Great N. Ry. v. Roosevelt County, 134 M 355, 332 P2d 501 (1958), distinguished in Bacus v. Lake County, 138 M 69, 354 P2d 1056 (1960).

Attorney General's Opinions

City Annexation of Rural Fire District — Loan Obligation Not Payable by Tax Incurred Prior to Annexation: A rural fire district has no authority to levy taxes against property that is not within the district boundaries, and recent legislative enactments did not extend the power of a rural fire district to allow taxation to retire nonbonded debts. A reduction in the amount of property subject to tax to retire a loan would not in any way diminish or change the responsibilities of the parties under the loan contract. Therefore, when a city annexes territory that has been part of a rural fire district, the district may not tax the annexed property to finance repayment of a nonbonded loan incurred by the fire district prior to annexation. 46 A.G. Op. 8 (1995).

Proportion of Vehicle-Related Taxes Applicable to Rural Fire Districts: Vehicle-related taxes referred to in subsection (1) of 61-3-509 must be distributed proportionately to rural fire districts on the basis of all mill levies applicable to personal property located within the geographical boundaries of the districts. For distribution entitlement purposes, the residence or assignment address appearing on the certificate of registration determines if a particular vehicle is within a district's boundaries. 43 A.G. Op. 4 (1989).

Application of Property Tax Limitation: If the board of trustees of a rural fire district determines that it must acquire real property and construct a fire hall in order to "adequately operate" the fire district and if it requires funding in addition to that otherwise allowed under 15-10-412 (now repealed), it may proceed to increase revenue under subsection (9) of that section. 42 A.G. Op. 126 (1988).

"Property" to Include Real and Personal Property: The term "property" as used in this section applies to all forms of real and personal property ordinarily subject to ad valorem taxation by counties. 42 A.G. Op. 109 (1988).

Financing Acquisition of Fire Equipment and Facilities: Fire district trustees have authority to enter into loan agreements to finance the acquisition of equipment and facilities needed by the district for fire protection. (See 1995 amendment.) 38 A.G. Op. 87 (1980), followed in 42 A.G. Op. 126 (1988).

Preamble: The preamble to Ch. 193, L. 1979, reads as follows: "WHEREAS, confusion has arisen concerning the proper status of prior existing fire districts and fire companies following the formation of a city-county consolidated government with self-government powers; and

WHEREAS, the legislature wishes to clarify this situation with the clear understanding that the substance of the law is not changed; and

WHEREAS, Title 7, chapter 33, part 41, requires municipalities to provide fire services under that part; and

WHEREAS, and city-county consolidated government is neither a county government nor a municipality but under 7-3-1103 has the status of both; and

WHEREAS, this combined status allows the people of the local area to choose the most desirable means to provide local services, including fire services, within reasonable limits of interpreting applicable state law and so long as vested rights are not unreasonably abrogated; and

WHEREAS, the legislature finds that a local government charter that maintains rural fire services organizations as they were prior to consolidation is a reasonable interpretation of those laws; and

WHEREAS, to provide the desirable ratification of any existing charter interpretation to this effect and to clarify the application of such charters in the future,

THEREFORE, it is the purpose of this act to clarify the law on this point without establishing a presumption that the law is in any way substantively altered."

Attorney General's Opinions

Consolidation of Rural Fire Districts — Mill Levy Limitations Inapplicable to New Trustee-Operated District: Consolidation of two existing rural fire districts creates a new rural fire district for purposes of determining mill levy limitations. Consistent with 42 A.G. Op. 109 (1988), a new rural fire district established after tax year 1986 and managed by a board of trustees rather than a Board of County Commissioners is not subject to the property tax limitations in Title 15, ch. 10, part 4. 44 A.G. Op. 16 (1991).

Attorney General's Opinions

City Annexation of Rural Fire District — Loan Obligation Not Payable by Tax Incurred Prior to Annexation: A rural fire district has no authority to levy taxes against property that is not within the district boundaries, and recent legislative enactments did not extend the power of a rural fire district to allow taxation to retire nonbonded debts. A reduction in the amount of property subject to tax to retire a loan would not in any way diminish or change the responsibilities of the parties under the loan contract. Therefore, when a city annexes territory that has been part of a rural fire district, the district may not tax the annexed property to finance repayment of a nonbonded loan incurred by the fire district prior to annexation. 46 A.G. Op. 8 (1995).

Provisions Regarding Division of Rural Fire District Inapplicable to Annexation: The annexation of rural fire district territory does not fit within the statutory context of the term "division". Because the statutory procedure for division of a rural fire district is not usually followed in cases of municipal annexation, this section has no application to property that leaves a rural fire district through annexation. 46 A.G. Op. 8 (1995).

Part 22
Rural Fire Protection

Part Case Notes

Extension of Immunity to All Rural Fire Districts Regardless of Method of Formation: Plaintiffs contended that under 7-33-2208, immunity for rural firefighters extended only to rural fire crews and fire companies established on the initiative of a county government under this part, but not to crews and companies established in response to a petition by landowners pursuant to part 21 of this chapter. The Supreme Court found, after examining the legislative history of 7-33-2208, no logic or reason for granting or withholding immunity to a rural firefighting unit based on the method of its origin and extended immunity to districts established under both part 21 and this part. Allegations of negligent acts and omissions in fire suppression techniques outside the scope of 7-33-2208 did not constitute a genuine issue of material fact sufficient to preclude summary judgment based on immunity. Noting the 1989 amendment to 7-33-2208, the court further impliedly extended immunity to fire companies organized under part 23 and fire service areas organized under part 24. Hyde v. Evergreen Volunteer Rural Fire Dept., 252 M 299, 828 P2d 1377, 49 St. Rep. 259 (1992).

1989 Amendment: In middle of (1), after "deputy", inserted references to fire service area, fire company fire chief, or deputy; and in (2) inserted references to fire company and fire service area.

Governmental Immunity — Severability: Section 4, Ch. 75, L. 1989, provided: "Because the amendment to 7-33-2208(2) provides governmental immunity from suit for injury to a person or property, Article II, section 18, of the Montana constitution requires a vote of two-thirds of the members of each house for the enactment of the amendment to 7-33-2208(2). If [this act] is not approved by the required vote, the amendment to 7-33-2208(2) is void. The remaining sections and amendments to 7-33-2208 are valid and remain in effect in all valid applications upon enactment." House Bill No. 121 (Ch. 75, L. 1989) passed the House on a vote of 96 to 1 and passed the Senate on a vote of 47 to 3.

Case Notes

Extension of Immunity to All Rural Fire Districts Regardless of Method of Formation: Plaintiffs contended that under this section, immunity for rural firefighters extended only to rural fire crews and fire companies established on the initiative of a county government under part 22 of this chapter, but not to crews and companies established in response to a petition by landowners pursuant to part 21 of this chapter. The Supreme Court found, after examining the legislative history of this section, no logic or reason for granting or withholding immunity to a rural firefighting unit based on the method of its origin and extended immunity to districts established under both part 21 and part 22. Allegations of negligent acts and omissions in fire suppression techniques outside the scope of this section did not constitute a genuine issue of material fact sufficient to preclude summary judgment based on immunity. Noting the 1989 amendment to this section, the court further impliedly extended immunity to fire companies organized under part 23 and fire service areas organized under part 24. (See 1997 amendment.) Hyde v. Evergreen Volunteer Rural Fire Dept., 252 M 299, 828 P2d 1377, 49 St. Rep. 259 (1992).

No Waiver of Immunity by Purchase of Liability Insurance: Following the rationale in Crowell v. School District No. 7, 247 M 38, 805 P2d 522 (1991), plaintiffs contended that a rural fire district waived its grant of immunity to suit to the extent of the coverage of any liability insurance purchased by the district. Noting no pattern of joint legislative consideration of insurance and immunity in the legislative history of this section, the Supreme Court distinguished Crowell in holding that the purchase of liability insurance did not constitute waiver of immunity for a rural fire district. (See 1997 amendment.) Hyde v. Evergreen Volunteer Rural Fire Dept., 252 M 299, 828 P2d 1377, 49 St. Rep. 259 (1992).

Attorney General's Opinions

Nonliability on Federal or Adjoining County or City Property: The immunities of 7-33-2208 are applicable when a rural fire crew organized pursuant to 7-33-2201, et seq., responds to a request to suppress fires on property managed by a federal agency within the county or on property within an incorporated city or town within the county or in an adjacent county. (See 1997 amendment.) 38 A.G. Op. 100 (1980).

1999 Amendment: Chapter 584 at beginning of (2) inserted reference to 15-10-420; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 10, 1999.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 175, Ch. 584, L. 1999, provided that this section applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to tax years beginning after December 31, 1998.

1991 Amendment: In (2), after "tax", substituted "of up to 2 mills or at a rate that will raise $15,000, whichever is higher" for "at such rate as in their judgment will be necessary to raise such needed sum, not to exceed $15,000". Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

Case Notes

Fire Limits in Unincorporated Towns — Mandamus Not Proper: The Board of County Commissioners of Chouteau County established fire limits for Square Butte, an unincorporated town, and directed a special levy. It rescinded its action prior to any action or reliance on the resolution. Mandamus did not lie to compel the Board to establish fire limits in the unincorporated town, which had a volunteer fire department, because its authority to do so was discretionary and not mandatory. WHEREAS, this combined status allows the people of the local area to choose the most desirable means to provide local services, including fire services, within reasonable limits of interpreting applicable state law and so long as vested rights are not unreasonably abrogated; and

WHEREAS, the legislature finds that a local government charter that maintains rural fire services organizations as they were prior to consolidation is a reasonable interpretation of those laws; and

WHEREAS, to provide the desirable ratification of any existing charter interpretation to this effect and to clarify the application of such charters in the future,

THEREFORE, it is the purpose of this act to clarify the law on this point without establishing a presumption that the law is in any way substantively altered."

Attorney General's Opinions

Dual Trusteeship in Volunteer Fire District and Fire Service Area — Not Conflict of Interest: Trusteeship in a volunteer fire department is not incompatible with simultaneous trusteeship in a fire service area. Volunteer fire departments and fire service areas are separate governmental entities. Neither owes its creation or continued existence to the other, and each lacks any form of supervisory authority with respect to the personnel of the other. There is no indication that dual trusteeship imposes an insurmountable obstacle to the proper discharge of the duties attendant in trusteeship; therefore, concurrent trusteeship of both a volunteer fire department and a fire service area does not constitute a conflict of interest. 43 A.G. Op. 47 (1989).

Trustee-Operated Fire Service Area Liable for Indemnification: Employees of a fire service area operated by trustees must be indemnified under the comprehensive state insurance plan and the Tort Claims Act by the fire service area rather than by the county in which the fire service area is located. 42 A.G. Op. 84 (1988), overruling a contrary holding in 35 A.G. Op. 71 (1974).

1991 Amendment: In (1), near end before "services offered", deleted "fire"; in (4), near end of first sentence in two places before "equipment", deleted "fire"; and made minor changes in style.

1989 Amendment: In (4), after "if the", substituted "fire service area is governed by" for "commissioners have appointed".

Fire Service Area Rates — Powers of County Commission: The County Commission has the sole power to set rate schedules in fire service areas to finance the budget prepared by the fire service area trustees. Further, this power precludes the trustees from requiring that rates be modified by a popular vote of the fire service area residents. 42 A.G. Op. 102 (1988).

Part 41
Municipal Fire Departments

Part Case Notes

Limitation on Self-Governing Powers — Ordinance to Supersede Part: The city of Billings, a self-governing city, adopted an ordinance purporting to supersede all but two sections in Title 7, ch. 33, part 41, relating to municipal fire departments. The firefighters challenged the ordinance. The District Court held that the ordinance was a permissible exercise of a self-government power. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that under the shared sovereignty concept contained in the Montana Constitution, local governments with self-governing powers are limited only by express prohibitions in the constitution, state statute, or the local government charter itself. By statute, a local government may not establish standards or requirements lower or less stringent than those imposed by state law. The court held that because the ordinance did not contain standards governing several areas it purported to supersede, the ordinance provisions were lower or less stringent than the statutory provisions and therefore invalid. A local government must provide any service required by state law. State law requires every city to have a fire department. Pursuant to Art. XI, sec. 5(3), Mont. Const., the only statutory provisions a self-governing charter may control over are those establishing executive, legislative, and administrative structure and organization. The ordinance was invalid. Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Billings, 214 M 481, 694 P2d 1335, 42 St. Rep. 112 (1985), followed in Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Billings, 1999 MT 6, 293 M 41, 973 P2d 222, 56 St. Rep. 23 (1999). Billings Firefighters Local 521 II was followed, as to the power of a consolidated local government CEO to fire government employees not being considered a part of the structure and organization of a self-governing local government, in Johnston v. Babb, Cause No. CV-05-03-BU-CSO (D. Mont. 2005), granting partial summary judgment.

State Fire Marshal (now State Fire Prevention and Investigation Program of Department of Justice) — No Conflict With Municipalities: The creation of a State Fire Marshal (now the state fire prevention and investigation program of the Department of Justice) is not unconstitutional as delegating municipal functions to the Marshal. The area of fire protection is one of concurrent jurisdiction between the state and municipalities. There is no objection to a city and the state legislating on the same subject so long as the municipal ordinances do not conflict with the state law. Fire protection is properly exercised under the police power of the state and may be exercised by the state or delegated for local administration to municipalities. State ex rel. Brooks v. Cook, 84 M 478, 276 P 958 (1929).

Case Notes

Fire Department Operated in Proprietary Capacity by City: Before amendment of this section in 1937, it was held that under this section and 7-33-4201, 7-33-4202, and 7-33-4204, a city was empowered but not compelled to maintain a fire department. The city operated its fire department as a proprietary function, except when engaged in extinguishing or going to or from the scene of a fire or testing equipment for such occasions, when it was exercising governmental functions. State ex rel. Kern v. Arnold, 100 M 346, 49 P2d 976 (1935).

Civil Service: Mandamus lies to reinstate a fireman who has been discharged in violation of the act placing paid fire departments under civil service rules. State ex rel. Driffill v. Anaconda, 41 M 577, 111 P 345 (1910).

Attorney General's Opinions

Merger of Fire Services Between City and County With General Government Powers Not Allowed: A proposed city initiative would have merged a city fire department and a rural county fire district into a new fire protection district with an urban and a rural division. However, both the city and county were local government units with general government powers and had not been consolidated as allowed by law. Under the provisions of the initiative, neither fire department would maintain its own identity; therefore, the proposed merger would abrogate the city fire department as a separate entity and would be an invalid exercise of general government powers. This opinion does not preclude the provision of fire protection services in a cooperative fashion through an interlocal agreement that city voters may, by initiative, require the city governing body to pursue. 43 A.G. Op. 56 (1990).

Response by Fire Service Organizations to Hazardous Materials Incidents: Unless otherwise provided by law, the decision to order a firefighter to respond to or investigate a hazardous materials incident is within the discretion of the supervising entity of each fire service organization. The State Fire Marshal (now the state fire prevention and investigation program of the Department of Justice) does not have specific rulemaking authority to prescribe which fire service organization should respond to such incidents. 42 A.G. Op. 104 (1988).

7-33-4105. Appointment of chief engineer of fire department.

Case Notes

Authority to Abolish Volunteer Fire Department: This section and 7-33-4111 together clearly imply that a city government could abolish its volunteer fire department when in its judgment a paid department should be established in lieu thereof. State ex rel. Casey v. Brewer, 107 M 550, 88 P2d 49 (1939).

7-33-4106. Appointment of firefighters.

Case Notes

Appointment of Thirty-Nine-Year-Old Part-Paid Firefighter to Full-Time Position Not Statutory Violation: Before Link was 34 years old, he was a part-paid firefighter and member of the Firefighters' Unified Retirement System (FURS). At age 39, he applied for a position as full-time firefighter. Despite the recommendation of the fire chief, who was granted authority pursuant to city ordinances and personnel rules to make appointments of part-paid firefighters, Link's appointment was denied by City Council members who feared a violation of 7-33-4107, which states that firefighters may not be more than 34 years of age at the time of original appointment. Link complained in District Court that the city discriminated against him on the basis of age. Relying on the language of this section, the District Court granted summary judgment to the city, reasoning that because the Mayor and City Council did not have input into Link's appointment as a part-paid firefighter, his appointment to that position was not an original appointment under 7-33-4107. The Supreme Court reversed, holding that having delegated its authority to appoint part-paid firefighters, the city was now estopped from denying the validity of that delegation of authority. Noting a Montana Human Rights Commission decision in Elliott v. Helena, Cause No. 8701003108 (1989), that original appointment includes appointment as a part-time volunteer firefighter and that participation in FURS indicates a legislative intent that the maximum age provision apply to part-paid as well as full-time firefighters, the Supreme Court found that the narrow interpretation given to 7-33-4107 by the District Court resulted in the likelihood that the statute would violate age discrimination laws. Link v. Lewistown, 253 M 481, 833 P2d 1070, 49 St. Rep. 529 (1992). See also 44 A.G. Op. 8 (1991).

Attorney General's Opinions

Fire Chief or Assistant Chief as Member of Relief Association: Under 7-33-4106 and 7-33-4122, a chief or assistant chief of a municipal fire department is a confirmed member of the fire department. Section 19-11-102 (renumbered 19-18-102) authorizes the formation of a fire department relief association by the confirmed members of a fire department. Because a chief or an assistant chief is a confirmed member of his fire department, he could be a member of the fire department relief association. 39 A.G. Op. 22 (1981).

7-33-4107. Qualifications of firefighters.

Compiler's Comments

2015 Amendment: Chapter 55 in (3) substituted "have been issued a high school equivalency diploma" for "have passed the general educational development test and have been issued an equivalency certificate". Amendment effective October 1, 2015.

2011 Amendment: Chapter 169 near beginning after "determines that" substituted "qualifications for the firefighting profession must recognize the rigorous physical demands placed on firefighters" for "age is a valid, bona fide occupational qualification for the position of firefighter because of the rigorous physical demands of the firefighting profession"; substituted (1) through (7) relating to firefighter qualifications for former (1), (2), and (3) that read: "(1) shall not be more than 34 years of age at the time of original appointment;

(2) shall have passed a physical examination by a practicing physician duly authorized to practice in this state; and

(3) at the option of said city or town, shall be qualified voters of the city or town"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2011.

1981 Amendment: Added the first sentence relating to age qualification; substituted "more than 34" for "over 31" before "years of age" in (1).

Case Notes

Firefighter Age Restriction Unconstitutional: Jaksha filed a complaint against the county alleging that he had been unlawfully denied employment as a probationary entry-level firefighter because of his age. Jaksha challenged the constitutionality of 7-33-4107, which disqualified an individual from receiving an original appointment as a firefighter if the individual was more than 34 years of age. The District Court denied the constitutional challenge and found in favor of the county, and Jaksha appealed. The Supreme Court reversed. Section 7-33-4107 violates the equal protection clause of the Montana Constitution by discriminating against an individual on the basis of age and is therefore unconstitutional. The jury's verdict, which was premised on the constitutionality of 7-33-4107, was therefore vacated. Nevertheless, Jaksha's claims for damages and back pay were barred under 2-9-103, because the county relied on 7-33-4107 in good faith and Jaksha failed to allege or prove that the county acted with malice or corruption. Jaksha v. Butte-Silver Bow County, 2009 MT 263, 352 M 46, 214 P3d 1248 (2009).

Appointment of Thirty-Nine-Year-Old Part-Paid Firefighter to Full-Time Position Not Statutory Violation: Before Link was 34 years old, he was a part-paid firefighter and member of the Firefighters' Unified Retirement System (FURS). At age 39, he applied for a position as full-time firefighter. Despite the recommendation of the fire chief, who was granted authority pursuant to city ordinances and personnel rules to make appointments of part-paid firefighters, Link's appointment was denied by City Council members who feared a violation of this section, which states that firefighters may not be more than 34 years of age at the time of original appointment. Link complained in District Court that the city discriminated against him on the basis of age. Relying on the language of 7-33-4106, the District Court granted summary judgment to the city, reasoning that because the Mayor and City Council did not have input into Link's appointment as a part-paid firefighter, his appointment to that position was not an original appointment under this section. The Supreme Court reversed, holding that having delegated its authority to appoint part-paid firefighters, the city was now estopped from denying the validity of that delegation of authority. Noting a Montana Human Rights Commission decision in Elliott v. Helena, Cause No. 8701003108 (1989), that original appointment includes appointment as a part-time volunteer firefighter and that participation in FURS indicates a legislative intent that the maximum age provision apply to part-paid as well as full-time firefighters, the Supreme Court found that the narrow interpretation given to this section by the District Court resulted in the likelihood that the statute would violate age discrimination laws. Link v. Lewistown, 253 M 481, 833 P2d 1070, 49 St. Rep. 529 (1992). See also 44 A.G. Op. 8 (1991).

Right to Membership in Relief Association: Relator brought a proceeding in mandamus to compel the defendant fire department relief association to accept relator's application for membership in such association. It was shown that relator was carried on the city payroll for a number of years as a mechanic, occasionally performing some of the duties of a fireman, but had never been confirmed as such. Everything showed that the Council had no intent to confirm him. He was over 45 years of age at his original appointment. He failed to show a clear legal right to membership or a legal duty of the association in the premises, hence the writ was properly denied. State ex rel. Russ v. Fire Dept. Relief Ass'n, 114 M 430, 136 P2d 989 (1943).

Affidavit as to Qualifications: Where a discharged fireman seeks reinstatement by mandamus, a statement in his affidavit that he had been duly appointed and confirmed as a member of the fire department and that at all times he had the physical ability to perform his duties as such was a sufficient allegation that he possessed the qualifications of a fireman as defined by this section. Otherwise he would not have been appointed in the first instance. State ex rel. Driffill v. Anaconda, 41 M 577, 111 P 345 (1910).

Attorney General's Opinions

Eligibility of Firefighter Over Thirty-Four Years of Age for Membership in Firefighters' Unified Retirement System: An individual older than 34 years of age when first hired as a firefighter by a firefighters' unified retirement system employer is in compliance with this section if the first appointment as a firefighter, irrespective of place of employment, occurred when the individual was not over 34 years of age. A firefighter over the age of 34 years at the time of original appointment is not eligible for membership in the firefighters' unified retirement system. 44 A.G. Op. 8 (1991).

2007 Amendment: Chapter 485 inserted (4)(b) allowing a tax levy to purchase disability income insurance coverage for volunteer firefighters of the volunteer fire department; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 14, 2007.

1983 Amendment: At beginning of (2), deleted "The volunteer fire department shall be exempt from obligations in 7-33-4126 set out as applying to the paid department."; in middle of (2) deleted "7-33-4126 and" before "7-33-4128".

Attorney General's Opinions

Dual Trusteeship in Volunteer Fire District and Fire Service Area — Not Conflict of Interest: Trusteeship in a volunteer fire department is not incompatible with simultaneous trusteeship in a fire service area. Volunteer fire departments and fire service areas are separate governmental entities. Neither owes its creation or continued existence to the other, and each lacks any form of supervisory authority with respect to the personnel of the other. There is no indication that dual trusteeship imposes an insurmountable obstacle to the proper discharge of the duties attendant in trusteeship; therefore, concurrent trusteeship of both a volunteer fire department and a fire service area does not constitute a conflict of interest. 43 A.G. Op. 47 (1989).

Response by Fire Service Organizations to Hazardous Materials Incidents: Unless otherwise provided by law, the decision to order a firefighter to respond to or investigate a hazardous materials incident is within the discretion of the supervising entity of each fire service organization. The State Fire Marshal (now the state fire prevention and investigation program of the Department of Justice) does not have specific rulemaking authority to prescribe which fire service organization should respond to such incidents. 42 A.G. Op. 104 (1988).

Volunteer Firemen: A first-class city shall not supplement its paid fire department with volunteer firemen while a second-class city may, and such volunteer firemen are entitled to all benefits provided in Title 19, ch. 11, part 6 (renumbered Title 19, ch. 18, part 6), except for the service pension provided therein. 35 A.G. Op. 67 (1974).

2007 Amendment: Chapter 485 inserted (2) allowing a tax levy to purchase disability income insurance coverage for volunteer firefighters of volunteer fire departments; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 14, 2007.

2001 Amendment: Chapter 574 at end substituted "a tax on the taxable value of all taxable property in the city or town" for "a special tax not exceeding 4 mills upon all of the property of the city or town subject to taxation". Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

1999 Amendment: Chapter 584 inserted reference to 15-10-420; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 10, 1999.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 175, Ch. 584, L. 1999, provided that this section applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to tax years beginning after December 31, 1998.

1983 Amendment: Near end of section, after "special tax" substituted "not exceeding 4 mills upon all of the property" for "not exceeding 2 mills on each dollar of the taxable value of the property".

Case Notes

Authority to Abolish Volunteer Fire Department: This section and 7-33-4105 together clearly imply that a city government could abolish its volunteer fire department when in its judgment a paid department should be established in lieu thereof. State ex rel. Casey v. Brewer, 107 M 550, 88 P2d 49 (1939).

Attorney General's Opinions

All-Purpose Mill Levy — Forfeiture of Powers: Municipalities that adopt the all-purpose mill levy authorized in 7-6-4452 (now repealed) forfeit the power to impose levies for any particular purpose not clearly excepted by statute. Thus, the all-purpose mill levy supplants the taxing authority granted in 7-33-4111, 19-10-301 (renumbered 19-19-301), and 19-11-503 (renumbered 19-18-503) but does not supplant the taxing authority granted in 7-32-4117, 7-33-4130, 19-3-204, 19-9-704 (renumbered 19-9-209), sec. 2, Ch. 324, L. 1975 (not codified), sec. 2, Ch. 359, L. 1975 (not codified), and sec. 3, Ch. 438, L. 1975 (not codified). 38 A.G. Op. 112 (1980).

Volunteer Firemen: A first-class city shall not supplement its paid fire department with volunteer firemen while a second-class city may, and such volunteer firemen are entitled to all benefits provided in Title 19, ch. 11, part 6 (renumbered Title 19, ch. 18, part 6), except for the service pension provided therein. 35 A.G. Amendment effective April 26, 2007.

1997 Amendment: Chapter 46 in (1), before "disasters", deleted "manmade" and after "disasters" inserted "incidents, or emergencies or disasters, incidents, or emergencies caused by persons"; in (2)(d), after "agencies", deleted "which have fire protection services"; inserted (2)(h) regarding governing bodies of other political subdivisions; inserted (3) allowing assistance requests if a mutual aid agreement has not been concluded; inserted (4) defining incidents, disasters, or emergencies; and made minor changes in style.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 149 inserted (2)(g) allowing a fire service area to enter into a mutual aid agreement with councils or commissions; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 24, 1993.

Attorney General's Opinions

Merger of Fire Services Between City and County With General Government Powers Not Allowed: A proposed city initiative would have merged a city fire department and a rural county fire district into a new fire protection district with an urban and a rural division. However, both the city and county were local government units with general government powers and had not been consolidated as allowed by law. Under the provisions of the initiative, neither fire department would maintain its own identity; therefore, the proposed merger would abrogate the city fire department as a separate entity and would be an invalid exercise of general government powers. This opinion does not preclude the provision of fire protection services in a cooperative fashion through an interlocal agreement (see 1993 amendment) that city voters may, by initiative, require the city governing body to pursue. 43 A.G. Op. 56 (1990).

7-33-4113. Personnel of fire department not considered municipal officers.

Case Notes

Fireman Not a Municipal Officer: Section 7-4-4105 has no application to a fireman since this section declares that he is not to be deemed a municipal officer. State ex rel. Driffill v. Anaconda, 41 M 577, 111 P 345 (1910).

7-33-4122. Term of appointment of firefighters — probationary period.

Case Notes

Extension of Firefighter's Probationary Employment — No Wrongful Discharge Within Probationary Period: Hunter was a probationary firefighter with the city of Great Falls. Hunter's probationary status was extended beyond the initial 6-month period and subjected to monthly review. Based on the review, Hunter was terminated from employment. Hunter filed a grievance for wrongful discharge and sought relief under 42 U.S.C. 1983. The District Court summarily dismissed both claims, and Hunter appealed, contending that the District Court erred in finding that Hunter was not entitled to relief under the Wrongful Discharge From Employment Act or federal law because of the ongoing status as a probationary employee. The Supreme Court affirmed. The Legislature did not set a maximum probationary period for firefighters. Thus, the city was entitled to extend Hunter's status as a probationary employee, and the city met its burden of showing that a probationary period was in effect at the time of Hunter's discharge. As a probationary employee, Hunter was not entitled to relief under state or federal law, and the District Court properly dismissed Hunter's claims. Hunter v. Great Falls, 2002 MT 331, 313 M 231, 61 P3d 764 (2002), distinguishing Whidden v. John S. Nerison, Inc., 1999 MT 110, 294 M 346, 981 P2d 271 (1999), and Hobbs v. Thompson Falls, 2000 MT 336, 303 M 140, 15 P3d 418 (2000).

Property Interest in Position as Firefighter — Constitutional Right to Hearing Before Termination for Physical Disability: Plaintiff, who was undisputably physically unable to continue working as a firefighter, sued for wrongful discharge when his employment was terminated without a hearing. In reversing the District Court's judgment denying all relief, the Supreme Court held that this section creates a property interest in a position such as that of firefighter once the probationary period is satisfied and, although statutory hearing requirements do not apply to cases of termination for physical disability, plaintiff was entitled to a pretermination hearing under the Due Process Clause of the Montana Constitution. Termination without a hearing was improper and void, and plaintiff was entitled to full pay and benefits from the time of his termination until the final disposition of the case. Welsh v. Great Falls, 212 M 403, 690 P2d 406, 41 St. Rep. 1826 (1984).

Attorney General's Opinions

Fire Chief or Assistant Chief as Member of Relief Association: Under 7-33-4106 and 7-33-4122, a chief or assistant chief of a municipal fire department is a confirmed member of the fire department. Section 19-11-102 (renumbered 19-18-102) authorizes the formation of a fire department relief association by the confirmed members of a fire department. Because a chief or an assistant chief is a confirmed member of his fire department, he could be a member of the fire department relief association. 39 A.G. Op. 22 (1981).

7-33-4123. Authority to suspend firefighters.

Case Notes

Conduct Unbecoming a Fire Chief: Evidence that fire chief did not have a driver's license for almost a year, that he was the licensee of a bar, and that he had been convicted twice of selling liquor to minors warranted his discharge for personal conduct unbecoming a fire chief. State ex rel. Burns v. Livingston, 144 M 248, 395 P2d 971 (1964).

Discharge Without Suspension: Where fire chief was on sick leave, it was not necessary for the Mayor to suspend him as a condition precedent to filing formal charges against him or holding a hearing thereon. State ex rel. Burns v. Livingston, 144 M 248, 395 P2d 971 (1964).

Hearing of Charges:

Charges of personal conduct unbecoming a fire chief were not so broad as to preclude the preparation of an effective defense where chief actively participated, took over the examination, was fully aware of the proceedings, and was in no way prejudiced. The removed officer was given an opportunity for explanation, and in attempting to explain, spelled out the behavior or lack of good behavior set forth in this section. State ex rel. Burns v. Livingston, 144 M 248, 395 P2d 971 (1964).

The three charging members of fire and police committee were not disqualified from sitting with City Council to hear charges against fire chief since the Council, under this section, had exclusive jurisdiction to hear the charges. State ex rel. Burns v. Livingston, 144 M 248, 395 P2d 971 (1964).

2007 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 61 made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2007.

Chapter 281 in (1) at beginning of second sentence inserted "Subject to subsection (2), the suspended member of the fire department may request in writing that the" and inserted third and fourth sentences requiring hearing to be held with 30 days of request and authorizing suspended member to invoke the right of privacy to request closed hearing; inserted (2) providing that suspended member forfeits option of requesting hearing by council or commission if member does not request hearing within 5 business days of receiving suspension charge; in (3) after "commission" substituted "within 30 days of the request for a hearing or if" for "after the suspension or should the charges be found not proven by"; in (4) after "penalty" substituted "commensurate to its determination of what the offense warrants" for "as it shall determine the offense warrants"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2007.

Style changes were slightly different in the chapters. In each case, the codifier chose appropriate text.

Collective Bargaining Agreement Requirement for Presuspension Hearing Not Inconsistent With Requirements of Statute — Other Terms of Agreement — Grievance Procedure Consistent With Statute: Elsenpeter, a Billings firefighter, was suspended from duty by the Billings fire chief, and the firefighters' union filed an action in District Court, contending that the city had failed to follow the requirements of this section. The city responded that the requirements of the firefighters' union disciplinary procedure contained in its collective bargaining agreement (CBA) with the city were inconsistent with the requirements of this section and that by entering into the CBA, the union effectively waived the requirements of this section. The District Court held that the requirements of the CBA were not inconsistent with this section. The Supreme Court agreed with the District Court, concluding that even though the application of both the CBA and the statute might result in some duplication of procedure, the two were not inconsistent and that under both procedures, the final result would be binding arbitration (see 2007 amendment). Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Billings, 1999 MT 6, 293 M 41, 973 P2d 222, 56 St. Rep. 23 (1999).

Suspension of Firefighters — All Cities Required to Present Charges to City Council for Hearing — Suspension Procedure Not Part of "Structure" of City Government Under Applicable Definitions — Statute Not Superseded by Charter: Elsenpeter, a Billings firefighter, was suspended from duty by the Billings fire chief. The firefighters' union filed a lawsuit in which the union contended that the suspension procedure used by the city was unlawful because the charges against Elsenpeter were not presented to the Billings City Council for hearing pursuant to this section. The city contended that the suspension procedure that it used is part of the structure and organization of the city under its charter and that, pursuant to Art. XI, sec. 5, Mont. Const., and 7-3-701(2), which allow the structure of a chartered city government to supersede statutory requirements, the city may override the statutory requirements for hearing contained in this section because the definition of "structure" contained in 7-1-4121(24) is the definition that should apply. The Supreme Court held that in as much as the definitions in 7-1-4121 are, by the terms of that section, limited in their application to 7-1-4121 through 7-1-4149, the dictionary definition of "structure" is the definition that applies. Because the dictionary definition of structure was narrower, the Supreme Court held that the disciplinary suspension procedure used by the city was not part of the "structure" of city government. Therefore, the Supreme Court held that the statutory procedure contained in this section, requiring presentment of the charges to the City Council, was not superseded by the city charter and had to be followed for the purposes of the suspension of Elsenpeter. Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Billings, 1999 MT 6, 293 M 41, 973 P2d 222, 56 St. Rep. 23 (1999). Billings Firefighters Local 521 II was followed, as to the power of a consolidated local government CEO to fire government employees not being considered a part of the structure and organization of a self-governing local government, in Johnston v. Babb, Cause No. CV-05-03-BU-CSO (D. Mont. 2005), granting partial summary judgment.

Mandamus Appropriate Remedy to Require City Commission to Hold Employee Discharge Hearing — Employee Entitled to Reinstatement: Phillips was terminated from his employment as a full-time firefighter for the city of Livingston. Before his termination, the city manager held a termination hearing. Phillips argued that the hearing was held in violation of this section, requiring the hearing to be held before the City Commission. The Supreme Court found that the hearing should have been held by the City Commission. The court also held that mandamus was the proper remedy to require the City Commission to hold the discharge hearing and that because there was a clear statutory duty for the City Commission to hold the hearing, there was no obligation on Phillips' part to exhaust grievance remedies contained in the firefighters' collective bargaining agreement. Finally, the Supreme Court held that because Phillips did not have a plain, adequate, and speedy remedy at law, under subsection (2) of this section, he was entitled to reinstatement and backpay (see 2007 amendment). Phillips v. Livingston, 268 M 156, 885 P2d 528, 51 St. Rep. 1227 (1994).

Statutory Duty of City Council to Hold Termination Hearing Not Superseded by City Policy or Collective Bargaining Agreement: Phillips was terminated from his employment as a full-time firefighter for the city of Livingston. Before his termination, the city manager held a termination hearing. Phillips argued that the hearing was held in violation of this section, requiring the hearing to be held before the City Council. The city responded that the termination procedures followed were provided in the city policy and procedures manual that was included in the firefighters' collective bargaining agreement and that the provisions of that agreement controlled pursuant to 39-31-306(3). The Supreme Court noted that the agreement adopted the city's procedures manual that allowed the manager to hold the hearing but that the agreement also referenced termination action "by the appropriate authority". Because the appropriate authority under this section was the City Council, the Supreme Court held that the agreement and the city's policies did not supersede state statute. Phillips v. Livingston, 268 M 156, 885 P2d 528, 51 St. Rep. 1227 (1994), followed, as to the inability of a city charter to supersede the statutory duty of a City Council to hold a disciplinary hearing, in Billings Firefighters Local 521 v. Billings, 1999 MT 6, 293 M 41, 973 P2d 222, 56 St. Rep. 23 (1999).

Property Interest in Position as Firefighter — Constitutional Right to Hearing Before Termination for Physical Disability: Plaintiff, who was undisputably physically unable to continue working as a firefighter, sued for wrongful discharge when his employment was terminated without a hearing. In reversing the District Court's judgment denying all relief, the Supreme Court held that 7-33-4122 creates a property interest in a position such as that of firefighter once the probationary period is satisfied and, although statutory hearing requirements do not apply to cases of termination for physical disability, plaintiff was entitled to a pretermination hearing under the Due Process Clause of the Montana Constitution. Termination without a hearing was improper and void, and plaintiff was entitled to full pay and benefits from the time of his termination until the final disposition of the case. Welsh v. Great Falls, 212 M 403, 690 P2d 406, 41 St. Rep. 1826 (1984).

Conduct Unbecoming a Fire Chief:

The removed officer was given an opportunity for explanation, and in attempting to explain, spelled out the behavior or lack of good behavior set forth in this section. State ex rel. Burns v. Evidence that fire chief did not have a driver's license for almost a year, that he was the licensee of a bar, and that he had been convicted twice for selling liquor to minors warranted his discharge for personal conduct unbecoming a fire chief. State ex rel. Burns v. Livingston, 144 M 248, 395 P2d 971 (1964).

Role of Court in Review: A fireman was suspended for allegedly receiving stolen property. The role of the District Court reviewing the action of the Mayor and City Council under a Writ of Certiorari is to determine whether the charges were supported by the evidence presented, not to determine its preponderance. State ex rel. Wentworth v. Baker, 101 M 226, 53 P2d 440 (1935).

Failure to Follow Procedure: The fire chief of Helena, which had a commission form of government, was removed by the City Council. His name was restored to the roll of members of the department, entitling him to the safeguards afforded to members under the civil service rules of the firemen's statutes. He was later suspended without hearing his appeal. The failure to hear his appeal rendered the suspension ineffective, entitling him to automatic reinstatement and compensation for the period of his suspension (see 2007 amendment). State ex rel. Daly v. Dryburgh, 62 M 36, 203 P 508 (1921).

Removal of Chief — Violation of Duty: The evidence was sufficient to support the removal of a fire chief where it was shown that the department did not respond promptly to fire alarms and that the chief did not know the location of hydrants, was incompetent to direct the fighting of fires, and failed to tear down certain buildings as required by the State Fire Marshal (now the state fire prevention and investigation program of the Department of Justice). State ex rel. Griffiths v. Mayor, 57 M 368, 188 P 367 (1920).

Removal Without Written Charges: If a fireman has been removed without written charges, his action in asking for reinstatement after his discharge did not constitute a waiver of his right to be confronted with written charges, as there can be no waiver of a right that has been lost. State ex rel. Driffill v. Anaconda, 41 M 577, 111 P 345 (1910).

Action of Council Not Discretionary: The City Council must, if it deems it necessary to reduce the number of paid firemen, retire the one last appointed and may not exercise any discretion in the premises and discharge the one thought least efficient even though oldest in point of service. 7-33-4128. Minimum wages of firefighters in cities of first and second class.

Attorney General's Opinions

Determination of Longevity: Longevity for purposes of determining the minimum wage for a firefighter in a city of the second class under this section begins at the date of confirmation as a member of the fire department. 38 A.G. Op. 4 (1979).

Computation of Salaries: An active firefighter in a first- or second-class city shall be paid for his total years of service with the fire department at a wage not less than the statutory minimum for each year of service with the department. The determination of this salary is based on total years of service. However, the payment for any service over 20 years begins July 1, 1975. 37 A.G. Op. 8 (1977).

Basis for Determining Pensions: The basis used by fire department relief associations in first- and second-class cities in determining pensions of firefighters retiring prior to July 1, 1973, is the regular monthly salary paid confirmed active firefighters as set by the budget of the city each year. 37 A.G. Op. 3 (1977).

All-Purpose Levy Encompassing Multiple Levies: The levy for minimum wages for firefighters may be encompassed as part of but not in addition to the all-purpose levy authorized by law. 36 A.G. Op. 94 (1976).

Attorney General's Opinions

Insurance for Volunteer Firefighters — Third-Class Cities: Pursuant to 7-33-4130, only cities of the first and second class are required to provide group insurance to their firefighters if they provide such insurance for other employees. Cities of the third class are not mentioned in the statute and therefore are not required to provide group health and life insurance for volunteer firefighters. 41 A.G. Op. 18 (1985).

All-Purpose Mill Levy — Forfeiture of Powers: Municipalities that adopt the all-purpose mill levy authorized in 7-6-4452 (now repealed) forfeit the power to impose levies for any particular purpose not clearly excepted by statute. Thus, the all-purpose mill levy supplants the taxing authority granted in 7-33-4111, 19-10-301 (renumbered 19-19-301), and 19-11-503 (renumbered 19-18-503) but does not supplant the taxing authority granted in 7-32-4117, 7-33-4130, 19-3-204, 19-9-704 (renumbered 19-9-209), sec. 2, Ch. 324, L. 1975 (not codified), sec. 2, Ch. 359, L. 1975 (not codified), and sec. 3, Ch. 438, L. 1975 (not codified). 38 A.G. Op. 112 (1980).

All-Purpose Levy Encompassing Multiple Levies: The levy for group insurance for firefighters may be encompassed as part of but not in addition to the all-purpose levy authorized by law. 36 A.G. Op. 94 (1976).

Vacation and Sick Leave to Accrue for Police and Firefighters Injured on Duty: Police officers and firefighters who are injured in the line of duty and who receive salary benefits under 7-32-4132 and 7-33-4133 through the usual payroll system in the same manner as if they were still on regular duty accrue vacation and sick leave credit pursuant to 2-18-611 and 2-18-618. 52 A.G. Op. 7 (2008), overruling a contrary holding in 42 A.G. Op. 114 (1988).

Powers of Municipal Council Related to Fire Services

Part Case Notes

Police Power: Measures for the protection of life and property against fire hazards fall within the police power of the state, which power may either be exercised by the state through proper machinery or delegated for local administration to cities or towns. State ex rel. Brooks v. Cook, 84 M 478, 276 P 958 (1929), explained in State ex rel. Kern v. Arnold, 100 M 346, 49 P2d 976 (1935).

Authority of City and Town Councils to Prescribe Building Regulations — Impliedly Repealed by State Building Code: The authority of city and town councils to prescribe building construction regulations pursuant to 7-15-4122 (now repealed), and to prescribe limits within which combustible buildings must not be erected pursuant to 7-33-4203 (now repealed), was impliedly repealed by the enactment in 1969 of the state building code, Title 50, ch. 60, part 2. 40 A.G. Op. 76 (1984).

7-33-4201. Establishment of fire department and fire alarm system.

Maintenance of Fire Department Proprietary Function of City: Under this section, 7-33-4101 (before amendment), 7-33-4126 (now repealed), and 19-11-201 (renumbered 19-18-201), a city was empowered but not compelled to maintain a fire department. Under 7-33-4113, firemen are not officers of the city. A city operates such department in its proprietary capacity except when it is engaged in extinguishment of fires, going to and from the scene of a fire, or testing equipment for such occasions, when it is exercising governmental functions. State ex rel. Kern v. Arnold, 100 M 346, 49 P2d 976 (1935).

1989 Amendment: At beginning inserted exception clause. See contingent effective date compiler's comment.

Contingent Effective Date: Section 9, Ch. 506, L. 1989, was a contingency section that provided: "(1) [This act] is void if:

(a) the western fire chiefs association adopts at its annual meeting in August 1989 the proposed changes to article 77 of the uniform fire code that are specifically referred to as amendments to division II "storage", regarding smokeless powder and small arms primers for retail sales;

(b) the proposed changes are no more restrictive than the terms of [this act]; and

(c) the state fire marshal [now the state fire prevention and investigation program of the department of justice] adopts the amended provisions for storage of smokeless powder and small arms primers for retail sales by March 31, 1990.

(2) [This act] is effective April 1, 1990." The contingency did not occur, so the 1989 amendments became effective April 1, 1990.

CHAPTER 34
MEDICAL SERVICES AND BOARDING HOMES FOR THE AGED

Part 1
Ambulance Services

Part Case Notes

Unpaid Emergency Medical Technician Trainees, Volunteers, and Students Not Considered Employees: The definition of emergency medical services personnel in 50-6-202 does not include an unpaid emergency medical technician (EMT) trainee. Therefore, an unpaid EMT trainee who has not been certified to provide medical services is not considered an employee as defined in 39-71-118 for workers' compensation purposes. Further, because volunteers are generally not considered employees unless designated by law, a volunteer involved in ambulance services is also not considered an employee as defined in 39-71-118 for workers' compensation purposes. Similarly, an unpaid student, such as an unpaid EMT trainee, who is learning skills in a work environment is considered a volunteer and is not considered an employee as defined in 39-71-118 for workers' compensation purposes. The general statement of public policy in Great W. Sugar Co. v. District Court, 188 M 1, 610 P2d 717 (1980), that all forms of employment are subject to the Workers' Compensation Act, does not apply to unpaid EMT trainees and volunteers because those persons are not considered employees. Dyess v. Meagher County, 2003 MT 78, 315 M 35, 67 P3d 281 (2003).

Chapter 574 near middle substituted "annual tax on the taxable value" for "annual tax up to 1 mill on the dollar of the taxable value"; deleted former (2) that read: "(2) In addition to the levy authorized by subsection (1), a county, city, or town may levy an additional 2 mills for the support of ambulance services if, at a regularly scheduled election, the electorate of the county, city, or town approves the imposition of the additional levy"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

Attorney General's Opinions

Doctrine of Incompatible Positions Precluding Hospital District Employee From Holding Office as Trustee of Hospital District: An individual serving in the dual roles of hospital district employee and hospital district trustee would be in the position as trustee of controlling actions and decisions of that individual's supervisor, which could directly affect that individual's job duties and compensation. Therefore, under the common-law doctrine of incompatible public offices, the office of hospital district trustee and the position of hospital district employee are incompatible and one person may not hold both jobs simultaneously. 47 A.G. Lease of Hospital Facility to Nonprofit Corporation — Indebtedness Incurred by Corporation for Running Facility: A hospital district possesses the power to lease a hospital facility to a nonprofit corporation, and that arrangement creates a valid lessor-lessee relationship. Absent a controlling provision to the contrary in the lease, the corporation would have a right, as an entity independent from the district, to incur indebtedness by borrowing from a commercial lender institution for the purpose of running the hospital. 43 A.G. Op. 71 (1990).

No Authority for Hospital District to Borrow Money by Use of Promissory Note: Section 7-34-2131 is the only provision in the law governing hospital districts that prescribes a method by which districts are authorized to borrow money, namely through the issuance of bonds. Therefore, 7-34-2131 and this section may not be construed as a grant of authority to a hospital district to borrow money by use of a promissory note. (See Ch. 349, L. 1991, amendment.) 43 A.G. Applicability: Section 35, Ch. 29, L. 2001, provided: "(1) [This act] applies to the authorization and issuance of bonds occurring on or after July 1, 2001.

1987 Amendment: Near end of (3), after "bonds of", deleted "second- or third-class".

1981 Amendment: Substituted "may not exceed 22.5% of the taxable value of the property" for "shall not exceed 5% of taxable property" in (2).

Validation: Section 64, Ch. 614, L. 1981, provided: "Notwithstanding any provisions of this act, any outstanding indebtedness or bond issue on January 1, 1982, of any governmental subdivision is not invalidated because of any changes in the taxable valuation of the subdivision due to removal of automobiles and trucks having a rated capacity of three-quarters of a ton or less from the tax base."

Effect of 1981 Amendment: The primary purpose of Ch. 614, L. 1981, was to replace the system of taxation of automobiles and light trucks with a fee system. With the adoption of the fee system, automobiles and light trucks are no longer taxable property. The resulting loss of taxable valuation has a direct effect on the amount of indebtedness a political subdivision can incur. Thus it was necessary in Ch. 614 to increase the percentage of taxable valuation used as a limitation on indebtedness to offset the loss of taxable valuation attributable to automobiles and light trucks.

Newly Created Hospital District — Mill Levy and Funding Procedures: A Board of County Commissioners may levy mills to support a county hospital district, even if the district is newly created and no mills have previously been levied for district purposes. The governmental entity levying the tax is the county, not the hospital district. Commissioners may provide funding for a hospital district from: (1) the general mill levy; (2) mills levied under 7-34-2133 as long as the total number of mills levied by the county under 7-34-2133 and for all other purposes covered by 15-10-420 stays within the cap provided by 15-10-420; (3) an additional mill levy amount approved by voters under 15-10-425; or (4) bonds sold pursuant to 7-34-2131 to defray the cost of acquisition, furnishing, equipment, improvement, extension, and betterment of hospital facilities and to provide adequate working capital for a new hospital. 53 A.G. Op. 2 (2009).

No Authority for Hospital District to Borrow Money by Use of Promissory Note: This section is the only provision in the law governing hospital districts that prescribes a method by which districts are authorized to borrow money, namely through the issuance of bonds. Therefore, 7-34-2122 and this section may not be construed as a grant of authority to a hospital district to borrow money by use of a promissory note. (See 1991 amendment.) 43 A.G. Op. 71 (1990).

Transferring Title to Assets: A hospital district may not transfer title to its assets to the county in which it is located unless the district is dissolved. 37 A.G. Op. 14 (1977).

Limitation: The 5% limitation refers to the bonded debt of a hospital district that may be incurred only by issuing bonds. 36 A.G. Op. 88 (1976).

Assessed Value Not Taxable Value: The valuation used in determining the 5% limitation on the amount of bonds that may be issued under this section refers to assessed valuation. 36 A.G. Op. 12 (1975).

County Not Obligated to Fund Proposed Hospital District Budget Without Change: This section does not obligate a county to fund, without change, the budget proposed by the trustees of a county hospital district.
